(c) Additional findings. It is hereby further found, for the reasons hereinafter set forth, that good cause exists for making the provisions of this amendatory order effective on the date hereinafter specified rather than postponing the effective date thereof until 30 days after such publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553). The amendatory order changes the method of volume regulation and requires the committee to hold its first marketing policy meeting on or before September 1. In lieu of both reserve and surplus tonnage raisins being held for the account of the committee, all raisins so held would be designated as reserve tonnage raisins and there would be greater flexibility as to their disposition and opportunity to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Also, provision is made for a representative of the newly formed cooperative bargaining association to participate in committee actions such as that on marketing policy and opportunity should be afforded the Secretary to appoint such a representative. In addition, the amendatory order provides other improvements in program operations and procedures and, in some instances, requires implementation by rule making to be adequately prepared for the beginning deliveries, in September, of the 1967 crop. Hence, to permit compliance with, and maximum benefit from, the new or revised provisions, it is necessary that the amendatory order become effective as hereinafter specified.

(d) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The "Marketing Agreement, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Raisins Produced from Grapes Grown in California," upon which the aforesaid public hearing was held, has been signed by handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping raisins covered by the said order as amended and as hereby further amended) who, during the period July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967, handled not less than 50 percent of the volume of such raisins covered by the said order, as amended and as hereby further amended; and

(2) The issuance of this amendatory order, amending the aforesaid order, as amended, is favored or approved by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of its approval and who during the period July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967 (which has been determined to be a representative period), have been engaged, within the State of California, in the production for market of grapes which were sun-dried or dehydrated by artificial means until they became raisins, such producers having also produced for market at least two-thirds of the volume of such commodity represented in the referendum.

It is, therefore, ordered. That, on and after the effective date hereof, all raisins held for the account of the committee as surplus tonnage raisins shall be redesignated as reserve tonnage raisins and all handling of raisins produced from grapes grown in California, including the carryover from crops prior to 1967, shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the terms and conditions of the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

3. Section 989.14 Packer is revised to read:

§ 989.14 Packer.

(a) No producer with respect to the raisins produced by him, and no group of producers with respect to raisins produced by the producers comprising the group, and not otherwise a packer, shall be deemed a packer if he or it sorts or cleans (with or without water) such raisins in their unstemmed form;

(b) Any dehydrator shall be deemed to be a packer, with respect to raisins dehydrated by him, only if he stems, cleans with water subsequent to such dehydration, seeds or packages them for market as raisin;

(c) The committee may, with the approval of the Secretary restrict the exceptions as to permitted cleaning if necessary to cause delivery of sound raisins; and

(d) No person shall be deemed a packer by reason of the fact he repackages for market, with or without additional preparation) packed raisins which, in the hands of a previous holder, have been inspected and certified as meeting the applicable minimum grade standards for packed raisins.

4. Paragraph (b) of § 989.24 is revised to read:

§ 989.24 Standard raisins and offgrade raisins.

(b) "Offgrade raisins" means raisins which do not meet the then effective minimum grade and condition standards for natural condition raisins: Provided, That raisins which are certified as offgrade raisins shall continue to be such until successfully reconditioned or for purposes of disposition become "other failing raisins" pursuant to § 989.59(f).

The producer members shall be selected in the number and for the districts as designated in § 989.96 (Exhibit A), or as such number or districts may be changed pursuant to § 989.26b. One or more eligible producers for each producer member position to be filled on the board may be proposed for nomination and one or more eligible producers for each alternate member position to be filled may be proposed for nomination. Each producer shall cast only one vote with respect to each position for which nomination is to be made. The person receiving a majority of the votes with respect to each producer member or producer alternate member position shall be the persons to be certified to the Secretary as the nominee for each such position. In the event no person receives a majority, there shall be a runoff vote between the two persons receiving the largest number of votes. The eligibility of each producer voting in a nomination meeting shall be certified by the committee, during or after the meeting, and, in the event one or more who voted was not eligible and this may have affected the result of any nomination vote, another meeting with respect to such nomination shall be held.

(c) Dehydrator members. The dehydrator members of the board, and dehydrator alternate members when acting as members, shall nominate from among the dehydrator members and dehydrator members of the board one person for the dehydrator member position on the committee and an alternate for such person.

Such selections may be made from the nominations certified pursuant to § 989.42, or from any other eligible producers, handlers, dehydrators, or cooperative bargaining association officers or employees.

17. Section 989.54 Marketing policy is revised to read:

§ 989.54 Marketing policy.

(a) Desirable free tonnage. On or before September 1 of each crop year the committee shall review shipment data and other matters relating to tons of raisins which can be sold as the free tonnage of any varietal type. This tonnage to be sold in the ensuing crop year shall be designated as "desirable free tonnage." Until changed by the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, the desirable free tonnage shall be 140,000 tons for Natural Thompson Seedless raisins.

(b) Free and reserve percentages. On or before October 5 of each crop year (except that this date may be extended by the committee not more than 5 days if warranted by a late crop) the committee shall recommend to the Secretary a preliminary free tonnage percentage which will release not less than 65 percent of the desirable free tonnage established for any varietal type. Upon a committee determination that field prices are firmly established and open price contracts have been closed as to price on at least 65 percent of the tonnage acquired by packers not marketing cooperatives, or such other percent as is recommended by the committee and approved by the Secretary, but no later than February 15, the committee shall recommend to the Secretary a free percentage which will tend to release the full desirable free tonnage. Prior to February 15, an interim change of percentage may be made to release less than the full tonnage. The difference between any preliminary or final free tonnage percentage and 100 percent shall be the reserve percentage. In developing its free and reserve percentages for any varietal type, the committee shall consider and report to the Secretary on the following factors:

(1) The estimated tonnage held by producers, handlers, and for the account of the committee at the beginning of the crop year;

(2) The expected general quality and any modifications of the minimum grade standards;

(3) The estimated tonnage of standard and offgrade raisins which will be produced;

(4) If different than the desirable free tonnage, the estimated trade demand for raisins in free tonnage outlets;

(5) An estimated desirable carryout at the end of the crop year for free tonnage and, if applicable, for reserve tonnage;

(6) The estimated market requirements for raisins outside free tonnage outlets, considering the estimated world raisin supply and demand situation;

(7) Current prices being received and the probable general level of prices to be received for raisins by producers and handlers;

(8) The trend and level of consumer income;

(9) Any prohibition of trade practices, pursuant to § 989.62, intended for the crop year; and

(10) Any other pertinent factors bearing on the marketing of raisins including the estimated supply of and demand for other varietal types and regulations applicable thereto.

(c) Modification. In the event the committee subsequently deems it advisable to modify its marketing policy on any crop, because of national emergency, crop failure or other major change in economic conditions, it shall hold a meeting for that purpose, and file a report thereof with the Secretary within 5 days (exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) after the holding of such meeting, which report shall show each modification, the bases therefor, as well as the recommendation of the board.

(d) Verbatim record. The committee shall file with its report to the Secretary a verbatim record of that portion of its meeting or meetings relating to its marketing policy.

(e) Publicity and notice. The committee shall promptly give reasonable publicity to producers, dehydrators, handlers, and the cooperative bargaining association(s) of each meeting to consider a marketing policy or any modification thereof, and each such meeting shall be open to them. Similar notice shall be given to producers, dehydrators, handlers, and the cooperative bargaining association(s) of each marketing policy report or modification thereof, filed with the Secretary and of the Secretary's action thereon. Copies of all marketing policy reports shall be maintained in the office of the committee, where they shall be made available for examination by any producer, dehydrator, handler, or cooperative bargaining association representative. The committee shall notify handlers, dehydrators, and cooperative bargaining association(s) of the Secretary's action on percentages by registered or certified mail.

18. Section 989.55 Modification is revised to read:

§ 989.55 Regulation by the Secretary.

(a) Whenever the Secretary finds from the recommendation and supporting information supplied by the committee, or from other available information, that to designate or modify the percentages for any varietal type of standard raisins acquired by handlers during any crop year which shall be free tonnage and reserve tonnage, respectively, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall designate such percentages and such modifications thereof as are consistent with § 989.54(b). In the event the Secretary subsequently finds from the recommendations and supporting information supplied by the committee, or from any other available information, that modification, suspension, or termination of any such designation will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall so modify, suspend, or terminate such designation. No such modification shall decrease the free percentage initially designated by the Secretary. The Secretary shall notify the committee promptly of each such percentage fixed.

§ 989.56 [Deleted]

19. Section 989.56 Verbatim record is deleted.

§ 989.57 [Deleted]

20. Section 989.57 Publicity and notice is deleted.

21. In paragraph (d) of § 989.58, subparagraph (1) is revised and a new subparagraph, subparagraph (3) is added to read:

§ 989.58 Natural condition raisins.

* * * * *

(d) Inspection and certification. (1) Each handler shall cause an inspection and certification to be made of all natural condition raisins acquired or received by him, except with respect to: (i) An interplant or interhandler transfer of offgrade raisins as described in paragraph (e)(2) of this section, unless such inspection and certification are required by rules and procedures made effective pursuant to this amended subpart; (ii) an interplant or interhandler transfer of free tonnage raisins as described in § 989.59(e); (iii) raisins received from a dehydrator which have been previously inspected pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; (iv) any raisins for which minimum grade and condition standards are not then in effect; (v) raisins received from a cooperative bargaining association which have been inspected and are in compliance with requirements established pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph; and (vi) any raisins, if permitted in accordance with such rules and procedures as the committee may establish with the approval of the Secretary, acquired or received for disposition in eligible nonnormal outlets. The handler shall be reimbursed by the committee for inspection costs incurred by him and applicable to pool tonnage held for the account of the committee. Except as otherwise provided in this section, prior to blending raisins, acquiring raisins, storing raisins, reconditioning raisins, or acquiring raisins which have been reconditioned, each handler shall obtain an inspection certification showing whether or not the raisins meet the applicable grade and condition standards: Provided, That these requirements shall not preclude fumigation by the handler prior to completion of inspection and certification in accordance with such rules and procedures as the committee shall establish with the approval of the Secretary. The handler shall submit or cause to be submitted to the committee a copy of such certification, together with such other documents or records as the committee may require. Such certification shall be issued by inspectors of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, unless the committee determines, and the Secretary concurs in such determination, that inspection by another agency would improve the administration of this amended subpart. The committee may require that raisins held on memorandum receipt be reinspected and certified as a condition for their acquisition by a handler.

* * * * *

(3) The committee may, in accordance with rules and the procedures established with the approval of the Secretary, authorize handlers to receive or acquire without further inspection and certification, natural condition raisins, standard or offgrade, which have been inspected, certified and held, in compliance with committee requirements, at a receiving station of a cooperative bargaining association.

* * * * *

22. Paragraphs (c) and (f) of § 989.59 are revised to read:

§ 989.59 Regulation of the handling of raisins subsequent to their acquisition by handlers.

* * * * *

(c) Publicity and notice. The committee shall give prompt and reasonable notice to producers, dehydrators, handlers, and the cooperative bargaining association(s) of each recommendation submitted by it to the Secretary and of each regulation issued by the Secretary. Notice of such regulation shall be given to all handlers of record by registered or certified mail.

* * * * *

(f) Disposition of offgrade raisins, other failing raisins, and raisin residual material in eligible nonnormal outlets. Any offgrade raisins, except those returned unstemmed to the tenderer or successfully reconditioned, and any raisin residual material (including defective raisins, stemmer waste, sweepings, and other residue) which may be received or acquired by a handler or accumulated by a handler from reconditioning raisins or from processing standard raisins, and other failing raisins, shall be disposed of or marketed by the handler, without further inspection, in eligible nonnormal outlets: Provided, That no packer shall be precluded from recovering raisins from such accumulations or acquisitions: Provided further, That whenever the Secretary concludes, on the basis of a recommendation of the committee, that to specify one or more nonnormal outlets as ineligible for any class of such receipts, acquisitions, or accumulations will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall specify such ineligible outlets and prohibit the shipment thereto or final disposition therein of such class by handlers as well as the receipt and use thereof by processors: And provided further, That no processor who is a distiller shall be precluded from receiving or using for distillation (i) the standard raisins which subsequently fail to meet the said applicable standards, (ii) the raisin residual material accumulated from processing standard raisins, or (iii) the raisin residual material referable to the standard raisin equivalent recovered in reconditioning; and any handler may ship such raisins and raisin residual material to such processor. For the purposes of disposition and reporting, "other failing raisins" means any raisins received or acquired by a handler either as standard raisins or offgrade raisins, which are processed to a point where they qualify as packed raisins but fail to meet the applicable minimum grade standards for packed raisins. The committee shall establish, with the approval of the Secretary, such rules and procedures as may be necessary to insure adequate control over the offgrade raisins and raisin residual material subject to this paragraph. Such rules may include a requirement that the disposition and use of all or any class of offgrade raisins or raisin residual material be confined to the area. The provisions of this paragraph are not intended to excuse any failure to comply with all applicable food and sanitary rules and regulations of city, county, State, Federal or other agencies having jurisdiction.

§ 989.63 [Deleted]

23. Section 989.63 Recommendation for designation of percentages is deleted.

§ 989.64 [Deleted]

24. Section 989.64 Regulation by the Secretary is deleted.

25. Section 989.66 Reserve and surplus tonnage generally is revised to read:

§ 989.66 Reserve tonnage generally.

(a) The standard raisins acquired by a handler which are designated as reserve tonnage shall be held by him for the account of the committee and subject to the applicable restrictions of this part.

(b) (1) Each handler shall hold in storage all reserve tonnage acquired by him until he has been relieved of such responsibility by the committee, either by delivery to the committee, or otherwise. Such handler shall store such reserve without addition of moisture and in such manner as will maintain the raisins tonnage raisins in natural condition in the same condition as when he acquired them, except for normal and natural deterioration and shrinkage, and except for loss through fire, acts of God or other conditions beyond the handler's control: Provided, That in the case of Layer Muscat raisins, the committee may permit handlers to satisfy the applicable reserve tonnage obligations with residual Muscat raisins obtained by them in layering operations subject to such safeguards as it may prescribe.

(2) Reserve tonnage acquired or held by a handler shall be stored separate and apart from other raisins to such extent and identified in such manner as the committee shall specify in its rules and procedures with the approval of the Secretary.

(3) Each handler may, under the direction and supervision of the committee, substitute for any quantity of reserve tonnage raisins a like quantity of free tonnage raisins of like quality and varietal type and of the same or more recent year's production. Each such handler shall give the committee reasonable advance notice of his intention to substitute, the exact location of the raisins for which substitution is to be made, and arrange with the committee a mutually satisfactory time for the substitution.

(4) The committee may, after giving reasonable notice, require a handler to deliver to it, or to anyone designated by it, at such handler's warehouse or at such other place as the raisins may be stored, part or all of the reserve tonnage raisins held by him. The committee may require that such delivery consist of natural condition raisins, or it may arrange for such delivery to consist of packed raisins.

(c) Each handler shall, at all times, hold in his possession or under his control reserve tonnage referable to his acquisitions of standard raisins, less any quantity of such reserve tonnage released to him by a change of persentages, delivered by him pursuant to instructions of the committee, or sold to him by the committee.

(d) Reserve tonnage raisins delivered by any handler to the committee, or to any person designated by it, whether in the form of natural condition raisins or packed raisins shall meet the applicable minimum grade or grade and condition standards, except for normal and natural deterioration. The committee shall have the authority to require, in its discretion and at its expense, such reinspection and certification of reserve pool tonnage raisins as it may deem necessary.

(e) In the event the committee offers to handlers reserve tonnage raisins for contract packing or for sale in export, as provided in § 989.67, each handler shall be given the opportunity to pack or purchase his share of each offer.

(f) Handlers shall be compensated for receiving, storing, handling and inspection of that tonnage of reserve raisins determined by the final reserve percentage of a crop year and held by them for the account of the committee, in accordance with a schedule of payments established by the committee and approved by the Secretary. A box rental shall be paid by the committee to producers or handlers for boxes used in storing reserve tonnage raisins beyond the crop year of acquisition in accordance with a rental schedule established by the committee and approved by the Secretary. The handler compensation shall be reviewed annually and shall be paid, as to the amount determined to be earned and unpaid, as soon as practicable after the end of the second quarter of the crop year and quarterly thereafter. Any handler may request the committee, by registered or certified mail, at any time after July 15 of a crop year to remove reserve tonnage raisins of the current crop year which remain in his possession. At any time in a crop year, a handler may request removal of reserve tonnage raisins of the prior crop year. In each instance, he may request that the committee provide the necessary containers for any such removal. When so requested as to current crop year raisins, the committee shall make the removal, the availability of containers, storage space and time of request permitting, by September 15 of the subsequent crop year, and as to raisins of the prior crop year, within 30 days, supplying the necessary containers if so requested. If any handler makes such a request, the committee shall immediately give notice thereof to the Secretary.

(g) The committee shall have the authority, in its discretion, to obtain loans, nonrecourse or otherwise, on any part of the reserve tonnage not subject to release as desirable free tonnage and to pledge or hypothecate the raisins on which such loans are obtained as security therefor: Provided, That in every such case, there shall be included in the loan agreement a provision to the effect that, in case the lender obtains possession or control of such raisins, he will dispose of them in such a manner as will not tend to defeat the objectives of this amended subpart. The net proceeds of any such loan shall be distributed by the committee pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section.

(h) The net proceeds from the disposition of reserve tonnage raisins of any varietal type shall be distributed by the committee to the respective producers, or their successor in interest thereto, on the basis of the volume of their respective contributions to the reserve tonnage of such varietal type. Distribution of the proceeds in connection with the reserve tonnage contributed by a nonprofit cooperative marketing association which has authority to market the raisins of its members and to allocate the proceeds therefrom to such members shall be made to such association. Advance or progress payments may be made by the committee, in conformity with the provisions of this paragraph, as sufficient funds become available.

26. Section 989.67 Special provisions relating to reserve tonnage is revised to read:

§ 989.67 Disposal of reserve raisins.

(a) The committee shall dispose of all reserve tonnage raisins in such a manner as to achieve, as nearly as may be practicable, complete disposal of such raisins by November 1 of the subsequent crop year. Any reserve tonnage raisins held unsold by the committee on November 1 of the subsequent crop year shall be physically disposed of promptly in any available outlet not competitive with normal market channels for free tonnage raisins or sales of new crop reserve tonnage raisins in export: Provided, That, whenever the Secretary approves of a finding by the committee or finds, on the basis of information otherwise available to him that because of national emergency, crop failure or other major change in economic conditions, retention of reserve tonnage raisins carried over is warranted, the foregoing requirements as to disposal shall not apply and such carried over raisins may be disposed of in any outlet recommended by the committee and approved by the Secretary.

(b) Reserve tonnage raisins shall be disposed of by the committee: (1) By sale to handlers for sale in specified outlets or for resale to exporters for sale in export outlets; (2) by direct sale to any agency of the U.S. Government for noncompetitive use; (3) by direct sale to foreign government agencies or foreign importers in any country not listed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section or where the procurement of raisins is so regulated as to preclude purchases from domestic handlers; (4) by gift; and (5) by any other means consistent with the provisions of this section, and in outlets noncompetitive with those for free tonnage raisins.

(c) The committee shall sell reserve raisins to handlers for export sale to countries on a list established by the Secretary, on the basis of the recommendation of the committee or from other available information. The recommended list shall be submitted by the committee to the Secretary at the time it submits its recommendation as to volume percentages, and in recommending such list the committee shall give consideration to the pertinent factors enumerated in § 989.54. The list shall not be changed except upon approval by the Secretary of a recommendation by the committee subsequent to its review of such pertinent factors. No country may be removed from the list unless a finding is made by the committee that such removal and subsequent direct sale by the committee shall not lead to disruption of sales of reserve tonnage raisins by handlers in other countries on the list and a further finding that, although handlers have been able to offer reserve tonnage raisins at competitive prices to the country to be removed, there remains an unfulfilled demand in such country which has not been supplied by handlers and which could be supplied by the committee at the same prices by means of direct sale. No country may be added to the list unless a finding is made by the committee that such addition represents a practical means of making sales of reserve raisins to such country.

(d) (1) Reserve tonnage raisins shall be sold to handlers at prices and in a manner intended to maximize producer returns and achieve complete disposition of such raisins by or before November 1 of the subsequent crop year. No offer shall be made until 5 days (exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) have elapsed from the time it files with the Secretary complete information as to varietal type, quantity, and price involved in such offer, and the Secretary may disapprove the offer or any term thereof: Provided, That, at any time prior to the expiration of the 5-day period, the offer may be made to handlers upon the committee receiving from the Secretary notice that he does not disapprove the making of the offer. Subject to the same conditions as are set forth in the preceding sentence with respect to the making of such offer, the committee may withdraw an offer to sell reserve tonnage raisins to handlers or may extend the offer period but not when such extensions would deprive one or more handlers of any opportunity to purchase raisins. If the committee includes in its terms of sale the minimum packer resale prices (effective pursuant to provisions of its export sales agreement with packers) it shall review annually the costs which determine the spread between the committee's sale price of natural condition raisins and the packer's resale price of packed raisins and make such adjustments as it concludes are appropriate.

(2) An offer of reserve tonnage for export may be either an open-as-to-tonnage offer to handlers to purchase at a price and to export reserve tonnage each holds for the account of the committee, consistent with the probable final reserve percentage, or may be an offer of a specific tonnage. If the former, and a handler has insufficient reserve tonnage to meet his needs, the committee may accept arrangements with other handlers to supply reserve tonnage. If the latter, each handler's share of the reserve tonnage offered prior to November 1 of any crop year shall be determined as the same proportion of the quantity offered that the free tonnage raisins acquired by him during the preceding crop year is of the free tonnage raisins acquired by all handlers during the preceding crop year who remain handlers. Subsequent to October 31, each handler's share shall be determined as the same proportion of the quantity offered that the free tonnage raisins acquired by the handler during the then current crop year is of the total free tonnage raisins acquired by all handlers during the then current crop year. With respect to any offer other than the initial offer, each handler's share of the total quantity offered as of that date (the then current offer plus all prior offers of that crop year) shall first be determined by the appropriate formula. His share of the current offer shall then be determined by subtracting from his share of the total quantity offered, the total of his share of prior offers from the beginning of the crop year. If any handler did not acquire raisins during the preceding crop year, the basis for his share of any quantity of reserve tonnage raisins offered prior to November 1 shall be his acquisitions of free tonnage raisins during the then current crop year. The current free tonnage acquisitions of all such new handlers shall, for the purposes of determining the shares of all handlers prior to November 1 be added to the total acquisitions of free tonnage raisins during the preceding crop year of all handlers in business at the time the offer is made.

(3) At any time during a crop year when there is an accumulation of unsold reserve tonnage raisins previously offered by the committee for sale to handlers for resale in export, the committee may make a special offer to sell such unsold tonnage, or any portion thereof, to handlers for such resale. Each handler's share of any such offer shall be determined as the same proportion of the quantity offered that the free tonnage raisins acquired by him during the then current crop year is of the total free tonnage raisins acquired by all handlers during such year. The committee may provide with respect to such a special offer that any reserve tonnage unpurchased at the end of the share reservation period will be reoffered to handlers without regard to shares and that approval for handler's applications for purchase may be made in the same order in which the applications are received by the committee. The committee may allocate and deliver to any handler, holding insufficient special offer tonnage, sufficient such tonnage to fulfill his purchase in such a special offer and his purchase in any reoffer. The cost of transporting any such reserve tonnage raisins from one handler to another shall be paid by the committee from reserve pool funds.

(4) Whenever essentially all of the reserve tonnage raisins have been offered and any unpurchased or unoffered tonnage is offered to handlers, approval of applications may be made in the same order in which the applications are filed with the committee.

(5) Whenever a handler's share or allocation pursuant to this subparagraph is less than or exceeds his holdings of reserve tonnage by a minor quantity, the committee may adjust the handler's share or allocation so as to avoid the cost of the physical transfer. The maximum quantity by which a handler's share or allocation may be so allocated shall be prescribed in rules and procedures which the committee shall establish with the approval of the Secretary.

(e) The committee may sell reserve tonnage raisins as provided in paragraph (b) (2) of this section only when such country is not included in the list of specified countries established pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section and may sell reserve tonnage raisins to foreign government agencies of foreign importers in any country removed from such list. No agreement to sell reserve tonnage raisins shall be entered into by the committee until 5 days (exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) have elapsed from the time it files with the Secretary complete information as to varietal type, quantity, price and foreign country involved in any such proposed sale, and the Secretary may disapprove such sale or any term thereof: Provided, That, at any time prior to the expiration of the 5-day period, the sale may be made upon the committee receiving from the Secretary notice that he does not disapprove the making of the sale.

(f) Whenever the committee determines, prior to the beginning of a crop year, that the orderly disposition of reserve tonnage of that crop year would be promoted by the committee replacing any portion of or all handler export shipments of free tonnage raisins, to other than free tonnage outlets, made prior to the committee's first offer to sell reserve tonnage, but after September 1 it may do so and may specify such requirements and conditions as are necessary to carry out the replacement consistent with the objectives of this amended subpart. The committee may establish a price for such replacement tonnage which is higher, the same as, or lower than that for reserve tonnage in the first offer of the crop year and shall announce such replacement tonnage price prior to or at the beginning of the crop year. Any such replacement offer by the committee shall be governed by those provisions of paragraph (d)(1) of this section which prescribe prior action by the Secretary on committee offers to sell tonnage to handlers.

(g) The committee may refuse to sell reserve tonnage raisins for export: (1) To any handler who is in default on any previous purchase of reserve tonnage raisins from the committee; (2) to any handler currently not in compliance with the provisions of a sales agreement covering reserve tonnage raisins, executed by such handler with the committee; or (3) to any handler who signifies an intention to sell reserve tonnage to or through any person who has previously failed to complete a sale of reserve tonnage raisins to a foreign buyer and such raisins remain to be exported and remain unsold to any foreign buyer in an eligible export market.

(h) Each packer's share of an offer of reserve tonnage raisins for contract packing shall be determined as the same proportion that the reserve tonnage raisins acquired by him is of the reserve tonnage raisins acquired by all packers. In the event that any packer fails to contract for packing any or all of his share of any offer, the remaining portion thereof shall be reoffered by the committee to all packers who contracted for packing all of their respective shares, in proportion to their respective acquisitions: Provided, That, if such amount which packers fail to contract for packing does not exceed 250 tons, or if it is necessary to deviate from the foregoing in order to meet terms and conditions of shipment, the committee may, in its discretion, allocate such reserve tonnage raisins among packers as it deems appropriate, but the shares of packers in subsequent offers or reoffers shall be adjusted accordingly.

(i) In the event the committee determines that the applicable procedures as specified in paragraphs (d) and (h) of this section will not provide an allocation for handlers which is suitable for a particular situation, the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish such modifications of procedures, consistent with § 989.66(e), as will facilitate the disposition of reserve tonnage through handlers.

(j) The committee shall not sell reserve tonnage of any varietal type to handlers to provide them with raisins to sell as free tonnage unless it finds, and the Secretary approves, that because of national emergency, crop failure, major change of economic conditions or an inadequate carryover for September shipment the free tonnage outlets cannot be reasonably well supplied by the tonnage released to the industry as a whole by the final free percentage for that varietal type. Any quantities made available for such sale to handlers shall be offered to them in the same manner as in paragraph (d)(1) of this section, with shares determined pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section. However, such raisins shall not be sold at a price below that which the committee concludes reflects the average price received by producers for free tonnage of the same varietal type purchased by handlers during the current crop year up to the time of any offer for sale of reserve tonnage by the committee, to which shall be added the costs incurred by the committee on account of the receiving, inspecting, storing, insuring, and holding of said raisins: Provided, That, where the outlook for the next crop year or other factors have caused a downward trend in the prices received by producers for free tonnage packed raisins, reserve tonnage may be sold to handlers at the currently prevailing or the approximate computed field price for free tonnage raisins, as determined by the committee.

27. Section 989.68 Disposal of surplus raisins is deleted.

28. Section 989.69 Substitution for Layer Muscats is revised to read:

§ 989.69 Substitution for Layer Muscats.

A handler may substitute an equal quantity of natural (sun-dried) Muscat or Valencia raisins for any portion or all of the reserve tonnage referable to his acquisitions of Layer Muscat raisins: Provided, That he shall have made arrangements satisfactory to each producer of the Layer Muscat raisins for such substitution. The handler shall report promptly to the committee any such substitution.

29. Section 989.71 Disposition of unsold reserve and surplus tonnage in above parity situations is revised to read:

§ 989.71 Disposition of unsold reserve tonnage in above parity situations.

In the event that the Secretary should find, during a crop year when reserve tonnage percentages have been designated and are in effect pursuant to this part, that the estimated season average price for raisins for that crop year will be in excess of the price level contemplated by the provisions of section 2(1) of the act, he shall issue an order providing for the orderly disposition of the unsold reserve tonnage then on hand, in such outlets, at such times, and in accordance with such terms and conditions, as he may determine to be appropriate in the circumstances. In determining the liquidation procedures and terms, the Secretary shall give consideration to the data and recommendations, if any, which may be submitted by the committee.

30. Paragraph (b) of § 989.73 is revised to read:

* * * * *

(b) Acquisition reports. Each handler shall submit to the committee in accordance with such rules and procedures as are prescribed by the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, certified reports, for such periods as the committee may require, with respect to his acquisitions of each varietal type of raisins during the particular period covered by such report, which report shall include, but not be limited to: (1) The total quantity of standard raisins acquired; (2) the quantity of reserve tonnage referable to his acquisitions of standard raisins; (3) the locations of such reserve tonnages; (4) the total quantity of offgrade raisins acquired pursuant to § 989.59(e)(1)(i); and (5) cumulative totals of such acquisitions from the beginning of the then current crop year to and including the end of the period for which the report is made. Upon written application made to the committee, a handler may be relieved of submitting such reports after completing his packing operations for the season. Upon request of the committee, each handler shall furnish to the committee, in such manner and at such times as it may require, the name and address of each person from whom he acquired raisins and the quantity of each varietal type of raisins acquired from each such person.

* * * * * *

31. Section 989.79 Expenses is revised to read:

§ 989.79 Expenses.

The committee is authorized to incur such expenses (other than those specified in § 989.82) as the Secretary finds are reasonable and likely to be incurred by it during each crop year, for the maintenance and functioning of the committee and the board and for such purposes as he may, pursuant to this subpart, determine to be appropriate. The funds to cover such expenses shall be obtained by levying assessments as provided in § 989.80. The committee shall file with the Secretary for each crop year a proposed budget of these expenses and a proposal as to the assessment rate to be fixed pursuant to § 989.80, together with a report thereon. Such filing shall be not later than October 5 of the crop year, but this date may be extended by the committee not more than 5 days if warranted by a late crop. Also it shall file at the same time a proposed budget of the expenses likely to be incurred during the crop year in connection with reserve raisins held for the account of the committee, exclusive of the receiving, storing, and handling expenses which are covered by a schedule of payments to handlers effective pursuant to § 989.66(f) or any rules and procedures established by the committee, and exclusive of any expenses it may incur in connection with the disposition of such raisins and which are unknown at the time. The said report shall also cover this proposed budget.

32. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 989.80 are revised to read:

§ 989.80 Assessments.

(a) Each handler shall, with respect to free tonnage acquired by him, and any reserve tonnage released or sold to him for use in free tonnage outlets, pay to the committee, upon demand, his pro rata share of the expenses (exclusive of expenses for receiving, handling, holding or disposing of reserve pool tonnage) which the Secretary finds will be incurred, as aforesaid, by the committee during each crop year. Such handler's pro rata share of such expenses shall be equal to the ratio between the total free tonnage acquired by such handler plus any reserve tonnage released or sold to him for use as free tonnage, during the applicable crop year and the total free tonnage acquired by all handlers plus all reserve tonnage released or sold to all handlers for use as free tonnage, during the same crop year: Provided, That (1) in computing the total free tonnage acquired by a particular handler, there shall be excluded all standard raisins (recovered by the reconditioning of offgrade raisins) acquired by the handler and which comprise the assessable portion of another handler pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, and (2) the computation of the total free tonnage acquired by all handlers shall not be similarly reduced.

(b) Each handler who reconditions offgrade raisins but does not acquire the standard raisins recovered therefrom shall, with respect to his assessable portion of all such standard raisins, pay to the committee, upon demand, his pro rata share of the expenses which the Secretary finds will be incurred by the committee each crop year. Such handler's pro rata share of such expenses shall be equal to the ratio between the handler's assessable portion (which shall be a quantity equal to the free tonnage portions of such handler's standard raisins which are acquired by some other handler or handlers) during the applicable crop year and the total free tonnage acquired by all handlers, plus all reserve tonnage released or sold to all handlers for use as free tonnage, during the same crop year.

33. Section 989.82 Expenses of reserve and surplus raisin operations is revised to read:

§ 989.82 Expenses of reserve raisin operations.

The committee is authorized to incur such expenses as are reasonable and are necessary in discharging its obligations, pursuant to this part, with respect to the receiving, handling, holding, or disposing of any quantity of reserve pool raisins held for the account of the committee. The committee is authorized to pay any taxes assessed against raisins held by or for the account of the committee on the first Monday in March, in the reserve pool established pursuant to this subpart: Provided, That any equity holder may pay his own taxes upon giving notice to the committee on or before May 1 of each year of his intention to do so. All pool expenses shall be deducted from the proceeds obtained by the committee from the sale or other disposal of such reserve raisins held for the account of the committee.

34. Section 989.84 Disposition limitation is revised to read:

§ 989.84 Disposition limitation.

No handler shall dispose of free or reserve tonnage raisins, offgrade raisins, or other failing raisins (as defined in § 989.59(f)), except in accordance with the provisions of this subpart or pursuant to regulations issued by the committee.

35. Paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), and (g) of § 989.96 are revised and a new paragraph, paragraph (h) is added to read:

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 1034 issued under sections 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674.

§ 1034.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in the order as hereby amended, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 2 cents per hundredweight or such amount not to exceed 2 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to:

(i) Receipts of producer milk (including such handler's own production);

(ii) Other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a) (4) and (8) and the corresponding steps of § 1034.45(b); and

(iii) Packaged Class I milk disposed of from partially regulated distributing plants as route disposition in the marketing area that exceeds the hundredweight of Class I milk received during the month at such plants from pool plants and other order plants.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than September 1, 1967. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, was issued June 8, 1967, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order was issued August 7, 1967. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. There are only two known handlers for which this order may represent initial regulation. In the event such handlers come under the regulation, they will have until October 7, 1967, to become fully acquainted with the reporting and accounting requirements of the order prior to making their first receipts and utilization reports to the market administrator. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective September 1, 1967, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 553(d), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 551–559)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as herein amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum and who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

(4) Such other information with respect to the receipts and utilization of milk as the market administrator may request; and

(c) Each handler who operates a partially regulated distributing plant shall report for such plant the information required by paragraph (a) of this section, except that receipts of milk approved by any duly constituted health authority for fluid consumption in the marketing area shall be reported as if producer milk. Such report shall include separate data on route disposition in the marketing area.

§ 1034.31 Other reports.

(a) Each producer-handler and each handler exempt pursuant to §§ 1034.61 and 1034.62(b) shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request.

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

Classification

§ 1034.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified.

All skim milk and butterfat required to be reported pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.31 shall be classified by the market administrator as Class I milk or Class II milk subject to the conditions of this section and §§ 1034.41 through 1034.46. When nonfat milk solids derived from nonfat dry milk, condensed skim milk or any other product condensed from milk or skim milk are utilized or unaccounted for by the handler, the total pounds of skim milk classified shall reflect a volume equivalent to the skim milk used to produce such nonfat milk solids, except that if the solids are utilized to fortify fluid milk products the actual weight of any such product shall be included in classifying the total product weight.

§ 1034.41 Classes of utilization.

The classes of utilization of milk shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk means skim milk (except as provided for fortified fluid milk products pursuant to § 1034.40) and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of in the form of fluid milk products other than those specified pursuant to paragraphs (b) (2), (3), and (4);

(2) In inventory of fluid milk products in packaged form on hand at the end of the month; and

(3) Not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk means skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product;

(2) Disposed of and used for livestock feed or as skim milk dumped;

(3) Contained (skim milk only) in that portion of fortified fluid milk products not classified as Class I milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section;

(4) Contained in inventory of bulk fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month;

(5) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, assigned pursuant to § 1034.42(c) (1) and (3); and

(6) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, assigned pursuant to § 1034.42(c)(2).

§ 1034.42 Shrinkage.

Skim milk and butterfat, respectively, at each pool plant to be classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41(b) (5) and (6) shall be computed as follows:

(a) If the sum of the quantities of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, classified as Class I and Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41 (a) and (b) (1), (2), (3), and (4) equals or exceeds the receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, required to be reported pursuant to § 1034.30, no skim milk or butterfat, respectively, shall be classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.41(b) (5) and (6);

(b) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat; and

(c) Subject to the conditions of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, pro rate the resulting amounts between the quantities specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph. The amounts assigned to the quantities in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall not exceed 2.5 percent of such quantities and the amounts assigned to the other source milk included in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall equal the actual shrinkage allocated to these quantities.

(1) The receipts of producer milk at such plant less transfers of fluid milk products in bulk form to other pool plants; plus 60 percent of the fluid milk products transferred in bulk to other pool plants; and plus 40 percent of the fluid milk products received in bulk from other pool plants and other order plants, exclusive of the quantities from other order plants for which Class II utilization was requested by the operator of such plant and the handler;

(2) Other source milk in the form of fluid milk products exclusive of that specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(3) If settlement by a handler on milk received from a cooperative association pursuant to § 1034.8(c) is made on the basis of weights and butterfat tests determined at the farm and the market administrator is so notified of such basis of settlement by the date the handler is required to submit his monthly report pursuant to § 1034.30, 2.5 percent shrinkage shall be allowed the handler with respect to all such milk, otherwise to 60 percent of such receipts and the balance (computed at the 2.5 percent rate) to the cooperative association supplying the milk.

§ 1034.43 Transfers.

Skim milk or butterfat in the form of a fluid milk product disposed of by a handler from a pool plant shall be classified:

(a) At the utilization indicated by the operators of both plants, otherwise as Class I milk, if transferred or diverted to another pool plant, subject to the following conditions:

(1) The skim milk or butterfat so assigned to either class shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the transferee plant after computations pursuant to § 1034.45 (a) (9) and (b);

(2) If the transferor plant received during the month other source milk to be allocated pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(4), the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified so as to allocate the least possible Class I utilization to such other source milk; and

(3) If the transferor handler received during the month other source milk to be allocated pursuant to § 1034.45 (a) (9) and (b), the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted up to the total of such receipts shall not be classified as Class I milk to a greater extent than would be applicable to a like quantity of such other source milk received at the transferee plant.

(4) If the movement is from a pool distributing plant to a pool supply plant, it shall be considered Class II utilization to the extent such utilization is available at the receiving plant.

(b) As Class I milk, if moved to a producer-handler or a plant exempt pursuant to § 1034.60(b);

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in bulk to a nonpool plant that is neither an other order plant, nor a producer-handler plant, unless the requirements of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph are met, in which case the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified in accordance with the assignment resulting from subparagraph (3) of this paragraph:

(1) The transferring or diverting handler claims classification pursuant to the assignment set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1034.30 for the month within which such transaction occurred;

(2) The operator of such nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification; and

(3) The skim milk and butterfat so transferred shall be classified on the basis of the following assignment of utilization at such nonpool plant in excess of receipts of packaged fluid milk products from all pool plants and other order plants:

(i) Route disposition in the marketing area of another order issued pursuant to the Act shall be first assigned to receipts from plants fully regulated by such order, next pro rata to receipts from pool plants and other order plants not regulated by such order, and thereafter to receipts from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute regular sources of supply of fluid milk products for such nonpool plant;

(ii) Class I utilization in excess of that assigned pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph shall be assigned first to remaining receipts from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of supply of fluid milk products for such nonpool plant and Class I utilization in excess of such receipts shall be assigned pro rata to unassigned receipts at such nonpool plant from all pool and other order plants; and

(iii) To the extent that Class I utilization is not so assigned to it, the skim milk and butterfat so transferred shall be classified as Class II milk; and

(d) As follows, if transferred to an other order plant in excess of receipts from such plant in the same category as described in subparagraph (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph:

(1) If transferred in consumer packages, classification shall be in the classes to which allocated as a fluid milk product under the other order;

(2) If transferred in bulk form, classification shall be in the classes to which allocated as a fluid milk product under the other order (including allocation under the conditions set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph);

(3) If the operators of both the transferor and transferee plants so request in the reports of receipts and utilization filed with their respective market administrators, transfers in bulk form shall be classified as Class II to the extent of the Class II utilization (or comparable utilization under such other order) available for such assignment pursuant to the allocation provisions of the transferee order;

(4) If the classification to which allocated under the other order is not available to the market administrator for purposes of establishing classification pursuant to this paragraph, classification shall be as Class I, subject to adjustment when such information is available;

(5) For purposes of this paragraph, if the transferee order provides for more than two classes of utilization, milk allocated to a class consisting primarily of fluid milk products shall be classified as Class I, and milk allocated to other classes shall be classified as Class II; and

(6) If the form in which any fluid milk product is transferred to an other order plant is not defined as a fluid milk product under such other order, classification shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 1034.41.

§ 1034.44 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class.

For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization for each pool plant and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class I milk and Class II milk at each such plant.

§ 1034.45 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified.

After making the computations pursuant to § 1034.44, the market administrator shall determine, for each pool plant, the classification of producer milk received thereat. In making the allocations for this purpose under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, any subtractions of receipts of skim milk or butterfat (except other source milk received as cottage cheese curd to be subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (4) (i) of this paragraph) to begin with Class II milk shall be made in series starting with skim milk and butterfat other than that used to produce cottage cheese, then skim milk and butterfat used to produce cottage cheese prior to any such subtractions from Class I milk.

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk classified as Class II pursuant to § 1034.41(b)(5);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk in fluid milk products received in packaged form from other order plants as follows:

(i) From Class II milk, the lesser of the pounds remaining or two percent of such receipts; and

(ii) From Class I milk, the remainder of such receipts;

(3) Except for the first month this order is effective with respect to each handler, subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class I, the pounds of skim milk in inventory of fluid milk products in packaged form on hand at the beginning of the month;

(4) Subtract successively from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in each of the following:

(i) Other source milk in a form other than that of a fluid milk product, provided that any such milk received as cottage cheese curd shall be subtracted directly from the handler's cottage cheese utilization.

(ii) Receipts of fluid milk products for which Grade A certification is not established or which are from unidentified sources;

(iii) Receipts of fluid milk products from a producer-handler as defined under this or any other Federal order; and

(iv) Receipts of fluid milk products from a plant exempt pursuant to § 1034.60(b);

(5) Subtract, in the order specified below, from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II:

(i) The pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants for which the handler requests Class II utilization (other than cottage cheese manufacture) but not in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in such Class II uses;

(ii) The pounds of skim milk remaining in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants which are in excess of the pounds of skim milk determined as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I milk (excluding Class I transfers between pool plants of the handler) at all pool plants of the handler by 1.25;

(b) Subtract from the result the sum of the pounds of skim milk at all such pool plants in producer milk, in receipts from other pool handlers and in receipts in bulk order from other order plants; and

(c) (1) Multiply any resulting plus quantity by the percentage that receipts of skim milk in fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants remaining at this plant is of all such receipts remaining at all pool plants of such handler, after any deductions pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph;

(2) Should such computation result in a quantity to be subtracted from Class II, which is in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II, the pounds of skim milk in Class II shall be increased to the quantity to be subtracted and the pounds of skim milk in Class I shall be decreased a like amount. In such case the utilization of skim milk at other pool plant(s) of such handler shall be adjusted in the reverse direction by an identical amount in sequence beginning with the nearest other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(iii) The pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products in bulk from an other order plant in excess of similar transfers to such plant, but not in excess of the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk, if Class II utilization was requested by the operator of such plant and the handler;

(6) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in inventory of bulk fluid milk products (and for the first month the order is effective with respect to each handler, the pounds of fluid milk products in packaged form) on hand at the beginning of the month;

(7) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the pounds subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(8) (i) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, pro rata to the total pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in all pool plants of the receiving handler, the pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products from unregulated supply plants that were not subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (5) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph;

(ii) Should such proration result in the amount to be subtracted from any class exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in such class in the pool plant at which such skim milk was received, the pounds of skim milk in such class shall be increased to the amount to be subtracted and the pounds of skim milk in the other class shall be decreased a like amount. In such case the utilization of milk at other pool plant(s) of such handler shall be adjusted in the reverse direction by an identical amount in sequence beginning with the nearest other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(9) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class the pounds of skim milk in receipts of fluid milk products in bulk from an other order plant, in excess in each case of similar transfers to the same plant, that were not subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (5) (iii) of this paragraph pursuant to the following procedure:

(i) Subject to the provisions of subdivisions (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph, such subtraction shall be pro rata to whichever of the following represents the higher proportion of all Class II milk:

(a) The estimated utilization of skim milk in each class, by all handlers, as announced for the month pursuant to § 1034.22(I); or

(b) The pounds of skim milk in each class remaining at all pool plants of the handler;

(ii) Should proration pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph result in the total pounds of skim milk to be subtracted from Class II at all pool plants of the handler exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II at such plants, the pounds of such excess shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I after such proration at the pool plants at which received;

(iii) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, should proration pursuant to either subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph result in the amount to be subtracted from any class exceeding the pounds of skim milk remaining in such class in the pool plant at which such skim milk was received, the pounds of skim milk in such class other pool plant of such handler at which such adjustment can be made;

(10) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class the pounds of skim milk received in fluid milk products from pool plants of other handlers according to the classification assigned pursuant to § 1034.43(a); and

(11) If the pounds of skim milk remaining in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in producer milk, subtract such excess from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in series beginning with Class II. Any amount so subtracted shall be known as "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Combine the amounts of skim milk and butterfat determined pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section into one total for each class and determine the weighted average butterfat content of producer milk in each class.

§ 1034.46 Responsibility of handlers.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, all skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Producer milk in bulk delivered by a cooperative association as a handler under § 1034.8(c) to the pool plant of another handler, or caused to be diverted by the cooperative association from one pool plant to another, shall be classified according to use or disposition at the receiving plant, and the value thereof at the class prices shall be included in the net pool obligation computed for such handler pursuant to § 1034.70. For purposes of location adjustments pursuant to § 1034.54 and administrative expense pursuant to § 1034.88, such milk shall be treated as producer milk of the receiving handler.

(c) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

Minimum Prices

§ 1034.50 Basic formula price.

The basic formula price shall be the average price per hundredweight for manufacturing grade milk, f.o.b. plants in Wisconsin and Minnesota, as reported by the Department for the month. Such price shall be adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat basis by a butterfat differential rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent computed at 0.12 times the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any range as one price) per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago, as reported for the month by the Department (hereinafter referred to as the Chicago butter price). The basic formula price shall be rounded to the nearest full cent. For the purpose of computing Class I prices from the effective date hereof through April 1968, the basic formula price shall be not less than $4.05.

§ 1034.51 Class I milk prices.

Subject to the provisions of § 1034.53 the price per hundredweight for Class I milk for the month shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Add $1.24, plus 20 cents through April 1968, to the basic formula price for the preceding month plus or minus a "supply-demand adjustment" of not more than 39 cents computed as follows:

(1) Divide the aggregate pounds of producer milk in Class I milk (including inventory except as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, and "overage", but adjusted to eliminate duplications due to interhandler and intermarket plant transfers) under this part and Part 1033 of this chapter (Greater Cincinnati order) for the second, third, and fourth months preceding by the aggregate pounds of producer milk receipts under such parts for the same months, multiply the result by 100 and round to the nearest whole number. The result shall be known as the "Class I utilization percentage";

Month for which price is being computed	Preceding months used in computation	Standard utilization percentage
		Minimum	Maximum
January	Sept., Oct., Nov.	66	69
February	Oct., Nov., Dec.	68	71
March	Nov., Dec., Jan.	69	72
April	Dec., Jan., Feb.	68	71
May	Jan., Feb., Mar.	68	71
June	Feb., Mar., Apr.	69	69
July	Mar., Apr., May	60	63
August	Apr., May, June	54	57
September	May, June, July	52	55
October	June, July, Aug.	53	56
November	July, Aug., Sept.	58	61
December	Aug., Sept., Oct.	62	65

(3) For the third month this subparagraph is effective, the monthly ending inventory of packaged fluid milk products for the month preceding such month shall be deducted in computing the 3 months' Class I milk total under subparagraph (1) above and the same adjusted monthly Class I milk total shall be used in the two successive 3 months' Class I milk total in subparagraph (1).

§ 1034.52 Class II milk prices.

Subject to the provisions of § 1034.53, the prices per hundredweight for Class II milk for the month shall be computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the amount for the month computed pursuant to § 1034.50, but not more than the sum of the amounts computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph (rounded to nearest cent), plus 10 cents:

(1) From the Chicago butter price computed pursuant to § 1034.50, subtract 3 cents and multiply by 4.2; and

(2) From the weighted average of carlot prices per pound of spray process nonfat dry milk for human consumption f.o.b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents and multiply by 8.2.

(b) For skim milk in producer milk used to produce cottage cheese the amount computed for the month pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section plus 20 cents.

§ 1034.53 Butterfat differentials to handlers.

(a) Class I price. Multiply the Chicago butter price computed pursuant to § 1034.50 for the immediately preceding month by 0.120.

(b) Class II price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the month by 0.115.

§ 1034.54 Location adjustment to handlers.

(a) The price for Class I milk at a plant located outside the marketing area and more than 50 miles by the shortest hard-surface highway distance as determined by the market administrator from the nearest of the main post offices of Dayton, Piqua, Springfield, Urbana, or Wilmington, Ohio, shall be the price computed pursuant to § 1034.51(a) reduced according to the rates set forth in the following schedule for the distance of the plant from such nearest basing point:

Distance from basing point	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
Less than 50 miles	0
More than 50 miles but not more than 60 miles	9.0
For each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof in excess of 60 miles, an additional	1.8

(b) Fluid milk products received by a handler at a pool plant from another pool plant shall be assigned for Class I location adjustment credit, at the appropriate distance rate as set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, in a volume not in excess of 110 percent of Class I milk (exclusive of producer milk diverted as Class I milk to nonpool plants) at the transferee plant less the sum of receipts at such plant directly from producers and Class I milk assigned to receipts from other order plants and unregulated supply plants. Such assignments shall be made first to transferor plants at which no location adjustment credit is applicable and then in sequence beginning with the plant at which the least location adjustment would apply. If a pool distributing plant has direct receipts from producers less than 110 percent of Class I milk at such plant any bulk transfers to such plant from another pool plant to which a location credit applies shall be assigned to the Class I disposition at the transferee plant prorated with the sum of receipts at such plant of producer milk and the pounds assigned as Class I to receipts from other order plants and unregulated supply plants.

§ 1034.55 Use of equivalent prices.

If for any reason a price quotation or factor required by this part for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price or factor determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price or factor which is required.

Application of Provisions

§ 1034.60 Producer-handlers and Governmental Agencies.

(a) Sections 1034.40 through 1034.55 and §§ 1034.61 through 1034.88 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

(b) None of the provisions of this part except § 1034.14 shall apply to a plant operated by a governmental agency.

§ 1034.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders.

The provisions of this part other than §§ 1034.30, 1034.31, 1034.32, 1034.33, and 1034.34 shall not apply to:

(a) A distributing plant during any month in which the milk at such plant would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act, unless such plant qualified as a pool plant pursuant to § 1034.13(a) and a greater volume of fluid milk products is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets in the Miami Valley, Ohio, marketing area and to pool plants under this part than in the marketing area and to pool plants regulated by such other order during the current month and each of the three months immediately preceding.

(b) A supply plant meeting the requirements of § 1034.13(b) which also continues to have pool plant status under another Federal order.

§ 1034.62 Obligation of a handler operating a partially regulated distributing plant.

Each handler who operates a partially regulated distributing plant shall pay to the market administrator for the producer-settlement fund on or before the 25th day after the end of the month either of the amounts (at the handler's election) calculated pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section. If the handler fails to report pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.32 the information necessary to compute the amount specified in paragraph (a) of this section, he shall pay the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(a) An amount computed as follows:

(1) (i) The obligation that would have been computed pursuant to § 1034.70 had such plant been a pool plant. For purposes of such computation, receipts at such nonpool plant from a pool plant or an other order plant shall be assigned to the utilization at which classified at the pool plant or other order plant, transfers from such nonpool plant to a pool plant or an other order plant shall be classified as Class II milk if allocated to such class at the pool plant or other order plant and be valued at the weighted average price of the respective order is so allocated to Class I milk. There shall be included in the obligation so computed a charge in the amount specified in § 1034.70(f) and a credit in the amount specified in § 1034.84(b)(2) with respect to receipts from an unregulated supply plant, unless an obligation with respect to such plant is computed as specified in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

(ii) If the operator of the partially regulated distributing plant so requests, and provides with his reports pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.32, similar reports with respect to the operations of any other nonpool plant which serves as a supply plant for such partially regulated distributing plant by shipments to such plant during the month equivalent to the requirements of § 1034.13(b), with agreement of the operator of such plant that the market administrator may examine the books and records of such plant for purposes of verification of such reports, there will be added the amount of the obligation computed at such nonpool supply plant in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as for the partially regulated distributing plant.

(2) From this obligation there will be deducted the sum of:

(i) The gross payments made by such handler for Grade A milk received during the month from dairy farmers at such plant and like payments made by the operator of a supply plant(s) included in the computations pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(ii) Any payments to the producer-settlement fund of another order under which such plant is also a partially regulated distributing plant.

(b) An amount computed as follows:

(1) Determine the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat disposed of as route disposition (other than to pool plants) in the marketing area;

(2) Deduct the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat received as Class I milk at the partially regulated distributing plant from pool plants and other order plants, except that deducted under a similar provision of another order issued pursuant to the Act;

(3) Combine the amounts of skim milk and butterfat remaining into one total and determine the weighted average butterfat content; and

(4) From the value of such milk at the Class I price applicable at the location of the nonpool plant, subtract its value at the weighted average price applicable at such location (not to be less than the Class II price).

Determination of Prices to Producers

§ 1034.70 Computation of the net pool obligation of each pool handler.

The net pool obligation of each pool handler during each month shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the quantity of producer milk in each class for such handler, as computed pursuant to § 1034.45(c), by the applicable class prices (adjusted pursuant to §§ 1034.53 and 1034.54) and add the resulting amounts.

(b) Add the amount obtained from multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(11) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b) by the applicable class prices.

(c) Add the amount obtained from multiplying the difference between the Class II price for the preceding month and the Class I price for the current month by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(6) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b).

(d) Add an amount determined by multiplying the difference between the Class I price for the preceding month and the Class I price for the current month by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(3) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b). If the Class I price for the current month is less than the Class I price for the preceding month the result shall be a minus amount.

(e) Add an amount equal to the difference between the value at the Class I price applicable at the pool plant and the value at the Class II price, with respect to skim milk and butterfat in other source milk subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(4) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b).

(f) Add an amount equal to the value at the Class I price adjusted for location (in the manner provided pursuant to § 1034.54) of the nearest nonpool plant(s) from which an equivalent volume was received, with respect to skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 1034.45(a)(8) and the corresponding step of § 1034.45(b).

(g) Add, with respect to a cooperative association which is allocated shrinkage of skim milk or butterfat pursuant to § 1034.42(c)(3), an amount computed by multiplying hundredweight of such shrinkage by the Class II milk price (adjusted pursuant to §§ 1034.53 and 1034.54).

§ 1034.71 Computation of uniform price.

For each month the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of producer milk, of 3.5 percent butterfat content, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 1034.70 for all handlers, except those of handlers who failed to make payments required pursuant to §§ 1034.30 and 1034.34 for the preceding month;

(b) Add an amount equal to the sum of the location differential adjustments computed pursuant to § 1034.82;

(c) Subtract, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk is greater than 3.5 percent, or add if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent an amount computed by multiplying the difference between such weighted average butterfat test and 3.5 by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1034.81;

(d) Add an amount representing not less than one-half the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(e) Divide the resulting amount by the sum of the following for all handlers included in these computations:

(1) The total hundredweight of producer milk; and

(2) The total hundredweight for which a value is computed pursuant to § 1034.70(f);

(f) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight. The result shall be the "weighted average price" and, except for the months specified below, shall be the "uniform price" for milk received from producers;

(g) For the months specified in paragraphs (h) and (i) of this section, subtract from the amount resulting from the computation pursuant to paragraphs (a) through (d) of this section an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk specified in paragraph (e)(2) of this section by the weighted average price;

(h) Subtract for each of the months of April, May, June, and July an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of producer milk for such month by the following amounts: 20 cents in April, 25 cents in May and June, and 20 cents in July;

(i) Add for each of the months of September, October, November, and December, 20, 30, 30, and 20 percent, respectively, of the obligated balance in the producer-settlement fund pursuant to § 1034.83(b) on August 31, immediately preceding;

(j) Divide the resulting sum by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations; and

(k) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight. The result shall be the "uniform price" for milk received from producers.

PAYMENTS

§ 1034.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk.

(a) Except as provided in paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this section, each handler shall make payment for producer milk received during the month as follows:

(1) On or before the 27th day of each month to each producer who did not discontinue shipping milk to such handler before the 16th day of the month not less than the Class II price for the preceding month computed to the nearest 50 cents multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received from such producer during the first 15 days of the month, less proper deductions authorized by such producer to be made from payments due pursuant to this subparagraph;

(2) On or before the 17th day of the following month to each producer, not less than the uniform price, adjusted by the butterfat and location differentials to producers, multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the following adjustments:

(i) Less payments made to such producer pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(ii) Less marketing service deductions made pursuant to § 1034.87;

(iii) Plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments made to such producer; and

(iv) Less proper deductions authorized in writing by such producer.

(3) If by such date for final payment, such handler has not received full payment from the market administrator pursuant to § 1034.86 for such month, he may reduce pro rata his payments to producers by not more than the amount of such underpayment. Payments to producers shall be completed thereafter not later than the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following after the receipt of the balance due from the market administrator;

(b) Payments required in paragraph (a) of this section shall be made to a cooperative association, qualified under § 1034.8, or its duly authorized agent, with respect to milk of producers which the market administrator determines have authorized such cooperative association to collect payment for their milk and the cooperative association has presented the handler with a written request for such payments. Payments to the cooperative association under this paragraph shall be made 1 day in advance of the applicable payment dates in paragraph (a), subject to the condition that the association has provided the handler with a written promise to reimburse the handler the amount of any actual loss incurred by such handler because of any improper claim on the part of the cooperative association;

(c) On or before the 15th day of the following month, each handler shall pay to each cooperative association for milk the handler receives during the month from a pool plant operated by such association, not less than the minimum prices for milk in each class, subject to the applicable location and butterfat differentials;

(d) On or before the 15th day of the following month, each handler, in his capacity as operator of a pool plant, who receives milk for which a cooperative association is the handler during the month pursuant to § 1034.8(c) shall pay such cooperative association for such milk at the uniform price, adjusted by applicable butterfat and location differentials; and

(e) None of the provisions of this section shall be construed to restrict any cooperative association qualified under section 8c(5)(F) of the Act from making payment for milk to its member producers in accordance with such provision of the Act.

§ 1034.81 Butterfat differential to producers.

The uniform price for producer milk shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the butterfat content of such milk is above or below 3.5 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the pounds of butterfat in producer milk allocated to Class I and Class II milk pursuant to § 1034.46 by the respective butterfat differential for each class, dividing the sum of such values by the total pounds of such butterfat and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest one-tenth cent.

§ 1034.82 Location differentials to producers and on nonpool milk.

(a) For the purposes of § 1034.71, the uniform price at a pool plant shall be reduced on the basis of the applicable amount or rate for the location of such pool plant pursuant to § 1034.54;

(b) For the purpose of computations pursuant to § 1034.84 the weighted average price shall be adjusted on the basis of the applicable amount or rate pursuant to § 1034.54, applicable at the location of the nonpool plant from which the milk was received.

§ 1034.83 Producer-settlement fund.

The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund", which shall function as follows:

(a) All payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 1034.80, 1034.84, and 1034.86 shall be deposited in such fund and out of which shall be made all payments pursuant to §§ 1034.85 and 1034.86, except that any payments due to any handler shall be offset by any payments due from such handler; and

(b) All amounts subtracted pursuant to § 1034.71(h) shall be deposited in this fund and set aside as an obligated balance until withdrawn to effectuate § 1034.80 in accordance with the requirements of § 1034.71(i).

§ 1034.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund.

On or before the 14th day of the following month each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the total amount specified in paragraph (a) of this section exceeds the amount specified in paragraph (b) of this section:

(a) The sum of the net pool obligation computed pursuant to § 1034.70 for such handler for the month; and

(b) The sum of:

(1) The value of producer milk received by such handler at the applicable uniform price specified in § 1034.71 (in the case of a cooperative association as a pool handler pursuant to § 1034.8(c) the value of milk so delivered to the pool plant of another handler shall be computed as a receipt of the latter); and

(2) The value at the weighted average price(s) applicable at the location of the plant(s) from which received (not to be less than the value at the Class II price) with respect to other source milk for which a value is computed pursuant to § 1034.70(f).

§ 1034.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund.

On or before the 16th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount, if any, by which the amount computed pursuant to § 1034.84(b) exceeds the amount computed pursuant to § 1034.84(a). The market administrator shall offset any payment due any handler against any payments due from such handler.

§ 1034.86 Adjustments of errors.

Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which results in monies due (a) the market administrator from such handler, (b) such handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due, and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provision under which such error occurred.

§ 1034.87 Marketing services.

(a) Deductions. Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler shall deduct an amount not exceeding 6 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary from time to time may prescribe, from the payments made pursuant to § 1034.80, with respect to all milk received by such handler during each month from producers (not including such handler's own production) and from associations of producers, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of such month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of such milk received by handlers and to provide such producers and associations of producers with market information, such services to be performed in whole or in part by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by him and responsible to him.

(b) By cooperative associations. In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing as determined by the Secretary, the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as authorized by such producers and, on or before the 16th day after the end of the month, pay over such deductions to the cooperative association rendering such services.

§ 1034.88 Expense of administration.

As his prorata share of the expense of administration of the order, each handler (excluding a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler pursuant to § 1034.8(c) with respect to milk delivered to pool plants) shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of the month, 2 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to:

(a) Producer milk (including such handler's own production);

(b) Other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to §§ 1034.45(a)(4) and 1034.45(a)(8) and the corresponding steps of § 1034.45(b); and

(c) Packaged Class I milk disposed of from partially regulated distributing plants as route disposition in the marketing area that exceeds the hundredweight of Class I milk received during the month at such plants from pool plants and other order plants.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 1034.90 Effective time.

The provisions of this part, or any amendments to its provisions, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 1034.91 Suspension or termination.

The Secretary may suspend or terminate this part or any provision of this part, whenever he finds that it obstructs, or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act. This part shall terminate, in any event, whenever the provisions of the Act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 1034.92 Continuing power and duty of the market administrator.

(a) If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations arising under this part, the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any handler, by the market administrator, or by any other person, the power and duty to perform such further acts shall continue notwithstanding such suspension or termination. Any such acts required to be performed by the market administrator shall, if the Secretary so directs, be performed by such other person, persons, or agency as the Secretary may designate.

(b) The market administrator, or such other person as the Secretary may designate, shall (1) continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary, (2) from time to time account for all receipts and disbursements, and when so directed by the Secretary, deliver all funds or property on hand, together with the books and records of the market administrator, or such person, to such person as the Secretary may direct, and (3) if so directed by the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title to all funds, property, and claims vested in the market administrator or such person pursuant hereto.

§ 1034.93 Liquidation after suspension or termination.

Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator, or such person as the Secretary may designate shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under his control together with claims for any funds which are unpaid or owing at the time of such suspension or termination. Any funds collected pursuant to the provisions of this part, over and above the amounts necessary to meet outstanding obligations and the expenses necessarily incurred by the market administrator or such person in liquidating and distributing such funds, shall be distributed to the contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 1034.100 Termination of obligations.

The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate 2 years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such 2-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the 2-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said 2-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligations are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate 2 years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or 2 years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time files, pursuant to section 8c(15)(A) of the Act, a petition claiming such money.

PART 15—ADMINISTRATIVE OPINIONS AND RULINGS

Proposed Trade Association Discussion Seeking Firm Price Guarantees From Suppliers

§ 15.137 Proposed trade association discussion seeking firm price guarantees from suppliers.

(a) The Commission was requested to render an advisory opinion with respect to the legality of a user's trade association discussing and seeking a "guarantee that a quoted price will remain firm for a definite number of days" from individual suppliers or from their national association.

(b) It was represented that the product constitutes about 30 percent of the cost of doing business and that while some users buy direct, others purchase from intermediate suppliers. Regardless of the supply source, product suppliers change prices without notice and will not guarantee firm prices unless the purchase contract calls for a large quantity of the product. As users' customers demand firm price quotations on their needs and because of the normal time lapse between a quotation and actual product purchase, an interim price increase by producers results in a lessening of the users' profit. The Association added that there is no agreement not to do business with those producers who decline to guarantee firm prices, but that individual users will continue to bargain for concessions as they do at present.

(c) The Commission advised that it could neither approve nor sanction the proposed industry discussions. Though such discussion might be motivated by a purpose to remove evils affecting the industry, it appears to go further than is reasonably necessary to accomplish the desired result. Even if the discussions were accompanied by disclaimers, there is implicit therein too grave a danger that it would serve as advice whereby the concerted power of members of the local association, and even of the national association, might be brought to bear to coerce the producers, or their association, to conform pricing policies to the standard desired, or at the very least as an invitation to enter into agreements among themselves to do so.

PART 15—ADMINISTRATIVE OPINIONS AND RULINGS

Use of Symbols and Names Having Fur-Bearing Animal Connotations in Labeling Textile Fiber Products

§ 15.138 Use of symbols and names having fur-bearing animal connotations in labeling textile fiber products.

(a) The Commission was requested to render an opinion with respect to the labeling of textile fiber products manufactured so as to simulate a fur or fur product.

(b) The requesting party proposed using a label which would bear the depiction of a fur-bearing animal commercially used in fur products, a trade name and trademark having a fur-bearing animal connotation, and the required fiber content disclosures.

(c) The Commission pointed out that the rules and regulations promulgated under authority of the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act provide, in Rule 9, that the label of a textile fiber product shall not contain a name, word, depiction, descriptive matter, or other symbol which connotes or signifies a fur-bearing animal, unless such product is a fur product within the meaning of the Fur Products Labeling Act. Subject to this proviso, a textile fiber product may not be described on the label with the name or part of a name of a fur-bearing animal, whether as a single or combination word similar to a fur-bearing animal name, for example, "Broadtail".

(d) The rules permit the nondeceptive use on textile fiber products of fur-bearing animal names but only where the animal fur is not commonly or commercially used in fur products, as for example, "Bear". Further, the rules do not prevent nor prohibit the nondeceptive use of a trademark or trade name containing the name, symbol, or dipiction of a fur-bearing animal unless "the textile fiber product in connection with which such trademark or trade name is used simulates a fur or fur product."

(e) The Commission advised that it would not be proper, in the labeling of textile fiber products, to use a label bearing the depiction of a fur-bearing animal nor a trademark and trade name having fur-bearing animal connotations. Such labeling, with or without the required fiber content disclosures, of a textile fiber product manufactured so as to simulate the fur of an animal commonly or commercially used in fur products would have the tendency and capacity of inducing prospective customers into the mistaken belief that the textile fiber product to which such label is affixed contains the fur of the animal depicted or fur fibers from such animal.

INDEBTEDNESS

Section 300.735-16 is revised to read as follows:

§ 300.735-16 Indebtedness.

An employee shall pay each just financial obligation in a proper and timely manner, especially one imposed by law such as Federal, State, or local taxes. For the purpose of this section, a "just financial obligation" means one acknowledged by the employee or reduced to judgment by a court, and "in a proper and timely manner" means in a manner which TVA determines does not, under the circumstances, reflect adversely on TVA as his employer. In the event of a dispute between an employee and an alleged creditor, this section does not require TVA to determine the validity or amount of the disputed debt.

[T.D. 67-209]

PART 8—LIABILITY FOR DUTIES; ENTRY OF IMPORTED MERCHANDISE

PART 17—PROTESTS AND REAPPRAISEMENTS

Power of Attorney To File Protest

Sections 8.19(a) and 17.2(a) of the Customs Regulations were amended by T.D. 66-73 (31 F.R. 5439), to carry out the purposes of the Agency Practice Act, Public Law 83-332, approved November 8, 1965. Notice of a proposal to amend these sections to implement further the Agency Practice Act was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 17, 1967 (32 F.R. 8719).

The purpose of the amendments proposed is to provide a more appropriate procedure in circumstances where an attorney at law signs a protest on behalf of the principal, and where the authorization of a person other than a licensed broker or an attorney at law to sign a protest on behalf of a principal has not been established.

Careful consideration having been given to the comments received, the amendments as proposed, with the addition of a statement clarifying the authority of employees of customhouse brokers to act in their behalf in filing protests, are hereby adopted as follows:

§ 8.19 [Amended]

Section 8.19(a) is amended by deleting the second, third, and fourth sentences and substituting the following: "A separate power of attorney shall not be required with a protest signed as agent or attorney for the principal by an attorney at law or as agent or attorney in fact for the principal by a licensed customhouse broker or an employee of such broker acting in his behalf. The signing of a protest by a broker, or an employee in his behalf, shall be considered a declaration by the broker that he, or the employee signing in his behalf, is authorized to sign and file the protest for the principal. The signing of a protest by an attorney shall be considered a declaration by him that he is currently a member in good standing of the highest court of a State, possession, territory, commonwealth, or the District of Columbia and has been authorized to sign and file the protest for the principal."

(R.S. 251, sec. 624, 46 Stat. 759; 19 U.S.C. 66, 1624)

Section 17.2(a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 17.2 Power of attorney to file protest.

(a) Except as provided in § 8.19(a) of this chapter and as hereinafter provided in this paragraph, no protest signed by an agent shall be granted or denied by the district director of customs unless there has been filed or is filed with the protest a power of attorney on customs Form 5296 or 5296-A or other form as explicit in its terms as is the prescribed customs form, authorizing such agent or attorney to make, sign, and file the protest. Such powers of attorney issued by a partnership shall be limited to a period not to exceed 2 years from the date of receipt thereof by the district director of customs. All other powers of attorney may be granted for an unlimited period. Any power of attorney shall be subject to revocation at any time by written notice given to and received by the district director of customs. If a protest is filed by a person purporting to be an agent for the protesting party, and such person is not named in a power of attorney as required by this section and has not qualified within an exception provided in § 8.19(a) of this chapter, such protest shall be deemed not filed and shall be returned to the purported agent without being numbered or stamped with the date of receipt. Any party identified as the principal in a protest returned in accordance with the preceding sentence shall be notified of such return and the reasons therefor. Return of a protest deemed not filed in accordance with this paragraph shall not toll the running of the period for filing a protest prescribed by section 514, Tariff Act of 1930.

Pursuant to authority in section 12 of the Wagner-Peyser Act (29 U.S.C. 49k), Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1949 (3 CFR 1949-53 Comp., p. 998), and 20 CFR 602.21, I hereby amend 20 CFR 604.3 as set forth below.

As this amendment provides only general statements of policy, notice of proposed rule making, public participation in its adoption, and delay in effective date are exempted from the requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553). I do not believe such procedures will serve a useful purpose here. Accordingly, the amendment shall become effective immediately.

§ 604.3 Employment counseling.

It is the policy of the U.S. Employment Service:

(a) To seek out those who may benefit from counseling, and to provide employment counseling service for any applicant of employable age who desires and can benefit from such assistance;

(c) To use tests and techniques developed or approved by the U.S. Employment Service and to purchase additional testing and appraisal services when needed;

(d) To provide information about training or services of other agencies with the understanding that the individual is free to make his own selection;

(e) To refer to other community resources for services which will improve the individual's employability and for services which the public employment service is not equipped to provide;

(f) To cooperate with schools, community organizations, and other public agencies providing counseling and guidance services to:

(1) Provide maximum service to individuals and avoid duplication by establishing and maintaining procedures for referral of individuals between agencies and by providing for exchange of information about the applicant;

(2) Provide for exchange of occupational, research, appraisal, and related counseling information and techniques;

(3) Undertake cooperative projects of mutual benefit;

(g) To stimulate development of community resources to provide applicants with additional services not presently available;

(h) To provide basic counselor training to all new counseling staff and to promote graduate academic training, at institutions of higher learning, for all counseling staff;

(i) To report counseling interviews only when carried out by qualified counseling staff.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter IV—Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports, Department of Labor

SUBCHAPTER B—WELFARE PENSION REPORTS

PART 460—FILING OF DESCRIPTION OF EMPLOYEE WELFARE OR PENSION BENEFIT PLANS—ANNUAL REPORTS

Filing of Plan Description Amendments

On February 9, 1967, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 2708) of a proposed amendment to 29 CFR 460.5 which would prescribe a new form (Form D–1A) for use in reporting amendments to Plan Descriptions required under section 6 of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act, as amended (72 Stat. 999, 76 Stat. 36; 29 U.S.C. 305). Heretofore amendments to Welfare and Pension Benefit Plans have been filed by submitting a new plan description (Form D–1), or by identifying amendments without use of a form. The Form D–1A is intended for use in submitting amendments to a plan where the administrator does not choose to use Form D–1.

Interested persons were accorded 30 days from the date of publication of notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER to offer comments. One comment received pointed out that under the proposed regulation it would appear to be necessary to resubmit copies of all the instruments under which the plan is currently being operated if the Form D–1 is used in reporting plan amendments. This was not the intention of the proposal, and in order to clarify the regulation, paragraph (b) of § 460.5 is modified to state that unless the documents already on file have since been amended, they need not be resubmitted.

Accordingly, pursuant to sections 5 and 6 of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act (72 Stat. 999; 76 Stat. 36; 29 U.S.C. 304, 305), and under the authority of Secretary's Order No. 24–63 (28 F.R. 9172), and Secretary's Order No. 25–63 (28 F.R. 9173), § 460.5, of 29 CFR Part 460 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 460.5 Time for filing Plan Description amendments.

Copies of the descriptions of such plans shall be filed with and received by the Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210, within 90 days after the time the plan becomes subject to the requirements of the Act. Whenever any such plan is amended to reflect a change in the information provided by the original Form D–1 required by § 460.3, other than information that is also required to be included in annual reports under section 7 of the Act, the amendment shall be reported to the Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports within sixty (60) days after it has been effectuated, by:

(a) Submitting one copy of the Department of Labor Form D–1A, entitled "Employee Welfare or Pension Benefit Plan Amendment Form," in accordance with the instruction contained therein; or

(b) Submitting one copy of a completed Department of Labor Form D–1, incorporating all current information required therein. When Form D–1 is used to report plan amendments, all documents or other materials under which the plan is currently being operated should be listed in item 12 of the Form, but submit one copy of only the documents or materials containing the amendment(s) being reported. Identify any documents or materials on the list which are not being submitted by placing the phrase "not amended" in parenthesis after each such document so listed.

This amendment shall take effect September 1, 1967.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 14th day of August 1967.

Assistant Secretary of Labor for Labor-Management Relations.

PART 681—HOMEWORKERS IN CERTAIN INDUSTRIES IN PUERTO RICO

Minimum Piece Rate Increases

Pursuant to authority in section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 206), Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR 1949–53 Comp., p. 1004), and Order No. 16–67 of the Secretary of Labor, 29 CFR 681.9 (b) and (c) is amended as set out below.

This amendment merely articulates proportional increases in the minimum piece rates which another section of the part already requires to be paid by reason of increases in hourly rates which are in effect under section 6(c) (2) of the Act. For this reason, it is hereby found that notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary. In addition, and for the same reason, good cause is found to provide no delay in the effective date. The amendment is effective immediately.

As amended, 29 CFR 681.9 (b) and (c) reads as follows:

§ 681.9 Minimum piece rates prescribed by the Administrator.

* * * * *

(b) Piece rate for hand-braiding leather buttons. A minimum piece rate of 51 cents a gross shall be paid to homeworkers in Puerto Rico engaged in the hand-braiding of leather buttons, 24 to 30 ligne by the following method: Tying a braided knot around the tip of a finger, bringing the knot into a rounded button shape by pulling the ends of the strip, forming the button shank from the prepared shank end of the strip, and trimming the loose end by cutting off the excess leather; all operations to be performed upon undegreased leather strips, each of which has been cut in advance to suitable dimensions so that one end may be formed into the button shank and the remainder braided to become the rounded button.

(c) Piece rates for the hand-lacing of leather wallets, leather wallet covers, and plastic wallets. A minimum piece rate of 1.20 cents per dozen stitches shall be paid to homeworkers in Puerto Rico engaged in the hand-lacing, single stitch, with plastic lacing material, of leather wallets and leather wallet covers; a minimum piece rate of 2.95 cents per dozen stitches shall be paid to homeworkers in Puerto Rico engaged in the hand-lacing, double stitch, with plastic lacing material, of leather wallets and leather wallet covers; and a minimum piece rate of 3.68 cents per dozen stitches shall be paid to homeworkers in Puerto Rico engaged in hand-lacing, double stitch, with plastic lacing material, of plastic wallets.

PART 0—COMMISSION ORGANIZATION

Miscellaneous Amendments

In the matter of editorial amendment of Part 0, Rules and Regulations.

1. In an order released July 18, 1967, the Commission adopted rules implementing the Public Information Act of 1966, P.L. 89-487 (FCC 67-837, 32 F.R. 10568, July 19, 1967).

2. In that order, inter alia, the provisions of § 0.2 were rearranged and now appear in §§ 0.1, 0.2, and 0.4. It is therefore appropriate that § 0.2 be deleted. This and other editorial changes in the rules, as adopted in that order, are set forth below.

3. Authority for these amendments is set forth in sections 4(i), 5, and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and in § 0.261(a) of the Commission's rules, 47 CFR 0.261(a). Because these amendments are editorial in nature, compliance with the notice and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary.

In such case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] WILLIAM H. SMITH,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to conform the INCOME TAX Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) to sections 102 and 201 of the Act of September 22, 1959 (Public Law 86-346, 73 Stat. 621, 622), relating to certain exchanges with the United States of obligations of the United States issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act, such regulations are amended as follows, effective for taxable years ending after September 22, 1959:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.454 is amended by revising section 454(c) and by adding an historical note as follows:

§ 1.454 Statutory provisions; obligations issued at discount.

SEC. 454. Obligations issued at discount.

(c) Matured U.S. savings bonds. In the case of a taxpayer who—

(1) Holds a series E U.S. savings bond at the date of maturity, and

(2) Pursuant to regulations prescribed under the Second Liberty Bond Act (A) retains his investment in such series E bond in an obligation of the United States, other than a current income obligation, or (B) exchanges such series E bond for another nontransferable obligation of the United States in an exchange upon which gain or loss is not recognized because of section 1037 (or so much of section 1031 as relates to section 1037), the increase in redemption value (to the extent not previously includible in gross income) in excess of the amount paid for such series E bond shall be includible in gross income in the taxable year in which the obligation is finally redeemed or in the taxable year of final maturity, whichever is earlier. This subsection shall not apply to a corporation, and shall not apply in the case of any taxable year for which the taxpayer's taxable income is computed under an accrual method of accounting or for which an election made by the taxpayer under subsection (a) applies.

[Sec. 454 as amended by sec. 102, Act of Sept. 22, 1959 (Pub. Law 86-346, 73 Stat. 621)]

PAR. 2. Section 1.454-1 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (c) to read as follows:

§ 1.454-1 Obligations issued at discount.

(a) Non-interest-bearing obligations issued at discount—(1) Election to include increase in income currently. If a taxpayer owns—

(i) A non-interest-bearing obligation issued at a discount and redeemable for fixed amounts increasing at stated intervals, or

(ii) An obligation of the United States, other than a current income obligation, in which he retains his investment in a matured series E U.S. savings bond, or

(iii) A nontransferable obligation (whether or not a current income obligation) of the United States for which a series E U.S. savings bond was exchanged (whether or not at final maturity) in an exchange upon which gain is not recognized because of section 1037 (a) (or so much of section 1031(b) as relates to section 1037), and if the increase, if any, in redemption price of such obligation described in subdivision (i), (ii), or (iii) of this subparagraph during the taxable year (as described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) does not constitute income for such year under the method of accounting used in computing his taxable income, then the taxpayer may, at his election, treat the increase as constituting income for the year in which such increase occurs. If the election is not made and section 1037 (or so much of section 1031 as relates to section 1037) does not apply, the taxpayer shall treat the increase as constituting income for the year in which the obligation is redeemed or disposed of, or finally matures, whichever is earlier. Any such election must be made in the taxpayer's return and may be made for any taxable year. If an election is made with respect to any such obligation described in subdivision (i), (ii), or (iii) of this subparagraph, it shall apply also to all other obligations of the type described in such subdivisions owned by the taxpayer at the beginning of the first taxable year to which the election applies, and to those thereafter acquired by him, and shall be binding for the taxable year for which the return is filed and for all subsequent taxable years, unless the Commissioner permits the taxpayer to change to a different method of reporting income from such obligations. See section 446(e) and paragraph (e) of § 1.446-1, relating to requirement respecting a change of accounting method. Although the election once made is binding upon the taxpayer, it does not apply to a transferee of the taxpayer.

(2) Amount of increase in case of non-interest-bearing obligations. In any case in which an election is made under section 454, the amount which accrues in any taxable year to which the election applies is measured by the actual increase in the redemption price occurring in that year. This amount does not accrue ratably between the dates on which the redemption price changes. For example, if two dates on which the redemption price increases (February 1 and August 1) fall within a taxable year and if the redemption price increases in the amount of 50 cents on each such date, the amount accruing in that year would be $1 ($0.50 on February 1 and $0.50 on August 1). If the taxpayer owns a non-interest-bearing obligation of the character described in subdivision (i), (ii), or (iii) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph acquired prior to the first taxable year to which his election applies, he must also include in gross income for such first taxable year (i) the increase in the redemption price of such obligation occurring between the date of acquisition of the obligation and the first day of such first taxable year and (ii), in a case where a series E bond was exchanged for such obligation, the increase in the redemption price of such series E bond occurring between the date of acquisition of such series E bond and the date of the exchange.

(3) Amount of increase in case of current income obligations. If an election is made under section 454 and the taxpayer owns, at the beginning of the first taxable year to which the election applies, a current income obligation of the character described in subparagraph (1) (iii) of this paragraph acquired prior to such taxable year, he must also include in gross income for such first taxable year the increase in the redemption price of the series E bond which was surrendered to the United States in exchange for such current income obligation; the amount of the increase is that occurring between the date of acquisition of the series E bond and the date of the exchange.

(4) Illustrations. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Throughout the calendar year 1954, a taxpayer who uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting holds series E U.S. savings bonds having a maturity value of $5,000 and a redemption value at the beginning of the year 1954 of $4,050 and at the end of the year 1954 of $4,150. He purchased the bonds on January 1, 1949, for $3,750, and holds no other obligation of the type described in this section. If the taxpayer exercises the election in his return for the calendar year 1954, he is required to include $400 in taxable income with respect to such bonds. Of this amount, $300 represents the increase in the redemption price before 1954 and $100 represents the increase in the redemption price in 1954. The increases in redemption value occurring in subsequent taxable years are includible in gross income for such taxable years.

Example (2). In 1958 B, a taxpayer who uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and the calendar year as his taxable year, purchased for $7,500 a series E United States savings bond with a face value of $10,000. In 1965, when the stated redemption value of the series E bond is $9,760, B surrenders it to the United States in exchange solely for a $10,000 series H U.S. current income savings bond in an exchange qualifying under section 1037(a), after paying $240 additional consideration. On the exchange of the series E bond for the series H bond in 1965, B realizes a gain of $2,260 ($9,760 less $7,500), none of which is recognized for that year by reason of section 1037(a). B retains the series H bond and redeems it at maturity in 1975 for $10,000, but in 1966 he exercises the election under section 454(a) in his return for that year with respect to five series E bonds he purchased in 1960. B is required to include in gross income for 1966 the increase in redemption price occurring before 1966 and in 1966 with respect to the series E bonds purchased in 1960; he is also required to include in gross income for 1966 the $2,260 increase in redemption price of the series E bond which was exchanged in 1965 for the series H bond.

(c) Matured U.S. savings bonds—(1) Inclusion of increase in income upon redemption or final maturity. If a taxpayer (other than a corporation) holds—

(i) A matured series E U.S. savings bond,

(ii) An obligation of the United States, other than a current income obligation, in which he retains his investment in a matured series E U.S. savings bond, or

(iii) A nontransferable obligation (whether or not a current income obligation) of the United States for which a series E U.S. savings bond was exchanged (whether or not at final maturity) in an exchange upon which gain is not recognized because of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031(b) as relates to section 1037(a)),

the increase in redemption price of the series E bond in excess of the amount paid for such series E bond shall be included in the gross income of such taxpayer for the taxable year in which the obligation described in subdivision (i), (ii), or (iii) of this subparagraph is redeemed or disposed of, or finally matures, whichever is earlier, but only to the extent such increase has not previously been includible in the gross income of such taxpayer or any other taxpayer. If such obligation is partially redeemed before final maturity, or partially disposed of by being partially reissued to another owner, such increase in redemption price shall be included in the gross income of such taxpayer for such taxable year on a basis proportional to the total denomination of obligations redeemed or disposed of. The provisions of section 454 (a) and of this subparagraph shall not apply in the case of any taxable year for which the taxpayer's taxable income is computed under an accrual method of accounting or for a taxable year for which an election made by the taxpayer under section 454(a) and paragraph (a) of this section applies. For rules respecting the character of the gain realized upon the disposition or redemption of an obligation described in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, see paragraph (b) of § 1.1037-1.

(2) Illustrations. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that the taxpayer uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and the calendar year as his taxable year:

Example (1). On June 1, 1941, A purchased for $375 a series E U.S. savings bond which was redeemable at maturity (10 years from issue date) for $500. At maturity of the bond, A exercised the option of retaining the matured series E bond for the 10-year extended maturity period. On June 2, 1961, A redeemed the series E bond, at which time the stated redemption value was $674.80. A never elected under section 454(a) to include the annual increase in redemption price in gross income currently. Under section 454(c), A is required to include $299.60 ($674.60 less $375) in gross income for 1961 by reason of his redemption of the bond.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (2) in paragraph (a)(4) of this section. On redemption of the series H bond received in the exchange qualifying under section 1037(a), B realizes a gain of $2,260, determined as provided in example (5) in paragraph (b)(4) of § 1.1037-1. None of this amount is includible in B's gross income for 1975, such amount having already been includible in his gross income for 1966 because of his election under section 454(a).

Example (3). C, who had elected under section 454(a) to include the annual increase in the redemption price of his non-interest-bearing obligations in gross income currently, owned a $1,000 series E U.S. savings bond, which was purchased on October 1, 1949, for $750. C died on February 1, 1955, when the redemption value of the bond was $820. The bond was immediately reissued to D, his only heir, who has not made an election under section 454(a). On January 15, 1960, when the redemption value of the bond is $1,000, D surrenders it to the United States in exchange solely for a $1,000 series H U.S. savings bond in an exchange qualifying under the provisions of section 1037(a). For 1960 D properly does not return any income from the exchange of bonds, although he returns the interest payments on the series H bond for the taxable years in which they are received. On September 1, 1964, prior to maturity of the series H bond, D redeems it for $1,000. For 1964, D must include $180 in gross income under section 454(c) from the redemption of the series H bond, that is, the amount of the increase in the redemption price of the series E bond ($1,000 less $820) occurring between February 1, 1955, and January 15, 1960, the period during which he owned the series E bond.

PAR. 3. Section 1.1031(a)-1 is amended by revising paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(a)-1 Property held for productive use in trade or business or for investment.

* * * * *

(d) Gain or loss is recognized if, for instance, a taxpayer exchanges (1) Treasury bonds maturing March 15, 1958, for Treasury bonds maturing December 15, 1968, unless section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 as relates to section 1037(a)) applies to such exchange, or (2) a real estate mortgage for consolidated farm loan bonds.

PAR. 4. Section 1.1031(b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(b) Statutory provisions; exchange of property held for productive use or investment; gain from exchanges not solely in kind.

SEC. 1031. Exchange of property held for productive use or investment. * * *

(b) Gain from exchanges not solely in kind. If an exchange would be within the provisions of subsection (a), of section 1035(a), of section 1036(a), or of section 1037(a), if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such provisions to be received without the recognition of gain, but also of other property or money, then the gain, if any, to the recipient shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property.

[Sec. 1031 (b) as amended by sec. 201(c), Act of Sept. 22, 1959 (Pub. Law 86-346, 73 Stat. 624)]

PAR. 5. Section 1.1031(b)-1 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(b)-1 Receipt of other property or money in tax-free exchange.

(a) If the taxpayer receives other property (in addition to property permitted to be received without recognition of gain) or money—

(1) In an exchange described in section 1031(a) of property held for investment or productive use in trade or business for property of like kind to be held either for productive use or for investment,

(2) In an exchange described in section 1035(a) of insurance policies or annuity contracts,

(3) In an exchange described in section 1036(a) of common stock for common stock, or preferred stock for preferred stock, in the same corporation and not in connection with a corporate reorganization, or

(4) In an exchange described in section 1037(a) of obligations of the United States, issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act (31 U.S.C. 774 (2)), solely for other obligations issued under such Act, the gain, if any, to the taxpayer will be recognized under section 1031(b) in an amount not in excess of the sum of the money and the fair market value of the other property, but the loss, if any, to the taxpayer from such an exchange will not be recognized under section 1031(c) to any extent.

(b) The application of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A, who is not a dealer in real estate, in 1964 exchanges real estate held for investment, which he purchased in 1940 for $5,000, for other real estate (to be held for productive use in trade or business) which has a fair market value of $6,000, and $2,000 in cash. The gain from the transaction is $3,000, but is recognized only to the extent of the cash received of $2,000.

Example (2). (a) B, who uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and the calendar year as his taxable year, has never elected under section 454(a) to include in gross income currently the annual increase in the redemption price of non-interest-bearing obligations issued at a discount. In 1943, for $750 each, B purchased four $1,000 series E U.S. savings bonds bearing an issue date of March 1, 1943.

(b) On October 1, 1963, the redemption value of each such bond was $1,396, and the total redemption value of the four bonds was $5,584. On that date B submitted the four $1,000 series E bonds to the United States in a transaction in which one of such $1,000 bonds was reissued by issuing four $100 series E U.S. savings bonds bearing an issue date of March 1, 1943, and by considering six $100 series E bonds bearing an issue date of March 1, 1943, to have been issued. The redemption value of each such $100 series E bond was $139.60 on October 1, 1963. Then, as part of the transaction, the six $100 series E bonds so considered to have been issued and the three $1,000 series E bonds were exchanged, in an exchange qualifying under section 1037(a), for five $1,000 series H U.S. savings bonds plus $25.60 in cash.

(c) The gain realized on the exchange qualifying under section 1037(a) is $2,325.60, determined as follows:

Amount realized:
Par value of five series H bonds	$5,000.00
Cash received	25.60
Total realized	5,025.60
Less: Adjusted basis of series E bonds surrendered in the exchange:
Three $1,000 series E bonds	2,250.00
Six $100 series E bonds at $75 each	450.00
Gain realized	2,325.60

(d) Pursuant to section 1031(b), only $25.60 (the money received) of the total gain of $2,325.60 realized on the exchange is recognized at the time of exchange and must be included in B's gross income for 1963. The $2,300 balance of the gain ($2,325.60 less $25.60) must be included in B's gross income for the taxable year in which the series H bonds are redeemed or disposed of, or reach final maturity, whichever is earlier, as provided in paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1.

(e) The gain on the four $100 series E bonds, determined by using $75 as a basis for each such bond, must be included in B's gross income for the taxable year in which such bonds are redeemed or disposed of, or reach final maturity, whichever is earlier.

Example (3). (a) The facts are the same as in example (2), except that, as part of the transaction, the $1,000 series H bond is reissued by considering ten $100 series E bonds bearing an issue date of March 1, 1943, to have been issued. Six of the $100 series E bonds so considered to have been issued are surrendered to the United States as part of the exchange qualifying under section 1037(a) and the other four are immediately redeemed.

(b) Pursuant to section 1031(b), only $25.60 (the money received) of the total gain of $2,325.60 realized on the exchange qualifying under section 1037(a) is recognized at the time of the exchange and must be included in B's gross income for 1963. The $2,300 balance of the gain ($2,325.60 less $25.60) realized on such exchange must be included in B's gross income for the taxable year in which the series H bonds are redeemed or disposed of, or reach final maturity, whichever is earlier, as provided in paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1.

(c) The redemption on October 1, 1963, of the four $100 series E bonds considered to have been issued at such time results in gain of $258.40, which is then recognized and must be included in B's gross income for 1963. This gain of $258.40 is the difference between the $558.40 redemption value of such bonds on the date of the exchange and the $300 (4×$75) paid for such series E bonds in 1943.

Example (4). On November 1, 1963, C purchased for $91 a marketable U.S. bond which was originally issued at its par value of $100 under the Second Liberty Bond Act. On February 1, 1964, in an exchange qualifying under section 1037(a), C surrendered the bond to the United States for another marketable U.S. bond, which then had a fair market value of $92, and $1.55 in cash, $0.55 of which was interest. The $0.55 interest received is includible in gross income for the taxable year of the exchange, but the $2 gain ($93 less $91) realized on the exchange is recognized for such year under section 1031(b) to the extent of $1 (the money received). Under section 1031(d), C's basis in the bond received in exchange is $91 (his basis of $91 in the bond surrendered, reduced by the $1 money received and increased by the $1 gain recognized).

PAR. 6. Section 1.1031(c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(c) Statutory provisions; exchange of property held for productive use or investment; loss from exchanges not solely in kind.

SEC. 1031. Exchange of property held for productive use or investment. * * *

(c) Loss from exchanges not solely in kind. If an exchange would be within the provisions of subsection (a), of section 1035(a), of section 1036(a), or of section 1037(a), if it were not for the fact that the property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such provisions to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, but also of other property or money, then no loss from the exchange shall be recognized.

[Sec. 1031(c) as amended by sec. 201(d), Act of Sept. 22, 1959 (Pub. Law 86–346, 73 Stat. 624)]

PAR. 7. Section 1.1031(c)–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(c)–1 Nonrecognition of loss.

Section 1031(c) provides that a loss shall not be recognized from an exchange of property described in section 1031(a), 1035(a), 1036(a), or 1037(a) where there is received in the exchange other property or money in addition to property permitted to be received without recognition of gain or loss. See example (4) of paragraph (a)(3) of § 1.1037–1 for an illustration of the application of this section in the case of an exchange of U.S. obligations described in section 1037(a).

PAR. 8. Section 1.1031(d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(d) Statutory provisions; exchange of property held for productive use or investment; basis.

SEC. 1031 Exchange of property held for productive use or investment. * * *

(d) Basis. If property was acquired on an exchange described in this section, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), then the basis shall be the same as that of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized on such exchange. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by this section, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of other property, the basis provided in this subsection shall be allocated between the properties (other than money) received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. For purposes of this section, section 1035(a), and section 1036(a), where as part of the consideration to the taxpayer another party to the exchange assumed a liability of the taxpayer or acquired from the taxpayer property subject to a liability, such assumption or acquisition (in the amount of the liability) shall be considered as money received by the taxpayer on the exchange.

PAR. 9. Section 1.1031(d)–1 is amended by revising paragraph (a), the text of paragraph (b) preceding the example, the text of paragraph (c) preceding the example, paragraph (d), and the text of paragraph (e) preceding the example, to read as follows:

§ 1.1031(d)–1 Property acquired upon a tax-free exchange.

(a) If, in an exchange of property solely of the type described in section 1031, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), no part of the gain or loss was recognized under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made, the basis of the property acquired is the same as the basis of the property transferred by the taxpayer with proper adjustments to the date of the exchange. If additional consideration is given by the taxpayer in the exchange, the basis of the property acquired shall be the same as the property transferred increased by the amount of additional consideration given (see section 1016 and the regulations thereunder).

(b) If, in an exchange of properties of the type indicated in section 1031, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), gain to the taxpayer was recognized under the provisions of section 1031(b) or a similar provision of a prior revenue law, on account of the receipt of money in the transaction, the basis of the property acquired is the basis of the property transferred (adjusted to the date of the exchange), decreased by the amount of money received and increased by the amount of gain recognized on the exchange. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

(c) If, upon an exchange of properties of the type described in section 1031, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), the taxpayer received other property (not permitted to be received without the recognition of gain) and gain from the transaction was recognized as required under section 1031(b), or a similar provision of a prior revenue law, the basis (adjusted to the date of the exchange) of the property transferred by the taxpayer, decreased by the amount of any money received and increased by the amount of gain recognized, must be allocated to and is the basis of the properties (other than money) received on the exchange. For the purpose of the allocation of the basis of the properties received, there must be assigned to such other property an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

* * * * *

(d) Section 1031(c) and, with respect to section 1031 and section 1036(a), similar provisions of prior revenue laws provide that no loss may be recognized on an exchange of properties of a type described in section 1031, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), although the taxpayer receives other property or money from the transaction. However, the basis of the property or properties (other than money) received by the taxpayer is the basis (adjusted to the date of the exchange) of the property transferred, decreased by the amount of money received. This basis must be allocated to the properties received, and for this purpose there must be allocated to such other property an amount of such basis equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange.

(e) If, upon an exchange of properties of the type described in section 1031, section 1035(a), section 1036(a), or section 1037(a), the taxpayer also exchanged other property (not permitted to be transferred without the recognition of gain or loss) and gain or loss from the transaction is recognized under section 1002 or a similar provision of a prior revenue law, the basis of the property acquired is the total basis of the properties transferred (adjusted to the date of the exchange) increased by the amount of gain and decreased by the amount of loss recognized on the other property. For purposes of this rule, the taxpayer is deemed to have received in exchange for such other property an amount equal to its fair market value on the date of the exchange. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

* * * * *

PAR. 10. There are inserted immediately after § 1.1036–1 the following new sections:

§ 1.1037 Statutory provisions; certain exchanges of United States obligations.

SEC. 1037. Certain exchanges of United States obligations.—(a) General rule. When so provided by regulations promulgated by the Secretary in connection with the issue of obligations of the United States, no gain or loss shall be recognized on the surrender to the United States of obligations of the United States issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act in exchange solely for other obligations issued under such Act.

(b) Application of section 1232.—(1) Exchanges involving obligations issued at a discount. In any case in which gain has been realized but not recognized because of the provisions of subsection (a) (or so much of section 1031(b) as relates to subsection (a) of this section), to the extent such gain is later recognized by reason of a disposition or redemption of an obligation received in an exchange subject to such provisions, the first sentence of section 1232(a)(2)(A) shall apply to such gain as though the obligation disposed of or redeemed were the obligation surrendered to the Government in the exchange rather than the obligation actually disposed of or redeemed. For purposes of this paragraph and section 1232, if the obligation surrendered in the exchange is a nontransferable obligation described in subsection (a) or (c) of section 454—

(A) The aggregate amount considered, with respect to the obligation surrendered, as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is not a capital asset shall not exceed the difference between the issue price and the stated redemption price which applies at the time of the exchange, and

(B) The issue price of the obligation received in the exchange shall be considered to be the stated redemption price of the obligation surrendered in the exchange, increased by the amount of other consideration (if any) paid to the United States as a part of the exchange.

(2) Exchanges of transferable obligations issued at not less than par. In any case in which subsection (a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to subsection (a) of this section) has applied to the exchange of a transferable obligation which was issued at not less than par for another transferable obligation, the issue price of the obligation received from the Government in the exchange shall be considered for purposes of applying section 1232 to be the same as the issue price of the obligation surrendered to the Government in the exchange, increased by the amount of other consideration (if any) paid to the United States as a part of the exchange.

(c) Cross references. (1) For rules relating to the recognition of gain or loss in a case where subsection (a) would apply except for the fact that the exchange was not made solely for other obligations of the United States, see subsections (b) and (c) of section 1031.

(2) For rules relating to the basis of obligations of the United States acquired in an exchange for other obligations described in subsection (a), see subsection (d) of section 1031.

[Sec. 1037 as added by sec. 201(a), Act of Sept. 22, 1959 (Public Law 86–346, 73 Stat. 622)]

§ 1.1037–1 Certain exchanges of United States obligations.

(a) Nonrecognition of gain or loss.—(1) In general. Section 1037(a) provides for the nonrecognition of gain or loss on the surrender to the United States of obligations of the United States issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act (31 U.S.C. 774(2)) when such obligations are exchanged solely for other obligations issued under that Act and the Secretary provides by regulations promulgated in connection with the issue of such other obligations that gain or loss is not to be recognized on such exchange. It is not necessary that at the time of the exchange the obligation which is surrendered to the United States be a capital asset in the hands of the taxpayer. For purposes of section 1037(a) and this subparagraph, a circular of the Treasury Department which offers to exchange obligations of the United States issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act for other obligations issued under that Act shall constitute regulations promulgated by the Secretary in connection with the issue of the obligations offered to be exchanged if such circular contains a declaration by the Secretary that no gain or loss shall be recognized for Federal income tax purposes on the exchange or grants the privilege of continuing to defer the reporting of the income on the bonds exchanged until such time as the bonds received in the exchange are redeemed or disposed of, or have reached final maturity, whichever is earlier. See, for example, regulations of the Bureau of the Public Debt, 31 CFR Part 339, or Treasury Department Circular 1066, 26 F.R. 8647. The application of section 1037(a) and this subparagraph will not be precluded merely because the taxpayer is required to pay money on the exchange. See section 1031 and the regulations thereunder if the taxpayer receives money on the exchange.

(2) Recognition of gain or loss postponed. Gain or loss which has been realized but not recognized on the exchange of a U.S. obligation for another such obligation because of the provisions of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)) shall be recognized at such time as the obligation received in the exchange is disposed of, or redeemed, in a transaction other than an exchange described in section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)) or reaches final maturity, whichever is earlier, to the extent gain or loss is realized on such later transaction.

(3) Illustrations. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that the taxpayer uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and has never elected under section 454(a) to include in gross income currently the annual increase in the redemption price of non-interest-bearing obligations issued at a discount. In addition, it is assumed that the old obligations exchanged are capital assets transferred in an exchange in respect of which regulations are promulgated pursuant to section 1037(a):

Example (1). A, the owner of a $1,000 series E U.S. savings bond purchased for $750 and bearing an issue date of May 1, 1946, surrenders the bond to the United States in exchange solely for series H U.S. savings bonds on February 1, 1964, when the series E bond has a redemption value of $1,304.80. In the exchange A pays an additional $195.20 and obtains three $500 series H bonds. None of the $554.80 gain ($1,304.80 less $750) realized by A on the series E bond is recognized at the time of the exchange.

Example (2). In 1963, B purchased for $97 a marketable U.S. bond which was originally issued at its par value of $100. In 1964 he surrenders the bond to the United States in exchange solely for another marketable U.S. bond which then has a fair market value of $96. B's loss of $2 on the old bond is not recognized at the time of the exchange, and his basis for the new bond is $97 under section 1031(d). If it had been necessary for B to pay $1 additional consideration in the exchange, his basis in the new bond would be $98.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (2) except that B also receives $1 interest on the old bond for the period which has elapsed since the last interest payment date and that B does not pay any additional consideration on the exchange. As in example (2), B has a loss of $2 which is not recognized at the time of the exchange and his basis in the new bond is $97. In addition, the $1 of interest received on the old bond is includible in gross income. B holds the new bond 1 year and sells it in the market for $99 plus interest. At this time he has a gain of $2, the difference between his basis of $97 in the new bond and the sales price of such bond. In addition, the interest received on the new bond is includible in gross income.

Example (4). The facts are the same as in example (2), except that in addition to the new bond B also receives $1.85 in cash, $0.85 of which is interest. The $0.85 interest received is includible in gross income. B's loss of $1 ($97 less $96) on the old bond is not recognized at the time of the exchange by reason of section 1031(c). Under section 1031(d) B's basis in the new bond is $96 (his basis of $97 in the old bond, reduced by the $1 cash received in the exchange).

Example (5). (a) For $975 D subscribes to a marketable U.S. obligation which has a face value of $1,000. Thereafter, he surrenders this obligation to the United States in exchange solely for a 10-year marketable $1,060 obligation which at the time of exchange has a fair market value of $930, at which price such obligation is initially offered to the public. At the time of issue of the new obligation there was no intention to call it before maturity. Five years after the exchange D sells the new obligation for $950.

(b) On the exchange of the old obligation for the new obligation D sustains a loss of $45 ($975 less $930), none of which is recognized pursuant to section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new obligation in D's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $975 (the same basis as that of the old obligation).

(d) On the sale of the new obligation D sustains a loss of $15 ($975 less $960), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002.

Example (6). (a) The facts are the same as in example (5), except that five years after the exchange D sells the new obligation for $1,020.

(b) On the exchange of the old obligation for the new obligation D sustains a loss of $45 ($975 less $930), none of which is recognized pursuant to section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new obligation in D's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $975 (the same basis as that of the old obligation). The issue price of the new obligation under section 1232(b)(2) is $930.

(d) On the sale of the new obligation D realizes a gain of $45 ($1,020 less $975), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $45, the amount of $35 is treated as ordinary income and $10 is treated as long-term capital gain, determined as follows:

(1) Ordinary income under first sentence of sec. 1232(a)(2)(A) on sale of new obligation:
Stated redemption price of new obligation at maturity	$1,000
Less: Issue price of new obligation under sec. 1232(b)(2)	930
Original issue discount on new obligation	70
Proration under sec. 1232(a)(2)(A)(ii): ($70×60 months/120 months)	35
(2) Long-term capital gain ($45 less $35)	10

Example (7). (a) The facts are the same as in example (5), except that D retains the new obligation and redeems it at maturity for $1,000.

(b) On the exchange of the old obligation for the new obligation D sustains a loss of $45 ($975 less $930), none of which is recognized pursuant to section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new obligation in D's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $975 (the same basis as that of the old obligation). The issue price of the new obligation is $930 under section 1232(b)(2).

(d) On the redemption of the new obligation D realizes a gain of $25 ($1,000 less $975), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $25, the entire amount is treated as ordinary income, determined as follows:

Ordinary income under first sentance of sec. 1232(a)(2)(A) on redemption of new obligation:
Stated redemption price of new obligation at maturity	$1,000
Less: Issue price of new obligation under sec. 1232(b)(2)	930
Original issue discount on new obligation	70
Proration under sec. 1232(a)(2)(A)(ii): ($70×120 months/120 months), but such amount not to exceed the $25 gain recognized on redemption	$25

(b) Application of section 1232 upon disposition or redemption of new obligation—(1) Exchanges involving nonrecognition of gain on obligations issued at a discount. If an obligation, the gain on which is subject to the first sentence of section 1232(a)(2)(A) because the obligation was originally issued at a discount, is surrendered to the United States in exchange for another obligation and any part of the gain realised on the exchange is not then recognized because of the provisions of section 1037(a) (or because of so much of section 1031(b) as relates to section 1037(a)), the first sentence of section 1232(a)(2)(A) shall apply to so much of such unrecognized gain as is later recognized upon the disposition or redemption of the obligation which is received in the exchange as though the obligation so disposed of or redeemed were the obligation surrendered, rather than the obligation received, in such exchange. See the first sentence of section 1037(b)(1). Thus, in effect that portion of the gain which is unrecognised on the exchange but is recognised upon the later disposition or redemption of the obligation received from the United States in the exchange shall be considered as ordinary income in an amount which is equal to the gain which, by applying the first sentence of section 1232(a)(2)(A) upon the earlier surrender of the old obligation to the United States, would have been considered as ordinary income if the gain had been recognised upon such earlier exchange. Any portion of the gain which is recognised under section 1031(b) upon the earlier exchange and is treated at such time as ordinary income shall be deducted from the gain which is treated as ordinary income by applying the first sentence of section 1232(a)(2)(A) pursuant to this subparagraph upon the disposition or redemption of the obligation which is received in the earlier exchange. This subparagraph shall apply only in a case where on the exchange of United States obligations there was some gain not recognised by reason of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031(b) as relates to section 1037(a)); it shall not apply where only loss was unrecognised by reason of section 1037(a).

(2) Rules to apply when a nontransferable obligation is surrendered in the exchange. For purposes of applying both section 1232(a)(2)(A) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph to the total gain realized on the obligation which is later disposed of or redeemed, if the obligation surrendered to the United States in the earlier exchange is a nontransferable obligation described in section 454 (a) or (c)—

(i) The aggregate amount considered, with respect to the obligation so surrendered in the earlier exchange, as ordinary income shall not exceed the difference between the issue price of the surrendered obligation and the stated redemption price of the surrendered obligation which applied at the time of the earlier exchange, and

(ii) The issue price of the obligation which is received from the United States in the earlier exchange shall be considered to be the stated redemption price of the surrendered obligation which applied at the time of the earlier exchange, increased by the amount of other consideration (if any) paid to the United States as part of the earlier exchange.

If the obligation received in the earlier exchange is a nontransferable obligation described in section 454(c) and such obligation is partially redeemed before final maturity, or partially disposed of by being partially reissued to another owner, the amount determined by applying subdivision (i) of this subparagraph shall be determined on a basis proportional to the total denomination of obligations redeemed or disposed of. See paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1.

(3) Long-term capital gain. If, in a case where both subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph are applied, the total gain realized on the redemption or disposition of the obligation which is received from the United States in the exchange to which section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031(b) as relates to section 1037(a)) applies exceeds the amount of gain which, by applying such subparagraphs, is treated as ordinary income, the gain in excess of such amount shall be treated as long-term capital gain.

(4) Illustrations. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that the taxpayer uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and has never elected under section 454(a) to include in gross income currently the annual increase in the redemption price of non-interest-bearing obligations issued at a discount. In addition, it is assumed that the old obligations exchanged are capital assets transferred in an exchange in respect of which regulations are promulgated pursuant to section 1037(a):

Example (1). (a) A purchased a non-interest-bearing nontransferable U.S. bond for $74 which was issued after December 31, 1954, and redeemable in 10 years for $100. Several years later, when the stated redemption value of such bond is $94.50, A surrenders it to the United States in exchange for $1 in cash and a 10-year marketable bond having a face value of $100. On the date of exchange the bond received in the exchange has a fair market value of $96. Less than one month after the exchange, A sells the new bond for $96.

(b) On the exchange of the old bond for the new bond A realizes a gain of $23, determined as follows:

Amount realized (a new bond worth $96 plus $1 cash)	$97
Less: Adjusted basis of old bond	74
Gain realized	23

Pursuant to so much of section 1031(b) as applies to section 1037(a), the amount of such gain which is recognised is $1 (the money received). Such recognised gain of $1 is treated as ordinary income. On the exchange of the old bond a gain of $22 ($23 less $1) is not recognised.

(c) The basis of the new bond in A's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $74 (the basis of the old bond, decreased by the $1 received in cash and increased by the $1 gain recognised on the exchange).

(d) On the sale of the new bond A realizes a gain of $22 ($96 less $74), all of which is recognised by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $22, the amount of $19.50 is treated as ordinary income and $2.50 is treated as long-term capital gain, determined as follows:

(1) Ordinary income, treating sale of new bond as though a sale of old bond and applying sec. 1037(b)(1)(A):
Stated redemption price of old bond	$94.50
Less: Issue price of old bond	74.00
Aggregate gain under sec. 1037(b)(1)(A) (not to exceed $22 not recognised at time of exchange)	20.50
Less: Amount of such gain recognised at time of exchange	1.00
Ordinary income	19.50
(2) Ordinary income under first sentence of sec. 1232(a)(2)(A), applying sec. 1037(b)(1)(B) to sale of new bond:
Stated redemption price of new bond at maturity	100.00
Less: Issue price of new bond under sec. 1037(b)(1)(B) ($94.50 plus $0 additional consideration paid on exchange)	94.50
Original issue discount on new bond	5.50
Proration under sec. 1232(a)(2)(A)(ii): ($5.50×0 months/120 months)	0
(3) Total ordinary income (sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2))	19.50
(4) Long-term capital gain ($23 less $19.50)	2.50

Example (2). (a) The facts are the same as in example (1), except that, less than one month after the exchange of the old bond, the new bond is sold for $97.

(b) On the sale of the new bond A realizes a gain of $18 ($92 less $74), all of which is recognised by reason of section 1002. Of this gain, the entire amount of $18 is treated as ordinary income. This amount is determined as provided in paragraph (d)(1) of example (1) except that the ordinary income of $19.50 is limited to the $18 recognised on the sale of the new bond.

Example (3). (a) The facts are the same as in example (1), except that 2 years after the exchange of the old bond A sells the new bond for $98.

(b) On the sale of the new bond A realizes a gain of $24 ($98 less $74), all of which is recognised by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $24, the amount of $20.60 is treated as ordinary income and $3.40 is treated as long-term capital gain, determined as follows:

(1) Ordinary income applicable to old bond (determined as provided in paragraph (d)(1) of example (1))	$19.50
(2) Ordinary income applicable to new bond (determined as provided in paragraph (d)(2) of example (1), except that the proration of the original issue discount under sec. 1232(a)(2)(A)(ii) amounts to $1.10 ($5.50×24 months/120 months))	1.10
(3) Total ordinary income (sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2))	20.60
(4) Long-term capital gain ($24 less $20.60)	3.40

Example (4). (a) The facts are the same as in example (1), except that A retains the new bond and redeems it at maturity for $100.

(b) On the redemption of the new bond A realizes a gain of $26 ($100 less $74), all of which is recognised by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $26, the amount of $25 is treated as ordinary income and $1 is treated as long-term capital gain, determined as follows:

(1) Ordinary income applicable to old bond (determined as provided in paragraph (d)(1) of example (1))	$19.50
(2) Ordinary income applicable to new bond (determined as provided in paragraph (d)(2) of example (1), except that the proration of the original issue discount under sec. 1232(a)(2)(A)(ii) amounts to $5.50 ($5.50×120 months/120 months))	5.50
(3) Total ordinary income (sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2))	25.00
(4) Long-term capital gain ($26 less $25)	1.00

Example (5). (a) In 1958 B purchased for $7,500 a series E United States savings bond having a face value of $10,000. In 1965 when the stated redemption value of the series E bond is $9,760, B surrenders it to the United States in exchange solely for a $10,000 series H U.S. savings bond, after paying $240 additional consideration. B retains the series H bond and redeems it at maturity in 1975 for $10,000, after receiving all the semiannual interest payments thereon.

(b) On the exchange of the series E bond for the series H bond, B realizes a gain of $2,260 ($9,760 less $7,500), none of which is recognised at such time by reason of section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the series H bond in B's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $7,740 (the $7,500 basis of the series E bond, plus $240 additional consideration paid for the series H bond).

(d) On the redemption of the series H bond, B realizes a gain of $2,260 ($10,000 less $7,740), all of which is recognised by reason of section 1002. This entire gain is treated as ordinary income by treating the redemption of the series H bond as though it were a redemption of the series E bond and by applying section 1037(b)(1)(A).

(e) Under section 1037(b)(1)(B) the issue price of the series H bond is $10,000 ($9,760 stated redemption price of the series E bond at time of exchange, plus $240 additional consideration paid). Thus, with respect to the series H bond, there is no original issue discount to which section 1232(a)(2)(A) might apply.

Example (6). (a) The facts are the same as in example (5), except that in 1970 B submits the $10,000 series H bond to the United States for partial redemption in the amount of $3,000 and for reissuance of the remainder in $1,000 series H savings bonds registered in his name. On this transaction B receives $3,000 cash and seven $1,000 series H bonds bearing the original issue date of the $10,000 bond which is partially redeemed. The $1,000 series H bonds are redeemed at maturity in 1975 for $7,000.

(b) On the partial redemption of the $10,000 series H bond in 1970 B realizes a gain of $678 ($3,000 less $2,322 [$7,740×$3,000/$10,000]), all of which is recognised at such time by reason of section 1002 and paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1. This entire gain is treated as ordinary income, by treating the partial redemption of the series H bond as though it were a redemption of the relevant denominational portion of the series E bond and by applying section 1037(b)(1)(A).

(c) On the redemption at maturity in 1975 of the seven $1,000 series H bonds B realizes a gain of $1,582 ($7,000 less $5,418 [$7,740×$7,000/$10,000]), all of which is recognized at such time by reason of section 1002 and paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1. This entire gain is treated as ordinary income, determined in the manner described in paragraph (b) of this example.

Example (7). (a) The facts are the same as in example (5), except that in 1970 B requests the United States to reissue the $10,000 series H bond by issuing two $5,000 series H bonds bearing the original issue date of such $10,000 bond. One of such $5,000 bonds is registered in B's name, and the other is registered in the name of C, who is B's son. Each $5,000 series H bond is redeemed at maturity in 1975 for $5,000.

(b) On the issuing in 1970 of the $5,000 series H bond to C, B realizes a gain of $1,130 ($5,000 less $3,870 [$7,740×$5,000/$10,000]), all of which is recognized at such time by reason of section 1002 and paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1. This entire gain is treated as ordinary income by treating the transaction as though it were a redemption of the relevant denominational portion of the series E bond and by applying section 1037(b)(1)(A).

(c) On the redemption at maturity in 1975 of the $5,000 series H bond registered in his name B realizes a gain of $1,130 ($5,000 less $3,870 [$7,740×$5,000/$10,000]), all of which is recognized at such time by reason of section 1002 and paragraph (c) of § 1.454–1. This entire gain is treated as ordinary income, determined in the manner described in paragraph (b) of this example.

(d) On the redemption at maturity in 1975 of the $5,000 series H bond registered in his name C does not realize any gain, since the amount realized on redemption does not exceed his basis in the property, determined as provided in section 1016.

(5) Exchanges involving nonrecognition of gain or loss on transferable obligations issued at not less than par—(i) In general. If a transferable obligation of the United States which was originally issued at not less than par is surrendered to the United States for another transferable obligation in an exchange to which the provisions of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)), apply, the issue price of the obligation received from the United States in the exchange shall be considered for purposes of applying section 1232 to gain realized on the disposition or redemption of the obligation so received, to be the same as the issue price of the obligation which is surrendered to the United States in the exchange, increased by the amount of other consideration, if any, paid to the United States as part of the exchange. This subparagraph shall apply irrespective of whether there is gain or loss unrecognized on the exchange and irrespective of the fair market value, at the time of the exchange, of either the obligation surrendered to, or the obligation received from, the United States in the exchange.

(ii) Illustrations. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that the taxpayer uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting and that the old obligations exchanged are capital assets transferred in an exchange in respect of which regulations are promulgated pursuant to section 1037(a):

Example (1). (a) A purchases in the market for $85 a marketable U.S. bond which was originally issued at its par value of $100. Three months later, A surrenders this bond to the United States in exchange solely for another $100 marketable U.S. bond which then has a fair market value of $92. He holds the new bond for 5 months and then sells it on the market for $92.

(b) On the exchange of the old bond for the new bond A realizes a gain of $8 ($92 less $85), none of which is recognized by reason of section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new bond in A's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $85 (the same as that of the old bond). The issue price of the new bond for purposes of section 1232(a)(2)(A) is considered under section 1037(b)(2) to be $100 (the same issue price as that of the old bond).

(d) On the sale of the new bond A realizes a gain of $7 ($92 less $85), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002. Of this gain of $7, the entire amount is treated as long-term capital gain, determined as follows:

(1) Ordinary income under first sentence of sec. 1232(a)(2)(A), applicable to old bond:
Stated redemption price of old bond at maturity	$100
Original issue discount on old bond	0
(2) Ordinary income under first sentence of sec. 1232(a)(2)(A), applying sec. 1037(b)(2) to sale of new bond:
Stated redemption price of new bond at maturity	100
Less: Issue price of new bond under sec. 1037(b)(2)	100
Original issue discount on new bond	0
(3) Long-term capital gain ($7 less sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2))	$7

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1), except that A retains the new bond and redeems it at maturity for $100. On the redemption of the new bond, A realizes a gain of $15 ($100 less $85), all of which is recognized under section 1002. This entire gain is treated as long-term capital gain, determined in the same manner as provided in paragraph (d) of example (1).

Example (3). (a) For $1,000 B subscribes to a marketable U.S. bond which has a face value of $1,000. Thereafter, he surrenders this bond to the United States in exchange solely for a 10-year marketable $1,000 bond which at the time of exchange has a fair market value of $930, at which price such bond is initially offered to the public. Five years after the exchange, B sells the new bond for $950.

(b) On the exchange of the old bond for the new bond, B sustains a loss of $70 ($1,000 less $930), none of which is recognized pursuant to section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new bond in A's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $1,000 (the same basis as that of the old bond).

(d) On the sale of the new bond B sustains a loss of $50 ($1,000 less $950), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002.

Example (4). (a) The facts are the same as in example (3), except that 5 years after the exchange B sells the new bond for $1,020.

(b) On the exchange of the old bond for the new bond B sustains a loss of $70 ($1,000 less $930), none of which is recognized pursuant to section 1037(a).

(c) The basis of the new bond in B's hands, determined under section 1031(d), is $1,000 (the same basis as that of the old bond). The issue price of the new bond for purposes of section 1232(a)(2)(A) is considered under section 1037(b)(2) to be $1,000 (the same issue price as that of the old bond).

(d) On the sale of the new bond B realizes a gain of $20 ($1,020 less $1,000), all of which is recognized by reason of section 1002. This entire gain is treated as long-term capital gain, determined in the same manner as provided in paragraph (d) of example (1).

(6) Other rules for applying section 1232. To the extent not specifically affected by the provisions of section 1037(b) and subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph, any gain realized on the disposition or redemption of any obligation received from the United States in an exchange to which section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)) applies shall be treated in the manner provided by section 1232 if the facts and circumstances relating to the acquisition and disposition or redemption of such obligation require the application of section 1232.

(c) Holding period of obligation received in the exchange. The holding period of an obligation received from the United States in an exchange to which the provisions of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)) apply shall include the period for which the obligation which was surrendered to the United States in the exchange was held by the taxpayer, but only if the obligation so surrendered was at the time of the exchange a capital asset in the hands of the taxpayer. See section 1223 and the regulations thereunder.

(d) Basis. The basis of an obligation received from the United States in an exchange to which the provisions of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)) apply shall be determined as provided in section 1031(d) and the regulations thereunder.

(e) Effective date. Section 1.1037 and this section shall apply only for taxable years ending after September 22, 1959.

PAR. 11. Section 1.1232–3 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(2) and (f) to read as follows:

§ 1.1232–3 Gain upon sale or exchange of obligations issued at a discount after December 31, 1954.

(a) General rule. * * *

(2) Sale or exchange after December 31, 1957. In the case of gain realized upon the sale or exchange after December 31, 1957, of an obligation issued at a discount after December 31, 1954, and held by the taxpayer for more than 6 months, section 1232(a)(2)(A) provides that such gain shall be considered ordinary income to the extent it does not exceed—

(i) An amount equal to the entire "original issue discount", or

(ii) If at the time of original issue there was no intention to call the bond or other evidence of indebtedness before maturity, a portion of the "original issue discount" determined in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section, and the balance, if any, of the gain shall be considered as long-term capital gain. The terms "original issue discount" and "intention to call the bond or other evidence of indebtedness before maturity" are defined in paragraph (b) of this section. See section 1037(b) and paragraph (b) of § 1.1037–1 for special rules which are applicable in applying section 1232(a)(2)(A) and this subparagraph to gain or loss is not recognized because of demption of obligations of the United States which were received from the United States in an exchange upon which gain or loss is not recognized because of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)).

* * * * *

(f) Record keeping requirements. In the case of any obligation held by a taxpayer which was issued at an original issue discount after December 31, 1954, the taxpayer shall keep a record of the issue price and issue date upon or with each such obligation (if known to or reasonably ascertainable by him). If the obligation held by the taxpayer is an obligation of the United States received from the United States in an exchange upon which gain or loss is not recognized because of section 1037(a) (or so much of section 1031 (b) or (c) as relates to section 1037(a)), the taxpayer shall keep sufficient records to determine the issue price of such obligation for purposes of applying section 1037(b) and paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 1.1037–1 upon the disposition or redemption of such obligation. The issuer (or in the case of obligations first sold to the public through an underwriter or wholesaler, the underwriter or wholesaler) shall mark the issue price and issue date upon every obligation which is issued at an original issue discount after September 26, 1957.

This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views or arguments in connection with these proposals shall file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)). The proposals are as follows:

§ 971.310 Limitation of shipments.

During the period November 20, 1967, through March 24, 1968, no person may handle any lot of lettuce grown in the production area unless the lettuce meets requirements of paragraphs (a) Grade, (b) Size and pack, and (c) Containers, or unless the lettuce is handled in accordance with paragraph (d) or (e), of this section. Further, no person may package lettuce during the above period on any Sunday.

(2) Tipburn may not exceed an aggregate area 1¼ inches wide by 3 inches in length when affecting compact portion of head.

(3) No more than three head leaves with pink rib (having areas of deep pink color as viewed on the outer surface of the leaf) or other rib discoloration when either seriously detracts from appearance or edible quality.

(4) No more than six head leaves, in the compact portion of the head, affected by insects.

(5) (i) No more than four outer head leaves with blistering, peeling, or discoloration resulting from freezing that seriously detracts from appearance or edible quality.

(ii) All other defects, such as seedstems, shall have same meaning as described under serious damage in U.S. Standards for grades of lettuce.

(iii) Tolerances: 10 percent by count of heads of lettuce in any lot may be below these requirements with no more than six heads below these requirements in any individual package.

(b) Sizing and pack. (1) Lettuce heads, packed in container Nos. 7303, 7306, or 7313, if wrapped, may be packed only 18, 20, 22, 24, or 30 heads per container; if not wrapped, only 18, 24, or 30 heads per container.

(2) Lettuce heads in container No. 85–40 may be packed only 24 heads per container.

This exception may not be applied to any portion of a shipment of over two cartons of lettuce.

(e) Special purpose shipments. Lettuce not meeting grade, size, or container requirements of paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section may be handled for any purpose listed, if handled as prescribed, in this paragraph. Inspection or assessments are not required on such shipments.

(1) For relief, charity, experimental purposes, or export to Mexico, if, prior to handling, the handler pursuant to §§ 971.120–971.125 obtains a Certificate of Privilege applicable thereto and reports thereon.

(2) For export to Mexico, if the handler of such lettuce loads or transports it only in a vehicle bearing Mexican registration (license).

(f) Inspection. (1) No handler may handle any lettuce for which an inspection certificate is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto.

(2) No handler may transport, or cause the transportation of, by motor vehicle, any shipment of lettuce for which an inspection certificate is required unless each such shipment is accompanied by a copy of an inspection certificate or by a copy of a shipment release form (SPI–23) furnished by the inspection service verifying that such shipment meets the current grade, size, pack and/or container regulations promulgated under this part. A copy of the inspection certificate, or shipment release form applicable to each truck lot shall be available and surrendered upon request to authorities designated by the committee.

MILK IN GREATER WHEELING, W. VA., MARKETING AREA

Notice of Proposed Suspension of Certain Provisions of Order

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of certain provisions of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Wheeling, W. Va., marketing area is being considered for the period of September 1, 1967, through July 31, 1968.

The provisions proposed to be suspended, which relate to the base-excess plan for paying producers, are the following:

(1) Sections 1008.19, 1008.20, 1008.31(b)(1), 1008.72, 1008.75(b), 1008.80(d)(2)(ii), 1008.90, 1008.91, and 1008.92.

(2) In §§ 1008.27(k)(2), 1008.75(c) 1008.82(b)(1), "and 1008.72".

(3) In § 1008.31(b)(2)(ii), "including for the month of April through July, the pounds of base milk".

(4) In the introductory text of § 1008.71, "for each of the months of August through March".

(5) In § 1008.71(f), "during each of the months of August through March".

(6) In § 1008.74(a), "and the uniform price to be paid for base milk".

(7) In § 1008.80(a)(2), "or base milk and excess milk".

(8) The center-head "Determination of Base" immediately preceding § 1008.90.

The proposed action would suspend for September 1, 1967, through July 31, 1968, the base-excess plan provisions for paying producers. Under the plan, producers establish daily bases during September through December. In the following April through July, producers are paid a base price for their deliveries that are not in excess of their base and a lower price for any additional milk delivered.

The suspension was requested by the Dairymen's Co-Operative Sales Association, which represents more than 80 percent of the producers in the Wheeling market. The Association is one of several cooperatives that proposed at a hearing, concluded April 20, 1967, that the marketing areas of the Wheeling, Northeastern Ohio, and Youngstown-Warren milk orders be merged and expanded to include certain areas in western Pennsylvania. No base-excess plan was proposed for this new order.

While no decision based on the merger hearing has been rendered, the Association, in contemplating that a merged order without a base-excess plan will be issued within a few months, has asked that the Wheeling base-excess plan be suspended. The Association indicates that such action would remove the uncertainties that would otherwise interfere with the rational decisions needed to be made by producers in planning their production for the September 1967–July 1968 period.

This notice of proposed suspension should not be construed in any way as an endorsement by the Department of the proposed merger involving the Wheeling order.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed suspension should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 4 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All documents filed should be in quadruplicate.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 18, 1967.

CLARENCE H. GIRARD,
Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs.

TIRES AND TUBES

Advance Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, in § 293.75, provide minimum requirements with respect to tires, including the provisions that no motor vehicle shall be operated on tires worn so smooth as to expose any tread fabric or having any other defect likely to cause failure, that no bus shall be operated on any tire which does not have tread configurations on that part of the tire which is in contact with the road surface, and that no bus shall be operated with regrooved, recapped or retreaded tires on the front wheels.

In view of accident experience in which there were indications that tire failure and traction characteristics of tires may have been major cause factors, and in view of the provisions of section 204(a) of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966, the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety is considering changing § 293.75 of the Motor Carrier Safety Regulations to provide the following possible amendments and requests comments thereon from interested persons.

(a) A minimum depth for grooves on that part of the tire which comes into contact with the road surface.

(b) A prohibition against the operation of regrooved, recapped, or retreaded tires on front wheels of trucks and truck tractors. (This would be in addition to the present prohibition against buses using such tires.)

(c) A prohibition against the use of regrooved tires on all wheels of commercial vehicles or a prohibition against the use of regrooved tires on all wheels of particular vehicles in specified types of service.

(d) Specifications for grooving patterns, spacing and width of grooves, and specific limitations as to tire elements which may not be cut or damaged in the grooving process.

In addition, comments are specifically requested with respect to information and data regarding the safety of regrooved, recapped and retreaded tires on front and rear wheels under the following conditions or combinations of conditions, for the full range of highway operating speeds:

Wet, dry or icy surfaces;

Rigid or flexible pavements; and Various vertical and horizontal highway alignments.

In order to obtain the views of motor carriers, their suppliers, and other interested parties, this advance notice of proposed rule making is issued. Issuance of such an advanced notice is utilized when it is believed that inquiry directed toward interested parties may yield views and information to assist in selection of alternate courses of action upon which a rule-making proposal may be based.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, or information with respect to this notice. Such comments must be filed in one authenticated copy and nine conformed copies. They are to be submitted on or before September 29, 1967, to the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety, Federal Highway Administration, Washington, D.C. 20591. They should clearly identify this proceeding by reference to the title and section number in the Code of Federal Regulations (49 CFR 293.75).

This action is taken under the authority of section 304(a) of Title 49 of the U.S.C. and sections 6(e)(6) and 6(f)(3) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 931).

Issued at Washington, D.C., on August 21, 1967.

LOWELL K. BRIDWELL,
Federal Highway Administrator.

Explanatory statement. Section 221.175(a) of the Board's Economic Regulations sets forth a form of notice to be furnished passengers of limitations of liability for death or injury to passengers under the Warsaw Convention. The notice states, inter alia, that the Convention limits the liability of carriers for loss of or damage to baggage.

An intercarrier agreement raising the limits of liability for death or personal injury to passengers under the Warsaw Convention to $75,000 for each passenger (referred to as the "interim agreement") was approved by the Board by Order E-23680, effective May 16, 1966. The agreement provides that the carrier shall deliver to each international passenger a new form of notice setting forth the higher limits of liability for death or injury to passengers. Although this Notice was patterned after and is substantially the same as that set forth in the Board's regulations, there are some differences, one of which is the absence in the interim agreement notice of any reference to limitations of liability for loss of or damage to baggage.

In a recent amendment to Part 221 dealing with notice of limitations of liability under the Warsaw Convention (ER-496), the Board stated that carriers which subscribe to the interim agreement may use the form of notice set forth therein in lieu of the form of notice prescribed in the Board's regulation. However, as noted by the Board in that amendment, a carrier using the notice in the interim agreement would not be in strict compliance with existing § 221.175(a) because of the reference in the latter notice to limits of liability for loss of or damage to baggage. This inconsistency between notices, the Board stated, would be corrected by the Board's instituting a rule making proceeding to delete from the notice set forth in the Board's regulation the reference to limitations of liability for baggage. The proposed rule would carry out this intention. The result of the deletion, of course, will be to remove any notice requirement with respect to liability for loss of or damage to property.

In ER-496, supra, in addition to the inconsistency involved, the Board gave the following reasons for its intention to delete the reference to liability limitations for baggage in the Warsaw notice set forth in the Board's regulation: (1) That subsequent to the adoption of the Board's prescribed form of notice in 1963, the Board had occasion to consider carrier practices with respect to giving notice of baggage liability rules in interstate air transportation,[1] and concluded therein that the Board should not prescribe particular practices concerning notice; and (2) that, consistent with the Board's reasons in that proceeding, it should eliminate the reference to baggage liability limitations from the Board's form of notice for Warsaw Convention limitations, thus permitting similar flexibility in solving the notice problem under the Warsaw Convention.[2]

[1] Baggage Liability Rules Case, Docket 15823, Order E-24196, decided Sept. 19, 1966.

[2] Unlike the situation in interstate air transportation, however, transportation covered by the Convention will, of course, continue to be subject to the notice requirements of Article 4 of the Convention concerning baggage checks.

Proposed rule. The Civil Aeronautics Board proposes to amend Part 221 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 221) by modifying § 221.175(a) to read as follows:

§ 221.175 Special notice of limited liability for death or injury under the Warsaw Convention.

(a) In addition to the aforesaid requirements of this subpart, each air carrier and foreign air carrier which, to any extent, avails itself of the limitation on liability to passengers provided by the Warsaw Convention, shall, at the time of delivery of the ticket, furnish to each passenger whose transportation is governed by the Convention and whose place of departure or place of destination is in the United States, the following statement in writing:

ADVICE TO INTERNATIONAL PASSENGERS ON LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

Passengers embarking upon a journey involving an ultimate destination or a stop in a country other than the country of departure are advised that the provisions of a treaty known as the Warsaw Convention may be applicable to their entire journey including the portion entirely within the countries of departure and destination. The Convention governs and in most cases limits the liability of carriers to passengers for death or personal injury to approximately $8,290.

Additional protection can usually be obtained by purchasing insurance from a private company. Such insurance is not affected by any limitation of the carrier's liability under the Warsaw Convention. For further information please consult your airline or insurance company representative.

Provided, however, That when the carrier elects to agree to a higher limit of liability to passengers than that provided in Article 22(1) of the Warsaw Convention, such statement shall be modified to reflect the higher limit. The statement prescribed herein shall be printed in type at least as large as 10 point modern type and in ink contrasting with the stock on (1) each ticket; (2) a piece of paper either placed in the ticket envelope with the ticket or attached to the ticket; or (3) the ticket envelope.

DISC BRAKE PADS FROM CANADA

Determination of Sales at Not Less Than Fair Value

AUGUST 16, 1967.

On June 15, 1967, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a "Notice of Tentative Determination" that disc brake pads manufactured by Atom-Otive Products, Rexdale, Ontario, Canada, are not being, nor likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

The statement of reasons for the tentative determination was published in the above-mentioned notice, and interested parties were afforded until July 15, 1967, to make written submissions or to request in writing an opportunity to present views in connection with the tentative determination.

The complainant submitted a written request for an opportunity to present views in person in opposition to the tentative determination. The opportunity was afforded to the complainant, and all interested parties of record were notified.

After consideration of all written and oral arguments presented, I hereby determine that disc brake pads manufactured by Atom-Otive Products, Rexdale, Ontario, Canada, are not being, nor likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

This determination is published pursuant to section 201(c) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(c)).

Acting Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

TUBELESS TIRE VALVES FROM WEST GERMANY

Revocation of Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value; Notice of Tentative Determination

AUGUST 16, 1967.

On July 28, 1967, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 11047) a Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value with regard to tubeless tire valves from West Germany. It was determined that finished tubeless tire valves from West Germany, with certain enumerated exceptions, are being, or are likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)). The reasons for the July 28 Determination were set forth in a notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 16, 1967 (32 F.R. 7293).

The matter has been reconsidered and it has been concluded that the Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value of July 28 should be revoked, and that a new tentative determination should be issued, covering finished tubeless tire valves from West Germany, but eliminating the exceptions contained in the July 28 Determination.

The Treasury's antidumping investigation revealed that certain types of valves, depending upon the manufacturer and circumstances of sales, are not sold, nor likely to be sold, at less than fair value; and that one of the manufacturers involved terminated shipments and gave unconditional assurances as to some, but not all, of the valves which he produces and which are the subject of investigation. These valves were excepted from the Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value of July 28.

The purpose of eliminating these exceptions from the new tentative determination is to avoid circumscribing in any way the injury investigation which the Tariff Commission may see fit to carry out in the event a new Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value is issued.

The facts recited with respect to these exceptions nevertheless remain a part of the record which will be forwarded to the Tariff Commission in this case in the event of a Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value. These facts also remain a part of the Treasury's record in the event an injury determination by the Tariff Commission were to make it necessary for the Treasury Department to issue a dumping finding in this case.

For the foregoing reasons, I hereby revoke the Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 28, 1967 (32 F.R. 11047).

Further, I hereby make a tentative determination that finished tubeless tire valves imported from West Germany are being, or likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 (a)).

Statement of reasons on which this tentative determination is based. The sales to the U.S. purchasers were pursuant to outright arms-length transactions between parties not financially related within the meaning of section 207 of the Antidumping Act, as amended (19 U.S.C. 166).

The quantities of certain types of valves sold for home consumption were adequate to furnish a basis of comparison. Other types of valves were not sold for home consumption in quantities adequate to furnish a basis of comparison. As to the latter, sufficient quantities were sold to third countries.

Accordingly, purchase price was compared with adjusted home market price or with adjusted third country price as applicable.

Purchase price was computed on the basis of the c.i.f. or f.o.b. port price as applicable. From such price there were deducted ocean freight and insurance, where pertinent, and inland freight. Refunded and uncollected taxes were added as required by statute.

Calculation of the adjusted home market price was made on the basis of the selling price, delivered, packed, with regard to one manufacturer, and on the basis of the weighted-average price, delivered, packed, with regard to another manufacturer. Consideration was given to the different quantities bought by various U.S. purchasers in selecting the effective home market prices for purchases in such quantities. The applicable trade and cash discounts and inland freight were deducted. As to one manufacturer, an adjustment for the difference in the cost of packing for export to the United States as compared with the cost of packing for home consumption was also made.

Calculation of adjusted third country price was made on the basis of the c.i.f. packed, or f.o.b. packed price, as applicable. From such price there were deducted ocean freight and insurance, where pertinent, and inland freight. Adjustment was made for the difference in the cost of packing for export to third countries as compared with the cost of packing for export to the United States. Adjustment was made for the taxes uncollected and refunded as the same tax treatment is accorded by West Germany to all exports, whether to the United States or to other countries.

Purchase price was generally found to be lower than adjusted home market price or adjusted third country price, as applicable.

Such written submissions as interested parties may care to make with respect to the contemplated action will be given appropriate consideration by the Secretary of the Treasury.

If any person believes that any information obtained by the Bureau of Customs in the course of this antidumping proceeding is inaccurate or that for any other reason this tentative determination is in error, he may request in writing that the Secretary of the Treasury afford him an opportunity to present his views in this regard.

Any such written submissions or requests should be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs, 2100 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20226, in time to be received by his office not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

This notice and the statement of reasons therefor are published pursuant to § 14.8(a) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 14.8(a)).

Acting Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Others than commercial banks will not be permitted to enter subscriptions except for their own account. Subscriptions from commercial banks for their own account will be restricted in each case to an amount not exceeding 50 percent of the combined capital (not including capital notes or debentures), surplus and undivided profits of the subscribing bank. 4. Under the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, the Secretary of the Treasury has the authority to reject or reduce any subscriptions, to allot less than the amount of notes applied for, and to make different percentage allotments to various classes of subscribers when he deems it to be in the public interest; and any action he may take in these respects shall be final. The basis of the allotment will be publicly announced, and allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment.

IV. Payment. 1. Payment at 99.92 percent of their face value and accrued interest, if any, for notes allotted hereunder must be made or completed on or before August 30, 1967, or on later allotment. Payment will not be deemed to have been completed where registered notes are requested if the appropriate identifying number as required on tax returns and other documents submitted to the Internal Revenue Service (an individual's social security number or an employer identification number) is not furnished. In every case where full payment is not completed, the payment with application up to 2 percent of the amount of notes allotted shall, upon declaration made by the Secretary of the Treasury in his discretion, be forfeited to the United States. Any qualified depositary will be permitted to make payment by credit in its Treasury Tax and Loan Account for notes allotted to it for itself and its customers up to any amount for which it shall be qualified in excess of existing deposits, when so notified by the Federal Reserve Bank of its District.

[Docket 18800; Order No. E-25504]

WEST COAST AIRLINES, INC.

Order Regarding Amendment of Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 21st day of August 1967.

In the matter of an investigation to determine whether the certificate of public convenience and necessity for Route 77 of West Coast Airlines, Inc., should be amended so as to suspend or delete its authority to serve Port Angeles, Wash.

By Order E-25424, July 17, 1967, the Board tentatively found and concluded that the public convenience and necessity require the deletion of the certificate authority of West Coast Airlines, Inc. (West Coast), to serve Port Angeles, Wash.

The order required that any interested persons having objections to the issuance of an order making final the tentative findings and conclusions should file such objections within twenty days thereafter.

The period allowed for filing objections has elapsed and no objections have been filed.[1] Accordingly, we conclude that the tentative findings and conclusions stated in Order E-26424 should be made final and that the public convenience and necessity require the amendment of West Coast's certificate in such a manner as to delete West Coast's authority to serve Port Angeles, Wash.

Accordingly, it is ordered,

1. That an amended certificate of public convenience and necessity in the form attached hereto[2] be issued to West Coast Airlines for Route 77;

2. That said certificate shall be signed on behalf of the Board by its Secretary, shall have affixed thereto the seal of the Board and shall be effective on August 21, 1967.

3. That the investigation, Docket 18000, be and it hereby is terminated.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 16440; FCC 67-965]

INTERNATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATION UNION

World Administrative Conference; Sixth Notice of Inquiry

In the matter of preparation for a world administrative conference of the International Telecommunication Union to consider amendment of the International radio regulations presently applicable to the Maritime Mobile Radio Service and new provisions for the radio requirements of the service of oceanography.

1. On May 10, 1967, the Commission adopted its Fifth Notice of Inquiry in this docket, attaching thereto a document containing a proposal recommended for consideration by the World Administrative Radio Conference (WARC) to deal with matters relating to the maritime mobile service, scheduled to convene in Geneva, Switzerland on September 18, 1967. That document, dealing with reduced channel spacing between VHF channels assignable in the maritime mobile service, was developed jointly by the Commission and the Office of Telecommunications Management.

2. A number of comments were filed in response to the Fifth Notice of Inquiry. These comments, as well as some filed in response to earlier notices in this docket, are under continuing consideration by the Commission and will be dealt with in a subsequent notice.

3. In the Fifth Notice of Inquiry, it was anticipated that additional proposals would be made as the preparatory work for the WARC progressed. Attachment 1[1] constitutes an addendum to an earlier proposal to modify section A of Appendix 18 to the Radio Regulations in response to Agenda Item 3 of the WARC. That earlier proposal indicated that the spacing between assignable frequencies for teleprinter and data transmissions in the high traffic ship bands was still under study. The proposal in Attachment 1 is the result of that study. Attachment 2[2] is also responsive to Agenda Item 3 of the WARC in that it proposes procedures to be followed by the International Frequency Registration Board in dealing with the relative priorities of international notification of frequency assignments in the conversion from double sideband to single sideband emissions in the maritime mobile service. The third attachment,[1] a draft recommendation, deals with the use of space communication techniques in the maritime mobile service. The three attachments have been developed jointly by the Commission and the OTM. The Commission and the OTM have recommended to the Department of State that these documents be transmitted to the Secretary General of the ITU as formal proposals of the United States with respect to the subjects treated therein. The Commission has been informed by the Department of State that it concurs in the joint recommendation and will transmit the proposals to the ITU.

4. Additional proposals may be made on items not covered fully by this or preceding notices, as the U.S. preparatory work progresses. In the meantime, however, it is important that the items on which work has been completed reach the ITU as soon as possible so that the necessary translations and distribution to other administrations can be made. If additional proposals are made it is expected that they will be the subject of further notices in this proceeding.

5. Interested parties are invited to file with the Commission their views relative to the attached proposals. Authority for the further inquiry instituted herein is contained in section 403 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Inasmuch as the WARC will convene on September 18, 1967, comments in response to this Inquiry, pursuant to § 1.415 of the Commission's rules, should be submitted on or before September 15, 1967. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the Commission's rules, an original and 14 copies of all statements or comments shall be furnished to the Commission. In reaching its decision in this proceeding, the Commission also may take into account other relevant information before it, in addition to the specific comments invited by this Notice.

Adopted: August 18, 1967.

Released: August 21, 1967.

UNITED TRANSMISSION, INC.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Application for Hearing on Stated Issues

In re petition of United Transmission, Inc., Galax, Va., Docket No. 17653, File No. CATV 100-23, for authority pursuant to § 74.1107 to operate a CATV system in the Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem, N.C., and the Roanoke, Va., television markets, ranked 42th and 64th, respectively.

1. Before us for consideration is the proposal of United Transmission[1] to operate a CATV system in Galax, Va., in the 49th and 64th television markets. United proposes to transmit the local signals of channel 5 (ABC/NBC), Bristol, Va.; channel 6 (NBC), Bluefield, W. Va.; channels 7 (CBS) and 10 (NBC), both Roanoke, Va.; and channel 12 (NBC), Winston-Salem, N.C.; and the distant signals of channel 2 (CBS), Greensboro and channel 8 (ABC), High Point, N.C.; channels 3 (CBS) and 9 (ABC/NBC), both Charlotte, N.C.; channel 4 (CBS), Oak Hill, W. Va.; and channel 11 (ABC/CBS), Johnson City, Tenn.

2. Galax is located in two of the top-100 television markets. (a) Since Galax is within the predicted Grade A contour of channel 12, Winston-Salem, N.C. (although it is not within the Grade B contour of the Greensboro and High Point stations), the proposed system will operate in the Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem market (ARB 47), which has a net weekly circulation of 464,800. Pertinent channel assignments in the market and their status are: Greensboro—channel 2 (CBS), channel 48 (CP—Indep.), and channel 61 (idle); High Point—channel 8 (ABC) and channel 32 (idle); Winston-Salem—channel 12 (NBC), channel 36 (idle) and channel 45 (appl.). (b) The other market is the Roanoke market (ARB 66), having a net weekly circulation of 208,500. Pertinent channel assignments in the market and their status are: Roanoke—channel 7 (CBS), channel 10 (NBC), channel 16 (CP), and channel 27 (ABC), and Lynchburg—channel 13 (ABC) and channels 21 and 33 (both idle).

3. Galax is located on the boundary of Carroll and Grayson Counties, Va., approximately 7 miles north of the North Carolina border. It has a population of 5,254 people (approximately 1,900 TV homes) and is not located in any Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area or Urbanized Area. The approximate distances in miles from Galax to the pertinent communities having UHF channel assignments in the two markets in which it is located are as follows: Winston-Salem—58, Roanoke—65, High Point—72, Greensboro—78, and Lynchburg—110.

4. Petitioner asserts that television reception in Galax is poor because of the terrain and electrical interference; that many residents of Galax are from North Carolina and are interested in receiving programs from that state; that the stations requested are providing greater program selectivity; and that carriage of the distant signals would not affect the economic development of any major market station. Oppositions to United's request for waiver have been filed by channel 12, Winston-Salem, N.C., and channel 5, Bristol, Va. Additionally, channel 6, Bluefield, W. Va., has supported the position of channel 12.[2]

5. On facts presented in the petition and opposition pleadings, we are persuaded that the request for waiver should be granted only to the extent of permitting operation of the system distributing the local signals and the distant signal of channel 8, High Point, N.C., an ABC network affiliate, so as to provide full network service to the subscribers. But, we are unable to make the determination, without hearing, that importation of the other requested distant signals would be consistent with the establishment and healthy maintenance of UHF development in the two markets: Accordingly, it is ordered, That the request for waiver is granted in part as stated above, and that in all other respects the request for waiver is denied.

It is further ordered, That the request of United Transmission, Inc., to import the distant signals of channel 2, Greensboro, N.C., channels 3 and 9, both Charlotte, N.C., channel 4, Oak Hill, W. Va., and channel 11, Johnson City, Tenn., and pursuant to sections 4(i), 303, 307(b), and 309 of the Communications Act and § 74.1107 of the Commission's rules, is designated for hearing as to said matters on the following issues:

(1) To determine the present and proposed penetration and extent of CATV service in the Greensboro-Winston-Salem-High Point, N.C., and the Roanoke, Va., television markets.

(2) To determine the effects of current and proposed CATV service in the Greensboro-Winston-Salem-High Point, N.C., and the Roanoke, Va., television markets, upon existing, proposed and potential television broadcast stations in the respective markets.

(3) To determine (1) the present policy and proposed future plans of petitioner with respect to the furnishing of any service other than the relay of the signals of broadcast stations; (2) the potential for such services; and (3) the impact of such services upon television broadcast stations in the markets.

(4) To determine in light of the above whether the application and proposals are consistent with the public interest.

It is further ordered, That United Transmission, Inc., Triangle Broadcasting Corp., licensee of Station WSJS-TV, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Appalachian Broadcasting Corp., licensee of Station WCYB-TV, Bristol, Va.; and Daily Telegraph Printing Co., licensee of Station WHIS-TV, Bluefield, W. Va., are made parties to this proceeding and, to participate, must comply with the applicable provisions of § 1.221 of the Commission's rules.

It is further ordered, That the requests of Triangle Broadcasting Corp., Appalachian Broadcasting Corp., and Daily Telegraph Printing Co., are granted to the extent indicated above and by the designation of issues and, otherwise denied.

The burden of proof with respect to issues 1, 2, 3, and 4 is upon the petitioning CATV system. A time and place for the hearing will be specified in another order.

Adopted: August 9, 1967.

Released: August 21, 1967.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to acquire, by purchase from its parent company, Western Gas Service Co. (Western), the following natural gas pipeline facilities:

(1) Approximately 68 miles of 5- and 6-inch pipeline extending from a point south of Etter, Moore County, Tex., to Boise City, Cimarron County, Okla.;

FEDERAL OPEN MARKET COMMITTEE

Current Economic Policy Directive

In accordance with § 271.5 of its Rules Regarding Availability of Information, there is set forth below the Committee's Current Economic Policy Directive issued at its meeting held on May 23, 1967.[3]

The economic and financial developments reviewed at this meeting suggest that renewed economic expansion later in the year is in prospect. Output is still being retarded by adjustments of excessive inventories, but growth in final demands, particularly Government, continues strong. Average wholesale prices have declined recently, but unit labor costs in manufacturing have risen further. Bank credit expansion has slowed in recent weeks from its earlier rapid rate. Long-term interest rates have continued to rise under the influence of heavy securities market financing, but short-term yields have declined further. Some further reductions have been made in foreign central bank discount rates. The balance of payments deficit has remained substantial despite some improvement in the foreign trade surplus. In this situation, it is the Federal Open Market Committee's policy to foster money and credit conditions, including bank credit growth, conducive to renewed economic expansion, while recognizing the need for progress toward reasonable equilibrium in the country's balance of payments.

[3] Voting for this action: Chairman Martin, and Governors Robertson, Mitchell, Maisel, Brimmer, and Sherrill. Absent and not voting: Governor Deane.

To implement this policy, System open market operations until the next meeting of the Committee shall be conducted with a view to maintaining the prevailing conditions in the money market, while utilizing operations in coupon issues in supplying part of reserve needs.

Dated at Washington, D.C., the 18th day of August 1967.

By order of the Federal Open Market Committee.

LIBERTY INVESTORS, INC.

Notice of Application for Order Declaring That Company Has Ceased To Be an Investment Company

AUGUST 18, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Liberty Investors, Inc. ("Applicant"), Suite 1220, Vickers Tower, Wichita Plaza, Wichita, Kans., a Kansas corporation registered on May 21, 1967, as a closed-end management company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), has filed an application pursuant to section 8(f) of the Act for an order declaring that Applicant has ceased to be an investment company. All persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the facts which are summarized below.

Applicant was organized for the purposes of forming a wholly owned life insurance subsidiary or to acquire existing life insurance companies in the State of Kansas.

The requirements of the Kansas Insurance Commission would not permit Applicant to acquire or form a life insurance subsidiary pending completion of a public offering of Applicant's securities begun on December 1, 1965, and continued until March 2, 1967. During this period proceeds from the public offering were invested in various securities. As a result, Liberty Investors, Inc., was an investment company as defined in the Act. On July 9, 1967, the Kansas Insurance Commission issued its Certificate of Authority to Life of America, Inc., a wholly owned life insurance subsidiary of the Applicant.

Applicant represents that since the formation of Life of America, Inc., it has ceased to be an investment company, as defined in the Act.

Applicant further represents that it does not engage and does not propose to engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in securities, nor does it propose to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40 percent of the value of its total assets.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that when the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order and upon the taking effect of such order, the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 11, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicant. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in the case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

PART II

Post Office Department

International Mail

Title 39—POSTAL SERVICE

Chapter I—Post Office Department

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERNATIONAL MAIL

REPUBLICATION OF SUBCHAPTER

A notice of changes in certain international postage rates to be effective May 1, 1967, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 1, 1967 (32 F.R. 3397). In order to codify these changes into Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, it is necessary to republish Subchapter C and its appendix. Accordingly, they now read as follows:

PART 211—POSTAL UNIONS

Sec.
211.1 Universal Postal Union.
211.2 Postal Union of the Americas and Spain.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 211 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 211.1 Universal Postal Union.

The exchange of all mail except parcel post between the United States (see Part 112 of this chapter) and other countries is governed by the provisions of the Convention of the Universal Postal Union, of which the United States is a member.

§ 211.2 Postal Union of the Americas and Spain.

The United States and the following countries are also members of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain (PUAS):

Argentina.	Haiti.
Bolivia.	Honduras Republic.
Brazil.	Mexico.
Canada.	Nicaragua.
Chile.	Panama.
Colombia.	Paraguay.
Costa Rica.	Peru.
Cuba.	Spain and [1] Possessions.
Dominican Republic.	Uruguay.
Ecuador.	Venezuela.
El Salvador.
Guatemala.

Certain special provisions apply to the exchange of mail, including parcel post, with the countries listed above. Those provisions appear in the appropriate sections of this chapter.

PART 212—CATEGORIES OF INTERNATIONAL MAIL

Sec.
212.1 Postal union mail.
212.2 Parcel post.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 212 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 212.1 Postal union mail.

Postal union mail, both surface and air, is exchanged under provisions of the Universal Postal Convention or the Convention of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain. The weight and size limits and other general provisions (but not postage rates) for the various classifications of mail exchanged under those conventions are the same from and to the United States. Postal Union mail is divided into two categories, known as "LC mail" and "AO mail," as follows:

(a) The term "LC mail" refers to letters, letter packages, post cards, and aerogrammes. See §§ 222.1, 222.2, and 241.5 of this chapter.

(b) The term "AO mail" refers to postal union mail other than letter mail, post cards, and aerogrammes. It includes printed matter of all kinds, matter for the blind, samples of merchandise, and small packets. See §§ 222.3 through 222.9 of this chapter.

§ 212.2 Parcel post.

Parcel post is a separate and distinct category from postal union mail. The exchange of parcel post with other countries is governed by the provisions of individual bilateral agreements with various countries and the Parcel Post Agreement of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain. Unless otherwise noted under the country items in the Directory of International Mail, the weight and size limits and other general parcel post provisions (but not postage rates) apply also from those countries to the United States.

PART 213—OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Sec.
213.1 With the Department.
213.2 With foreign postal authorities.
213.3 With individuals in other countries.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 213 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 213.1 With the Department.

Correspondence relating to all phases of the international postal service, except money order business and investigations handled by the Postal Inspection Service, should be addressed to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

§ 213.2 With foreign postal authorities.

Postmasters, regional offices, and other field units of the Postal Establishment (except exchange offices, postal inspectors in charge, and postmasters acting under instructions in Part 371 of this chapter) shall not correspond directly with postal officials in other countries but shall refer inquiries from these officials to the Department for attention.

§ 213.3 With individuals in other countries.

Postmasters, regional offices, and other field units of the Postal Establishment may reply direct to inquiries and engage in other necessary correspondence with individuals and firms in other countries. The addresses of patrons may be furnished to inquirers, provided the patrons have given their consent. This correspondence is mailable without postage stamps under § 221.2(d)(5) of this chapter.

PART 221—CONDITIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL CLASSES

Sec.
221.1 Preparing and Addressing.
221.2 Postage.
221.3 Prohibitions and Restrictions.
221.4 Documentation.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 221 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 221.1 Preparing and addressing.

(a) Preparing. (1) Senders must prepare articles securely, especially if they are for distant countries. International mail is handled more often and subjected to greater pressure and friction than domestic mail, hence it must be enclosed in strong envelopes or other wrappings.

(2) Use envelopes of any light color on which the address and postmark will be legible. Do not use three-cornered envelopes. Window envelopes meeting the conditions in § 122.4 of this chapter with the exception of open-panel envelopes, are acceptable in the international mail. Open-panel envelopes are accepted only in the ordinary (unregistered) mail to Canada.

(3) Letters and letter packages (LC mail) may be placed in bags, boxes, envelopes, or containers, and, if unregistered, may be sealed at the option of the sender. Registered letters and letter packages must be sealed. See § 242.2 (b) (1) of this chapter.

(4) Articles other than letters and letter packages (AO mail) must be prepared in such a way that their contents are sufficiently protected but so as not to hinder quick and easy inspection of the contents. They should be placed under wrapper, on a roller, or between cardboard; in open bags, boxes, envelopes, or containers or in closed, unsealed bags, boxes, envelopes, or containers provided with fasteners that can be easily opened and reclosed without being dangerous; or they may be tied with string or twine in a manner that will permit them to be easily untied. Sealing of postal union "other articles" is not permitted, even if registered, and they must be prepared in such a way that other articles do not run the risk of being trapped by them.

(5) As an exception to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, items in AO mail articles which would spoil if packed according to the general rules, and samples of merchandise packed in a transparent packing permitting check of their contents, are admitted in hermetically sealed packing. The same applies to samples of industrial and vegetable products in a packing sealed by the manufacturer or by an examining authority in the country of origin. In such cases the sender or the addressee may be required to assist in a check of the contents, either by opening certain of the items or in some other satisfactory manner.

(b) Packing requirements for certain articles—(1) Glass. Articles of glass or other fragile materials must be securely packed in boxes of metal, wood, or strong corrugated fiberboard filled with paper, wood shavings, or other protective material that prevent the articles from moving about or coming in contact with each other or with the sides of the box in course of transmission.

(2) Liquids, oils, etc. Liquids, oils, and substances which easily liquefy must be enclosed in hermetically sealed receptacles. Each receptacle must be placed in a separate box of metal, strong wood, or strong corrugated fiberboard containing enough sawdust, cotton, or spongy material to absorb the liquid in the event of breakage of the receptacle. The cover of the box must be fastened in such a way that it cannot become easily detached.

(3) Fatty substances. Fatty substances which do not easily liquefy, such as ointments, soft soap, resin, etc., as well as silkworm eggs, must be enclosed in an inside cover (box, canvas, or parchment bag, etc.), which must itself be placed in a second box of wood, metal, or stout, thick material.

(4) Powders. Dry powdered dyes such as aniline, etc., are not admitted unless enclosed in stout tin boxes placed, in turn, inside wooden boxes, with sawdust between the two packings; dry noncoloring powders must be placed in boxes of metal, wood, or cardboard. These boxes themselves must be enclosed in a canvas or parchment bag.

(5) Live organisms. Live bees, leeches, silkworm eggs, and parasites and predators of injurious insects intended for the control of such insects and exchanged between officially recognized agencies shall be enclosed in boxes so constructed as to avoid all danger.

(6) Perishable biological materials. See § 221.3(b)(5)(iii).

(7) Radioactive materials. See § 221.3 (b)(6).

(c) Addressing. (1) Reserve at least the entire right half of the address side for the address of the addressee, postage stamps, or postage-paid impressions, and the service labels and notations (postmarks, etc.).

(2) Address mail legibly using roman letters and arabic figures placed lengthwise on one side of the article only. Write the name and address of the addressee precisely and completely so that employees distributing the mail will be able to route mail to its proper destination without difficulty. Show name of post office and country of destination in capital letters. Give house number and street address or box number when mail is addressed to towns or cities. Addressing mail to "boxholder" or "householder" is not permitted.

(3) The address of articles sent to General Delivery (in French, "Poste Restante") must indicate name of the addressees. The use of initials, figures, simple given names, fictitious names, or conventional marks of any kind not permitted on these articles.

(4) Addresses in Russian, Greek, Arabic, Hebrew, Japanese, or Chinese characters must bear an interlined translation of the names of the post office, province, and country of destination in English. If the English forms are not known, show foreign spellings in roman characters, print, or script.

(d) Return address. The complete address of the sender must be shown in the upper left corner of the address side so as not to affect either the clarity of the address or the application of service labels or notations. See § 222.2(e)(2) and 222.4 (e)(5) of this chapter. Ordinary (unregistered) articles bearing a return address in another country are accepted only at risk of senders.

§ 221.2 Postage.

(a) Prepayment. Articles must be fully prepaid to assure dispatch without delay and without penalty against the addressees. If the missing postage cannot be collected from the mailer, the short-paid articles are either sent to destination and double the shortage collected from the addressees or they are sent to dead-letter branches for treatment. See § 223.2 of this chapter.

(b) How paid—(1) Stamps. Postage and fees for special services may be paid by means of U.S. postage stamps or by meter stamps of a bright red color. Precanceled stamps may be used under the same conditions as in the domestic mail. Airmail stamps may be used on airmail articles only, and special delivery stamps may be used only for payment of special delivery fees. See § 141.6 of this chapter for other stamps not valid as postage.

(2) Other means. Postage may be paid by permit imprints, subject to the general conditions stated in Part 144 of this chapter. Permit imprints must show the amount of postage paid on each article and may be of any color. Postage on second-class and controlled circulation matter mailed by publishers or registered news agents may be paid in money under the conditions stated in § 222.4(e)(3)(ii) and (iii) of this chapter (second-class only).

(c) Articles mailed aboard ships (Paquebot). (1) Mail posted aboard ships on the high seas must bear postage stamps of the country whose flag the vessel flies. On arrival at a port, an officer of the ship hands the mail into the post office of the port city, where the stamps are canceled and the mail is dispatched. If the stamps are foreign, the post office uses a special "Paquebot" postmark or applies the word Paquebot to the envelope in ink or with a rubber stamp.

(2) Any mail to be forwarded by air must be accompanied by an AV–2 form, prepared by the ship's officer, showing weight of the articles for each destination. When airmail is presented at a post office that is not an international exchange office, the postmaster must transmit the AV–2 form to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, for accounting purposes.

(3) Mail posted aboard a U.S. ship on the high seas, or aboard any ship while in a U.S. port, must bear U.S. stamps and is not entitled to "Paquebot" cancellation at a U.S. post office.

(d) Mailings without postage—(1) Diplomatic and consular mail. Mail of foreign diplomatic and consular representatives in the United States is subject to the same postage rates and conditions which apply to mail of other postal patrons, except when mailed by diplomatic and consular representatives of countries belonging to the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain (see § 211.2 of this chapter). Diplomatic and consular representatives of those countries may send Postal Union mail articles without postage up to the weight and size limits specified in Part 222 of this chapter, under the following conditions:

(i) Diplomatic. Free postage and free registration are granted to all surface correspondence (official and personal) of members of the diplomatic corps of PUAS countries when addressed to the PUAS countries.

(ii) Consular. Free postage and registration are granted to the official surface correspondence of consuls or vice consuls of PUAS countries when—

(a) Addressed for delivery in the country represented by the mailing official;

(b) Addressed to the Embassy or Legation of the official's country located in any of those countries; or

(c) Addressed to an official of any of those countries located in those countries.

(iii) Preparation and marking. Diplomatic and consular mail will be either letters, letter-packages, or printed matter packages. Letters may be sealed, whereas printed matter packages must be unsealed and bear the words "Printed Matter" on the address side of the package. Envelopes, labels, etc., used by members of the PUAS diplomatic corps for postage free mail must show in the upper left corner the name of the Ambassador or Minister or name of Embassy or Legation, with post office address, and in the upper right corner the words "Diplomatic Mail" over the word "Free." For consulates, the name and address of the consul or consulate and the name of the country must appear over the words "Official Correspondence" in the upper left corner. The words "Consular Mail" must be written above "Free" in the upper right corner.

(iv) Special services. Diplomatic and consular mail entitled to free postage is also entitled to free registration but without the right to indemnity. If air or special delivery service is desired, both the postage and any special fees must be prepaid.

(2) Federal Government official mail. Official mail of the Federal Government is accepted for other countries without postage affixed under the following conditions:

(i) Postage and fees paid mail. All official mail of authorized departments and agencies prepared in accordance with the provisions of § 137.2(c) (1), (i), (ii), and (iii) of this chapter will be given the postal service indicated on its cover. There is no limitation as to the countries to which this mail may be addressed provided the service desired is available. The weight and size limits, postal forms prescribed in Part 222 of this chapter and, under the parcel post headings of the various country items, in the appendix to this subchapter apply.

(ii) Penalty and franked mail. Ordinary (unregistered) surface mail prepared in accordance with the provisions of §§ 137.1 and 137.2 of this chapter is acceptec. when addressed in PUAS countries except Argentina, Brazil, and Spain and Spanish possessions. (See § 211.2 of this chapter.) This mail must not exceed the domestic weight limit of 4 pounds, except when it is exempt from that limit by regulation (see § 137.2(e)(1)(i) of this chapter), in which case the weight limits prescribed in Part 222 of this chapter apply. The maximum dimensions prescribed in Part 222 of this chapter apply in all cases. If registration, air, or special delivery service is desired, both the postage and fee must be prepaid.

(3) Pan American Union mail. Ordinary (unregistered) surface mail bearing the return address of the Union and weighing not more than 4 pounds (or 11 pounds for packages identified as containing printed matter) is accepted without postage affixed when addressed to PUAS countries except Canada. Such mail must bear the indicia "Free Under Postal Convention" in the upper right corner. If registration, air, or special delevery service is desired, both the postage and fee must be prepaid.

(4) Pan American Sanitary Bureau mail. Ordinary (unregistered) surface mail bearing the return address of the Bureau and weighing not more than 4 pounds is accepted without postage affixed when addressed to PUAS countries except Canada. Such mail must bear the words "Free Under Postal Convention" in the upper right corner. If registration, air, or special delivery service is desired, both the postage and fee must be prepaid.

(5) Postal Service official mail. All official mail of the Postal Service may be accepted without postage affixed. Use penalty envelopes or labels for mail addressed (i) to postal administrations or post offices in any country, (ii) to the International Bureau of the Universal Postal Union at Berne, Switzerland, and (iii) to any addressee in the PUAS countries except Argentina, Brazil and Spain, and Spanish possessions. (See § 211.2 of this chapter.) In all other cases use penalty envelopes or labels with the addition of the endorsement "Postage and Fees Paid." Larger post offices having sufficient need may requisition a rubber stamp from the Department on Form 1567.

(6) Mail of Mrs. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy. All mail bearing the written or facsimile signature of Mrs. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy and the words "Postage and Fees Paid" shall be given the service indicated on its cover, subject to the conditions indicated in subparagraph (2)(i) of this paragraph

(e) Reply Coupons. (1) Member countries of the Universal Postal Union purchase international reply coupons from the International Bureau of the Universal Postal Union and sell them at post offices. The selling price in the United States is 15 cents each. One of these coupons is exchangable in any other member country for a stamp or stamps representing the international postage on a single-rate surface letter. Upon presentation of a sufficient number of coupons, the stamp or stamps received in exchange may be used to prepay an international airmail letter. Chart 7 in the appendix to this subchapter shows the number of coupons required to be sent to other countries to prepay an airmail letter of the first unit of weight to the United States.

(2) International reply coupons (in French, "Coupon-Réponse International)" are printed in blue ink on paper having in the watermark the letters UPU in large characters. The name of the country, in French and the native language, and the selling price of the coupon are printed in black. Coupons purchased from the International Bureau prior to January 1, 1966, have the circles for the postmarks of the selling and exchanging post offices on the left- and right-hand sides; those purchased after January 1, 1966, have both these circles on the right-hand side. The issuing office postmarks the left-hand circle of the old style coupons and the upper circle of the new style coupons. The period of exchange of international reply coupons is unlimited.

(3) U.S. post offices will requisition international reply coupons from the same sources from which they obtain postage stamps. The coupons should be stocked at offices having a demand for them. Since all U.S. coupons are of the old style, the selling post office will postmark them in the left-hand circle. Unused U.S. coupons may be redeemed by the original purchaser at a discount of 1 cent on the purchase price. The post office redeeming the unused coupons will postmark them in the right-hand circle.

(4) Properly postmarked international reply coupons issued in other countries are exchangeable at U.S. post offices for postage stamps, aerogrammes, postcards, or envelopes at the rate of 13 cents each, except that Canadian and Mexican coupons are exchanged at the rate of 5 cents each in postage. The post office exchanging a foreign coupon postmarks it in the right-hand circle of the old style coupon or the lower circle of the new style coupon. Foreign coupons not properly postmarked by the foreign post office may be exchanged if there is no apparent reason to doubt their authenticity. Post offices must not accept foreign coupons that already bear a U.S. postmark.

(5) Reply coupons formerly issued by the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain are no longer valid. These coupons are printed in green ink and bear the caption "Cupón Respuesta Américo-Español." It is suggested that patrons possessing any of these coupons return them to their correspondents in the country of issue for redemption through the selling post office.

(6) Postmasters will dispose of exchanged foreign and redeemed U.S. coupons.

(f) Foreign reply-paid cards. The reply halves of post cards bearing foreign postage stamps, meter stamps, or imprinted postage and the heading "Carte postale réponse" (reply post card) are accepted as fully prepaid for ordinary surface transmission only if addressed to the country represented by the foreign postage. If this condition is not met, they are treated as unprepaid post cards. The initial half of the card may be left attached to the reply half, provided the address on the initial half is crossed out and folded on the inside of the card. Registry and special delivery fees can be prepaid only with U.S. stamps. See § 241.3(c) of this chapter regarding additional U.S. postage required to transmit cards by airmail.

(g) Nonpostage stamps. Do not place nonpostage stamps, labels resembling postage stamps, or impressions resembling postage-paid impressions on the address side of mail articles.

(h) Remailed articles. New postage is required when remailing an article which has been returned from abroad because of insufficient address.

§ 221.3 Prohibitions and restrictions.

(a) General list of prohibited articles. The following articles are prohibited transmission in the postal union mail to all countries:

(1) Any article without address or incorrectly, insufficiently, or illegibly addresed so that it cannot be sent to its destination.

(2) Any article addressed to go around the world or with the address side wholly or partly divided into several spaces intended for successive addresses.

(3) Poisons, including narcotics (opium, morphine, cocaine, etc.), explosives and flammable articles (see § 231.2(a)(8)) of this chapter, and all other articles excluded from the domestic mail, which either from their nature or packing are likely to soil or damage the mail or are injurious to health, life, or property. Articles containing gas or liquid under pressure, except that products incorporating compressed gas are acceptable if the mist produced is nonflammable, the quantity of contents are not more than a pint, and not more than one container per package. These restrictions as to quantity do not apply to aerosol containers holding mailable liquid and gas under pressure less than 40 pounds per square inch absolute (25 pounds gage pressure) at 70° F. Liquids with flash point below 150° F. are restricted (see § 231.2(b)(1)) of this chapter. The container must be completely surrounded with sawdust, bran, or other absorbent material sufficient to take up all the liquid contents.

(4) Articles excluded from the domestic mail of the United States. (See Part 124 of this chapter.) Although safety matches are admitted in the domestic mail, they are prohibited in the international mail.

(5) Live or dead animals and insects, except: (i) live bees, leeches, and silk worms; (ii) dead insects or reptiles when thoroughly dried; and (iii) parasites and predators of injurious insects intended for the control of such insects and exchanged between officially recognised agencies.

(6) The following are prohibited to all countries unless sent in registered letter mail—coins, bank notes, or paper money; manufactured or unmanufactured platinum, gold, or silver; precious stones, jewelry, or other precious articles. These articles are absolutely prohibited even in registered letter mail to some countries. See heading "Prohibitions" for Postal Union mail in the Directory of International Mail. The term "jewelry" is generally understood to denote articles of more than nominal value. Low priced jewelry, such as tie clasps, costume jewelry, and other items contatning little or no precious metal, is not considered to be jewelry within the meaning of this section and is accepted under the same conditions as other mailable merchandise to any country. However, it is accepted only at the sender's risk to countries which prohibit jewelry.

(7) Values payable to bearer, unless sent by registered mail. Some countries prohibit such values entirely (see country items in Directory of International Mail). The term "values payable to bearer" includes checks, drafts, or securities which can be legally cashed or easily negotiated by anyone who may come into possession of them. A check or draft payable to a specific payee is not regarded as payable to bearer unless the payee has endorsed it in blank. If not endorsed, or if endorsed in favor of another specific payee, it is not regarded as payable to bearer.

(8) Gold coin, gold bullion, or gold dust exceeding $100 in value. (See § 254.4 of this chapter.)

(9) Articles whose acceptance or circulation is prohibited in the country of destination. See paragraph (c) of this section.

(10) Written communications having the character of current correspondence, except in the form of letters or post cards, or under the conditions stated in §§ 222.4(d)(2)(i), 222.4(d)(4)(v) or § 222.5 of this chapter. Sound recorded communications having the character of current correspondence, except as letters, or under the conditions stated in § 222.4(d)(2) or 222.5 of this chapter.

NOTE: Recordings of music or other sounds not of the nature of letters are mailable under the classes of postal union mail available for the transmission of merchandise—see § 222.1(e) or 222.7(g) of this chapter; or as parcel post. The same applies to opened correspondence, written or recorded, that has already reached the original addressee and is no longer current.

(11) Articles may not contain any card or envelope intended for reply purposes with postage denoted by U.S. stamps, business reply, or other indicia.

NOTE: The prohibition against business reply items need not be applied when they are bound or stapled into a magazine or other publication, or form an integral part of the printed page. These may be accepted so long as no objection is raised by the postal administrations of the countries concerned.

NOTE: For general parcel post prohibitions, see § 231.2(a) of this chapter.

(b) Restricted articles.—(1) Gold and gold certificates. (See Part 254 of this chapter.)

(2) Tobacco seed and plants. (See § 255.3 of this chapter.)

(3) Plant material generally. (See § 231.2(b)(6) of this chapter.)

(4) Combustible liquids. (See § 231.2(b)(1) of this chapter.)

(5) Perishable biological materials. Perishable biological materials, including those of pathogenic nature, when sent in the postal union mail are accepted only as letter packages. The following conditions apply:

(i) Mailing restrictions. If a country prohibits perishable biological materials this is shown under "Prohibitions" in the country item in the Directory of International Mail. The packages must be packed as prescribed in paragraph (b)(5)(iii) of this section, and must bear distinctive violet labels by which they can be readily recognised and receive careful handling and prompt delivery.

(ii) Qualification of mailers. (a) Only officially recognised laboratories may send or receive letter packages containing perishable biological materials. Laboratories of the following categories are so designated:

Laboratories of local, State, and Federal Government agencies.
Laboratories of federally licensed manufacturers of biologic substances derived from bacteria and viruses.
Laboratories affiliated with or operated by hospitals, universities, research facilities, and other teaching institutions.
Private laboratories licensed, certified, recognised, or approved by a public authority.

(b) A laboratory desiring to mail letter packages containing materials of this kind shall make written application on its letterhead stationery to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, explaining its qualifications and those of the prospective addressees to send and receive such materials, and stating how many packages are to be mailed. On approval, the mailer will receive a sufficient number of the violet labels for the contemplated shipments.

(iii) Packaging. (a) Perishable biological material not of a pathogenic nature must be packed in a nonporous container surrounded by sufficient absorbent material to take up all the liquid and must be placed in an outer protective container where it should fit tightly to avoid any shifting.

(b) Perishable biological material of a pathogenic nature must be packed in a tightly closed bottle or tube or heavy glass wrapped in thick absorbent material rolled several times around the bottle or tube and tied at the ends, sufficient in quantity to absorb all the liquid; the wrapped container must be placed in a strong well-closed metal box constructed to prevent any contamination outside of it. This metal box must be wrapped in cushioning material and placed in an outer protective box where it should fit tightly to avoid shifting. The outer container must consist of a hollow block of strong wood, metal, or other equally strong material with a tight lid so fitted that it cannot open during transportation.

(c) In addition to the requirements in (a) and (b) of this subdivision, packages must comply with the regulations governing the transmission of such materials in the domestic mail.

(d) The mailer must place on each package one of the violet labels mentioned in subdivisions (i) and (ii) (b) of this subparagraph.

(6) Radioactive materials. Radioactive materials are restricted as provided in § 125.2(e) of this chapter. Senders of mailable radioactive materials must place on the wrapper of the package a white label bearing the French words "Matiéres radioactives." The label must be supplied by the sender and is to be gummed or taped to the address side of the package. The package must also bear a conspicuous request for return to sender in case of nondelivery.

(c) Individual country prohibitions and restrictions. See § 231.2(c) of this chapter.

(d) Foreign customs information. See § 231(b)(4) of this chapter.

§ 221.4 Documentation.

(a) Green customs label. A green customs label, Form 2976, must be obtained at the post office and placed by the sender on each letter or letter package containing dutiable merchandise, on each package of dutiable prints, and on each small packet. The label is placed on the address side of each article. See §§ 222.1(e), 222.4(e)(6) and 222.7(f) of this chapter. The label is also used on merchandise packages weighing 8 ounces or less mailed to Canada, as prescribed under the country heading in the appendix. The following facsimile illustrates the type of information the sender must supply when the label is used in its entirety:

When the label is used in its entirety there is no need to enclose the paper form of customs declaration, Form 2976–A, in the package (see § 221.4(b)), except for countries which specifically require it. (See country items in Directory of International Mail.) If the sender prefers not to show the nature and value of the contents on the outside of the article, or if for any reason the use of the label in its entirety is not practicable, the upper part (detached by cutting along the dotted line) may be affixed to the cover, and the paper customs declaration enclosed in the article. The label is not, under any circumstances, to be used on parcel post packages, nor are parcel post forms to be used on postal union mail articles.

(b) Paper customs declaration. The paper form of customs declaration (Form 2976–A) is available at post offices for completion by the sender and enclosure within the classes of articles mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section. The contents of the article must be indicated in detail on the form. Notations of a general character are not allowed. Form 2976–A is not to be used on parcel post packages, nor are parcel post forms described in § 231.4 to be used on postal union articles. AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 222 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 222.1 Letters and letter packages.

(a) Rates.—(1) Surface. The surface rate for letters and letter packages to Canada and Mexico is 5 cents per ounce. To all other countries it is 13 cents for the first ounce and 8 cents for each additional ounce.

(2) Airmail. Canada and Mexico, 8 cents per ounce. To Central America, South America, the Caribbean Islands, Bahamas, Bermuda, and St. Pierre and Miquelon, 15 cents per half ounce. To Europe (except Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and U.S.S.R.) and Mediterranean Africa, 20 cents per half ounce. To other countries, 25 cents per half ounce.

(b) Weight limits. (1) The weight limit for letters and letter packages to all countries except Canada is 4 pounds 6 ounces; for Canada, 60 pounds.

(c) Dimensions.—(1) Maximum dimensions. Maximum length is 24 inches. Maximum "length, breadth, and thickness combined" is 36 inches. When sent in the form of a roll, the length (the maximum of which may not exceed 36 inches) plus twice the diameter may not exceed 42 inches.

(2) Minimum dimensions. The address side must measure at least 4¼ inches in length and 3 inches in width. When in the form of a roll, the length may not be less than 4 inches, or the length plus twice the diameter may not be less than 6¾ inches. Articles having lesser dimensions are accepted on condition that a rectangular address tag is attached whose dimensions are not less than 4 by 2¾ inches.

(d) Restrictions. Letters and letter packages may not contain current communications exchanged between persons other than the sender and the addressee or persons living with them.

(e) Merchandise in letters.—(1) Dutiable merchandise. Letters or letter packages may contain merchandise which is dutiable in the country of destination unless the country is unwilling to accept such mailings. If a country prohibits dutiable merchandise in letters this is shown under "Prohibitions" in the country item in the Directory of International Mail. The postal service is not able to inform patrons whether or not any items are dutiable in other countries. When mailing articles which may be dutiable, senders must comply with the provisions concerning documentation shown in § 221.4 of this chapter and with any special instructions in the appendix to this subchapter.

(2) Nondutiable merchandise. Articles which the senders know are not dutiable may be mailed to countries which do not accept dutiable merchandise, but only at the risk of the senders. The Post Office Department assumes no responsibility for the treatment which such articles may be given by the foreign postal or customs authorities. As the presence of the green label (Form 2976) mentioned in § 221.41 of this chapter generally denotes dutiable contents, it should be omitted from letter-mail articles when the sender knows the contents are not dutiable.

(f) Endorsement. Senders should add the words "Letter (lettre)" on the address side of letters and letter packages which, because of their size or manner of preparation, may be mistaken for matter of another class.

(g) Preparation and addressing. See § 221.1 of this chapter.

§ 222.2 Post cards.

(a) Rates.—(1) Surface. Canada and Mexico, 4 cents single; reply-paid, 4 cents each half. All other countries, 8 cents single; reply-paid, 8 cents each half.

(2) Airmail. Canada and Mexico, 6 cents single; reply-paid, 8 cents on message half, 4 cents (surface rate) on reply half. All other countries, 13 cents single; reply-paid, letter rate (see § 222.1(a)(2)) on message half and 8 cents (surface rate) on reply half. Postage for return of the reply card by air can not be paid with U.S. stamps. See § 241.3(c) of this chapter regarding prepayment of foreign reply-paid cards to be transmitted to other countries by airmail.

(3) Other rates. The letter rate (surface or air), or the surface printed matter rate if the card conforms to printed matter requirements, applies to double cards without prepaid reply and to single cards exceeding the dimensions for post cards.

(b) Dimensions. Maximum dimensions 6 by 4¼ inches. Minimum dimensions, 4¼ by 3 inches.

(c) Requirements.—(1) Form and Marking. Post cards shall be made of cardboard that meets the material and color specification in § 131.2(a)(7) of this chapter or of paper strong enough to withstand handling. Government postal cards may be used and postage added as required. Post cards of private manufacture must bear on the front the heading "Post Card," although this is not obligatory for picture post cards.

(2) Preparation, addressing, and mailing. Post cards shall be sent unenclosed, without wrapper or envelope. The right half, at least, of the address side is reserved for the address of the addressee and the notations or labels relating to the service. The sender may use the back and the left half of the address side. Postage must appear on the address side, in the upper right corner of the card; otherwise, the card is treated as unprepaid. Undeliverable post cards are disposed of in the country of address unless they bear the name and address of the sender.

(3) Attachments. Do not join or attach samples of merchandise or similar articles to post cards. However, illustrations, photographs, stamps of any kind, labels, and clippings of any kind, of paper or other very thin material, as well as address lables or slips to be folded back, may be glued thereto, on condition that they do not alter the character of the post cards and that they adhere completely to the card. These articles may be glued only on the back or left half of the address side of the card, except address slips, tabs, or labels which may occupy the entire address side. Stamps of any kind, likely to be confused with postage stamps, may be placed only on the back.

(d) Reply-paid cards.—(1) Availability. Reply-paid postal cards, bearing the required endorsements and imprinted postage are available at post offices. The domestic reply-paid postal card shall not be used in the international mail, except that it may be used to Canada and Mexico after adding the headings prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for private cards.

(2) Private cards. Double cards which are privately prepared for use as reply-paid cards shall bear in printing on the front, in the French language, as the heading of the first or message part, the words "Carte postale avec réponse payée" (post card with reply paid), and the words "Carte postale réponse" (reply post card) as the heading on the second or reply part. Each of the two parts must fulfill the other conditions laid down for a single card. Prepayment of the two halves shall be by means of U.S. postage or meter stamps affixed to each half.

(3) Preparation and mailing. The two parts of a reply-paid card are folded one part over the other, so that the fold forms the upper edge, and they may not be sealed in any manner. Prepare the card so that when it is folded the address of the addressee is on the part bearing the words "Carte postale avec réponse payée," and the address on the reply part is folded in the inside. The sender may have printed on the back of the reply half a questionnaire to be filled in by the addressee. The latter may return the part is folded on the inside. The sender inquiry half attached to the reply-portion, in which case the address on the inquiry half is crossed out and folded on the inside of the card.

(4) Validity of postage. The prepayment of the reply by means of U.S. postage is valid only if the card is addressed to this country. If this condition is not met, it is treated as an unprepaid post card.

(5) Foreign cards. See paragraph (f) of this section.

§ 222.3 Commercial papers.

The "Commercial Papers" class was discontinued effective January 1, 1966. Certain items formerly admitted as "Commercial Papers" are admitted at regular printed matter rates. See § 222.4(d)(2). When the postage on second-class and controlled circulation publications is paid in cash or by advance deposit, as permitted in subparagraph (3)(ii) of this paragraph, the envelopes or wrappers must bear the imprint "Second-class postage paid at_____," or "Controlled circulation postage paid at_____," in the upper right corner. The imprint serves as an indication of postage payment and identifies the publications as second-class or controlled circulation.

(3) Payment of postage. (i) Postage on printed matter, other than second-class and controlled circulation publications mailed by the publisher or by a registered news agent under the conditions stated in subdivision (3)(ii) of this subparagraph, must be paid by means of postage stamps, meter stamps, or permit imprints showing the amount of postage paid on each piece.

(ii) Postage on second-class and controlled circulation publications mailed by the publisher or by a registered news agent may be paid by means of postage stamps or meter stamps, or the postage charges may be paid in cash before the mailings are dispatched or from deposits of money made with the postmaster by the publisher or news agent. When the postage is to be paid in cash or from money on deposit with the postmaster, the postage charges are computed on Form 3541, "Computation of Second-Class or Controlled Circulation Postage," from reports filed by the publisher or news agent on Form 3542, "Statement Showing Number of Copies of Second-Class or Controlled Circulation Publication mailed."

(iii) Canada only: When individually addressed second-class publications to Canada are bundled as prescribed in subparagraph (4)(iii) of this paragraph, postage may be computed subject to the following special conditions:

(a) If the postage is paid with stamps affixed to the bundles, the publisher or news agent will weigh and rate each bundle at 2 cents (3 cents on and after November 1, 1967) for the first 2 ounces and 1 cent for each additional 2 ounces or fraction, or at 1 cent per copy; whichever is higher.

(b) If the postage is paid in cash or from money deposited with the postmaster, the publisher or news agent must place a write-in "Canada-Bundled" entry on Form 3542 showing the number of bundles and the total number of copies included in the bundles. Unaddressed copies enclosed in packages addressed to one addressee may also be included. Compute the postage charges at 1 cent for each 2 ounces plus 1 cent (2 cents on and after November 1, 1967) for each bundle, or at 1 cent per copy, whichever is higher, and carry the computed postage to the appropriate line of column I on Form 3541.

NOTE: Effective November 1, 1968, the provisions of this section will be discontinued.

(iv) If a publisher or registered news agent prefers, he may pay postage on individually addressed copies of second-class and controlled circulation publications by reporting them on Form 3542, and pay postage on unaddressed copies to be mailed in bulk packages by affixing the appropriate postage to the wrappers of the packages.

(v) The postage on publications for which application for second-class or controlled circulation entry is pending must be paid at regular printed matter rates (see paragraph (a)(1)(i) of this section) on each individually addressed piece. The postage is paid by means of postage stamps, meter stamps, or by permit imprints showing the amount of postage paid. The rates stated in paragraph (a)(1) of this section may not be applied until a publication has been approved for domestic second-class or controlled circulation entry; after such approval, no postage rebate will be allowed for copies mailed to other countries while the application was under consideration. However, any publication meeting the conditions of paragraph (a)(1)(ii) of this section may be mailed at the rates given in that section.

(4) Mailing. (i) Prints on which the postage is paid by permit imprints and all second-class and controlled circulation publications to be mailed at the rates stated in paragraph (a)(1)(iii) and (iv) must be taken to the post office or such other place as may be designated by the postmaster. All other printed matter that is fully prepaid with postage or meter stamps and is properly prepared as required in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph may be presented for mailing at post office windows or deposited in post office drops or street collection boxes.

(ii) Publishers having more than five individually addressed copies of a second-class or controlled circulation publication addressed to subscribers at the same post office must tie them in unwrapped bundles with a conspicuous label attached showing the post office and country of destination. The twine must be strong enough for the weight and size of the bundles.

(iii) Except for second-class to Canada, individually addressed publications for one post office may not be bundled and addressed to the delivering post office in order to calculate the postage on the bulk weight of the bundle. Second-class publications addressed to the same post office in Canada may be enclosed in a wrapped bundle addressed to the postmaster at the office of destination, with a notation on the cover "Open and Distribute," and the words "Second-class Postage Paid." If postage on the bundle is paid in cash or from money on deposit, the words "Second-class postage paid at_____" must also appear on the wrapper. See subparagraph (3)(iii) of this paragraph as to computation of postage. (NOTE: Effective November 1, 1968, the provisions of this section will be discontinued.)

(5) Return request. Ordinary (unregistered) prints, other than books, are not returned if undeliverable unless return has been requested by the sender. Therefore, senders desiring that undeliverable ordinary prints be returned must place a "Return Requested" notation on the article, preferably immediately below the return address and in a language known in the country of destination. Books and registered prints that are undeliverable must always be returned to origin.

(6) Dutiable prints. Prints known to be dutiable in the country to which they are addressed must have a green customs label, Form 2976, fixed to the address side of the article. (See paragraph (a) of this section.)

(c) Direct sacks of prints. Ordinary (unregistered) packages of printed matter being mailed in quantity to one addressee may be transmitted in direct sacks (except to Ethiopia) under the following conditions:

(1) The minimum amount that may be mailed in a direct sack (by either surface or air) is 30 pounds; the maximum is 66 pounds (sack and contents).

(2) Each package enclosed in a direct sack must bear the name and address of the sender and addressee, and must not be sealed. It is recommended that senders endorse the words "Postage Paid" on each package enclosed in the sack. The packages need not conform to the weight limits and dimensions prescribed in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(3) The local post office will furnish sacks as needed. If available, furnish airmail sacks to senders intending to mail the made-up sacks by air.

(4) An address tag or label showing the name and address of the mailer and of the addressee must be attached to the neck of the sack by means of heavy twine. This tag or label must be of substantial quality and must have reinforced eyelets to prevent it from being torn off. Postage is calculated only on the weight of the contents of the mail sack, and is paid by means of postage stamps or meter stamps affixed to the address tag or label.

(5) The post office will label the sack with the name of the country of destination in large letters and the name of the U.S. dispatching exchange office in small letters "for example GREAT BRITAIN—via New York" and send it to the exchange office for dispatch to destination.

(6) If a mailer has several sacks for the same addressee, the address tag on each sack must be marked with an identifying fractional number, for example, ⅓, ⅔, and ⅔ if the shipment consists of three sacks.

(g) Enclosures—(1) Permitted enclosures. A simple invoice and a slip showing the names and addresses of the sender and addressee of the packet may be enclosed.

(2) Prohibited enclosures. Small packets may not contain written or sound recorded communications having the character of personal correspondence; coins, bank notes, paper money, canceled or uncanceled postage stamps, or values payable to the bearer; manufactured or unmanufactured platinum, gold, or silver; precious stones, jewelry, or other precious articles. PART 223—TREATMENT OF OUTGOING POSTAL UNION MAIL

Sec.
223.1 Postmarking.
223.2 Shortpaid and unpaid.
223.3 Improperly prepared.
223.4 Forwarding.
223.5 Return.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 223 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 223.1 Postmarking.

The post office of mailing will postmark postal union mail.

§ 223.2 Shortpaid and unpaid.

(a) At mailing office or sectional center. Check carefully all locally mailed articles and mail received at sectional centers from associated offices for postage payment before it is dispatched. Return shortpaid and unpaid articles to the sender for deficient postage, using stock rubber stamp R–1300–230. The following exceptions apply:

(1) Special delivery. Dispatch to appropriate exchange office, unless deficiency can be obtained without delaying the article.

(2) Letter mail and post cards with return address at an office other than the mailing office. Dispatch to appropriate exchange office, unless the articles (i) can be returned to the office shown in the return address by the next business day; or (ii) are paid at domestic rates; or (iii) are totally unpaid.

(3) Articles without return address. Send letter mail and post cards to appropriate exchange office. Send "Other Articles" to proper dead letter branch.

(4) Mail for Canada. When quantity mailings of 10 or more pieces from the same sender are received return them for the deficiency or arrange that the postage charges be adjusted before the mail is dispatched. Otherwise, endorse articles to show that postage due charges are to be collected from the addressee, as follows, and dispatch to appropriate exchange office:

(i) Double the amount of the deficient postage on ordinary (unregistered) letter mail and post cards.

(ii) The actual amount of the deficiency on ordinary "Other Articles" and on all registered mail.

(b) Dispatch to exchange office or dead letter branch. When shortpaid or unpaid mail is dispatched to exchange offices or to dead letter branches pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, apply stock rubber stamp R–1300–4, "Postage Due _____ Cents," but do not indicate the amount of shortpayment, except as provided in subparagraph (a)(4) of this section for mail addressed to Canada. Dispatch to exchange offices by surface means when surface mail is involved and by air when airmail is involved.

(c) In transit to dispatching exchange offices. Except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, no check shall be made for postage deficiences, but any articles seen to be paid at domestic postage rates (except special delivery) or to be totally unpaid shall be returned. Endorse "Returned for additional postage" or "Returned for postage." Do not return if the senders are in Alaska, Hawaii, or an overseas territory or possession and the articles are seen after arrival in continental United States, or vice versa; allow them to go forward to the dispatching exchange office for appropriate treatment.

(d) Credit for postage already affixed. Credit is allowed for postage already affixed in figuring correct amount on articles returned to senders for deficient postage.

§ 223.3 Improperly prepared.

(a) Insufficient address. Post offices will not return articles to senders if they are not addressed as prescribed in § 221.1(c) of this chapter, provided the country of destination is legibly written, but will dispatch them to the exchange office for decision as to the sufficiency of the address. New postage must be paid on articles remailed with corrected addresses after being returned from other countries.

(b) Oversized post cards. Post offices will return oversized post cards (those exceeding 6 x 4¼ inches) to senders, if known, unless they qualify as prints or are paid at letter rates. If sender is not known, dispatch oversized cards to the exchange office for handling as letter mail.

(c) Undersized articles. Post offices will return to the senders, if known, any articles that are less than the prescribed minimum size (4¼ x 3 inches) and are not prepared as provided under § 222.1(c)(2) of this chapter. If the sender is not known, dispatch the articles to the dead letter office.

(d) Meter stamps. The Universal Postal Convention prescribes that meter stamps are to be bright red in color. (See § 221.2(b)(1) of this chapter.) Although the use of red color for meter stamps on international mail should be encouraged, articles bearing those of other colors are to be allowed to go forward.

§ 223.4 Forwarding.

(a) International. Articles will generally be forwarded to a new address of the addressee, even in a third country, or back to the United States. The sender may forbid forwarding by a notation on the envelope or wrapper in a language understood in the country to which addressed. See § 224.3 of this chapter concerning forwarding mail of foreign origin.

(b) Domestic—(1) Addressee moved to another country. Treat as undeliverable and dispose of as provided in Part 158, except that post or postal cards and ordinary letters that do not appear to contain merchandise and do not bear a notice forbidding forwarding may be redirected to the original addressee in another country. Letters and cards are forwarded by surface if surface mail is involved and by air if airmail is involved, without prepayment of additional postage. If the difference between the domestic and international postage is not added at the time of forwarding it will be collected when the letter or card is delivered.

(2) Bearing foreign return address. Any domestic letters (except those that appear to contain merchandise) or domestic post or postal cards bearing the sender's request for return are returned to the foreign return address. Return is by surface mail only, and without prepayment of additional postage. Indication of a foreign return address on registered or certified letter mail will be deemed to constitute a request on the part of the sender that the letter is to be forwarded to the foreign return address if it is not deliverable at the U.S. address. It further indicates that the sender thereby agrees, in case of loss of a registered letter after dispatch from the United States, to adjustment of indemnity in accordance with the provisions of § 272.2, irrespective of the amount of registry fee paid. Articles or packages containing merchandise are held by the post office of address and a report sent to the Department as provided in § 231.7(b) of this chapter. Treat other undeliverable domestic articles with foreign return addresses as dead mail. (See § 158.7(b)(1) of this chapter.)

(c) Ship passenger and crew mail. (1) As an alternative to the provisions of §§ 223.4(b) and 224.3(b), of this chapter, ordinary (unregistered) articles of correspondence (except those which appear to contain merchandise) addressed to crew members or passengers on board a ship may be forwarded in the international mail, by surface or air, in one envelope addressed to a ship or travel agency under the following conditions:

(i) The envelope in which the articles are to be forwarded shall be approximately 9 inches by 6 inches in size and shall be supplied by the sender. Do not put postage on this envelope but place the following endorsement in the upper right corner of the envelope:

This envelope contains prepaid letters forwarded in bulk by authority of Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Transportation and International Services. Any required additional international postage has been affixed to the articles enclosed.

(ii) The envelope must be presented unsealed at the mailing office for check of the contents. Any additional postage required must be paid on each of the articles enclosed, as follows:

(a) Articles of U.S. origin. Pay on each article the difference between the postage already paid and the appropriate international rate (surface or air) to the new country of destination.

(b) Articles originating in other countries. If envelope is to be forwarded by air, place full air postage from the United States to the new country of destination on each article enclosed. No additional postage is required if the envelope is to be forwarded by surface means.

(iii) If the envelope is intended to be transmitted by air, place label 19 bearing the words "Par Avion," in the upper left corner of the envelope immediately below the return address of the sender.

(iv) The total weight of the forwarding envelope and its contents is limited to 18 ounces.

(2) The accepting employee must check the envelope to see that any necessary additional postage has been paid on each article, cancel any additional postage placed on the articles, and seal the envelope. The accepting employee will apply the office date stamp and his initials immediately below the sender's endorsement prescribed in § 223.4(c)(1)(i).

§ 223.5 Return.

(a) Articles will generally be returned to the sender if delivery cannot be made.

Ordinary (unregistered) articles of printed matter, other than books, are not returned unless the sender has requested their return as prescribed in § 222.4(e)(5) of this chapter.

(b) The reason for nondelivery of returned articles may be indicated in French or Spanish, the most usual expressions being the following:

Ausente (Spanish)	Gone away.
Décédé (French)	Deceased.
Desconocido (Spanish)	Unknown.
Devuelva a remitante (Spanish).	Return to sender.
Fallecido (Spanish)	Deceased.
Inconnu (French)	Unknown.
Non réclamé (French)	Unclaimed.
No reclamado (Spanish)	Unclaimed.
Parti (French)	Gone away.
Refusé (French)	Refused.
Rehusado (Spanish)	Refused.
Retour à l'expéditeur (French).	Return to sender.

(c) Precanceled stamps on mail returned to the United States must be defaced before delivery to the sender.

PART 224—TREATMENT OF INCOMING POSTAL UNION MAIL

Sec.

224.1 Charges.
224.2 Foreign markings instead of stamps.
224.3 Forwarding.
224.4 Undeliverable articles.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 224 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 224.1 Charges.

(a) Customs clearance and delivery fees. (1) Post offices will collect a fee of 13 cents from the addressee of every postal union article, other than a "small packet," on which customs duty or internal revenue tax is collected. On every "small packet" on which duty or revenue tax is collected, the fee is 33 cents for each packet. The fees apply also when post office service is rendered for formal entry articles on which importers pay the customs charges directly to the Customs Service. The fees are retained by the Postal Service, and are accounted for by affixing postage due stamps to the articles or packets and canceling. See § 232.1(a) of this chapter concerning fees on incoming dutiable parcel post, and § 261.5(e) of this chapter concerning recording and reporting duty collections.

(2) These fees are authorized by international postal convention as reimbursement to the Postal Service for the work it performs in clearing mail articles through customs and for delivery to the addressees.

(3) The appropriate fee is collected on each article on which duty or tax is paid by the addressee, even if several articles are covered by a single mail entry form.

(4) These fees are not refundable by the Postal Service even though the Customs Service may later refund the duty paid by the addressee.

(5) Post offices will not collect the fees in the following cases:

(i) On dutiable matter from the Canal Zone or from overseas U.S. military post offices.

(ii) On packages assessed with duty which are delivered without collection of duty under § 261.5(d)(4) of this chapter. If postage due stamps were pasted on the package and canceled at the time the package was assigned for delivery, the delivery employee shall mark the stamps "Voided" and allow them to remain on the package. See § 261.5(d)(4) of this chapter concerning crediting employee with the value of the unreturned postage due stamps.

(b) Shortpaid mail. Post offices will collect from the addressees of shortpaid letters and post cards the amount indicated in U.S. currency by the receiving exchange office. The Canadian service applies the ratings on articles from that country. The amount is accounted for by affixing and canceling postage due stamps, and is retained by the postal service. If an article bears U.S. postage the delivering office shall allow credit for its value when postage due is collected. Inquiries may be directed to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

(c) Invalid foreign postage. Foreign mail bearing invalid postage is accompanied by international Form C 10 issued in the country of origin and is rated as unpaid. The addressee is asked to pay the postage due, to disclose the name and address of the sender, and to surrender the envelope. The post office will send the envelope after delivery, or the entire article if the addressee refuses it, with the Form C 10 to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, with the name and address of the sender if disclosed by the addressee.

(d) Storage. The post office will collect storage charges for each day until delivery is made on (1) any printed matter package or small packet exceeding 1 pound in weight, and (2) any dutiable letter package regardless of weight. The charges and other conditions prescribed in § 232.1(c) of this chapter for incoming parcel post packages apply to the postal union articles mentioned.

(e) AO mail containing letters. When a personal communication is found in an AO article, the office discovering it will mark the cover and rate the article for collection of postage due in the same manner as prescribed in § 232.1(d) of this chapter for letters found in parcels.

(f) Returned mail. Post offices will collect charges on returned mail as follows:

(1) Return postage equal to the amount of postage originally paid on returned "surface" merchandise packages weighing 8 ounces or less mailed to Canada at 10 cents for 5 ounces or less, 12 cents for 6 ounces, 14 cents for 7 ounces, and 16 cents for 8 ounces.

(2) On returned second-class publications mailed to Canada by publishers or registered news agents, 2 cents for the first 2 ounces and 1 cent for each additional ounce.

(3) From the sender of any article returned through a dead letter branch, 10 cents.

(4) From the sender of a undeliverable insufficiently prepared article, the deficient postage that should have been collected from the addressee.

(5) Any other charge indicated by the exchange office.

§ 224.2 Foreign markings instead of stamps.

Some articles of foreign origin do not bear postage stamps but are marked "Postage Paid, Taxe perçue, Port payé, TP or PP," with postmark. The marking "On Her Majesty's Service or O. H. M. S." is also sometimes used. This mail is treated as prepaid.

§ 224.3 Forwarding.

(a) Within the United States. (1) Articles received by surface may be forwarded by surface and articles received by air may be forwarded by air, without an additional postage charge or fee, unless the envelope or wrapper bears a notation forbidding its being forwarded.

(2) Second-class publications from Canada are treated in accordance with § 158.2(b) (1) through (3) of this chapter. A periodical publication from any other country whose delivery requires that it be forwarded to another local address or to another post office shall be forwarded and the addressee shall be requested to notify the publisher of his new address. If the publication is still being received 3 months after change of address occurs, the post office of original address shall dispose of it, and any subsequent copies received, as waste, except that publications bearing request of sender for return shall be endorsed "Moved, not forwardable" and returned to origin.

(b) To another country. (1) Articles can be forwarded on condition that the country of destination accepts mail of the classification involved. Articles received by either surface or air, which do not bear instructions forbidding their being forwarded, are forwarded "by surface" without an additional postage charge or fee. U.S. postage at the airmail rate to the country concerned must be paid on any article that is forwarded by air. Cross out the Par Avion label or endorsement on an airmail article that is forwarded by surface. See §§ 223.4(b), 223.4(c), and 231.7(b) of this chapter concerning forwarding of domestic mail.

(2) The provisions of § 224.3(a)(2) apply in the case of periodical publications addressed to persons who have filed change of address to another country.

(c) Backstamping. A legible postmark is applied to the back of letters and to the front of postcards when received missent and to all forwarder articles.

(d) Postage-due matter. If an article being forwarded to another post office in the United States or to another country bears postage-due stamps, the procedure prescribed in 335.35 and 335.36 of the Postal Manual is followed.

§ 224.4 Undeliverable articles.

(a) Retention period. Post offices will hold articles at disposal of addressees for 30 days, except in the following cases:

(1) Articles bearing senders' requests for return within a specified time not exceeding 2 months.

(2) Articles bearing no time limit for their return, when there is good reason to believe they can be delivered to the addressee if held for a period not exceeding 2 months. These articles shall be marked "Specially held for delivery." Hold articles subject to storage charges (see § 224.1(d)) beyond the initial 30-day retention period only if the addressee, or someone acting in his behalf, pays the storage charges due at the end of the first 30-day period. Thereafter, collect accumulated storage charges every 10 days.

(3) Articles positively known to be undeliverable. These shall be treated as undeliverable immediately unless they bear the sender's request specified in paragraph a.

(b) Directory service. See 355.171 of the Postal Manual concerning directory service to be accorded mail of foreign origin.

(c) Endorsing. Endorse undeliverable mail as prescribed in 355.11 of the Postal Manual. Apply a legible postmark to the back of letters and to the front of postcards that are returned to origin.

(d) Disposal. Undeliverable mail will be sent by surface means (including airmail articles, after crossing out Par Avion label or endorsement) to the exchange office for return to origin, except as follows:

(1) Ordinary (unregistered) prints, other than books, which do not bear the sender's request for return. These are disposed of in accordance with § 158.51(b) of this chapter. Books and registered prints must always be returned to origin.

(2) Postcards which do not bear the address of the sender. These are disposed of in accordance with § 156.5(a) of this chapter.

(3) Candian second-class publications. These will be treated as prescribed in § 158.2(b) (1) through (3) of this chapter.

(4) Canadian articles of all classifications not covered by a and b of this section and not bearing sender's name and address. These will be sent to the dead-letter office for disposal pursuant to 356.63 of the Postal Manual.

(e) Postage-due matter. Articles bearing postage-due stamps are treated as prescribed in 336.35 and 336.36 of the Postal Manual.

(f) Storage charges. Storage charges due on postal union articles are canceled if the articles are returned to origin or forwarded to another country. See § 232.5(b)(4) concerning parcel post.

PART 225—ARTICLES MAILED ABROAD BY OR ON BEHALF OF SENDERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Sec.

225.1 U.S. postage rates required.
225.2 Mailing with U.S. postage paid.
225.3 Mailing with U.S. postage not paid.
225.4 Report of incoming mailings.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 225 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 225.1 U.S. postage rates required.

Pursuant to provisions of the Universal Postal Convention, U.S. postage must be paid to secure delivery of articles in excess of 200 pieces mailed in other countries by or on behalf of persons or firms whose residence or place of business is in the United States when the foreign postage on the articles is lower than comparable U.S. domestic postage. The articles will be returned to origin unless applicable U.S. postage is paid for the total number of pieces. Even if the foreign postage is not lower, the same conditions apply when more than 5,000 pieces are mailed. These limitations apply to mailings made in such quantities within a 30-day period.

§ 225.2 Mailing with U.S. Postage paid.

Senders affected by 225.1 must submit a sample of the proposed mailing (envelope and contents) to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, with a statement as to the number of pieces to be mailed, when and where the mailing will take place, and a check to cover the amount of the applicable U.S. postage. Checks will be made payable to the Post Office Department. Notification of postage acceptance and approval of mailing will be given by the Department to the sender and to the appropriate U.S. receiving exchange offices which will permit the articles in the mailing to go forward to the addressees without delay when they reach the United States.

§ 225.3 Mailing with U.S. postage not paid.

A mailing subject to § 225.1 received without payment of U.S. domestic postage having been made in advance will be held at the exchange office of receipt, and the U.S. sender will be requested to pay the postage. After payment of the required amount, the mailing will be allowed to go forward; if not paid, it will be returned to the country of origin.

§ 225.4 Report of incoming mailings.

Only U.S. receiving exchange offices will report to the Department mailings from other countries that appear to have been made by or on behalf of senders in the United States.

PART 231—OUTGOING PARCELS

Sec.

231.1 Availability of service.
231.2 Prohibitions and restrictions.
231.3 Preparation, packing, and mailing.
231.4 Documentation.
231.5 Postmarking.
231.6 Shortpaid.
231.7 Forwarding.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 231 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 231.1 Availability of service.

Parcel post service is available to most countries, and the general conditions shown in this part apply. The individual country items in the Directory of International Mail show whether or not parcel post service is available to a particular country, as well as the special services and conditions applying to that country.

§ 231.2 Prohibitions and restrictions.

(a) General list of prohibited articles. The following are prohibited by parcel post to all countries:

(1) Articles excluded from the domestic mail of the United States. (See part 124 of this chapter.) Although safety matches are admitted in the domestic mail, they are prohibited in the international mail.

(2) Written communications of the nature of personal correspondence, or recorded correspondence. (See § 231.3(d).)

(3) Enclosures bearing an address different from that appearing on the parcel itself.

(4) Pistols, revolvers, and other firearms capable of being concealed on the person, with certain exceptions. (See §§ 128.5 and 253.1 of this chapter.)

(5) Live or dead creatures, except live bees, leeches, and silkworms and dead insects or reptiles when thoroughly dried.

(6) Fruits, vegetables, fresh meats, and other articles which easily decompose or which cannot reasonably be expected to reach destination without spoiling; substances which give off a bad odor.

(7) Gold coin, gold bullion, or gold dust exceeding $100 in value. (See § 254.4 of this chapter.)

(8) Articles that may in any way damage or destroy the mail or injure the persons handling them. This includes liquids that may cause injury by contact with the skin or give off irritating vapors; also explosives and flammable liquids having a flash point by the Tagliabue open tester of 80° F. or lower, and flammable solids which are likely, under conditions incident to transportation, to cause fires through friction, through absorption of moisture, or through spontaneous chemical changes.

(9) Articles containing gas or liquid under pressure, except that products incorporating compressed gas are acceptable if the mist produced is nonflammable, the quantity of contents not more than a pint, and not more than one container per package. These restrictions as to quantity do not apply to aerosol containers holding mailable liquid and gas under pressure less than 40 pounds per square inch absolute (25 pounds gauge pressure) at 70° F. Liquids with flash point below 150° F. are restricted as stated in § 231.2(b)(1).

(10) Oxidizing materials such as chlorates, permanganates, peroxides, or nitrates, which yield oxygen readily to stimulate the combustion of organic matter.

NOTE: For general Postal Union mail prohibitions, see 231.3.

(b) Restricted articles.—(1) Combustible liquids. Combustible liquids having a flash point of 150° F. or lower but above 80° F. (Tag, open tester) may be sent to foreign countries generally in quantities not exceeding 1 quart in any one parcel, except that paints, varnishes, turpentine, and similar substances may be sent in quantities of less than 1 gallon in any one parcel. The container must be completely surrounded with sawdust, bran, or other absorbent material sufficient to take up all the liquid content. Each parcel containing a combustible liquid must be marked by the sender to indicate that the flash point is above 80° F.

(2) Gold and gold certificates. (See § 254.1 of this chapter.)

(3) Jewelry. Some countries prohibit the importation of jewelry or other precious articles by parcel post, and others admit them only in registered or insured parcels. (See country items in the appendix to this subchapter.) The term "jewelry" in this part denotes articles of more than nominal value. Low priced jewelry, such as tie clasps, costume jewelry, and other items containing little or no precious metal, is not considered to be jewelry within the meaning of this section and is accepted under the same conditions as other mailable merchandise to any country. However, its acceptance to countries to which jewelry is prohibited is at the risk of the sender.

(4) Tobacco seed and plants. (See § 255.2 of this chapter.)

(5) Plant material generally. Plants, seeds, and plant material are subject to the quarantine regulations of the country of destination. Patrons can obtain information from the Plant Quarantine Branch, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or from one of their offices located at principal ports of entry.

(6) Radioactive materials. Radioactive materials are restricted. (See §§ 221.31(b)(6) and 125.2(e) of this chapter.)

(c) Individual country prohibitions and restrictions—(1) Information available. Information as to articles prohibited or restricted to individual countries is published under the country headings in the Directory of International Mail. These prohibitions and restrictions are based on information furnished by the countries concerned. Patrons may inquire at the post office for information about them, or purchase the Directory (POD Publication 42) as shown in § 114.2(b) of this chapter.

(2) Mailing of prohibited or restricted articles. Packages known to contain articles prohibited to a country are not accepted for mailing. If a package contains articles whose importation into a country is restricted, the sender's attention is to be called to the restrictions and the articles accepted with the understanding that the addressee will be responsible for complying with the import formalities of the country concerned.

(3) Mailing liable to return or seizure. In addition to the published prohibitions and restrictions mentioned in § 231.2(c)(1), any country may return or confiscate articles which are prohibited from circulation within that country, whether or not notice of such prohibition or restriction has been published.

(d) Foreign customs information. The assessment of customs duty in other countries is outside the control of the postal service. Postal employees must not attempt to inform patrons whether any articles, either gifts or commercial shipments, will be subject to customs duty. It may be suggested to patrons that they inform the addressees in advance of the items they intend to mail so the latter may inquire of their local customs authorities whether or not there will be a duty charge.

§ 231.3 Preparation, packing, and mailing.

(a) Dimensions and weight limits—(1) General dimensions. Greatest length, 3½ feet; greatest length and girth combined, 6 feet. "Length and girth combined" means the measurement of once the length, plus twice the width, plus twice the depth. See § 135.3(b) of this chapter for illustration of method of measuring parcels.

(2) Exceptional dimensions. To some countries, dimensions other than the general dimensions indicated are applicable. A parcel must not exceed the maximum dimensions allowed to the country to which it is addressed. See Directory of International Mail for individual country limits.

(3) Dimensions of special articles. The usual method of measuring parcels, as described in § 135.3(b) of this chapter is not adaptable in the case of tires of all kinds, coils of rope, hose, wire, etc., forming a parcel circular in shape. To determine whether a tire or other object circular in shape (regardless of whether there is an open space in the center) can be accommodated inside the mail sacks used for parcel post to overseas foreign countries, the object as prepared for mailing shall be measured around its entire girth, in the direction of the diameter, as shown in the illustration. This measurement must not exceed 64 inches in order for the tire or other parcel circular in shape to be acceptable for mailing to overseas foreign countries. Measurement shall be taken as shown in the following illustration:

Side view.

(4) Weight limits. For weight limits applicable to each country of destination, see individual country items in the appendix to this subchapter. Except to Canada, there is no minimum weight limit for international parcel post. Parcel post to Canada must weigh over 8 ounces.

(b) Packing—(1) In general. (i) The responsibility of properly enclosing, packaging, and sealing parcels in the international mail rests with the sender, and the Postal Service will not assume liability for loss, rifling, or damage arising from defects which may not be observed at the time of mailing.

(ii) Every parcel shall be securely and substantially packed, having regard to the nature of the contents and climatic conditions, the length of the journey, and the numerous handlings and risks of concussion to which parcels for foreign destinations are unavoidably subjected en route.

(iii) Packages must be packed in canvas or similar material, double-faced corrugated cardboard boxes, solid fiber boxes or cases, thick cardboard boxes, or strong wooden boxes made of lumber at least a half-inch thick or plywood of at least three plies. Ordinary pasteboard containers are wholly inadequate. Although it is permissible to use heavy wrapping paper or waterproof paper as the outside covering of a carton, such paper shall not be used as the only covering of the contents. Boxes with lids screwed or nailed on and bags closed by sewing may be used provided they conform to other conditions prescribed. Heavy objects such as cans of food must be surrounded with other contents or packing material so that they cannot shift within the parcel.

(iv) For illustrations regarding recommended packaging and closures, see part 121, of this chapter.

(2) Specific articles. (i) "Fragile articles" for overseas destinations shall be packaged in a strong (preferably wooden) box. Strong solid fiberboard or double-faced corrugated fiberboard boxes of not less than 200-pound test if enclosed in strong wooden crates, or 275-pound test if used without crates, are acceptable. A space of at least 2 inches must be left between the articles and the top, bottom, and sides of the box, to be filled with sufficient cushioning material to protect the articles.

(ii) "All mailable liquids and substances which easily liquefy" must be packed in two receptacles. Between the first (bottle, flask, etc.) and the second (box of metal, strong wood, strong corrugated cardboard, strong fiberboard, or receptacle of equal strength) there shall be left a space to be filled with sawdust, bran, or other absorbent material in sufficient quantity to absorb all the liquid contents in the case of breakage. Excelsior does not possess the necessary absorbent quality to meet this requirement. In the case of Ireland, Leeward Islands, Malaysia, and Windward Islands, the outer receptacle shall be of strong wood or metal. Metal containers closed with a screw-top cover must have sufficient screw threads to require at least one and one-half complete turns before the cover will come off and be provided with a washer so as to prevent possible leakage of the contents. Compression or friction top metal containers must be soldered in four different places, equally spaced.

(iii) "Dry noncoloring powders" must be enclosed in boxes of metal, wood, or strong corrugated cardboard, placed in turn in a closely woven cloth bag or heavy kraft paper sack. "Powder dyes" must be enclosed in strong metal boxes, securely closed, and placed in turn in another box of wood or strong corrugated cardboard, with sawdust or other absorbent or protective material between the inner and outer containers.

(iv) "Eggs" addressed for delivery in all countries other than Canada must be placed in a metal egg container, and each egg in the square pockets must be surrounded with paper, excelsior, cotton, straw, or other similar material, while the metal egg container in turn must be enclosed in an outer container of wood with sufficient excelsior, straw, or similar material provided in the space between the inner and outer containers.

(v) "Eggs destined for delivery in Canada" may be packed either in the manner prescribed in (iv) or in wooden, papier-mache, or other box of a rigid material with a well-fitting tightly adjusted lid. Each egg must be wrapped in newspaper or other protecting material and placed on end, the vacant space in the box to be filled with newspaper or other packing material so as to prevent the eggs from striking together or against the sides, top, or bottom of the box.

(c) Sealing. Sealing is compulsory for all insured or registered parcel post, and for ordinary (uninsured and unregistered) parcel post for certain countries. (See individual country items in the appendix of this subchapter). Patrons must seal their own parcels, using wax, gummed paper tape, nails, screws, sewing, wire or metal bands, or other adequate means which will permit detection of any attempted depredation.

(d) Enclosure or attachment of communications—(1) Prohibited. Except as provided in § 231.3(d)(2), a communication of personal nature must not be written on, attached to, or enclosed in a parcel. If such a communication is found it will be placed in the mail if separable; if inseparable the entire parcel must be rejected.

(2) Exceptions. The following exceptions apply:

(i) In the case of a parcel for Canada, a letter, and for Switzerland, a letter or card, fully prepaid and bearing the same address as that of the parcel, may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in a manner that will prevent its becoming separated or interfering with the address of the parcel. Stamps to cover postage on the parcel must be placed on the wrapper. Stamps to pay postage on the letter or card must be placed on the envelope or the card. Parcels with such attachments are treated as parcel post.

(ii) A parcel may contain an open invoice confined to the particulars which constitute an invoice.

(iii) A file or collection of out-of-date correspondence, which has served its original purpose, is acceptable as parcel post.

(e) Addressing and mailing—(1) Addressing. The name and address of the sender and of the addressee must be legibly and correctly written in every case when possible on the parcel itself or on a label gummed thereto, and must also be written on a separate slip enclosed in the parcel. Parcels will not be accepted when addressed to a "care" in one country and the addressee (or person for whom intended) in another country or when addressed to or sent by initials, unless the initials are the adopted trade name of the senders or addressees. Addresses in ordinary pencil are not allowed, but copying ink or indelible pencil on a surface previously dampened may be used. Sufficient space must be left for the addition of necessary service notations and for stamps or labels.

(2) Mailing. Parcels may not be mailed in letterboxes. Patrons must present them at parcel post windows of post offices, where the necessary postal forms (see § 231.4) will be furnished without charge.

(f) Rates, computation, and postage payment—(1) Surface parcels. Surface parcel post rates are based on an initial weight unit of 2 pounds and succeeding units of 1 pound. The rates to Canada, Mexico, Central America, Caribbean islands, Bahamas, Bermuda, and St. Pierre and Miquelon are $1 for the first 2 pounds and 30 cents for each additional pound or fraction. To all other countries the rates are $1.10 for the first 2 pounds and 35 cents for each additional pound or fraction. In computing the postage, a fraction of a pound is charged as a full pound. Applicable rates are shown under the Parcel Post headings of the various country items in the Directory of International Mail. For convenience in computing postage, ready-reference rate tables are printed in the front of the Directory as Chart 4.

NOTE: To Canada packages are required to weigh over 8 ounces in order to be mailable as "parcel post." See Canada country item in the appendix to this subchapter.

(2) Air parcels. Air parcel post rates are based on weight units of 4 ounces, a fraction of 4 ounces being charged as a full 4 ounces. The rates vary according to the country of address, and are shown in the appendix to this subchapter under the Parcel Post heading of each country to which the service is available.

(3) Postage not charged on postal forms. The weight of the customs declaration and other postal forms will not be included with that of the parcel in computing the amount of surface or air postage required.

(4) Placement of stamps. Place stamps in payment of postage and fees in the upper right corner of the address side of the parcel. If the wrapping is of cloth or other material to which stamps will not adhere, place them on the customs declaration tag in the space below the name and address of the addressee.

§ 231.4 Documentation.

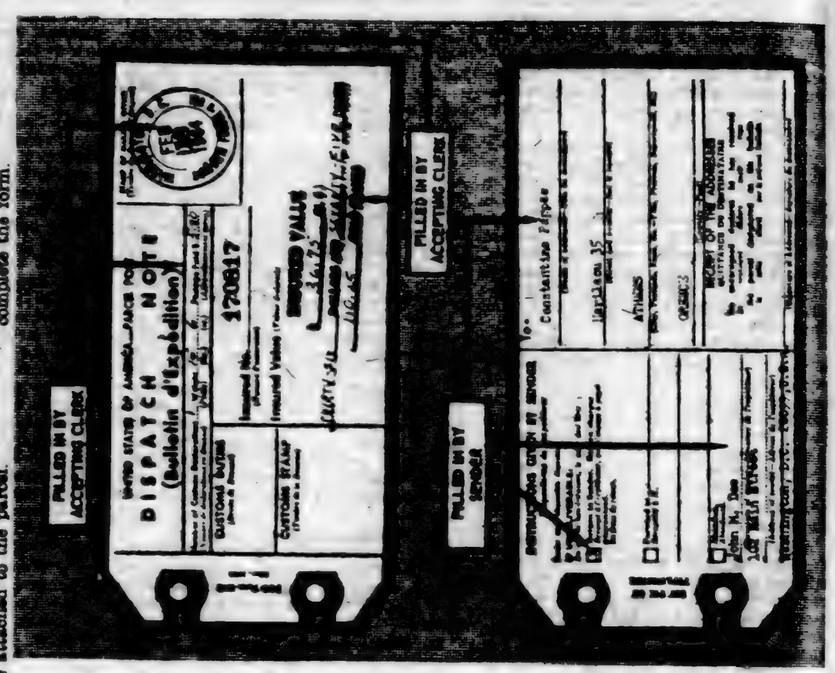
(a) Customs Declaration, Form 2966—(1) Preparation by accepting clerk. The accepting clerk will give the sender the number of forms required for the country concerned, and will see that he fills them out in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph and any special instructions under the country item in the Directory of International Mail. Request senders to fill out declarations in ink or by typewriter. If packages are presented with declarations completed in ordinary pencil do not reject them for that reason. Enter weight of the parcel and insurance number if insured. Postmark form in the space provided and return it to the sender to be attached to the parcel as described in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Preparation by sender. Complete declarations in ink or by typewriter. The Postal Service assumes no responsibility for accuracy of the indications shown by the sender. Show on each declaration the following:

(i) Name and address of sender and addressee.

(ii) Disposal to be made of parcel if it proves to be undeliverable as addressed. If an alternate addressee is given, it is recommended that the sender also indicate whether he wishes to have the parcel returned or treated as abandoned if it proves to be undeliverable to both the original and alternate addressees. This is done by checking the ultimate disposal in addition to the one showing the alternate addressee. (See illustration in § 231.4(c)(4).) Senders should give instructions for abandonment of any parcels on which they are not willing to pay the return charges mentioned in § 232.5(a).



(iii) A complete and accurate description of the contents in the English language. An interlineation in another language is permitted, and in some cases is required (see the appendix to this subchapter). For parcels containing more than one article, or articles of different kinds, state the exact quantity and value of each kind or article. A sender is permitted to declare that the contents of a parcel have "no value." Also, it is not sufficient to use simply such words as coat, or stockings, instead the materials of which the articles are composed must be shown, as "fur coat, silk stockings." General terms such as "worn clothing, groceries, presents, merchandise, samples," and the like, will not suffice, although in the case of quantity shipments of items such as mechanical or electrical parts, and the like, general descriptions will be accepted. If the customs declaration does not furnish enough space on which to give a complete list of the contents, an additional declaration form may be used, or the list may be placed on the wrapper, making reference to the fact on the declaration itself.

(iv) If the parcel is to be insured, show in the space provided the amount in the appropriate space the weight of the parcel, amount of postage paid, number of customs declarations, and, if insured, the insurance number and amount of insurance (see § 243.5(b)(1) of this chapter. For parcels mailed by Government agencies pursuant to § 221.2(d)(2)(i) of this chapter enter the words "Official Paid" or the abbreviation "Off. Pd." in lieu of the amount of postage. Postmark the form in the space provided and return it to the sender to be attached to the parcel.

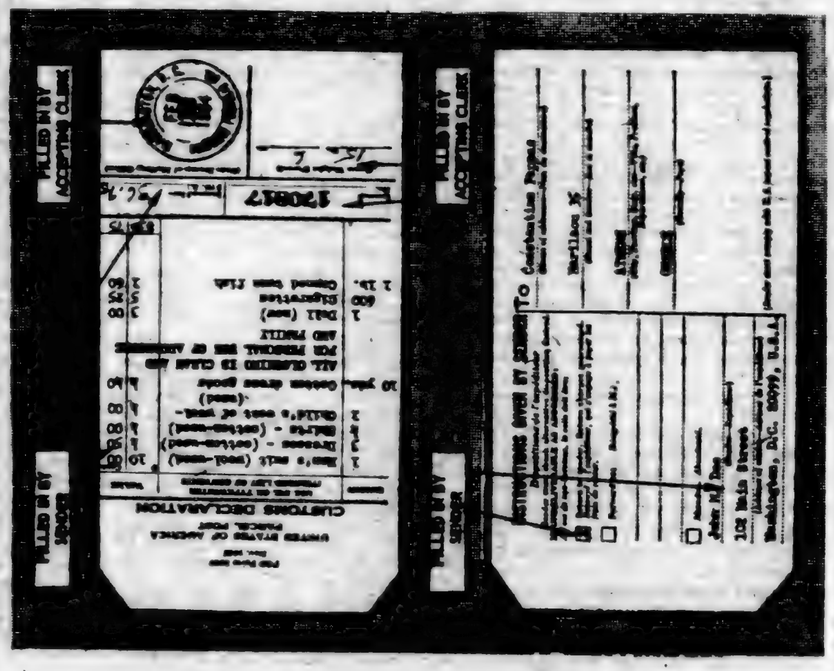
(3) Preparation and affixing by sender. Complete the dispatch note in ink or on the typewriter. Fill in the name and address of the sender and addressee, and indicate alternate disposition to be made of the parcel. Attach the form to the parcel in the same manner as the customs declaration. (See § 231.4(a)(3).)

(4) Facsimile. The facsimile of Form 2972 of this section illustrates the information which the sender must supply and which the accepting clerk will add to complete the form.



for which it is instred. (See §§ 243.4 and 243.5(a)(2) of this chapter.)

(3) Affixing by sender. In addition to being tied by means of a strong cord passed through the eyelets, the tag must be bound to the parcel so that it lies flat and cannot be used as a handle to lift the parcel.

(4) Facsimile of Form 2966. The facsimile of Form 2966 of this section illustrates the information the sender and the accepting clerk will add to complete the form.

(b) Dispatch note, Form 2972—(1) Preparation by accepting clerk. The accepting clerk will give the sender a dispatch note if required for the country concerned and see that he fills it out in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. Request senders to fill out the dispatch note in ink or by typewriter. If packages are presented with the forms completed in ordinary pencil do not reject them for that reason. Enter

(c) Parcel post sticker, Form 2922—(1) Preparation by accepting clerk. Give the sender a yellow "International parcel-post" sticker and see that he fills it out in accordance with § 231.6(c)(2). Enter in the spaces provided the weight of the parcel and the postage paid (not including insurance or other fees), and initial the form. For parcels mailed by Government agencies pursuant to § 221.2(d)(2)(i), enter the words "Official Paid" or the abbreviation "Off. Pd." in lieu of the amount of postage. See that the form is securely attached. (See § 231.4(c)(3).)

(2) Preparation by sender. Prepare a parcel post sticker for each parcel. Indicate alternative disposition and place name at bottom of the form. Do not use Form 2922 on parcels for U.S. possessions.

(3) Manner of affixing. Form 2922 should be pasted to the wrapper of the parcel, preferably on the address side, but if the shape or size of the parcel makes this impracticable, the sticker may be affixed to a tag which shall in turn be securely attached to the parcel.

(4) Facsimile. The following facsimile illustrates the information which the sender and the accepting clerk will add to complete the form:

(d) Furnishing to public. Patrons requesting them may be furnished a reasonable supply of Forms 2922, 2966, and 2972 for preparation at their homes or business establishments.

(e) Airmail label 19. See § 241.4(b) of this chapter.

(f) Forms found loose in the mail. Customs declarations and dispatch notes found loose in the mail and apparently lost from parcels in transit must be sent by airmail to the appropriate exchange office to be again attached if possible to the parcels before dispatch.

(g) Nonpostal documentation. Parcel post packages may require one or more of the forms described in Part 251 of this chapter.

§ 231.5 Postmarking.

Post offices will postmark international parcel post:

§ 231.6 Shortpaid.

(a) At mailing office. Outgoing parcels shall be checked carefully for postage payment before they are dispatched. Shortpaid parcels which bear a return address at the office of mailing shall be either returned to the sender for the deficient postage or held and the sender requested to supply the missing postage. The original postage is still valid when the parcel is remailed. If the return address is not at the mailing office the parcel shall be dispatched to the exchange office, unless the parcel is totally unpaid.

(b) In transit. Sectional centers and other intermediate offices rehandling parcels in transit shall not attempt to check the postage paid, but shall return to the senders any parcels observed to be totally unpaid.

§ 231.7 Forwarding.

(a) International. Parcels addressed to other countries will generally be forwarded to a new address of the addressee in the country of destination, subject to collection of redirection charges prescribed by the internal regulations of the country. A parcel may be forwarded to a third country provided it complies with the conditions required for its further conveyance, and provided, as a rule, that the extra postage is paid at the time of redirection or the country concerned is satisfied that it will be able to recover the redirection charges. The sender may forbid forwarding by a notation on the wrapper in a language understood in the country to which the parcel is addressed.

(b) Domestic. If the addressee of a domestic parcel has moved to another country do not forward the parcel. Treat it as undeliverable. If the sender of an undeliverable domestic parcel has moved to another country, or if the parcel bears a return address in another country, hold the parcel and request instructions from the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, indicating the sender's new address, the weight of the parcel, whether ordinary or insured, and, if known, the nature of the contents.

PART 232—INCOMING PARCELS

Sec.
232.1 Charges.
232.2 Stamps not affixed.
232.3 Delivery.
232.4 Forwarding.
232.5 Undeliverable.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 232 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 232.1 Charges.

(a) Customs clearance and delivery fee. Post offices will collect a fee of 33 cents from the addressee of every parcel post package on which customs duty or internal revenue tax is collected. The fee applies also when post office service is rendered for formal entry parcels on which importers pay the customs charges directly to the Customs Service. The fee is retained by the Postal Service, and is accounted for by affixing postage-due stamps to the parcel or to a postage-due bill and canceling. The fee is authorized by international parcel post agreements as reimbursement to the Postal Service for the work it performs in clearing parcels through customs and for delivery to the addressee. The provisions of § 224.1 (a)(3), (4), and (5) of this chapter also apply. See § 261.5(e) of this chapter concerning recording and reporting duty collections.

(b) On returned parcels. Collect the charges referred to in § 232.5(a).

(c) Storage—(1) When to charge. Storage charges begin on the 6th working day after first delivery attempt has been made or first notice of available delivery has been issued to the addressee. The days on which the office is closed for business are not counted in determining the 5-day free storage period. However, after expiration of the free storage period, charges will be collected for each day thereafter that a package is on hand. This includes Saturdays, Sundays, national holidays, and the day on which delivery is effected. Storage charges are applied on packages requiring formal customs entry that are held in post office custody or on post office premises awaiting customs clearance. For formal entry packages, the charges begin on the 6th working day after the date on which notice to file formal entry is mailed to the consignee (addressee), or on the 6th working day after receipt of the parcel at the office where it is to receive formal customs treatment if the customs notice has been issued at another customs port. Cooperation of custom officers should be solicited to enable post offices to collect any storage charges that may accrue on formal entry packages.

(2) Marking packages. When a package is returned to the post office after the first delivery attempt, or when a notice that the package is available for delivery is sent to the addressee, mark on the wrapper Storage charges begin—and insert the date when the charges will begin to accrue. Rubber stamp item R–1360–206 is available for this purpose to post offices of the first and second classes. See § 232.8(b)(4) regarding marking of undeliverable parcels on which storage charges are due.

(3) Daily charges. After expiration of the 5-day free storage period prescribed in 232.131 the following charges apply:

(i) On parcels under $10,000 value. 15 cents per day for the first 10 days, and 30 cents per day thereafter.

(ii) On parcels of $10,000 or more value.

(4) Accounting for charges. The charges are accounted for by affixing postage-due stamps to the parcel or to a postage-due bill and canceling. If there are several parcels for one addressee the charges are applied separately on each parcel.

(5) Charges waived. When an addressee protests the rate or amount of duty assessed (see § 261.546), the time required for the addressee to submit his written objection is counted, but the time required for the Customs Service to come to a decision in the matter is not counted.

(6) Parcels held beyond usual retention period. See § 232.5(b)(1)(v) concerning collection of storage charges on parcels held beyond the usual retention period.

(d) Parcels containing letters. When a parcel from another country is found to contain a personal communication, the office where it is discovered shall mark the wrapper Letter enclosed—Collect ... cents and send the parcel forward to destination. The amount to be collected will be double the amount of postage (surface or air) applicable to a single-rate letter to the country concerned. The office endorsing the parcel shall indicate the amount to be collected and the delivering office shall collect the amount from the addressee by means of postage-due stamps. No systematic search for such letters shall be made.

§ 232.2 Stamps not affixed.

Some foreign post offices do not put postage stamps on parcels. All such parcels received must be regarded as prepaid.

§ 232.3 Delivery.

(a) Parcels addressed through bank or other organization. If a parcel is addressed to a bank or other organization for delivery to a second addressee, the post office will notify both addressees of the arrival of the parcel and will then deliver it to the first addressee, or hold it if the first addressee so desires. If the parcel is held, the post office will deliver it to the second addressee only with written permission from the first addressee, unless the sender has arranged for change of address as provided in § 247.8(b) of this chapter. After delivery, the post office will keep the written authorization 1 year, for reference in case of inquiry. File the authorizations for insured and registered parcels with the addressees' receipts, and for ordinary (uninsured and unregistered) parcels in any appropriate place. If delivery to the second addressee involves forwarding the parcel to another post office, the parcel will be subject to forwarding postage as provided in § 232.4(a).

(b) Foreign dispatch notes. If parcels are received at delivery offices with dispatch notes (bulletin d'expédition) attached, they are delivered with the parcels. These forms have a space provided for the addressee's acknowledgment of receipt, but do not require signature. They must not be confused with foreign return receipts which are designated "Avis de réception" and are completed as prescribed in § 242.5(e)(1) of this chapter. If a parcel is returned as undeliverable, the post office will mark the dispatch note as well as the wrapper to show the reason for nondelivery and leave the dispatch note attached to the parcel. Dispatch notes that cannot be associated with the relative parcels may be disposed of as waste after 60 days.

§ 232.4 Forwarding.

(a) Within United States. A parcel may be forwarded to the original addressee or to an alternate addressee at another post office in the United States by surface transportation, subject to collection on delivery of postage at the U.S. domestic zone rate. Forwarding by air must be prepaid. The post office forwarding an unprepaid parcel by surface in the United States will mark the wrapper "Postage due" giving the amount of domestic postage along with storage charges if any. When delivering an unprepaid forwarded parcel, the post office will collect the necessary amount for domestic transmission in postage-due stamps even if the "postage-due" marking is omitted. The fee prescribed in § 232.1(a) is also collectible on any forwarded dutiable parcel.

(b) To country of origin. If the addressee has moved to the country of parcel's origin and no instructions are given to deliver to a second addressee in the United States, the post office will mark it "Moved," show the forwarding address of the addressee, and send by surface means (including parcels received by air) to the appropriate exchange office for return to the country of origin.

(c) To third country. If the addressee has moved to another country (other than the country of parcel's origin), or if the parcel bears instructions to deliver it to an alternate addressee in a third country, the post office will hold the parcel and request instructions from the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260. The request should include the names and addresses of the sender and the addressee, or the alternate addressee, the weight of the parcel, whether ordinary, registered, or insured, and nature and value of the contents as shown on the customs declaration, so that the International Service Division may communicate with the foreign postal administration to secure forwarding postage. If the sender has indicated that the parcel is to be treated as abandoned if undeliverable as addressed, dispose of it as prescribed in § 232.8(b)(3). See § 231.7(b) of this chapter concerning domestic third- and fourth-class parcels addressed to persons who have moved to another country.

(d) Dutiable parcels. Dispose of customs entry forms accompanying dutiable parcels as prescribed in § 261.5(f) of this chapter.

(e) Postage due parcels. If a parcel to be forwarded bears postage-due stamps, follow the procedure prescribed in 335.35 and 335.36 of the Postal Manual.

§ 232.5 Undeliverable.

(a) United States origin. Returned parcels are subject on delivery to the sender to collection of return postage and any other charges assessed by the foreign postal authorities. The amount of such charges will be indicated by the exchange office. If the sender refuses the parcel, it shall be disposed of as dead parcel post. If the sender has moved to another address in the United States the parcel may be redirected, subject to forwarding postage at the U.S. domestic zone rate. If the sender has moved to another country, the post office will hold the parcel and request instructions from the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, indicating the new address of the sender, the amount of return charges due on the parcel, weight, whether ordinary, registered, or insured, and the nature of the contents as shown on the customs declaration tag.

(b) Foreign origin—(1) Retention period. Parcels will be held at the disposal of the addressee for 30 days, except as follows:

(i) A parcel refused or known to be neither deliverable nor forwardable shall be treated as undeliverable at once.

(ii) A parcel bearing the sender's request for delivery to an alternate addressee shall be held 15 days at the disposal of the first addressee and 15 days at the disposal of the second. If the alternate addressee is at another post office, the parcel is forwarded subject to § 232.4(a), and the 15-day period begins from the date of receipt at the second office or address. Under the circumstances given in paragraph e, the parcel may be held for 30 days at the disposal of each addressee.

(iii) A parcel returned from customs custody with advice that the addressee has not complied with required customs entry procedures shall be treated as undeliverable at once.

(iv) A parcel held pursuant to § 261.5(d)(5) shall continue to be held until the customs officer has rendered a decision on the addressee's objection concerning the rate or amount of duty assessed. If no decision is received within 30 days, the customs officer shall be requested to expedite the decision.

(v) On written request of the addressee or other person acting for the addressee, a parcel which remains undelivered may be held up to 60 days on condition that the storage charges due at the end of the first 30-day retention period are paid at the time of the request and that the storage charges which accumulate thereafter are paid every 10 days.

(vi) A parcel from Great Britain which bears request to "Return forthwith to sender at sender's expense" shall be returned within 10 days, or immediately if definitely known to be undeliverable.

(2) Directory service. See 355.171 of the Postal Manual concerning directory service to be accorded parcels of foreign origin.

(3) Marking and disposal. At the end of the retention period prescribed in 232.521, mark parcel and the accompanying dispatch note, if any, to show reason for nondelivery, and cross out address of the addressee but do not obliterate it entirely. Unless sender has given instructions on the wrapper or dispatch note for abandonment, return the parcel to the sender. Parcels to be returned to senders are dispatched to the appropriate exchange office by surface means, including those originally received by air. The post office of address will cross out the Par Avion label or other airmail marking. A parcel bearing the sender's instruction to abandon shall be marked "Abandoned" and sent to the appropriate dead parcel post branch for disposal, unless it has been assessed with customs duty. In the latter case, the parcel shall be sent to the collector of customs at the nearest customs port (see § 261.3(e)) of this chapter; the customs entry forms shall be returned to the collector who issued them, in the manner prescribed in § 261.5(f)(1).

(4) Storage charges. If a parcel to be returned to origin or forwarded to another country has storage charges due, the wrapper shall be marked with the amount so that appropriate action may be taken at the exchange office.

§ 241.1 Availability.

Postal union mail of any class may be sent by air, including direct sacks of prints described in § 222.4(f) of this chapter. Parcel post may be sent by air to the countries for which air parcel post rates are shown in the appendix to this subchapter. Generally the weight limits, dimensions, and other conditions (but not postage rates) prescribed for surface mail apply to articles and parcels sent by air.

§ 241.2 Rates.

(a) Postal union mail. See Part 222 of this chapter and individual country items in the appendix to this subchapter.

(b) Parcel post. See individual country items in the appendix of this subchapter.

§ 241.3 Prepayment.

(a) How paid. See §136.4 of this chapter. See § 221.2(c) concerning articles intended for air transmission received from foreign flag vessels and prepaid with foreign postage stamps.

(b) Full payment necessary. Postage on airmail must be fully paid to assure dispatch without delay. See §§ 223.2 and 231.6 of this chapter for information on treatment of shortpaid and unpaid matter.

(c) Double or reply-paid postcards. See § 222.2(a)(2) of this chapter for postage required to transmit a U.S. reply-paid postcard by airmail. If a patron wishes to airmail a foreign reply-paid card to the country represented by the postage on the card he must pay with U.S. stamps the difference between the U.S. surface and airmail postcard rate to the country concerned. If the first or message part of the card is left attached to the reply half, the additional postage required will be the difference between the surface postcard rate and the airmail letter rate to the country concerned.

§ 241.4 Marking.

(a) Postal union mail. Senders should mark airmail articles in the left corner, immediately below the return address, with the words "Par Avion" in blue color. Post offices may furnish senders with Label 19 for the purpose. Articles which the senders have failed to mark "Par Avion" shall not be returned for marking or be marked by postal employees.

(b) Parcel post. Accepting clerks will place an airmail Label 19 on the address side of each parcel to be sent by air. Paste the label below and to the right of the name of the country destination. If a dispatch note, Form 2972, is required, the airmail label shall be placed on that form also.

§ 241.5 Aerogrammes.

(a) Availability and use. Aerogrammes (air letter sheets), which can be folded into the form of an envelope and sealed, may be sent by air to all countries. These sheets bearing imprinted postage, are sold at all post offices at 13 cents each. All parts of the sheets may be used for the sender's message, except the address side. No enclosures are permitted. The use of tape or stickers to seal aerogrammes is prohibited. Aerogrammes may be sent under registration on payment of the required registry fee in addition to the postage.

(b) Private manufacture. Aerogrammes without imprinted postage may be manufactured, subject to prior approval by the Department, by private individuals or firms, for their own use or for sale to the public. These sheets must average not less than 150 to the pound (approximately 9 per ounce) and be similar in size, color, and border markings to the regular form issued by the Post Office Department. They must bear the same printed endorsements on the address and reverse sides as the regular form. In addition, the words "Authorized for mailing as aerogramme—P.O. Permit No.—" (the number to be filled in when issued) must appear in smaller type so they will be visible on the address side and near the lower edge when the sheet is folded for mailing. The quality and strength of the paper must be sufficient to guard against the likelihood of damage in the course of postmarking and handling, and to assure that the writing on the inner side will not interfere with the legibility of the address. Manufacturers must submit 10 samples of proposed aerogrammes to the Director, International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260, for approval before engaging in their production. Approved private aerogrammes may be paid at the aerogramme rate, except that to Canada and Mexico they may be paid at the regular airmail letter rate.

(c) Containing enclosures. Aerogrammes that contain enclosures are treated as regular airmail letters. When required additional postage has not been placed on the articles they are returned to the sender for the deficiency or otherwise handled in accordance with § 223.3 of this chapter.

(b) Requested after mailing. (1) Within a period of 1 year from the day following that on which a registered article or parcel was mailed, the sender, on showing the registry receipt, may request a return receipt. The fee is 25 cents. To have the request for return receipt transmitted by air the sender must pay, in addition to the 25-cent fee, the postage for a one-rate airmail letter to the country of destination. Sec.
243.3 Fees.
243.4 Limits of insurance.
243.5 Marking.
243.6 Mailing receipts.
243.7 Return receipts.
243.8 Incoming parcels.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 243 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 243.1 Availability.

Insurance service is available only for parcel post packages mailed to countries with which insurance agreements are in force. To determine if insurance service is available to a particular country, consult the country item, heading "Parcel Post," in the appendix to this Subchapter C.

§ 243.2 Preparation.

The general provisions for the preparation of ordinary parcels for other countries apply also to insured parcels. (See Part 231 of this chapter.) Sealing of insured parcels is compulsory.

§ 243.3 Fees.

For scales of fees, see country items in the appendix to this Subchapter C.

§ 243.4 Limits of insurance.

The maximum amounts for which parcels may be insured are shown under the country items in the Directory of International Mail. Parcels may not be insured for more than the declared value of the contents or for more than the maximum amount of indemnity payable in connection with insured parcels for the country concerned. However, if desired, parcels may be insured for a portion of the value of the contents, in which case only the fee covering the amount of insurance desired will be charged.

§ 243.5 Marking.

(a) By sender—(1) Contents. Parcels containing fragile or perishable articles must be marked "Fragile, Perishable, Glass, or Eggs," as appropriate.

(2) Insured Value. Indicate in United States currency (figures only) in the appropriate space on the customs declaration (Form 2966) the amount for which the parcel is insured. See § 243.4.

(b) By post office of mailing—(1) Endorsements and Insurance Number. (i) On each parcel place the word "INSURED" on the address side, preferably to the left and directly beside the country of destination.

(ii) Serially number each insured parcel immediately below the "INSURED" endorsement. All international insured parcels must be numbered.

(iii) To most countries, the insured value of the parcel must be shown on the wrapper and on the dispatch note (Form 2972). See subcaption "Insurance" under individual country items in the appendix to this subchapter. Mail as to the type of marking to be shown. Rubber stamp, item R–1306–284, may be used for this purpose. In some instances the insured value must be shown also in gold francs. Conversion of U.S. currency into gold francs is made on the basis of 33 cents (approximately) equals 1 gold franc. To determine the gold franc equivalent, multiply the amount in U.S. currency by 3. For example, $5.25 is equal to 15.75 gold francs.

(iv) Place the insurance number in the appropriate space on the customs declaration (Form 2966) and on the dispatch note (Form 2972) when the latter form is required.

(2) Postmarking. Postmark at the time of acceptance. Postmark at all breaks (cuts or torn edges) of any gummed paper strips used in sealing parcels.

§ 243.6 Mailing receipts.

(a) Issuance. The postal clerk will issue a receipt for a parcel accepted for insurance. Each receipt will bear the insurance number. The sender should enter the name and address of the addressee on the receipt and must submit it if a claim or an inquiry concerning the parcel is subsequently made.

(b) Post office procedure. (1) Use the same forms as those prescribed for domestic insured mail, except that Form 3813 shall not be used, because all international insured parcels and receipts therefor must be numbered.

(2) Fill out the original receipt only with ink or indelible pencil and issue to the sender.

(3) Indicate applicable fee, according to amount of insurance requested, for parcels presented for insurance by Government agencies pursuant to § 221.2(d)(2)(i) of this chapter.

(iii) "Assicurato or Valore Dichiarato."

(iv) "Valeur Déclarée."

(v) "V or V D" (meaning valeur déclarée).

(vi) "Wertangabe or Wertpaket."

247.6 Processing.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 247 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 247.1 Conditions and limitations.

The mailer may cause any mail article or parcel addressed for delivery in another country to be withdrawn from the Postal Service, or have its address changed if it can be intercepted in the United States. If the article has been dispatched from the United States, but not delivered to the addressee, withdrawal or change of address may be effected if:

(a) The country of destination of the article is willing to allow the withdrawal or change of address (see § 247.5);

(b) The article has not been confiscated or destroyed by the authorities of the country of destination as being prohibited importation; or

(c) The article has not been seized under provisions of the domestic legislation of the country of destination.

§ 247.2 How to apply.

If the article was mailed in a post office, station, or branch, make application there. If it was mailed in a street letterbox, apply at the main post office. The mailer must identify himself and submit a written request giving a complete description of the article and the date of mailing. Form 2926, "Sender's Request for Recall or Change of Address of International Mail," may be used at first- and second-class post offices. A single request may be used for two or more articles which have been mailed together by the same sender to the same addressee, in which case only one fee is charged. For post office processing of sender's request see § 247.6.

§ 247.3 Services and fees.

(a) Search at office of mailing. If the article has not been dispatched from the immediate point of mailing, it may be returned or its address may be changed without charge. Otherwise a search can be made at the main post office or other concentration point: Provided, The mailer pays a fee of 20 cents in stamps, whether the search is successful or not. The post office will change the address without charge, but if the article is returned to the mailer, domestic postage will be charged except in the case of letters or post cards, which are returned free of postage. If the mailing office is also the dispatching exchange office, the conditions stated in paragraph (b) of this section will apply.

(b) Search at exchange office. The mailer may have a search made for the article at the U.S. dispatching exchange office if he requests it and pays the fee of 20 cents, unless he has already paid it. (See paragraph (a) of this section.) If the mailer desires such search to include opening made-up sacks, he must guarantee payment of the cost of opening, searching, and closing the sacks, whether his article is located or not. If he wishes the request sent to the exchange office by telegraph, the mailer must pay the cost of the telegram. The exchange office will change the address without charge, but if the article is returned, postage will be charged at domestic rates for its transportation to the exchange office and back to the mailer's address, unless it is a letter or post card which is returned free of postage. The post office will inform the patron of the amount of charges due.

(c) Search in country of destination. A request will be sent to the postal administration of the country of destination to return an article or change its address if the mailer furnishes a facsimile of the addess and pays the 20-cent fee in stamps, unless he has already paid it. (See paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.) If the request is to be transmitted by telegraph or cable, the application must be accompanied with an amount sufficient to pay the telegraph or cable charges. Otherwise the application must be accompanied with additional stamps in the amount of 75 cents to cover transmission of the request by registered mail, and with airmail postage if it is desired that it be transmitted to the foreign administration by air. The fee and cost of registration is not charged if the request is being made as the result of official notice to the sender in reply to an inquiry (see Part 271 of this chapter) or in the form of "advice of nondelivery" by the postal service of destination, showing that the article or parcel is undeliverable as addressed. If a request for change of address involves forwarding a parcel post package to another country the sender must furnish a written guarantee to pay the forwarding charges in the event they are not paid by the addressee in the new country. If the mailer wishes to have the foreign administration report by airmail, telegraph, or cable on the result of the action taken, he must furnish the additional return airmail postage or an amount sufficient to cover the cost of a prepaid telegraph or cable reply. Any amount remaining after transmitting a telegram or cablegram will be returned to the mailer. Return postage is charged on parcel post packages but not on other articles returned from other countries. See § 247.5(c) regarding a statement to be furnished when the article is addressed to a country which does not generally accept requests for recall or change of address.

§ 247.4 Mailing receipts.

If the mailer possesses a mailing receipt covering any article which is withdrawn or on which the address is changed, he must surrender it or submit it so that a suitable notation may be made thereon.

§ 247.5 Countries not permitting.

(a) For postal union mail. The legislation of the following countries does not allow senders of posal union articles to withdraw them from the mail or to change their address: Aden, Australia, Bahamas, Bahrain, Barbados, British Honduras, Brunei, Burma, Canada, Cyprus, Gambia, Gibraltar, Great Britain, and Northern Ireland, Hong Kong, India (permits only requests for return), Ireland, Jamaica, Kenya, Kuwait, Leeward Islands (except Antigua), Malawi, Malaysia, Malta, Muscat, Nauru, New Guinea, New Zealand (permits only request for return), Nigeria, Papua, Qatar, Rhodesia, St. Helena, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, Solomon Islands, Somalia, South Africa (Rep. of), Tanzania, Trinidad, and Tobago, Trucial States, Uganda, Windward Islands (except Dominica), and Zambia.

(b) For parcel post. Under the terms of the parcel post agreements in effect with the following countries, parcels cannot be recalled after they have left this service nor can the address be changed, unless the parcels are undeliverable at the original address: Aden, Barbados, British Honduras, Brunei, Burma, Canada, Cyprus, Gambia, Gilbert, and Ellice Islands, Great Britain, and Northern Ireland, Hong Kong, India (permits only requests for return), Ireland, Malawi, Malaysia, Nauru, Nigeria, Rhodesia, Seychelles, Solomon Islands, Tanzania, Trinidad, and Tobago, Uganda, Windward Islands, and Zambia.

(c) Applications accepted. Applications involving the countries named in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will be received and acted on, subject to the conditions prescribed in § 247.3(c), if the mailer furnishes a written statement giving his reasons for the request. Compliance with the request is discretionary with the postal administration of the country of destination.

§ 247.6 Processing.

(a) Mail of U.S. origin.—(1) Before dispatch from the United States. The following procedures apply to both postal union mail and parcel post packages:

(i) Before accepting an application for recall or change of address, require the applicant to identify himself as the sender or the sender's authorized representative.

(ii) If the piece is not located at the immediate point of mailing and the applicant desires the search continued, require the sender to submit a written application as prescribed in § 247.2, and collect the 20-cent fee indicated in § 247.3 (a) before conducting further search. If the piece is located and is returned to the sender, charge appropriate domestic postage unless it is a letter or post card. If the piece is not located, explain to the applicant the conditions set forth in § 247.3 (b) and (c).

(iii) It is recommended that requests be made to the postal administration of the country of destination rather than search being made at U.S. dispatching exchange offices. However, if the applicant desires search made at the exchange office and agrees to the conditions, send a request to the exchange office setting forth the details on the application and the particulars of dispatch to the exchange office, if known.

(iv) If the exchange office returns the piece, collect domestic postage for its conveyance to the exchange office and return, unless it is a letter or post card. If the search included the opening of made-up sacks, the exchange office will inform the post office requesting the search as to the cost, which should also be collected on delivery. The exchange office will likewise advise if the search was unsuccessful.

(v) Amounts collected on delivery of returned articles and parcels are accounted for by affixing postage due stamps to the mail articles and canceling.

(2) After dispatch from the United States. If the sender requests that the postal authorities of the country of destination be asked to intercept the piece, collect as prescribed in 247.33 and transmit with the application and facsimile address to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

(3) Sender's mailing receipt. A mailing receipt relating to an article or parcel returned or redirected at the sender's request is to have the action taken noted thereon.

(b) Mail of foreign origin. Post offices may comply with a request for correction of address (without changing the addressee) and may forward an article or parcel to the same addressee at another U.S. post office without previous authorization from the Department. Comply with § 232.4(a) of this chapter in forwarding parcel post packages. If a request is received for redirection of a piece to another country, for return to origin, or for change of addressee, hold the piece and refer the request to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

(c) From Puerto Rico to the United States,[1] and to the U.S. possessions,[2] must fill out a shipper's export declaration on Department of Commerce Form 7525–V and present it at the post office at the time of mailing. The shipper's export declaration is required only for goods mailed for commercial purposes and not for goods which involve no commercial consideration. However, Commerce Form 7525–V must also be filed for shipments of all articles covered by a validated export license from the Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, regardless of value or whether the sender or addressee is a business concern. (See Part 252 of this chapter.) The declaration need not be furnished for catalogs, instruction books, and other advertising matter or for magazines, newspapers, and periodicals. It is also not required for shipments of technical data, regardless of value and whether or not they are covered by export licenses, except as stated in § 252.3 (e) of this chapter. Shippers who wish to correct a previously filed export declaration must submit such corrections to the post office on Commerce Form FT–7403.

§ 251.2 Preparation.

Only a single copy of the shipper's export declaration is required for mail shipments. A single export declaration may include any number of packages mailed by one sender the same day to one addressee. Export declarations need not be notarized; however, signature in ink is required.

(2) These commodities licensed by the United States for ultimate destination (name of country) and for distribution or resale in (name of country). Diversion contrary to U.S. law prohibited.

(3) U.S. law prohibits distribution of these commodities to the Soviet Bloc, Communist China, North Korea, Macao, Hong Kong, or Communist controlled areas of Vietnam, or Cuba, unless otherwise authorized by the United States.

(c) The description of contents and units of quantity must be in the detail required by Schedule B, "Statistical Classification of Domestic and Foreign Commodities Exported from the United States" 1965 edition. The shipper may obtain copies of Schedule B for a nominal charge from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, from Collectors of Customs, or from Department of Commerce field offices located in principal cities of the United States. General descriptions, such as dry goods, groceries, or millinery, are not sufficient. Quantities and values must be given in whole numbers only, omitting fractions of less than one-half and counting one-half and over as a whole.

§ 251.4 How obtained.

Occasional shippers may obtain Form 7525–V free of charge at post offices. Regular exporters may purchase copies of the shipper's export declaration from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20401, from Collectors of Customs, or from Department of Commerce field offices. They may be privately printed, provided they conform to the official form in size, wording, color, quality (weight) of paper stock, and arrangement. Postmasters may obtain supplies, without cost, for limited distribution to occasional shippers from the Foreign Trade Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. Copies of the shipper's export declaration correction form for free distribution may also be obtained from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, and from Collectors of Customs.

§ 251.5 Handling and disposal.

(b) When an export declaration bearing the authentication of a collector of customs is presented at the time of mailing a partial shipment under a validated export license (see § 252.3(e)) of this chapter, postmark it and send to the Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

PART 252—COMMERCE DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS (COMMODITIES AND TECHNICAL DATA)

Sec.
252.1 Scope and applicability.
252.2 General licenses.
252.3 Validated licenses.
252.4 Export control inspections.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 252 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 252.1 Scope and applicability.

(a) The Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, controls all exportations, except for certain commodities and technical data licensed for export by other U.S. Government agencies, to all countries other than Canada (with the exception that validated export licenses are required for certain types of technical data to Canada). Mailers must inform themselves as to the regulations and comply with them in making any exportations of commodities and technical data as parcel post or postal union mail. A brief summary of the regulations as they apply to mail shipments is given in this part. Additional information is available from a Commerce Department bulletin entitled "Public Notice—Requirements for Exports by Mail" on bulletin boards in first-, second-, and third-class post offices and in classified stations and branches. Mailers desiring further information may make inquiry of the Exporters' Service Section, Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230 or of any field office of that department. A list of field offices is included in the above-mentioned public notice.

(b) Postal employees will not advise prospective mailers as to the type of license applicable to any commodities or to any destination, except that licenses are not required for shipments to Canada other than certain types of technical data. However, before accepting parcels employees should satisfy themselves that the mailers have complied with the regulations so far as they are applicable. A checklist for this purpose is printed opposite Chart 1 in the appendix to this subchapter.

§ 252.2 General licenses.

(a) Definition and use. A general license established by the Bureau of International Commerce is not a specific document, but is a general authorization covering exportations within its provisions, each general license being designated by symbol, such as G–DEST, GLV, GIFT, GUS, etc. A brief description of the general licenses usually used for mail shipments is given in this section. Further information can be obtained as set forth in § 252.1(a). When a prospective mailer finds that the contents of his package are properly exportable under a general license, unless it contains only printed matter or technical data (see paragraph (e) of this section), he must mark the wrapper with the appropriate symbol and the words "Export license not required" before presenting it at the post office. The postal clerk may accept any package so marked unless the symbol is obviously being misused. The marking certifies that the mailer has complied with the regulations governing the use of the general license denoted by the symbol. No marking is required on wrappers of packages containing printed matter and technical data mailed under general licenses G–DEST, GTDP, GTDU, and GTDS.

(b) Restricted destinations. The Commerce Department imposes particular restrictions on exports to Rhodesia; to Cuba; to the Far Eastern Communist countries (Continental China, Tibet, Inner Mongolia, and the Communist-controlled area of Vietnam); to the following countries in the Eastern European Soviet bloc: Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Germany (Soviet Zone including Soviet Sector of Berlin), Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Outer Mongolia, and U.S.S.R.; and to Hong Kong and Macao. Packages for these areas may not bear any general license except as follows:

Destination	General license symbols permitted
Cuba	GIFT, *G–DEST, GUS, BAGGAGE.
Far Eastern Communist countries.	*G–DEST, GUS, BAGGAGE.
Eastern European Soviet bloc.	GIFT, G–DEST, GUS, BAGGAGE.
Hong Kong and Macao.	GIFT, G–DEST, GUS, BAGGAGE, GLV.
Rhodesia	GIFT, *G–DEST, GUS, BAGGAGE.

* For Cuba and the Far Eastern Communist countries, general license G–DEST may be used only for unclassified printed matter and developed motion picture film. For Rhodesia it may be used only for foods, clothing, medicines, and drugs, certain medical supplies, phonograph records, developed films, and printed matter considered to be of humanitarian or educational necessity.

General licenses GTDP and GTDS for technical data, requiring no symbol on the package, may be used for any of the restricted destinations named above; and GTDU, also requiring no symbol on the package, may be used for Rhodesia, Hong Kong, and Macao.

(c) General license gift. (1) This license covers gift packages mailed by or on behalf of an individual sender to an individual addressee for the personal use of the latter or his family, or to a religious, charitable, or educational organization. The contents are limited to items normally sent as gifts, such as food, clothing (except military clothing to destinations named in paragraph (b) of this section), medicinals and drugs. When in doubt as to whether specific articles are exportable, consult the Commerce Department's "Public Notice" on post office bulletin boards, or inquire of the Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, or any Commerce Department field office.

(2) The value of the contents of a package is limited to $100.

(3) Not more than one gift package may be mailed per week to one addressee under this general license.

(d) General licenses G–DEST and GLV. General license G–DEST may be used for any shipment, regardless of quantity, unless the Commerce Department's "Commodity Control List" indicates that a validated license is required. General license GLV may be used for certain types of small value shipments to which G–DEST does not apply. Except for Hong Kong and Macao to which certain commodities may be shipped up to $25 in value, general license GLV may not be used for destinations named in paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) Printed matter and technical data. Miscellaneous printed matter exported under general license G–DEST and technical data under licenses GTDP, GTDS, and GTDU need no general license symbol on the wrapper.

(f) General license gus. This license is used for shipments to U.S. Government personnel under prescribed conditions.

(g) General license baggage. This license is used to mail unaccompanied baggage of travellers, consisting of personal and household effects not intended for sale, under conditions and limitations established in Commerce Department export control regulations.

§ 252.3 Validated licenses.

(a) Definition and use. A "validated license" is an individual document issued by the Bureau of International Commerce, authorizing a specific exportation. Further information can be obtained as set forth in § 252.1(a). Before mailing a shipment under a validated license, the sender must put the license number on the wrapper.

(b) Export declaration required. An export declaration (see part 251 of this chapter) is required for every shipment covered by a validated license, except technical data. However, partial shipments of technical data must comply with paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Mailing under validated licenses. In making a shipment against a validated license, the mailer must surrender the license at the post office regardless of whether the total quantity shown on the license is mailed. However, if only a part of the licensed quantity is mailed, the mailer may, as an alternative, deposit the license with a collector of customs and surrender at the post office a shipper's export declaration (Commerce Form 7525–V) bearing the number of the license and an authorization dated and signed by the collector or by his representative for shipment of the goods shown on the declaration. This is in addition to the declarations required by Part 251 of this chapter and paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Technical data licenses. Licenses issued by the Bureau of International Commerce for exportations of technical data are similar in form to the usual type of validated license, but no shipper's export declaration is required, except for partial shipments. (See paragraph (c) of this section.)

(e) Processing in post offices. (1) Entire shipments. The postal employee must see that the correct license number is shown on the wrapper of every package presented for mailing with a validated license. The number appears in the upper right portion of the license, adjacent to the validation stamp of the Bureau of International Commerce. Compare the contents as shown on the customs declaration (or as stated by the mailer in the case of shipments mailed as printed matter) with the commodities stated on the license and on the shipper's export declaration when required. If no discrepancy is noted and the package is mailable, accept it and take the license and export declaration (if required) from the mailer. Write "Completed" on the back of the license and apply postmark. Send the license to the Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230. Postmark the export declaration and dispose of it as instructed in § 251.5 of this chapter.

(2) Partial shipments. When a mailer presents an authenticated export declaration with a partial shipment in lieu of a validated license, as prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section, take the authenticated declaration, postmark it and send it to the Bureau of International Commerce. If a validated license is presented with a partial shipment, take it up and dispose of it in the same manner as for an entire shipment.

§ 252.4 Export control inspections.

Parcels are subject to inspection by U.S. customs officers at dispatching exchange post offices. If violations of export control are detected, the parcels may be returned or seized by the customs inspectors. Postage is not refunded.

PART 253—STATE DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS (ARMS AND TECHNICAL DATA)

Sec.
253.1 Individual licenses.
253.2 Mailings under license.
253.3 Processing licensed mailings.
253.4 Mailings exempt from license.
253.5 Government shipments.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 253 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 253.1 Individual licenses.

Exportation of certain arms or implements of war and related technical data requires individual licenses issued by the Office of Munitions Control, Department of State. Firearms subject to license include nonautomatic and semiautomatic rifles, carbines, revolvers, and pistols, except those of .50 caliber or less manufactured prior to 1898; also all machineguns, submachineguns, machine pistols, and fully automatic rifles. The mailer can obtain information as to the applicability of the State Department requirements and how to apply for individual licenses from the Office of Munitions Control, Department of State, Washington, D.C. 20520.

§ 253.2 Mailings under license.

When the entire amount authorized by an individual license is mailed, the sender must surrender the license at the post office. If only a portion of the amount authorized is mailed, the sender must enter on the back of the license the amount being shipped and present it at the post office, where the accepting clerk will postmark it and return it to the mailer.

§ 253.3 Processing licensed mailings.

(a) When a mailer presents a State Department license, the accepting clerk will compare the commodities or data indicated on the license with the contents as shown on the customs declaration or as stated by the mailer in the case of technical data mailed as printed matter. If no discrepancy is noted, and the contents are mailable under Part 125 of this chapter, and not prohibited to the country of destination concerned, the clerk will accept it for mailing. The sender must mark the wrapper "State Department export license No. _____."

(b) If the mailing represents the entire amount authorized, the clerk will take up the license, mark it "Completed," apply a legible postmark, and forward it to the Office of Munitions Control, Department of State, Washington, D.C. 20520.

§ 253.4 Mailings exempt from license.

Technical data that has been published or is otherwise exempt from licensing under 22 CFR 125.30 does not require individual State Department license for exportation. The mailer must mark the wrapper "22 CFR 125.30 * * * applicable," identifying the specific subsection under which the exemption is claimed. Exportations under this exemption may not be made to the Soviet Union, any Soviet bloc country, Communist China, or the Communist controlled area of Vietnam.

§ 253.5 Government shipments.

Shipments mailed by an agency of the U.S. Government require no license from the Department of State and no endorsement relating to 22 CFR 125.30 is needed on the wrapper.

PART 254—TREASURY DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS (GOLD AND GOLD CERTIFICATES)

Sec.
254.1 License requirements.
254.2 Gold held by nonresidents.
254.3 Fabricated gold.
254.4 Gold coin, bullion, or gold dust.
254.5 Where to obtain licenses.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 254 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 254.1 License requirements.

A license is necessary to mail gold in any form or gold certificates from the continental United States to any destination outside its limits or from any U.S. post office outside the continental limits to another country, except as provided in §§ 254.2 and 254.3. Moreover, before acceptance, the postmaster at the office of mailing must receive instructions from the Post Office Department, or the Treasury Department, with a copy of the license.

§ 254.2 Gold held by nonresidents.

Gold in any form other than coin is mailable without a license and specific instruction, if it is not held or owned by a person who is a resident of or domiciled in the continental United States. In such a case the mailer must place on the wrapper of the package and on the shipper's export declaration when required (see § 251.1 of this chapter) a statement that the gold contained therein is held or owned by a person who is not a resident of, or who is not domiciled in, the continental United States.

§ 254.3 Fabricated gold.

(a) Definition. Fabricated gold is defined by the Treasury Department as processed or manufactured gold in any form (other than gold coin or scrap gold) which has a gold content the value of which does not exceed 90 percent of the total domestic value of the processed or manufactured gold and which has in good faith and not for the purpose of evading or enabling others to evade the provisions of the Gold Reserve Act of 1934, the act of October 6, 1917, as amended, or the regulations of the Treasury Department, been processed or manufactured for some one or more specific and customary industrial, professional, or artistic uses. Fabricated gold is to be distinguished from semiprocessed gold, which may be exported only pursuant to Treasury License, and which is defined to include gold articles of which more than 90 percent of the total domestic value is attributable to the gold content thereof.

(b) Mailing restricted. Fabricated gold is acceptable for mailing without being licensed by the Treasury Department and without specific instructions from the Post Office Department. However, the shipper is required to endorse the wrapper of the package with the Bureau of Census Schedule B statistical classification number of each specific commodity contained therein. The shipper's export declaration, when required (see § 251.1 of this chapter) shall contain, in addition to a specific description of the contents of the package, the following notation: "Fabricated gold as defined by section 54.4 of the Gold Regulations, being exported pursuant to the authorization contained in section 54.25(b)(2) of such regulations."

(c) How to determine. To determine whether an article is semiprocessed or fabricated gold, the value of the gold content is computed at $35 per fine troy ounce of gold and the total domestic value is determined on the basis of the cost of the article to the owner and not the selling price. In the case of a manufacturer or processor, the allowable elements of such value are the cost of material in the article, labor performed on the article and processing losses and overhead applicable to the manufacturer or processing of such article. In the case of a dealer or other person who holds or disposes of gold without further processing, total domestic value includes only the net purchase price paid by such person and any transportation costs incurred in obtaining delivery of such article to his usual place of business.

(d) Gold coin made prior to April 5, 1933. Gold coin made prior to April 5, 1933, is acceptable for mailing without being licensed by the Treasury Department and without specific instructions from the Post Office Department. However, the shipper's export declaration, when required (see § 251.1 of this chapter) shall contain, in addition to a specific description of the package, the following notation: "Rare gold coin as defined by section 54.20 of the Gold Regulations, being exported pursuant to the authorization contained in section 54.25(b)(3) of such regulations."

§ 254.4 Gold coin, bullion, or gold dust.

The acceptance in the postal union mail or parcel post for any country of any consignment of gold coin, gold bullion, or gold dust, having a value in excess of $100 is prohibited, even though a license has been granted to export such gold coin, gold bullion, or gold dust.

§ 254.5 Where to obtain licenses.

The shipper may obtain the forms on which to apply for licenses to export gold from the Bureau of the Mint Treasury Department, Washington, D.C. 20220.

PART 261—CUSTOMS

Sec.

261.1 What is subject to examination.
261.2 Separation points.
261.3 Examination.
261.4 Repacking.
261.5 Treatment at delivery office.
261.6 Discrepancies.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 261 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 506.

§ 261.1 What is subject to examination.

All mail believed to contain merchandise, including returned articles of United States origin, and printed matter are subject to customs examination, except mail addressed to Ambassadors and Ministers of foreign countries and articles known or believed to contain only official documents addressed to officials of the U.S. Government.

§ 261.2 Separation points.

(a) Exchange offices. Articles believed liable to customs duty are submitted immediately to local customs officers or redispatched for customs treatment to designated distribution offices. In the latter case, exchange offices will attach Label 81, a reusable pink slotted tag, bearing the words "This sack contains mail supposed liable to customs duty," to the label holders or hasps of sacks or pouches containing matter to be submitted to customs officers.

(b) Distribution offices. Distribution offices will submit articles supposed liable to customs duty to customs officers as soon as possible after receipt. The reusable tags, Label 81, removed from sacks containing this mail will be returned periodically to the postmasters at New York, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle, or Miami, as may be appropriate from a geographical standpoint.

(c) Priority treatment of airmail. Airmail articles receive preferential customs treatment and are submitted to customs separately from surface mail. Upon return from customs, dispatch will be by air if it will expedite delivery.

§ 261.3 Examination.

(a) Authority to open sealed articles. Sealed letters and letter packages containing merchandise should bear a green label (Form C 1) or an endorsement permitting the customs officer to open the article for examination. In the absence of a label or endorsement, the post office will obtain the addressee's signed authority for opening on Form 2921, "Held Notice—International Mail." If such authority is not granted within 15 days after the first notice, send a second notice. If no response is received from the second notice after an additional 15-day period, endorse the article "Unclaimed" and return it to origin. Sealed parcel post is opened without any formality.

(b) Registered and sealed articles. The postmaster or other designated postal employee must be present when registered articles and parcels or sealed letter mail is opened by customs officers for examination. After customs treatment, the postal employee will repack and reseal letter packages in the presence of the customs officer who participated in the opening. Repack the article in the same or better condition than when it was opened. If the article was received in a special penalty envelope which can be reused, forward the article in that envelope; otherwise reseal the article and apply the official adhesive seal of the Post Office Department. Sign or initial the envelope or wrapper of each article.

(c) Extraction of samples for advisory information. Should a customs officer wish to obtain advisory information from a local trade expert or the Customs Information Exchange, 201 Varick Street, New York, N.Y. 10014, permit him to extract a sample of the contents. The customs officer will furnish the postal official with two copies of Customs Form 6423, one for enclosure in the importation and the other for the post office files. If the sample is to be forwarded to New York, dispatch it under official registration to the New York Postmaster for delivery to the Customs Information Exchange.

(d) Failure to receive customs examination. Should an article known or supposed to be dutiable be observed at or en route to the office of address without having received customs treatment, forward it, labeled "For Customs Inspection," under seal to the postmaster at the appropriate office listed in paragraph (e) of this section. Packages that have received customs treatment will bear endorsements such as "Examined by U.S. Customs at —— Duty to be Collected, Duty Paid, or Passed Free of U.S. Customs at ——."

(f) No examination before payment of duty. Addressees are not permitted to examine the contents of dutiable articles until the duty is paid.

§ 261.4 Repacking.

(a) Responsibility of customs and postal employees. Customs and postal employees shall carefully examine and repack contents of importations, particularly those that contain delicate instruments, glass, china, or other fragile items, liquids, and easily liquefiable substances. Shipments must be restored to their original or better condition. Postal employees accepting articles which have been in customs custody for examination, must determine from external inspection whether the shipment can safely bear further handling and transportation. Postal and customs employees jointly will restore parcels that are not in satisfactory condition. Employees may be held responsible when damage occurs as a result of negligence or improper handling.

(b) Customs shipments in bad order. Shipments found to be in bad order in transit at the delivery office must be reconditioned by postal employees. Note bad order and evidence of rifling or damage on the address side of the wrapper over the signature of the employee.

§ 261.5 Treatment at delivery office.

(a) Detecting dutiable importations. Postal employees will promptly examine all incoming mail to detect dutiable importations. These articles, bearing a customs endorsement indicating that duty is to be collected, are also accompanied by an original and receipt copy of Customs Form 3419, "Mail Entry," enclosed in a Treasury Department penalty envelope.

(b) Missing mail entries. Withhold delivery of dutiable packages from which Customs Forms 3419 have become detached. If the mail entry forms are not found, complete Form 2937, "Importer's Objection and/or Lost Mail Entries," requesting the issuing port of entry to furnish Customs Forms 3423, "Transcript of Entry of Merchandise Imported Through the Mails," in lieu of Customs Forms 3419. On receipt of Customs Forms 3423 collect the duty and process Customs Forms 3423 in the same manner as Customs Forms 3419. If the missing Customs Forms 3419 are located at a later date, return them to the issuing port of entry after endorsing them to show that Customs Forms 3423 were used.

(c) Dispatch to delivery units. Promptly forward dutiable articles to delivery units. Enter registered dutiable mail on appropriate dispatch forms.

(d) Delivery of dutiable mail. (1) Dutiable mail will be delivered by city, village, and rural carriers, and by window delivery units. Form 2921, "Held Notice—International Mail," is used to notify addressees of the arrival of dutiable parcels.

(2) Charge packages and both copies of the customs mail entry to delivery employee on Form 2944, "Receipt for Customs Duty Mail," prepared in duplicate. For control and accounting purposes, enter on Form 2944 the mail entry numbers as shown on the entry forms. Retain both copies of Form 2944 at post office as record of employee's accountability.

(3) When customs charges are collected and delivery is made, obtain addressee's signature on the original Customs Form 3419 as well as on the receipt for registered and insured mail if required. The delivering employee shall sign the receipt copy of Customs Form 3419 and give it to the addressee as a receipt for the duty. Delivering employees will turn in amounts collected with signed originals of Customs Form 3419, with any undelivered packages and their related Customs Forms 3419. At first-class offices, carrier will complete both copies of Form 2944 prepared pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, sign and hand them to the clearing clerk, who will also sign, clearing the carrier's accountability on the two copies. The clearing clerk will forward the original of Form 2944 to the chief accountant (or accounting unit). The carrier will receive the duplicate copy which he will retain for 3 months after the last day of the month of issue. Employees at delivery windows who have been charged with dutiable packages will be similarly cleared, but will be required to execute a new set of Form 2944 covering all dutiable packages remaining in their custody at the close of business. At other than first-class offices the delivering employees' accountability will be cleared in the same manner as for COD transactions.

(4) The Customs Service in certain instances will attach a Customs Form 3433, "Authorization to Postmaster to Deliver Mail Importation Conditionally Free of Duty" and a Customs Form 3342, "Declaration for Free Entry of Gifts," to the mail entries, Customs Form 3419, of incoming dutiable packages. Deliver these packages without collection of the duty under the conditions stated on the Form 3433. After delivery, endorse the original Customs Form 3419 "Form 3342 executed by addressee," and report the transaction as an uncollected customs duty item in accordance with paragraph (f)(1) of this section. Return of the executed customs form will be authority for the clearing clerk to allow credit for unreturned postage due stamps delivered with the package pursuant to § 224.1(a)(5)(ii) of this chapter. The clearing clerk will keep a daily record of such voided stamp credits.

(5) When an addressee objects to the assessed value, rate, or amount of duty charged, the following procedures apply:

(i) Request the addressee to state his objection in writing to the postmaster, together with any evidence substantiating his claim. Inform patron of the mail entry number and advise him where the package will be held. Return the package to the clearing clerk awaiting receipt of addressee's written protest.

(ii) On receipt of written protest, promptly prepare report, in duplicate, on Form 2937, "Importer's Objection and/or Lost Mail Entries." Indicate reason for protest by means of a checkmark in the appropriate column on Form 2937. Forward original Form 2937, with supporting statements and both copies of Customs Form 3419, to the customs office where the entry was prepared, unless the addressee is located in the vicinity of one of the customs ports listed in § 361.3(e). In the latter case, deliver the package and the other documents mentioned to the local customs officer for reconsideration of the duty assessment. Retain duplicate of Form 2937 as office file and record copy.

(iii) If an adjustment is made the customs officer will endorse the adjustment in red ink on the original and receipt copy of the mail entry and initial. The corrected mail entry will be accompanied with Customs Form 3435, "Notice to Postmaster of Change in Duty Assessment on Customs Mail Entry." This notice is to be attached to and remain with the original of the mail entry. When delivery is effected, record collection of the corrected amount according to the customs port which originally prepared the mail entry, as prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section. If the adjusting customs officer waives the duty, report the entry as an uncollected item, as prescribed in paragraph (f)(1) of this section.

(iv) An addressee who is dissatisfied with the amount of duty assessed may pay the charges, take delivery of the package, and later file claim for a refund directly with the collector at the port where the entry was prepared.

(6) When delivery cannot be effected for any reason, including articles covered by § 261.59, the package and both copies of Customs Form 3419 will be returned to the post office. Do not detach Customs Forms 3419 from package nor enter it on Form 2933, "Register of Uncollected Customs Charges," until the package is definitely known to be undeliverable or until the end of the prescribed retention period (see § 224.4(a) of this chapter concerning postal union articles and § 232.5(b)(1) of this chapter concerning parcel post), then detach Customs Form 3419 and report the item on Form 2933 as outlined in paragraph (f)(1) of this section.

(e) Recording and reporting collections. Post offices making delivery-collection of dutiable articles will deposit the customs collections with postal funds.

(f) Uncollected items—(1) Reporting. Complete a separate Form 2933, "Register of Uncollected Customs Charges," in duplicate, for each port of entry from which packages are received. First-class offices will prepare on same frequency as Form 2932; other offices will report uncollectible items weekly. Enter all uncollectible items on Form 2933, listing each Customs Form 3419 by serial number and amount, and showing reason for noncollection. Forward original of Form 2933 with supporting Customs Form 3342, other statements, and original and receipt copy of related Customs Form 3419 to the Regional Commissioner of Customs, Attention: Cashier, New York, N.Y. 10004. File a copy of Form 2933 for reference purposes.

(2) Past-due entries. When the issuing customs port of entry does not receive a report of disposition of dutiable article, the collector of customs will forward an inquiry to the postmaster on Customs Form 3423, "Transcript of Entry of Merchandise Imported Through the Mails," in duplicate, requesting information on the disposition of entries involved. On receipt of Customs Form 3423 the chief accountant, accounting unit or employee designated by the postmaster, will make a search for Customs Form 3419. If form is located, return both copies of Customs Form 3423 to port of entry with notation that the entry will be accounted for in the usual manner when collection is effected, or note on Customs Form 3423, the control number of the Form 2932, on which the entry was reported (first-class offices; or serial number of money order used in remitting in the case of second-, third-, and fourth-class offices). When search fails to locate record of Customs Form 3419 or related package, notify the collector of customs accordingly.

(g) Refund of duty—(1) Duty not refundable by postmasters. Amounts collected on customs mail entry forms are not refundable by postmasters. An addressee who requests a refund of duty shall be advised to make application therefor to the collector of customs at the port of entry within 90 days from the date of entry. It is suggested, if refund is claimed for damage, the article be forwarded to the collector with the application. If the addressee wishes to abandon the article to the Government, he should so state in his application. In case the addressee also intends to file a claim for indemnity with the Post Office Department, he shall, before taking the above action, present the contents, container, and complete wrapping to the postmaster for the inspection prescribed by Form 2855, "Claim for Indemnity—International Insured Mail."

(2) By Customs Service. Refund of duties paid will be considered by the Customs Service if merchandise, covered by a mail entry, representing 5 percent or more of the total value of all of the merchandise of the same class or kind entered in the invoice in which the item appears, is abandoned and delivered to the collector of customs where the entry was made within 30 days after the date of entry.

(3) On returned merchandise. Refund of duties paid less 1 percent will also be considered by the Customs Service if merchandise covered by a mail entry and found not to conform to sample or specification or shipped without the consent of the consignee is, within 90 days from the date of delivery, returned to customs custody for exportation, unless the Secretary of the Treasury authorizes in writing a longer time. The postal charges incident to returning the merchandise to the sender must be paid by the addressee.

(4) No duty refund in certain cases. When an addressee requests delivery of parcel post packages to be made at his residence or place of business after the customs duty thereon has been paid at the post office, the Treasury Department has declined to refund the duty in such cases when the goods become lost between the post office and the addressee's residence or place of business, and if there should be any loss there is no appropriation available from which the Post Office Department could make reimbursement for the amount of duty paid.

(h) Duty—(1) Rates. Patrons desiring information concerning rates of duty on articles imported into the United States, or other customs procedure, should communicate with the appropriate customs officer, located at various points throughout the country, or with the Commissioner of Customs, Treasury Department, Washington, D.C. 20226.

(2) Prepayment. No provision is made for the prepayment abroad of customs duty on mail shipments addressed for delivery in the United States.

(3) On articles repaired abroad. Before sending an article abroad for repair, the patron should submit it to a customs officer for issuance of a certificate of registration. Otherwise, the entire article may be subjected to customs duty when it is returned to the United States.

(4) In other countries. See § 231.2(d) of this chapter.

(i) Forwarding or returning dutiable mail—(1) Forwarding within the United States. Dispatch package as prescribed in § 224.3(a) of this chapter (for postal union articles) or § 232.4(a) of this chapter (for parcel post). Allow the Customs Forms 3419 to remain attached to the redirected package in its original envelope, which is also redirected to the new address. Prepare Form 3814, "Record of COD Parcels Held for Delivery," in duplicate, showing name and address of addressee, forwarding address, and name of port where the duty was assessed. In "Bin No." block on Form 3814, enter the 6-digit serial number from related Customs Form 3419. Mail original Form 3814 to the collector of customs who issued the entry; file duplicate for reference in case of later inquiry.

(2) Forwarding to another country. See § 224.3(b) of this chapter concerning forwarding of postal union articles and § 232.4 (c) and (d) of this chapter concerning forwarding of parcel post. When a dutiable package is entitled to be forwarded to another country, detach the Customs Forms 3419 and endorse both copies "Addressee moved outside jurisdiction of the United States." Enter serial number on Form 2933 and return both copies of Customs Form 3419 to collector of customs with related Form 2933. (See paragraph (f)(1) of this section.)

(3) Return to Sender. When a dutiable package is to be returned to the sender, detach the Customs Forms 3419, endorse them "Refused, Unclaimed," etc., and enter serial number on Form 2933. Return both copies of Customs Form 3419 to the collector of customs with the related Form 2933. (See paragraph (f)(1) of this section.)

(4) By stations and branches. Postmasters may authorize stations and branches to forward or return packages directly from those units, without sending the packages to the main office.

§ 261.6 Discrepancies.

When a collector of customs finds a difference between the amounts reported by postmasters and the amounts shown on the related file copy of a Customs Form 3419, the collector will forward the postmaster an inquiry on Customs Form 3429, "Notice to Postmaster of Underpayment to Customs," in duplicate. On receipt of Customs Form 3429, fill in correct district and port code number and mail entry number on face of form. Review the file copy of Form 2932 (or purchaser's receipt for money order remittance) to determine the amount of adjustment. Enter the adjustment data in spaces provided on the back of Customs Form 3429 as follows.

(a) Enter serial number of Customs Form 3419 involved, amount originally remitted, and correct amount.

(b) At the bottom of the form enter the net amount of adjustment (plus or minus), signature of preparing employee, and date of preparation. Adjustment will be made against the next remittance to the collector of customs involved.

(c) Return original to collector of customs and file duplicate with related file copy of Form 2932 (or purchaser's receipt for money order remittance).

(d) When review shows that the item was originally reported in the correct amount, return the original of Customs Form 3429 to collector of customs endorsed to that effect. File duplicate with related Form 2932 (or purchaser's receipt for money order remittance).

§ 262.1 Examination—authorization to open.

Mail of foreign origin is scrutinized at the exchange office of first receipt for the presence of prohibited matter. If there is reason to believe that prohibited matter is contained in a sealed letter, the exchange office will endorse the cover "Supposed to contain matter prohibited importation" and forward it to the post office of destination. Letters received bearing such endorsement, or any foreign letter not so endorsed but suspected of containing prohibited matter, shall be held and treated as follows:

(a) Complete and mail Form 2921, "Held Mail Notice—International," to the addressee requesting authorization to open the letter and examine its contents. The form may be endorsed "Lottery Matter" when it is believed the letter contains such matter. If the volume of such mail or other considerations warrant, an explanatory letter may be sent in lieu of Form 2921.

(b) When authorization to open is given by the addressee, the letter shall be opened and examined in his presence, if he has appeared in person, or, if he does not appear, in the presence of two designated postal employees.

(c) If the addressee fails to authorize the opening of the letter, endorse the cover "Unclaimed" and return, unopened, to its origin.

§ 262.2 Disposal.

(a) Mailable matter. If the contents of a letter opened pursuant to § 262.1 are found to be mailable and the examination has taken place in the presence of the addressee, immediately deliver the letter to him. If the addressee is not present, mail the letter to him under official cover.

(b) Prohibited matter. If the contents of a letter opened pursuant to § 262.1 are found to be prohibited they shall be disposed of as follows:

(1) Transmit lottery matter to the local postal inspector in charge.

(2) Report other prohibited matter to the Mailability Division, Office of the General Counsel, with a sample of the contents, and await instructions as to disposition.

271.3 Incomplete return receipts.

271.5 Processing.
271.6 Use of Form 673, Report of Rifled Parcel.
271.7 Use of Form 3760, Wrapper Found Without Contents.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 271 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 271.1 Inquiries encouraged.

Patrons are urged to report losses, nondelivery, or mistreatment of mail, as these reports may serve to improve the postal service. Inquiries and complaints are to be made at, or addressed to, the local post office. They are accepted within 1 year, counting from the day following the date of mailing.

§ 271.2 Nondelivery.

If an article has failed to reach the addressee within a reasonable time, after it should in regular course have been delivered, the post office will, on request institute an inquiry with the foreign postal administration. Inquiry may be made even though the article was mailed in another country. If the sender is unable to submit the registry (mailing) receipt for a registered article, he must make complaint at the office of mailing.

§ 271.3 Incomplete return receipts.

If the sender receives a return receipt not properly completed (see § 343.5(d) of this chapter), the receipt with the complaint is transmitted to the International Service Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

§ 271.4 Charges for inquiries.

(a) When applicable. No charge is made for an inquiry or complaint concerning the nondelivery of a piece of international mail if the sender has failed to receive a return receipt for which the required fee was paid or if he can show that loss or other irregularity has occurred apparently through fault of the Postal Service. Such a showing is satisfied either by exhibiting a letter from the addressee a reasonable time after the article involved would normally have been delivered; or satisfactorily explaining the failure to exhibit such a letter or report. Otherwise, a charge of 20 cents is made, postage stamps to cover the fee being affixed to the inquiry form and canceled. The inquiry or complaint is transmitted by airmail, if practicable.

(b) When several articles involved. Only one fee is collected for inquiries or requests for information concerning several articles mailed simultaneously by the same sender to the same addressee.

(c) Telegraph inquiry. If the sender desires that the inquiry be sent by telegraph or cable, his request must be accompanied with an amount sufficient to pay the telegraph or cable charges, and if a reply by telegraph or cable is desired, the sender must pay the charges both ways. Such request should be forwarded to the postal inspector in charge of the division in which the office of mailing or address is located.

§ 271.5 Processing.

(a) Mail exchanged with Canada.—(1) Registered and ordinary.—(i) Mailed in United States. (a) Inquiries as to disposition or complaints of loss are reported on Form 1510. If loss, rifling, or damage is disclosed, Canadian officials will send Form 2855 to the Postmaster, Chicago, Ill. 60607. Should a form, disclosing loss, rifling, or damage, be sent by mistake to the postmaster at the office of mailing, send it promptly to the postmaster in Chicago.

(ii) Mailed to United States. (a) If a complaint of loss, rifling, damage, delay, or wrong delivery originates in the United States, complete Form 1510 and send parts II and III of the original to the postmaster at the mailing office in Canada with the packing of the parcel if available. If the packing has been destroyed or otherwise disposed of, the complaint shall be endorsed accordingly. If complaint is of loss or rifling, send a copy of part II of Form 1510, endorsed to show disposition of the original, to the postal inspector in charge of the division in which the office of destination is located.

(b) On receipt of a Canadian indemnity form, it shall be properly completed and returned to the Canadian District Director of Postal Service from whom the form was received. PART 272—INDEMNITY CLAIMS AND PAYMENTS

Sec.
272.1 Initiation and proof of claims.
272.2 Indemnity payments.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 272 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501, 505.

§ 272.1 Initiation and proof of claims.

(a) Initiation of claims. Claims must be initiated as outlined in § 271.5 of this chapter in applying for the indemnity stipulated in § 272.2.

(b) Documents to accompany claims. Claimants must submit the report from the addressee on which the claim is based and any evidence of value or cost of repairs such as purchase receipts or invoices.

§ 272.2 Indemnity payments.

(a) Registered postal union articles. Payment of indemnity is incumbent on the country of origin of the article and is made as follows:

(1) Canada. Indemnity may be paid not to exceed $100, based on actual value, for loss (contents and wrapper). When mailed in the United States, payment may also be made up to $100 based on actual value for damage or rifling of contents, if responsibility rests with the United States, or it is not possible to determine in which country the damage or rifling occurred.

(2) Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Israel, and Switzerland. Indemnity may be paid in any amount claimed not exceeding $8.17 for loss (contents and wrapper), regardless of value; and, on the basis of actual value, for rifling or "Total" damage of an article in a registered packet, but not exceeding $8.17. When mailed in the United States, payment may also be made for partial damage, but not exceeding $8.17, if responsibility rests with the United States or it is not possible to determine in which country the damage occurred.

(3) Australia. Indemnity may be paid in any amount claimed not exceeding $8.17 for loss (contents and wrapper), regardless of value; and, on the basis of actual value, for rifling of an article in a registered packet, but not exceeding $8.17. When mailed in the United States, payment may also be made for damage, but not exceeding $8.17, if responsibility rests with the United States or it is not possible to determine in which country the damage occurred.

(4) All other countries. Indemnity may be paid in any amount claimed not exceeding $8.17 for loss (contents and wrapper), regardless of value. When mailed in the United States, payment may also be made up to $8.17 on the basis of actual value for damage or rifling of contents (including instances when money in cash, banknotes, or values payable to bearer are prohibited by international agreements), if responsibility rests with the United States or it is not possible to determine in which country the damage or rifling occurred.

(b) Registered parcel post.—(1) Cape Verde Islands and Portuguese West Africa. Indemnity may be paid up to $16.33, based on actual value, for loss, rifling, or damage.

(2) Cuba. Indemnity may be paid up to $10 for loss (contents and wrapper), based on actual value.

(3) Ecuador. Indemnity may be paid up to $50, based on actual value, for loss, rifling, or damage.

(4) Other countries. Although parcels may be registered to Bermuda, British Honduras, Congo (Kinshasa), Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, and Turks Islands, there is no provision for payment of indemnity in case of loss, rifling, or damage of such parcels.

(c) Insured parcel post.—(1) General provisions. Indemnity may be paid for loss, rifling, or damage, based on actual value.

(2) Forwarded or returned to third country. The mailer may be paid only such indemnity for loss, rifling, or damage occurring after redispatch by the original country of address to a third country as the country in which the mistreatment occurred is willing or obligated to pay under any agreement between the countries involved.

(3) Canada. Indemnity may be specially paid as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for loss, rifling, or damage of insured parcels addressed to Canada containing articles prohibited insurance. See country item "Canada" in the appendix to this subchapter.

(d) Principal exceptions. Indemnity may not be paid:

(1) In excess of the limit prescribed for the insurance or registry fee paid or greater than that corresponding to the actual amount of loss (except registered postal union), rifling, or damage. Allowance must be made for depreciation or for needed repairs, and, in the absence of purchase receipts or invoices, the contents must be described in sufficient detail.

(2) To anyone in this country other than the sender, for loss of registered postal union mail, except on the consent of both the sender and the country of origin.

(3) For damage or for partial or complete loss or rifling of the contents of postal union registered articles, except as stated in paragraph (a) of this section.

(4) When (i) other countries report delivery of parcels without external trace of rifling or damage and acceptance without reservation concerning the condition of the contents, and (ii) when delivery was made under conditions prescribed by the domestic regulations of the country of destination for mail of the same kind, or, on presentation of a regular postal identity card.

(5) When loss, rifling, or damage has been caused by the fault or negligence of the sender or the addressee or the representative of either, such as failure to endorse the parcel conspicuously to show the nature of the contents or to provide adequate packing for the length of the journey and for the protection of the contents.

(6) When an article or parcel cannot be accounted for in consequence of the destruction of service records through "force majeure."

(7) When the contents are prohibited, except as stated in paragraph (a)(4) and (c)(3) of this section.

(8) When the claimant, with intent to defraud, shall declare the contents of a parcel to be above their real value.

(9) For an article or parcel seized by the customs.

(10) For parcels that contain matter of no intrinsic value or matter which did not conform to stipulations of the conventions applicable, or were not posted in the manner prescribed. However, in the event of loss, rifling, or damage of mail erroneously accepted for insurance to other countries, limited indemnity may specially be paid as if it had been addressed to a domestic destination, i.e., on the basis of the indemnity limits for domestic insured mail. If erroneously accepted as registered mail limited indemnity may be specially paid under the conditions in paragraph (a) of this section. If postage was erroneously collected at other than parcel post rates, but the parcel was otherwise properly accepted for insurance, indemnity may specially be paid under paragraph (c) of this section.

(11) For indirect loss or loss of profits in the case of parcels.

(12) When no inquiry or application for indemnity has been made by claimant or his representative within a year commencing with the day following the posting of the article or parcel. In the case of insured mail with Canada, however, the time limit may be waived when it is satisfactorily established that the delay was unavoidable and not the fault of the claimant.

(13) For damage which results from the inherent vice or quality of the contents, that is, its inability, due to its nature, to withstand the ordinary incidents of the contemplated carriage.

(14) When full compensation or reimbursement has otherwise been made by the Post Office Department or by any outside firm or corporation whatsoever except on a pro rata basis as coinsurer.

(15) For sentimental values arising from association of articles. Also, in the absence of a complete description, the claimant must satisfactorily establish the ordinary market value at the time of mailing, particularly in the case of heirlooms or antiques.

(16) For an amount in excess of the maximum prescribed for the insurance or registry fee paid, unless responsibility rests with the United States and it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the mailer was charged a fee less than that required to cover the amount of indemnity desired, through error on the part of the Postal Service. On such a showing, the deficiency in fee may be collected from the mailer and postal indemnity paid within the limit fixed for the higher fee. If full or partial responsibility rests with the other country and the mailer requested full coverage at the time of mailing, but a deficient and "unauthorized" insurance fee was collected, he may be paid for full value, less the amount of the deficient fee, but not exceeding the limit fixed for the appropriate insurance fee.

(17) For loss of articles registered free or for official registered mail.

(18) When evidence of insurance coverage has not been presented.

(19) In excess of the limits prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for domestic registered letters bearing foreign return addresses which are forwarded pursuant to § 223.4(b)(2).

(c) When to be instituted. Claims for indemnity involving international registered mail, and insured mail for which inquiry concerning disposal has been made, shall be instituted only on instructions from the postmasters at the appropriate adjusting exchange offices shown in paragraph (f) of this section, except as otherwise specifically provided for in § 271.5(a)(2)(i) of this chapter for insured mail to Canada.

(f) Adjusting exchange offices. Indemnity claims relating to international insured or registered mail shall be adjudicated and approved by the adjusting exchange office for the country involved as indicated below.

To determine the postage for packages weighing over 11 pounds, compute the rate for the pounds alone at 8 cents per pound. If there are no remaining ounces, add 3 cents; if there are remaining ounces, determine the rate for them from the table and add to the rate for the pounds. For example, if a package weighs 21 pounds, compute the rate at 8 cents and add 3 cents, finding the rate to be $1.70. If a package weighs 21 pounds 5 ounces, compute the rate for 21 pounds at 8 cents ($1.68) and add the rate for the ounces (5 cents), finding the rate to be $1.73.

To determine the postage for packages over 11 pounds addressed to Spain and Spanish possessions, compute the rate for the pounds alone at 12 cents per pound. If there are no remaining ounces, add 2½ cents; if there are remaining ounces, determine the rate for them from the table and add to the rate for the pounds. For example, if a package weighs 21 pounds, compute the rate at 12 cents and add 2½ cents, finding the rate to be $2.54½ cents. If a package weighs 21 pounds 5 ounces, compute the rate for 21 pounds at 12 cents ($2.52) and add the rate for the ounces (7 cents), finding the rate to be $2.59.

The invoices must be in the form prescribed by the Bolivian consular regulations. If senders are not familiar with the requirements, they should be advised to consult one of the Bolivian consulates located in principal cities of the United States. Parcels not exceeding $50 in value do not require invoices.

Observations. Persons desiring to mail parcels or postal union mail packages to Brazil should be informed that most commodities are subject to customs duty equal to or higher than their value, even if sent as gifts, and it is necessary for the addressees to make two or more trips to the post office to obtain delivery. Also, each parcel must be accompanied by an import permit which the addressee must obtain in advance and send to the mailer to be enclosed in the parcel. Only noncommercial commodities valued at $5 or less, and books and magazines in single copies mailed as printed matter are admitted as gifts free of duty and without import permits. Senders should be cautioned that the Brazilian customs authorities may appraise articles at a higher valuation than that declared by the mailers, resulting in the assessment of duty and penalties against the addressees. To be admitted as gifts, packages must be addressed to individuals, not to firms.

Gift parcels valued over $35 and all commercial parcels must also be accompanied by commercial shipping documents which the sender must have legalized by a Brazilian consulate at a fee of $12. Brazilian consulates are located in principal cities of the United States.

If parcels are found on arrival in Brazil to be in violation of any of the import regulations, they will be withheld from delivery and the addressees may be required to pay fines in addition to the customs duty. If the charges are not paid, the parcels are liable to seizure and are not released even if senders have requested return through the postal service.

In view of the foregoing, patrons should be advised to refrain from mailing parcels to Brazil unless they are assured that the addressees will be permitted to take delivery.

Parcels may be addressed to banks or other organizations for ultimate delivery to second addressees. The latter however may not take delivery without written authority from the first addressee, unless the sender arranges for change of address as provided in Part 247 of this chapter.

A parcel destined for a person in care of a bank, organization, etc., shall bear the complete addresses of both addressees on the customs declarations and dispatch note, as well as on the parcel itself.

Prohibitions. For reasons of public safety: Poniards, stilettos, poniard blades; canes, umbrellas, or any other articles containing swords, daggers, or guns; handcuffs and blackjacks.

For sanitary reasons: Medicines whose formulas are not listed in the official pharmacopeias or not licensed by the Brazilian Department of Public Health.

For the protection of plants: Seeds and seedlings of coffee.

Arms, munitions, etc.: Regulation arms and munitions of Brazil and parts. Air guns. Reducing tubes and silencers for firearms.

For other reasons: Coins, banknotes, paper money, and any values payable to bearer; manufactured or unmanufactured platinum, gold or silver; precious stones, jewelry or other precious articles. Any articles bearing a false indication of their origin.

Import restrictions. The attention of senders should be called to the following requirements, which are to be met by addressees:

Addressees are required to obtain import permits for all parcels, regardless of value. See "Observations."

Saccharine and other artificial sweeteners and essences for artificial beverages require permission from the Brazilian Department of Public Health for importation.

Firearms may be imported only with permission of the Brazilian War Ministry.

Letter packages exceeding 4 pounds 6 ounces in weight, and direct sacks of printed matter (§ 222.4(f) of this chapter) are not admissible for CFPO addresses. Patrons desiring to mail such articles should be advised to obtain civilian addresses either from the addressees or from the Post Office Department, Ottawa 8, Ontario, Canada, and to prepare their articles for mailing in accordance with the regulations applicable to the country of destination concerned.

Banknotes valued at $100 or more must be put up in a compact package and securely tied with strong twine before wrapping. After wrapping, the package must be again securely tied or stitched and sealed at the points of closing.

Combination mailings as defined in § 222.8(a) of this chapter are accepted.

Advertising matter specially prepared to promote the sale of goods or services by Canadian persons or firms is charged with customs duty in Canada when the total weight of articles mailed at one time exceeds 1 pound. Duty is charged on each individually addressed article. To avoid detention of such mail by Canadian customs, senders may arrange to pay the duty, which can be done by means of Canadian customs duty stamps affixed to the back of each piece of mail. Senders may inquire as to rates of duty and may purchase the duty stamps from the Department of National Revenue, Customs and Excise, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

Commercial shipments of printed matter and certain other merchandise must be marked to indicate country of origin in the manner prescribed by the Canadian customs regulations. Commercial invoices are required as indicated in "Observations" under "Parcel Post".

Information as to Canadian customs regulations may be obtained from the European Division (Canadian Section), Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, or any field office of that Department.

The maximum insurance in Canada for parcels to the United States is $100.

See Part 243 of this chapter for general information on insurance.

Observations. Each parcel must bear as part of its address the name of the Canadian Province in which the office of destination is located.

Parcels for members of the Canadian armed forces overseas may not exceed 22 pounds in weight and may not be insured. They must be addressed in the following manner for surface dispatch:

Number, rank, name.
Unit.
CFPO (number).
Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

A letter fully prepaid and bearing the same address as that of the parcel may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent its separation therefrom and not to interfere with the address of the parcel. Stamps to cover postage on the parcel must be affixed to the wrapper of the parcel. Stamps to pay postage on the letter must be affixed to the envelope thereof.

Certain types of merchandise must be marked to show country of origin in the manner prescribed by the Canadian customs regulations.

The Canadian customs authorities require commercial invoices for all parcel post or postal union mail packages, regardless of value, except casual noncommercial shipments. For shipments valued at less than $50, the sender's regular business invoice may be used; if the value is $50 or over, the commercial invoice must be prepared on Canadian forms M–A or N–A. Four copies of the invoice, one of them signed by the sender in ink, must be sent by letter mail to the addressee.

In the case of noncommercial shipments of a casual nature, the senders need not furnish invoices, as the Canadian customs authorities will make delivery on the basis of forms completed by the addressees.

Interested mailers can secure information as to obtaining and preparing forms M–A and N–A, as well as other information concerning the Canadian customs regulations, from the European Division (Canadian Section), Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, or any field office of that Department.

Prohibitions. Honey bees, unless addressed to places served by railway post offices or motor vehicles. Mailers must ascertain whether the addressees of parcels containing honey bees are located at places to which such shipments can be sent. This information can be obtained from the Canadian postmaster at the office of address. After obtaining the information, the sender must mark the wrapper of his parcel "Office of address served by R.P.O." or "Office of address served by motor vehicle." Postmasters will refuse to accept parcels containing honey bees for Canada unless they bear such endorsement.

Queen bees are not subject to the above restriction.

Bees must not be on combs, and must be accompanied by a declaration signed by the mailer that the food for the bees carried in the package is free from disease. Honey must not be used in making the candy placed in queen bee mailing cages. Special handling charges are applicable to honey bees in cages, but not to queen bees in small cages, alone or accompanied by a few workers, unless a considerable number of such cages are tied together for transportation outside of mail sacks.

Shipments of bees are accepted only at the risk of senders; they may not be accepted for insurance.

Used or secondhand hives or bee supplies.

Commercial tags of metal. Prison-made goods being sold or intended for sale by a person or firm. Plumage and skins of wild birds.

Articles so marked as to create the false impression that they were made in Canada, Great Britain, or any other British country.

Parcels bearing caution labels indicating the contents are flammable.

Meat and meat food products, unless federally inspected and passed and marked accordingly. If intended for sale, export certification by the U.S. Department of Agriculture is also required. Meat or meat food product for personal use is exempt from export certification but the addressee is required to certify to the Canadian authorities that it will not be offered for sale in Canada.

Drugs and medicines must comply with Canadian law. Senders are advised to communicate with prospective addressees to assure themselves before mailing that such articles will be admitted.

Biological products for veterinary use, including serums and vaccines, unless accompanied by a permit issued by the Veterinary Director General, Ministry of Agriculture of Canada.

Eggs for hatching unless packed in new, clean containers and accompanied by a certificate issued by a veterinarian of the U.S. Department of Agriculture or one issued by a State veterinarian and endorsed by a veterinarian of that Bureau, stating that to the best of his knowledge the eggs come from a flock that is free from Newcastle disease, fowl pest, or fowl typhoid. See § 231.3(b)(v) of this chapter, for method of packing.

Smoke-making devices for motor vehicles and boats.

Radioactive materials, butane gas lighters and refill cartridges, lighter fluid regardless of flashpoint, and other articles regarded by the Canadian authorities as dangerous.

Coins, except when mailed in uninsured parcels to collectors or dealers. Banknotes and values payable to bearer. Precious articles including jewelry and precious stones, mounted or unmounted; platinum, gold and silver, manufactured or unmanufactured; and articles of precious metal for personal use such as card cases, cigarette cases, cigarette holders, compacts, purses, watches and automatic pencils. The foregoing are admitted, however, in registered letters.

Oleomargarine and other butter substitutes, including altered or renovated butter.

Import restrictions. Addressees are required to obtain permits from the Canadian authorities to import firearms and other deadly weapons, except sporting guns.

Observations. Books and other printed matter, if valued over $20, require consular invoices, and the addressees must obtain import licenses as indicated in "Observations" under Parcel Post.

Every commercial shipment of books or periodicals mailed to Colombia must be covered by a commercial invoice which may either accompany this shipment or be sent under cover to the addressee. Each commercial invoice must bear the sender's declaration in the form given under "Observations" of "Parcel Post", and must show the following information:

(1) Name of importer.

(2) Number of copies in each package and number of copies of each title.

(3) Unit value of each copy and total value of the shipment. Values must be shown in U.S. dollars.

(4) Number of packages comprising the shipment.

(5) The publishing house, together with the name and class of the edition when the book belongs to a series established by the publishing house.

(6) Weight of each package.

(7) Total weight of the shipment.

The mailer should send a copy of each commercial invoice, preferably by airmail, direct to the Colombian post office to which the package is addressed.

Each package must be addressed directly to the addressee, as the Colombian regulations do not permit customs entry to be effected by anyone except the addressee or his authorized representative.

The address label must be marked with the number of items in the package and their weight.

Combination mailings as defined in § 222.8(a) of this chapter are accepted.

Prohibitions. Money in cash, banknotes, or values payable to the bearer. Dutiable articles in letter packages. Perishable biological materials.

Articles prohibited as parcel post are prohibited in the postal union mail.

See Part 243 of this chapter, for method of converting U.S. currency into gold francs and for general information on insurance.

Coin, precious metals, jewelry, or other precious articles must not be accepted as parcel post for mailing unless they are insured.

Observations. Senders are required to indicate as a part of the addresses of all parcels the name of the department (State) in which the office of destination is located.

In view of the extensive variety of articles prohibited to Colombia (see "Prohibitions"), persons desiring to mail parcels should be advised to consult the addressees in advance of mailing to ascertain whether their articles will be admitted, or to consult the nearest Colombian consulate, stating specifically what articles they desire to send. Parcels will be accepted for mailing to Colombia only with the understanding that the mailer has satisfied himself that the contents will be admitted.

Each parcel post shipment valued at $20 or less requires two copies of the sender's commercial invoice, one of which must be enclosed in the parcel and the other sent under separate cover to the addressee. Consular legalization is not needed, but the invoice must include a declaration of origin of the merchandise, in Spanish, reading as follows:

Certificamos bajo juramento que los precios de esta factura son los mismos que cargamos al cliente y que la mercancía a que se refiere esta misma factura es originaria de ..... En fe de lo cual (country of origin)
puesto firmamos la presente declaración en ..... de ..... de .....
(City, State) (Day) (Month) (Year)
.....
(Signature of shipper)

(Translation: We certify under oath that the prices in this invoice are the same that we charge our customers, and that the merchandise in this same invoice comes from ..... In faith of which we sign the present declaration at .....
(Country of origin)
(City, State) on .....)
(Date)

Commercial shipments of books or periodicals must be accompanied by commercial invoices as prescribed for such shipments in the postal union mails. See "Observations" under "Postal Union Mail."

For parcels valued over $20, the sender must have a copy of his commercial invoice legalized by a Colombian Consulate, and must prepare four copies of a consular invoice, one of which must be sent direct to the addressee with the legalized commercial invoice.

Consular invoice forms may be obtained and commercial invoices legalized at Colombian Consulates, which are located in principal cities of the United States.

The addressees in Colombia are required in most cases to obtain import licenses in order to secure delivery of parcels. For a parcel exceeding $20 in value the addressee is required to send a copy of the import license to the sender, who must submit it to the Colombian Consul when obtaining the consular invoice. If a sender receives a copy of a Colombian import license for a parcel whose value does not exceed $20, he must return it to the addressee in Colombia.

Parcels mailed simultaneously by the same sender to the same addressee at one address must be marked in the following manner, in order that customs officials in Colombia may more readily ascertain the combined value of the parcels contained in a single mailing.

Each parcel comprised in a single mailing must bear a fractional number, the numerator of which indicates the number of the parcel and the denominator the number of parcels comprised in the mailing. For example, if a single mailing were composed of 15 parcels they would be numbered 1/15, 2/15, 3/15, etc.

Parcels may be addressed to banks or other organizations for ultimate delivery to second addressees. The latter however may not take delivery without written authority from the first addressee, unless the sender arranges for change of address as provided in Part 247 of this chapter.

Prohibitions. An extensive variety of articles is prohibited to Colombia as a result of stringent import control regulations. Many kinds of food, clothing, footwear, musical instruments, jewelry, ornaments, watches, clocks, electrical and scientific apparatus, playing cards, engravings and other pictures including picture books, calendars and other illustrated stationery, soap, tobacco and pharmaceutical products are prohibited, as well as articles made from metal, wood, rubber, cloth, paper, cardboard, leather, glass, wax, and ceramics.

Parcels are accepted only under the conditions set forth in "Observations."

INSURED VALUE

$76.89

SEVENTY-SIX DOLLARS AND EIGHTY-NINE CENTS

Coins, bullion, precious stones, and any article of gold, silver, or platinum sent as parcel post must be insured.

Parcels containing jewelry must not have a value in excess of $1,000 ($100 when mailed as air parcel post from and to American Samoa and the Trust Territory of the Pacific). Any parcel containing jewelry or any other precious article exceeding $260 in value must be packed in a box measuring not less than 3 feet 6 inches in length and girth combined.

The final decision on all questions of compensation rests with the country in whose service the loss, rifling, or damage took place.

While parcels containing eggs, when properly packed, may be accepted for insurance to Great Britain and Northern Ireland, "no indemnity is payable," in the event of damage, should it be determined that responsibility for the damage rests with the Postal Administration of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Also regardless of where the damage occurred, "no indemnity" is payable for the damage to insured parcels, containing eggs, originating in Great Britain and Northern Ireland and addressed to this country.

For general information on insurance see Part 243 of this chapter.

Observations. Many types of merchandise, unless sent as unsolicited gifts, require import licenses which the addressees must obtain from the British Board of Trade. Before mailing commercial shipments, senders should assure themselves that the addressees can obtain licenses if needed.

Parcels containing bona fide unsolicited gifts are exempt from British import licensing requirements (see "Import Restrictions"). Mailers of such parcels should mark the wrappers and customs declarations "Unsolicited Gift."

Under the British customs regulations, parcels are liable to seizure if the customs declarations do not contain a full and accurate description of the contents.

Parcels containing articles subject to ad valorem duty should have an invoice enclosed showing the contents in detail and value of each article, and the parcel should be marked on the address side "Invoice enclosed". When the invoice relates to the contents of more than one parcel, each parcel is to be marked "Invoice enclosed in parcel No. ——."

Prohibitions. For reasons of sanitary policy: Meat, milk, cheese, butter, margarine, lard and other greases, unless packed in hermetically sealed tins plainly marked to show the nature of the contents. However, "Smithfield" hams are accepted as unsolicited gifts if enclosed in waterproof wrappings and adequately packed for protection and to avoid damage to other mail matter.

Arms, etc.: Firearms (except shotguns with barrels at least 20 in. long) and other deadly weapons and parts thereof, including guns for throwing liquid or gas and munitions therefor; accessories for reducing the sound or flash of firearms. The foregoing are admitted, however, if the addressee possesses an import license issued by the competent British authorities.

Switchblade knives.

To Northern Ireland: Airguns, and shotguns with barrels 20 inches or more in length, in addition to the above.

For other reasons: Articles violating the British trademark or copyright laws.

Liquids with flash point below 150° F. As an exception, paints, varnishes, turpentine, lacquer, and similar substances with flash point between 90° and 150° may be accepted in quantities not exceeding 1 quart when packed as prescribed in § 231.2(a)(2)(ii) of this chapter with an air space of at least 7½ percent of the total cubic content left in each container; the wrapper must be marked by the sender indicating that the flash point is not lower than 90° F.

Unmanufactured sweetened tobacco, and tobacco mixed with other substances. However, cigarettes, cigars, and pipe tobacco are admitted in gift parcels.

Coins, precious stones, jewelry and any articles of gold, silver or platinum, unless insured. Coins (unless declared to be for ornament), silver bullion or partially worked silver may not exceed £200 in value.

Advertisements of fortune tellers.

Massaging oils or similar products, and waxed or varnished articles unless thoroughly dried. If sent by air, such articles must be hermetically sealed in strong paper or enclosed in boxes of metal or of wood reinforced with wire.

Import restrictions. The attention of senders should be called to the following requirements, which are to be met by addressees:

Vaccines, serums, antitoxins, salvarsan and its derivatives, insulin, tuberculin, pituitary extract for injections, and sterilized surgical sutures for human use require authorization from the competent authority.

Foods or beverages to which any preservative or other substance has been added must comply with the British regulations for importation.

Many categories of merchandise require import licenses from the British Board of Trade, except when sent as bona fide unsolicited gifts (see "Observations") or as trade samples.

GREECE (INCLUDING CRETE AND DODECANESE ISLANDS [ASTYPALAIA, CHALKI, KALYMNOS, KARPATHOS, KASSOS, KASTELLORIZON, KOS, LEIPSOS, LEROS, NISSIROS, PATMOS, RODOS, SYMI AND TILOS])

For general information on insurance see Part 243 of this chapter.

Observations. The customs laws of Guatemala require that a certificate of origin be furnished for every importation except merchandise not exceeding $50 in value. In the case of articles subject to restrictions, quotas, or special charges, the certificate is required regardless of their value.

Commercial invoices must be furnished for all merchandise.

Both certificate of origin and commercial invoice must be visaed by one of the Guatemalan Consuls located in principal cities of the United States. Senders must present to the nearest Guatemalan Consul five copies of the commercial invoice covering their parcels. The certificate of origin and the original invoice which is returned after certification shall not be enclosed in the parcel, but forwarded under separate cover to the addressee. The remaining copies are retained by the Consul.

Consular fees are collected at the point of destination of the parcels in Guatemala. It is understood that in cases where parcels of value are received in Guatemala without the certified invoices and the addressees are unable to produce such invoices the parcels will be delivered, but the addressees will be required to pay the usual import duties plus a fine of 50 percent of the duties.

The invoices must indicate (1) name and address of shipper; (2) name and address of consignee; (3) date of the invoice; (4) marks, countermarks, and numbers; (5) number and kind of package; (6) contents of merchandise in detail; (7) weights in kilograms—legal, net, and gross; (8) value of merchandise; (9) expenses, such as postage, commissions, etc.; (10) declaration that all the prices and particulars are true and correct. The invoices must be signed in ink.

Parcels may be addressed to banks or other organizations for ultimate delivery to second addressees. The latter however may not take delivery without written authority from the first addressee, unless the sender arranges for change of address as provided in Part 247 of this chapter.

Observations. A large variety of items, when the value exceeds 200 Mexican pesos (about $16), require import licenses which the addressees must obtain before the goods arrive. The Mexican official valuation of articles may be higher than the purchase price. Also, customs duty is assessed at high rates. This applies to gifts and to Mexican goods being returned for replacement or repair, as well as commercial shipments. If the addressees have not obtained import licenses, if required, before the parcels arrive, the Mexican customs authorities may assess fines in addition to the duty, or confiscate the parcels. Confiscated parcels are not released without authorization of the customs authorities, even if the addressees refuse them or the senders request their return.

Parcel post and postal union mail packages for which the declared value exceeds $16 (U.S. currency) are not to be accepted for mailing unless the sender has marked the wrapper "Addressee possesses Mexican import license" or "Addressee does not require Mexican import license".

Parcels may be addressed to banks or other organizations for ultimate delivery to second addressees. The names and addresses of both addressees should be indicated on the parcels and on the customs declarations. The second addressee however may not take delivery without written authority from the first addressee, unless the sender arranges for change of address as provided in Part 247 of this chapter.

Parcels containing queen bees and accompanying worker bees must have enclosed an official health certificate. The addressee must possess an import permit to be secured from the Mexican "Secretaría de Agricultura y Ganaderia" before the bees are mailed. The wrapper must be marked "Health Certificate Enclosed—Addressee Has Import Permit."

Insecticides, fungicides and germicides must be packed with cushioning material between the inner and outer containers, and each receptacle shall be plainly marked with the word "Poison" and the label or printed name of the manufacturer.

For each parcel or group of parcels exceeding $70 in value, a commercial invoice in triplicate must be enclosed in the parcel or in one parcel of the group. The wrapper of each parcel should be marked "Commercial invoice enclosed" or "Commercial invoice enclosed in parcel No. —", as the case may be.

Prohibitions. For sanitary reasons: Pacifiers for the amusement of babies should bear labels in Spanish showing the material of which they are made and the name and address of the manufacturer.

Arms, etc.: Pistols, hunting and target arms, require a certificate from the Mexican consul at the place of shipment. Pistols and other instruments for the projection of tear gas are prohibited.

For other reasons: Works violating the Mexican copyright laws.

Bank notes, coins of all kinds, and values payable to bearer. As an exception, the Bank of Mexico and the banks associated therewith are authorized to import bank notes exclusively for the purpose of exchange.

Candy containing chocolate.

Cigarettes, unless the manufacturer has placed Mexican excise tax stamps on each pack.

Queen bees and accompanying worker bees, unless mailed in compliance with the Mexican regulations (see "Observations").

Radioactive materials, unless the sender has obtained import authorization prior to mailing from the National Nuclear Energy Commission, Av. Insurgentes Sur 1079, Mexico, D.F., Mexico.

Import restrictions. The attention of senders should be called to the following requirements, which are to be met by the addressees:

Meat or other animal products in cans, except in quantities less than 11 pounds require an inspection certificate from the Ministry of Agriculture and Fomento.

Arms other than those mentioned under "Prohibitions" require special permission from the Secretariat of War and Navy.

See "Observations" concerning import permits required for certain items exceeding 200 pesos in value.

Observations. Gift parcels addressed to individuals are subject to the restrictions given below. The restrictions do not apply to gift parcels sent to hospitals and scientific institutions and containing therapeutic products and apparatus.

Gift parcels addressed to individuals may weigh up to the normal limit of 22 pounds. They are subject to customs duty but are delivered without import permits if they contain only articles for the personal use of the addressee or his family, and the total weight of all the gift parcels received by one addressee within a year does not exceed 55 pounds. If this limit is exceeded, the addressee must comply with import formalities and duty will be charged at penalty rates. Gift parcels may contain only the articles and quantities shown in the list below.

Customs declarations for gift parcels must be prepared in duplicate. In addition to the customs declaration, a detailed list of the contents must be enclosed in the parcel.

Parcels may be mailed only by individuals, except that parcels containing exclusively printed matter (see list below, sec. VIII) may be mailed also by commercial firms or by organizations.

Used clothing must be accompanied by a certificate of disinfection. It is believed that a notarized certificate from a reliable laundry or dry-cleaning establishment that articles have been cleaned will meet the requirements of the Rumanian authorities.

Articles in soldered tin cans or other hermetically sealed containers are prohibited.

Medicaments must be covered by a prescription authenticated by the Rumanian health authorities. They must be sent separately in a parcel containing no other articles, and the quantities must not exceed those stated in the prescription. The prohibition against hermetically sealed containers does not apply to medicaments.

Parcels will be treated as undeliverable in Rumania if they do not comply with any of the above conditions, if they contain articles or quantities not shown in the following list, or if the addressee fails to pay customs duty. Parcels found to contain articles concealed for the purpose of evading customs duty will be confiscated.

(b) Medicines and therapeutic devices for the addressee's personal use, not exceeding 10 Rand in value.

The sender must mark the wrapper of each parcel or article "Addressee has import permit," &c, if the contents are in one of the exempted categories, "Exempt from import control."

Commercial shipments of printed matter require separate import permits to be obtained by the addressees for the portions classified as (a) scientific, educational and technical, (b) nonfiction, and (c) fiction. It is desirable that mailers of such shipments prepare separate invoices in respect of each classification, each invoice to show the total number of parcels in the shipment, and the invoice number to be marked on each package.

For commercial shipments, a commercial invoice in prescribed form must be sent to the addressee so as to arrive before the shipment.

Observations. To meet the requirements of Venezuelan customs regulations and avoid penalties against the addressees, complete customs declarations (Form 2966) carefully, giving particular attention to the following:

1. If a parcel contains articles of different kinds, show the exact quantity of each kind, with complete descriptions and individual weights. Give descriptions if possible in the exact terminology of the Venezuelan customs tariff with the tariff item numbers, or you may use the ordinary commercial descriptions of the goods with complete descriptions of the materials of which they are made and the intended use. Also show the value of each kind of article and the total value. Show the country of origin of the goods; a brief statement such as "Product of U.S.A." is sufficient.

2. Give the weight of each article in kilograms or other metric units. This weight must include the immediate container or the spool or board which holds the goods, as well as the goods themselves. Also give the net weight and gross weight of the entire parcel in kilograms or other metric units.

3. In the case of group shipments, give the required data for each parcel.

Fines are imposed when the net weights vary more than 3 percent from those stated on the customs declarations, or when the customs declarations are not complete or do not show the proper classification of the merchandise.

Parcels may be addressed to banks or other organizations for ultimate delivery to second addressees. The latter however may not take delivery without written authority from the first addressee, unless the sender arranges for change of address as provided in Part 247 of this chapter.

After the arrival of parcels in Venezuela each addressee is contacted in order to ascertain whether he desires to accept the parcel. If the addressee refuses the parcel it is treated as undeliverable and disposed of in accordance with the instructions of the sender, but if the addressee accepts the parcel it is then submitted for customs treatment. After customs treatment the addressee must either take delivery of the parcel or surrender it to the Venezuelan customs authorities, since parcels which have been accepted by the addressees cannot be considered as abandoned for purposes of retransmission.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 545—HOMEWORKERS IN THE FABRIC AND LEATHER GLOVE INDUSTRY; THE HANDKERCHIEF, SCARF, AND ART LINEN INDUSTRY; THE CHILDREN'S DRESS AND RELATED PRODUCTS INDUSTRY; THE WOMEN'S AND CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR AND WOMEN'S BLOUSE INDUSTRY; THE NEEDLEWORK AND FABRICATED TEXTILE PRODUCTS INDUSTRY; AND THE SWEATER AND KNIT SWIMWEAR INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

Piece Rate Increase

Pursuant to authority in section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 206), Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR 1949–53 Comp., p. 1004), and Order No. 16–67 of the Secretary of Labor, 29 CFR 545.13 is amended to read as set forth below.

This amendment merely articulates proportional increases in the minimum piece rates which another section of the part already requires to be paid by reason of increases in hourly rates which are in effect under section 6(c)(2) of the Act. For this reason, it is hereby found that notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary. In addition, and for the same reason, good cause is found to provide no delay in the effective date. The amendment is effective immediately.

As amended, 29 CFR 545.13 reads as follows:

§ 545.13 Piece rates established in accordance with § 545.9.

PART 555—BOARD RULINGS

Use of Savings Accounts as Checking Accounts

AUGUST 17, 1967.

Resolved that the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, upon the basis of consideration by it of the advisability of revising paragraph (d) of § 555.8 of the rules and regulations for the Federal Savings and Loan System (12 CFR 555.8(d)) and for the purpose of permitting regular withdrawal payments to be made to relatives of a member, hereby revises said paragraph (d) as follows, effective August 25, 1967:

§ 555.8 Savings accounts.

* * * * * * *

(d) Checking accounts; advertising and use as. A Federal association may not advertise that its savings accounts may be used as checking accounts nor may the withdrawal of savings be made a service, regardless of the nomenclature used, by which members may use their accounts to make regular payments to others. The foregoing prohibitions shall not extend to the sale by an association of travelers checks or money orders, the occasional sale to members of drafts for their convenience, withdrawals for the payment of premiums on mortgagor or savings member insurance plans, systematic withdrawal plans in favor of the member or a relative of the member, or the purchase of obligations of the United States.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airworthiness Docket No. 67–SW–56; Amdt. 39–468]

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Bell Model 204B Helicopters

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), an airworthiness directive was adopted on August 16, 1967, and made effective immediately as to all known U.S. operators of Bell Model 204B helicopters. The directive requires a one-time inspection of the tail rotor assembly slider, P/N 204–010–720–3, for proper hardness.

Since it was found that immediate corrective action was required, notice and public procedure thereon was impractical and contrary to the public interest and good cause existed for making the airworthiness directive effective immediately as to all known U.S. operators of Bell Model 204B helicopters by individual telegrams dated August 16, 1967. These conditions still exist and the airworthiness directive is hereby published in the FEDERAL REGISTER as an amendment to § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to make it effective as to all persons.

BELL. Applies to Model 204B helicopters, Serial Numbers 2001 through 2094, with Slider, P/N 204-010-720-3, installed and to all spare Sliders, P/N 204-010-720-3.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent failure of the Slider, accomplish the following one-time inspection for proper hardness: Remove the Slider in accordance with Section VI of the Model 204B Maintenance Manual. Determine the hardness of the Slider using hardness tester. Readings should be taken on the side of the flat plate. Reinstall only Sliders with a tensile hardness reading of 125,000 p.s.i. to 145,000 p.s.i. in accordance with Section VI of the Model 204B Maintenance Manual. For Sliders on tail rotor assemblies with less than 300 hours' time in service, conduct the above inspection before further flight unless already accomplished. For Sliders on tail rotor assemblies with 300 hours or more time in service, conduct the above inspection within the next 125 hours' time in service unless already accomplished. For spare Sliders, conduct the inspection before installation, unless already accomplished.

(Bell Service Bulletin No. 204B-8 dated August 15, 1967, also pertains to this subject.)

This amendment becomes effective on August 26, 1967, for all persons except those to whom it was made effective immediately by telegram dated August 16, 1967.

SUBCHAPTER E—AIRSPACE

[Airspace Docket No. 67-CE-41]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airways

On May 11, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7133) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would redesignate V-161 from Grand Rapids, Minn., to International Falls, Minn.; redesignate V-129 W alternate from Hibbing, Minn., to International Falls; and designate an N alternate to V-430 from Grand Rapids to Duluth, Minn., via Hibbing.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were given due consideration.

The Air Transport Association of America offered no objection to the proposal.

The Commissioner of Aeronautics, State of Minnesota concurred in the proposals. He suggested a more direct route between International Falls and Minneapolis via Grand Rapids. He also suggested an additional airway between Duluth and International Falls via Eveleth, Minn.

The manager of Grand Rapids Airport concurred in the proposals. In addition to the proposed alignment of V-161, he proposed an airway from Grantsburg, Wis., to Grand Rapids, to expedite traffic to the Canadian border.

A review of the most recent Federal Aviation Administration IFR Peak day airway traffic survey, disclosed that the number of aircraft movements between Minneapolis and International Falls could not justify an additional airway via Grantsburg or Grand Rapids nor a dual airway structure between Duluth and International Falls, as assignments of controlled airspace.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

Section 71.123 (32 F.R. 2009, 6435) is amended as follows:

1. In V-129 "including a W alternate from Hibbing, 24 miles, 12 AGL, 50 miles, 30 MSL, 12 AGL International Falls;" is deleted and "including a W alternate from Hibbing, 24 miles, 12 AGL, 30 MSL INT Hibbing 325° and International Falls 182° radials, 25 miles, 30 MSL, 12 AGL to International Falls;" is substituted therefor.

2. In V-161 "12 AGL Hibbing, Minn." is deleted and "15 miles, 12 AGL, 59 miles 30 MSL, 12 AGL International Falls." is substituted therefor.

3. In V-430 "12 AGL Duluth, Minn.;" is deleted and "12 AGL Duluth, Minn., including a 12 AGL N alternate from Grand Rapids, to Duluth via Hibbing, Minn., excluding the airspace between the main and this N alternate airway;" is substituted therefor.

Designation of Federal Airway

On June 29, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 9237) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a 12 AGL airway from Boysen Reservoir, Wyo., via Worland, Wyo., to Cody, Wyo.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.123 (32 F.R. 2009) V-319 is added as follows:

Realignment of Jet Route Segment

On June 17, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 8725) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering the realignment of Jet Route No. 34 segment between Milwaukee, Wis., and Cleveland, Ohio.

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

[Reg. Docket No. 8530; Amdt. 550]

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

The amendments to the standard instrument approach procedures contained herein are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. The amended procedures supersede the existing procedures of the same classification now in effect for the airports specified therein. For the convenience of the users, the complete procedure is republished in this amendment indicating the changes to the existing procedures.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interests of safety in air commerce, I find that compliance with the notice and procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective within less than 30 days from publication.

In view of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (24 F.R. 5662), Part 97 (14 CFR Part 97) is amended as follows:

1. By amending the following automatic direction finding procedures prescribed in § 97.11(b) to read:

Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

PART 919—PEACHES GROWN IN MESA COUNTY, COLO.

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

On August 10, 1967, notice of rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 11535) regarding proposed expenses and the related rate of assessment for the period beginning March 1, 1967, and ending February 29, 1968, pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 919, as amended (7 CFR Part 919), regulating the handling of peaches grown in Mesa County, Colo. This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in such notice which were submitted by the Administrative Committee (established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order), it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 919.206 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) Expenses. Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Administrative Committee during the period March 1, 1967, through February 29, 1968, will amount to $500.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for said period, payable by each handler in accordance with § 919.41, is fixed at $0.05 per bushel basket of peaches, or equivalent quantity of peaches in other containers or in bulk.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) shipments of the current crop of peaches grown in Mesa County, Colo., are now being made; (2) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rate of assessment herein fixed shall be applicable to all assessable peaches handled during the aforesaid period; and (3) such period began on March 1, 1967, and said rate of assessment will automatically apply to all such peaches beginning with such date.

Terms used in the marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said marketing agreement and order.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Subpart F issued under sec. 510, 63 Stat. 437, 42 U.S.C. 1480; Orders of Secretary of Agriculture, 29 F.R. 16210, 32 F.R. 6650.

§ 1822.231 General.

This subpart sets forth the policies and procedures, and delegates authority for making direct and insured Rural Cooperative Housing loans under section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949. A Rural Cooperative Housing loan will be made in accordance with the provisions of Subpart D of this part as modified by and not inconsistent with this subpart. The basic objective of Rural Cooperative Housing loans is to provide for rural residents cooperatively owned and operated housing and related facilities which are economically designed and constructed.

§ 1822.232 Definitions.

For the purposes of this subpart:

(a) "Cooperative" means a corporation which:

(1) Is organized under the laws of a State as a cooperative,

(2) Will own and operate the housing on a cooperative basis solely for the benefit of the occupants,

(3) Is legally precluded from distributing during the life of the loan any gains or profits from the operation of the housing,

(4) Has a membership consisting solely of eligible occupants of the housing, and

(5) Will restrict occupancy of the housing to eligible occupants, except to any extent that the Farmers Home Administration permits occupancy by others in special circumstances.

(b) "Cooperative housing" means housing owned and operated by a cooperative.

(c) "Subscription Agreement" means the initial contract between the prospective member and the cooperative specifying the terms of application for membership and the amount of his contribution. Farmers Home Administration will provide a sample subscription agreement to be used as a guide by the applicant cooperative.

(d) "Occupancy Agreement" means a contract setting forth the rights and obligations of the member and the cooperative, including the amount of the monthly occupancy charge and the other terms under which the member will occupy the housing. Farmers Home Administration will provide a sample occupancy agreement for use as a guide by the applicant cooperative and members.

(e) "Occupancy charge" means the member's proportionate share, calculated on a monthly basis, of the cost of owning and operating the housing, including but not limited to the following: Taxes, insurance, required reserves, estimated cost of current repairs, maintenance, and replacements of project property, principal and interest payments on indebtedness, necessary management expenses, and the cost of any utility services furnished by the cooperative.

(f) "Transfer value" means the value of a member's equity calculated in accordance with a formula determined by the cooperative with the approval of the Farmers Home Administration.

(g) "Gains or profits" do not include any patronage refunds to occupants of the housing, or dividends on stock or membership which is nonvoting and limited as to operating dividends and liquidation value.

(h) References in Subpart D of this part to "rental housing," "rental basis," "tenant," "rents," and "organization" will be construed to mean "cooperative housing," "cooperative basis," "occupant," "occupancy charges," and "cooperative" when used in connection with Rural Cooperative Housing loans.

(i) Definitions in § 1822.82 except those in paragraphs (h) through (l) of this section are applicable to this subpart.

§ 1822.233 Eligibility requirements.

(a) Eligibility of applicant. To be eligible for a Rural Cooperative Housing loan the applicant must:

(1) Be a cooperative which will use the loan to provide cooperative housing and related facilities for persons who are members and eligible occupants as defined in § 1822.82(c).

(2) Meet the eligibility requirements specified in § 1822.83(a) (2), (4), (5), (6), (7), (8), and (10)(vii).

(3) Use bylaws substantially conforming to the model bylaws prescribed by Farmers Home Administration and prepared in accordance with the State law.

(b) Authorized representative of applicant. The Farmers Home Administration will deal only with the applicant or a bona fide representative of the applicant and his technical advisers. An authorized representative of the applicant must be a person who has no pecuniary interest in the award of the architectural or construction contracts, the purchase of equipment, or the purchase of the land for the housing site.

§ 1822.234 Loan purposes.

Loans may be made for the purposes described in § 1822.84 except that paragraph (a)(8) of § 1822.84 will not be applicable and in paragraph (h) of § 1822.84 the authorization will be to the borrower rather than limited to a nonprofit corporation or consumer cooperative.

§ 1822.235 Special conditions.

All of § 1822.87, except paragraph (d), is applicable.

SUBCHAPTER E—SUPPLY AND PROCUREMENT

PART 101-25—GENERAL

Subpart 101-25.4—Replacement Standards

MATERIALS HANDLING EQUIPMENT REPLACEMENT STANDARDS

Replacement standards for materials handling equipment have been revised based upon a reexamination of such standards and considering modern technology techniques, and availability of equipment.

Section 101-25.405 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-25.405 Materials handling equipment.

(a) Materials handling equipment will not be replaced unless the estimated cost of necessary one-time repair or reconditioning of each piece of equipment exceeds, at lowest available cost, the applicable percentage of acquisition cost as shown in column 3 of the following table. Equipment eligible for replacement under the criteria established by this standard may be repaired provided the expected economical life is extended commensurate with the expenditure required. Prior to incurring repair costs for equipment eligible for replacement, consideration should be given to the continuing availability of repair parts.

(1) Years in use shall be determined in accordance with the following:

(i) An operating month is considered equal to 100 operating hours. For materials handling equipment in storage, one month in storage equals 50 hours of operation.

(ii) The number of years in use is determined by dividing the number of operating months by 12. The fractional years in use resulting from this computation will be rounded to the nearest full year.

(2) In using the maximum allowable one-time repair limits in column 3 of the table, costs such as parts, labor, and transportation incident to the repairs, are to be included in computing one-time repair costs. However, operating expenses such as fuels and lubricants, replacement tires and batteries, and antifreeze will not be included in the one-time repair cost estimate.

Column 1	Column 2	Column 3
Type of unit	Expected years of economical use	Maximum allowable "One-time repair limits" as percentage of acquisition costs (years in use)

(b) Notwithstanding the limitations prescribed in § 101-25.405(a), materials handling equipment may be replaced under the following conditions provided a written justification supporting such replacement is approved by the agency head or an authorized designee. The justification shall be retained in the agency files.

(1) When the cumulative repair costs on a piece of equipment appears to be excessive as indicated by repair records. However, because an item of equipment accrues repair costs equal to the acquisition cost, it is not necessarily indicative of the current condition of the equipment. For example, a substantial repair expenditure included in the cumulative cost may actually have resulted in restoring the equipment to as good as new condition. While cumulative repair costs suggest an area for investigation, they should not be used as the principal ingredient in the repair/replacement decision making process.

(2) When repair parts are not available causing excessive equipment out-of-service time.

(3) When the equipment lacks essential features required in a particular task which is of a continuing nature and other suitable equipment is not readily available.

PART 101-27—INVENTORY MANAGEMENT

Elimination of Items From Inventory

Policy and procedures are provided for eliminating items from inventory which can be obtained more economically from readily available sources, Government or commercial. Criteria are provided for determining when it is economical to eliminate such items.

Part 101-27 is amended by the addition of new Subpart 101-27.4, as follows:

Subpart 101-27.3 [Reserved]

Subpart 101-27.4—Elimination of Items From Inventory

Sec.
101-27.400 Scope of subpart.
101-27.401 Definitions.
101-27.402 Applicability.
101-27.403 General.
101-27.404 Review of items.
101-27.405 Criteria for elimination.
101-27.406 Disposition of stock.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Subpart 101-27.4 are issued under sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 101-27.3 [Reserved]

Subpart 101-27.4—Elimination of Items From Inventory

§ 101-27.400 Scope of subpart.

This subpart establishes policy and procedures designed to assure that items which can be obtained more economically from readily available sources, Government or commercial, are eliminated from inventory. For items which are not readily available from Government or commercial sources or are being held in inventory for a one time construction project, this subpart shall be applied to the extent feasible by the activity managing or controlling such inventories.

§ 101-27.401 Definitions.

As used in this Subpart 101-27.4, the following terms have the meanings set forth below:

(a) "Inactive item" means an item for which no current or future requirements are recognized by previous users and the item manager.

(b) "Slow-moving item" means an item for which there are current or future requirements, but the frequency and quantity of such requirements do not make it economical to stock in lieu of ordering from other sources as required.

(c) "Standby or reserve item" means an item for which a reserve stock is held which must be available immediately to meet emergencies which will not permit time for procurement or requisitioning without endangering life or possible substantial financial loss to the Government.

§ 101-27.402 Applicability.

The provisions of this subpart are applicable to all executive agencies in connection with inventory items maintained at stocking activities other than Government wholesale supply sources.

§ 101-27.403 General.

By eliminating inactive items and slow-moving items which are readily available, when needed, from Government wholesale supply activities or from commercial sources, the costs to the Government in inventory investment and for maintaining these items in inventory, can be eliminated. Timely reviews are required to determine which items should be eliminated from inventory.

§ 101-27.404 Review of items.

Except for standby or reserve stocks, items in inventory shall be reviewed periodically (at least annually) to identify those which are inactive and slow-moving. This review may be conducted coincidently with the normal replenishment or long supply reviews. The estimate of current or future requirements for an item shall be based on its recent history of recurring requirements. Standby items shall also be reviewed at appropriate intervals to substantiate their qualification for inclusion in that category.

§ 101-27.405 Criteria for elimination.

Inactive items, items which no longer qualify as standby, and slow-moving items which are readily available, when needed, from Government or commercial sources shall be eliminated from inventory. The determination of a slow-moving item shall be based on a comparison of the costs for continuing to maintain it in stock as opposed to the costs for ordering it from outside sources each time it is requested. This comparison shall also consider any difference in price and transportation costs for each alternative. In the absence of criteria for stockage of an item developed and used by an agency, the desired results will be obtained through application of the following table:

Orders Per Year Under Economic Order Quantity (EOQ)	Minimum Number of Requests Per Year to Justify Continuation in Stock
10	20
9	18
8	16
5	10
3 and under	7

NOTE: Except for the low dollar infrequently ordered item, which requires a higher minimum, an item should be discontinued from stock if the number of requests for it is less than twice its order frequency under EOQ. For example, an item ordered six times per year under EOQ should have at least 12 requests per year to continue stock-

age. For 11 requests, it would cost less to order each time it was requested.

Under EOQ.
- 11 orders at $5 per order = $55
- 5 orders at $6 per order = 30
- Holding Cost (equal to ordering cost) = 30
- Total = 60

§ 101–27.406 Disposition of stock.

Stocks of slow-moving items which are not otherwise determined to be eligible for continued stockage shall be eliminated through normal attrition and shall not be replenished. The successive actions indicated in paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section, shall be taken, as necessary, to remove stocks of inactive items from inventory.

(a) Transfer stock to other offices where needed within the agency.

(b) Transfer stock to other agencies as follows:

(1) Centrally managed items to the agency managing the item for credit; or

(2) Agency program items to agencies requiring them.

(c) Dispose of remaining stocks, as excess, after actions taken in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, in accordance with Subpart 101–43.3.

Effective date. This amendment is effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: August 21, 1967.

SUBCHAPTER H—UTILIZATION AND DISPOSAL

PART 101–43—UTILIZATION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Acquisition of Mercury

This amendment requires that requests for mercury be submitted to the General Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20405, in lieu of the General Services Administration, Atlanta, Ga. 30309, amends the procedure to be followed, and provides for the utilization of excess mercury. It also furnishes the new regional office address for General Services Administration Region 7.

Subpart 101–43.3—Utilization of Excess

Subpart 101–43.3 is amended by revising § 101–43.303–1(b) and by adding new §§ 101–43.303–1 (c) and (d) as follows:

§ 101–43.303–1 Acquisition of mercury.

* * * * *

(b) Mercury, minimum 99.9 percent pure (not triple distilled), in 76-pound flasks, is available for transfer from GSA stocks at fair market value. Requests for the mercury by an agency for its use or for use by its cost-reimbursement type contractors shall be made to the Project Manager, Minerals and Ores, Property Management and Disposal Service, General Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20405. The Project Manager will furnish the current fair market value to the requesting agency. The requesting agency will submit a request for transfer to the General Services Administration, Washington, D.C. 20405, for the quantity required. The unit of issue is a 76-pound flask.

(c) Requests for clearance to purchase quantities of 76 pounds or more from sources other than GSA must be accompanied by a statement of the reasons that make the available mercury unsuitable for the purposes of the requesting agency. Requesting agencies will be notified as to the approval or disapproval of such requests.

(d) From time to time mercury, in quantities of less than 76 pounds and in lesser degrees of purity, may become excess to the needs of a Federal agency. Upon advice of the availability of such mercury, GSA will offer it for utilization without reimbursement in the same manner as other property is offered.

Subpart 101–43.49—Illustrations

Hours of Operation of Standard Broadcast Stations; Order Extending Time

1. The Report and Order in this proceeding was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 15, 1967. Some 22 petitions for reconsideration were timely filed on or before August 14, 1967, and public notice was given on August 21. Storer Broadcasting Co., licensee of various standard broadcast stations and a participant in the proceeding, has requested that the time for filing pleadings in response to these petitions—which would expire August 31 under the Commission's rules (§ 1.106, Note)—be extended to and including September 8, 1967. The Storer request refers to the number of the petitions and other commitments of its legal and engineering staffs, which, it is stated, will make it impossible for it to file a responsive pleading within the time specified in the rules.

2. In view of the number of petitions filed by parties taking various positions with respect to the decision, it appears that good cause exists for the requested extension. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 21st day of August, 1967, that the time for filing pleadings in response to the petitions for reconsideration filed herein is extended, to and including September 8, 1967; and the time for filing replies to such responsive pleadings is extended to and including September 15, 1967.

3. This action is taken pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281(d)(8) of the Commission's rules and regulations.

PARKER RIVER NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, MASS.

Proposed Deletion From Open Areas For Hunting Big Game

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of February 18, 1929, as amended (45 Stat. 1222, 16 U.S.C. 715), and the Endangered Species Preservation Act of October 15, 1966 (80 Stat. 926, 16 U.S.C. 668aa), it is proposed to amend 50 CFR 32.31 by deleting Parker River National Wildlife Refuge, Mass., from the list of areas open to the hunting of big game.

It has been determined that the small population of deer on Parker River National Wildlife Refuge remains stable and compatible with available habitat without hunting, and that control is unnecessary.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to this proposed amendment to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

MILK IN THE CENTRAL ILLINOIS MARKETING AREA

Notice of Proposed Suspension of Certain Provision of the Order

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of a certain provision of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Central Illinois marketing area is being considered for the month of August 1967.

The provision proposed to be suspended is in § 1050.14(b)(2) and reads as follows, "during the months of May and June and in any month for not more than 8 days of production of producer milk by such producer", relating to diversion of producer milk to nonpool plants.

This suspension action was requested by a handler regulated under the order. It is contended that abnormal seasonal increase in production requires removal of the diversion limit for August this year if many producers regularly associated with the market are to maintain producer status. This suspension is requested to allow the movement of such producers' milk direct from their farms to nonpool manufacturing plants.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed suspension should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 3 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All documents filed should be in quadruplicate.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

NITROGLYCERIN AND AMYL NITRITE AS OVER-THE-COUNTER DRUGS FOR HUMANS

Proposed Statement of Policy

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 502(f), 701(a), 52 Stat. 1051, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 352(f), 371(a)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), it is proposed that Part 3 be amended by adding thereto a new section, as follows:

§ 3.—— Nitroglycerin and amyl nitrite as over-the-counter drugs for human use.

(a) In § 3.21 Drug preparations intended for human use containing certain "coronary vasodilators", it is stated that various nitrates and nitrites when employed under medical supervision are generally regarded as safe and useful for the management of angina pectoris in some patients. It is also recognized by medical experts that the prompt use of the sublingual or inhalation forms of this class of drugs may terminate an attack of angina. Patients who have experienced anginal attacks and whose condition has been previously diagnosed and treated by a physician are familiar with the pain pattern typical of their condition and have been instructed as to the measures necessary to the use of these drugs in the event of an acute attack. Such attacks represent emergency situations calling for the prompt use of drugs of a type which are not likely to be purchased and used without medical advice.

(b) Amyl nitrite inhalant, in units of not over 0.3 cc., has been available over the counter for self-medication for a number of years without evidence of harm to the users.

(c) In view of the foregoing, it is the opinion of the Food and Drug Administration that it is in the public interest for amyl nitrite inhalant and nitroglycerin for sublingual use to be available as over-the-counter drugs for self-medication provided that all the following conditions are met:

(1) The individual dosage unit does not exceed 1/100 grain (0.65 mg.) nitroglycerin per sublingual tablet or 5 minims (0.3 cc.) amyl nitrite per perle.

(2) The article is packaged in a quantity not to exceed 50 nitroglycerin sublingual tablets or 12 individual dosage units of amyl nitrite per retail package.

(3) In addition to other required information, the label or labeling bears in effect the following information in a prominent and conspicuous manner:

(i) Indications: For the relief of pain of angina pectoris.

(ii) Caution: Patients with angina pectoris should be under close supervision of a physician. Consult your physician if prompt relief of pain is not obtained or side effects occur or are suspected. Side effects which have been reported include: Flushing, rash, nausea, weakness, headache, marked sensitivity which may be enhanced by alcohol, and pain within the eye.

(iii) Usual dosage: One tablet under the tongue or one perle repeated as needed for relief of pain as directed by your physician.

(iv) Keep out of reach of children.

AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Continental Models IO-470 and TSIO-470 Engines

The original Notice of Proposed Rule Making on this proceeding published in 32 F.R. 7598 proposed retirement within the next 300 hours' time in service after the effective date of the AD of reground or chrome plated cylinder assemblies, Part No. 626820, installed on the subject engines which do not have the letter "H" stamped on the rocker box flange over the exhaust valve.

An analysis of the comments already received indicates that the original proposal can perhaps be modified so as to be less burdensome. The agency is now considering and would also like comments on a modification to the original proposal which, instead of requiring retirement of the reground or chrome plated "non-H" cylinders, would prevent further installation but permit cylinders already installed to be operated until the next overhaul provided that inspections were conducted at intervals of 25 hours of operation.

As a result of comments received the Federal Aviation Administration intends to extend the time for comments on this proposal in order to permit the completion of a study the Agency is conducting through its own resources to determine the experience with both the "H" and "Non-H" cylinders and whether unmodified reground or chromed and also to obtain comments from the industry in these respects. This proposal may be further modified in light of comments and further information obtained as to the service experience with both the "H" and "Non-H" cylinders.

Comments should identify the docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the Director, Central Region, Attention: Regional Counsel, Airworthiness Rules Docket, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. All communications received on or before October 1, 1967, will be considered before action is taken upon the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Airworthiness Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

Issued at Kansas City, Mo., on August 18, 1967.

[Docket No. 8551; Notice 67-28]

FLIGHT FOLLOWING REQUIREMENTS

Proposed Revision

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 121 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to completely revise the flight following rules that apply to supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket GC-24, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. All communications received on or before November 6, 1967, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

The complete revision of former CAR Part 42 adopted by the FAA in July of 1963 contained detailed requirements for the establishment of an "approved" flight following system. In adopting these requirements the FAA recognized that, due to the nature of the operations conducted under that Part, a complete dispatch system was impracticable. The FAA sought to require each operator to achieve the maximum possible level of operational control through the flight following requirements. Essentially, the flight following system required that a supplemental air carrier or commercial operator exercise operational control through (1) a joint flight release by the pilot in command and the director of operations; and (2) flight following centers through which the operator could monitor the progress of each flight from the point of departure to its destination, including intermediate stops. The regulations specifically stated that a flight following system need not provide for in-flight monitoring by a flight following center.

Supplemental air carriers and commercial operators, as well as certain domestic and flag air carrier charter and special service flights, have been operating under these flight following rules for almost 4 years. It has become apparent to FAA inspectors and to these operators that, to comply fully with the present flight following requirements, it is necessary to have virtually complete dispatch capability. Furthermore, even where technical compliance with these requirements may be achieved without complete dispatch capability, serious questions arise as to whether the steps taken to achieve such technical compliance actually contribute to the safety of the flight.

The joint flight release. The requirement that the pilot in command cannot sign the flight release until he and "the person authorized by the operator to exercise operational control believe that the flight can be made with safety", has caused the most serious problems. Unless an operator has on the scene personnel who have available as much information as the pilot in command, this requirement has usually meant that messages must be sent to the operator's principal operations base and concurrence received before a flight could be released from an overseas location. Frequently, the operational control exercised by the management personnel has been nothing more than rubber stamp approval of the pilot in command's request since the latter was on the scene and had available to him much more relevant information than did the former. In other cases, the FAA has found that operators sought to "technically" comply with the dual concurrence requirement by designating someone on the scene as a representative of the director of operations. At times, this designee was another member of the departing flight crew or a member of the "in-bound" crew who would have authority to concur in releasing the "outbound" flight. Such arrangements obviously would not comply with the intent of the rule and would have little, if any, safety benefit.

The FAA has therefore concluded that a complete revision of the present system is justified. It is believed that the desire to involve the highest level of management in the operational control of each flight can be achieved without requiring actions that obviously do not add to the safety of the flight. The FAA, therefore, proposes to adopt a new system that would require that the certificate holder prepare in advance for each flight an "operational plan". This plan would contain all of the information needed by the pilot in command to determine that the flight can be released safely, except the specific information immediately available to him at the point of departure. Thus, as long as the operational plan was met, the pilot in command would be authorized to prepare and sign the flight release without further contact with management personnel.

Flight following. As previously indicated, the present flight following system requires a certificateholder to have flight following centers capable of "monitoring the progress of each flight" from departure at the point of origin, through intermediate stops and diversions (including maintenance or other delays), to arrival at its destination. Since, as indicated previously, it is almost impossible to comply with this requirement without having what is virtually a complete dispatch system (even though the regulations specifically disclaim any requirement for inflight monitoring) the FAA proposes to delete the requirement for flight following centers. Although specific flight following facilities will not be required, use of the most rapid means of communication available will be required to notify the principal operations base of departures from a point of origin, arrivals at destinations, including intermediate stops, and diversions or maintenance or mechanical delays. Private or public (telephone, telegraph, radio, etc.) communications facilities may be used.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 121 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

1. By deleting §§ 121.125 and 121.127.

2. By amending § 121.537 to read as follows:

§ 121.537 Responsibility for operational control: operational plan system: supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

(a) Each supplemental air carrier and commercial operator is responsible for operational control.

(b) Each supplemental air carrier and commercial operator must show that it has an operational plan system that meets the requirements of this Part.

(c) The director of operations and the pilot in command are jointly responsible for the initiation, continuation, diversion, and termination of a flight in compliance with this Part and appropriate operations specifications. The director of operations exercises his responsibility when he establishes for each flight an operational plan that meets the requirements of § 121.689.

The director of operations may delegate the function of preparing operational plans but he may not delegate the responsibility for this function. The pilot in command exercises his responsibility when he prepares and signs a flight release that complies with the operational plan for that flight.

(d) Each operational plan system must insure that the pilot in command is furnished with all information necessary for, and that there is available to him adequate equipment and facilities for, the safe operation of the flight. The operational plan system must, by using the most rapid means of communication available, provide for monitoring the progress of each flight with respect to its departure from the point of origin and arrival at its destination, including intermediate stops, and any maintenance, mechanical, or other delays encountered at those points.

(e) Each pilot in command of an aircraft is, during flight time, in command of the aircraft and crew and is responsible for the safety of the passengers, crewmembers, cargo, and aircraft. The pilot in command has full control and authority in the operation of the aircraft, without limitation, over other crewmembers and their duties during flight time, whether or not he holds valid certificates authorizing him to perform the duties of those crewmembers.

3. By amending § 121.559 as follows:

(a) By striking out the words "with a flight following service" in paragraph (b) and inserting the words "in accordance with an operational plan under § 121.537" in place thereof.

(b) By striking out the words "keep the appropriate ground radio station" in paragraph (c) and inserting the words "to the extent practicable keep the appropriate ATC facility and the appropriate management personnel exercising operational control over that flight" in place thereof.

4. By amending § 121.597 to read as follows:

§ 121.597 Operational plan and flight release authority: supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

(a) No person may start a flight under an operational plan system except in accordance with the operational plan prepared for that flight by the director of operations or his designee.

(b) No person may start a flight under an operational plan system unless the pilot in command has prepared and signed a flight release that complies with § 121.689 and that is consistent with the operational plan for that flight. No pilot in command may sign a flight release unless it is in accordance with the operational plan for that flight and he believes that the flight can be made with safety.

(c) No person may continue a flight from an intermediate airport without a new flight release if—

(1) The aircraft has been on the ground more than 6 hours;

(2) There has been a change in the assigned flight crew; or

(3) The pilot in command has received a change in the operational plan for that flight.

5. By amending § 121.609 by striking out the words "communication and" and by amending the section heading to read as follows:

§ 121.609 Navigation facilities: supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

* * * * *

6. By amending § 121.689(b) by adding the following new sentence at the end thereof:

"In addition a copy of the appropriate operational plan, including any amendments thereto, must be attached to the flight release."

7. By adding a new section following § 121.687 to read as follows:

§ 121.688 Operational plan form: supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

(a) The operational plan may be in any form but each plan must contain at least the following information for each flight to be conducted under that plan:

(1) Airports to be served and dates of service including available alternate airports.

(2) Planned departure and arrival time at each airport to be served.

(3) Aircraft to be used.

(4) Routes to be used.

(5) Any information needed to ensure compliance with appropriate airplane performance operating limitations of §§ 121.171 through 121.207.

(6) Crewmember assignments and layover points or rest stops required.

(7) Sources of weather data.

(8) Communications, navigation, maintenance, refueling, and ground handling facilities to be used.

(9) Maps, charts, and instrument approach procedures appropriate to the operation.

(10) Any special briefings or procedures necessary for the operation including alternate courses of action available to the pilot in command that may be exercised without an amendment to the operational plan.

(11) Status of any maintenance or inspections scheduled for the aircraft to be used and any other information relevant to the airworthiness status of the aircraft.

(b) Where practicable (regularly scheduled flights or frequently recurring flights) a certificate holder may include a master operational plan for a particular flight in its operations manual. A copy of the appropriate manual pages together with any amendments necessary for a particular operation may be attached to the flight release to satisfy the requirements of § 121.689(b).

8. By amending § 121.697 as follows:

a. By amending the section heading to read as follows:

§ 121.697 Disposition of load manifest, flight release, flight plans, and operational plans: supplemental air carriers and commercial operators.

b. By adding the words "and operational plan" in paragraph (a) (2) before the semicolon.

c. By adding after the words "of this section" in paragraph (c) the words ", except the operational plan," and by adding a new sentence to paragraph (c) to read as follows: "In addition a copy of the load manifest shall be mailed to the principal operations base at each intermediate stop."

These amendments are proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 604 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354, 1421, and 1424).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 21, 1967.

[Docket No. 17562]

"PRE-SUNRISE" OPERATION BY CLASS II STATIONS UNDER PRE-SUNRISE SERVICE AUTHORIZATION ON U.S. I–A CLEAR CHANNELS

Order Extending Time for Filing Comments and Reply Comments

1. On July 13, 1967, simultaneously with the decision in the over-all "pre-sunrise" proceeding (Docket 14419) the Commission issued the notice of proposed rule making herein, concerning the power to be permitted for pre-sunrise operation by Class II stations on U.S. I–A clear channels. The time for comments and reply comments was specified therein as September 5 and October 5, 1967, respectively.

2. Two parties by petition have requested that the time for comments be extended. Storer Broadcasting Co., licensee of Station KGBS, Los Angeles (a Class II station on 1020 kc/s) seeks an extension until September 26, and Clear Channel Broadcasting Service (CCBS), a group of 12 Class I–A clear channel station licensees, seeks an extension until October 30, 1967. Storer urges other commitments of its legal, engineering, and management personnel during the next few weeks, and the need for analysis of the decision in 14419. CCBS asks additional time to make engineering studies.

3. It appears that an extension of time is warranted, but, in view of the desirability of resolving this matter, not the period of nearly 2 months sought by CCBS. It appears that an extension of about 1 month should be sufficient. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the time for filing comments and reply comments in this proceeding is extended to October 9 and November 10, 1967, respectively.

4. This action is taken pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281(d)(8) of the Commission's rules and regulations.

Adopted: August 21, 1967.

Released: August 22, 1967.

[Ex Parte No. MC-1 (Sub-No. 2)]

PAYMENT OF RATES AND CHARGES OF MOTOR CARRIERS CREDIT REGULATIONS — HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 10th day of August 1967.

It appearing, that the Interstate Commerce Commission has prescribed rules and regulations pertaining to the extension of credit to shippers by motor common carriers of property operating in interstate or foreign commerce, see Payment of Rates and Charges of Motor Carriers, 2 M.C.C. 365;

It further appearing that those to whom credit is extended, referred to for convenience as the shippers, are experiencing difficulty in complying with § 288.1 of the Code of Federal Regulations, 49 CFR 288, Carrier May Extend Credit to Shipper; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That a rule making proceeding be, and it is hereby, instituted under the authority of part II of the Interstate Commerce Act (section 223) and section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act for the purpose of determining whether and to what extent rules and regulations should be established to permit motor common carriers of household goods to impose, through published tariff notice, penalty charges for violation by shippers of § 288.1 and to exculpate a carrier which imposes such a penalty from violation of § 288.1 should it extend further credit to a shipper in violation of § 288.1, provided that the carrier has taken reasonable precautions to assure that such shipper is a sound credit risk.

It is further ordered, That all motor common carriers of household goods operating in interstate or foreign commerce subject to the Interstate Commerce Act be, and they are hereby, made respondents in this proceeding.

It is further ordered, That all persons including respondents who wish actively to participate in this proceeding, and file and receive copies of pleadings shall make known the fact by notifying the Commission in writing on or before September 18, 1967. To conserve time and avoid expense it is strongly urged that persons having common interests endeavor to consolidate their presentation to the greatest extent possible. Individual participation is not precluded; mere casual interest, however, does not justify participation, and will make the service of verified statements burdensome and impracticable. The Commission desires participation only of those who intend to take an active part in the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That:

(a) As soon as practicable after September 18, 1967, the Commission will serve a list of the names and addresses of all persons upon whom service of all verified statements, replies or other pleadings must be made;

(b) All parties shall file an original and two copies of their verified statements and exhibits thereto with the Commission on or before October 23, 1967, and at the same time serve a copy of such statements upon each person named in the service list;

(c) Parties desiring to file reply statements shall file such statements with the Commission on or before November 20, 1967, and upon all parties named in the service list;

(d) Any party may request a hearing for the purpose of cross-examining any witness submitting a verified statement by notifying all parties and the Commission on or before December 4, 1967.

And it is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served on the Public Utility Commission or Boards, or similar regulatory bodies of each State having jurisdiction over the transportation here involved; that a copy be posted in the Office of the Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission for public inspection; and that a copy be delivered to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER as notice to all interested persons.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

[Case No. 372]

CHRIS F. RING

Order Temporarily Denying Export Privileges

In the matter of Chris F. Ring also known as Chris Ring, Christopher Ring, and Christian Ring, Via Fleming 110 Rome, Italy, respondent; Case No. 372; File: 23-889; 23(66)-38.

The Director, Investigations Division, Office of Export Control, Bureau of International Commerce, U.S. Department of Commerce, pursuant to the provisions of § 382.11 of the Export Regulations (Title 15, Chapter III, Subchapter B, Code of Federal Regulations), has applied to the Compliance Commissioner for an order temporarily denying all export privileges to the above-named respondent. The Compliance Commissioner has reviewed the application and the evidence presented in support thereof and has submitted his report, together with his recommendation that the application be granted and that a temporary denial order be issued until the completion of compliance proceedings now pending against the respondent.

The evidence and recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner have been considered. The evidence presented shows that a charging letter against respondent, alleging violations of the Export Control Act and Regulations, was duly served on him in June 1966; the respondent engaged counsel who filed an answer on his behalf; the said counsel entered into consultations with counsel for the Government for disposition of the case by consent order; the consultations were fruitful but respondent did not execute the consent proposal and revoked authorization of his counsel to proceed in the matter; after due notice to respondent the case proceeded to hearing before the Compliance Commissioner at which the Government presented evidence in support of the charges; a postponement of the case was granted to afford respondent an opportunity to engage new counsel and present evidence in defense; the respondent has requested a further postponement. While the respondent has not yet presented evidence in defense, the Compliance Commissioner reports that the evidence on behalf of the Government appears to support a prima facie case of violations.

The evidence presented also shows that in addition to the transaction on which the charging letter was based the respondent has participated in other transactions which involved the procurement or attempted procurement of strategic electronic items exported or to be exported from the United States; there are suspicious aspects to said transactions and investigations are in progress to ascertain whether respondent or any other parties in connection with said transactions violated the U.S. Export Regulations.

On the basis of the evidence presented, I find that it is reasonably necessary to protect the public interest that an order be entered against respondent temporarily denying him U.S. export privileges until the completion of the pending compliance proceedings. A postponement will be granted to respondent, as requested, to afford him the opportunity to engage new counsel in the pending compliance proceedings and to present evidence in defense of said charges.

Accordingly, it is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses in which respondent appears or participates in any manner or capacity are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of International Commerce for cancellation.

II. The respondent, his assigns, partners, representatives, agents, and employees hereby are denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity, in any transaction involving commodities or technical data exported from the United States in whole or in part, or to be exported, or which are otherwise subject to the Export Regulations. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation prohibited in any such transaction, either in the United States or abroad, shall include participation, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity: (a) As a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application; (b) in the preparation or filing of any export license application or reexportation authorization, or any document to be submitted therewith; (c) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document; (d) in the carrying on of negotiations with respect to or in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, delivering, storing, using, or disposing of any commodities or technical data in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States; and (e) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such commodities or technical data.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to the respondent, but also to his agents and employees and to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which he now or hereafter may be related by affiliation, ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade or services connected therewith.

IV. This order shall take effect forthwith and shall remain in effect until the completion of compliance proceedings now pending against respondent, unless it is hereafter extended, amended, modified, or vacated in accordance with the provisions of the U.S. Export Regulations.

V. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, without prior disclosure to and specific authorization from the Bureau of International Commerce, shall do any of the following acts, directly or indirectly, or carry on negotiations with respect thereto, in any manner or capacity, on behalf of or in any association with respondent, or whereby the respondent may obtain any benefit therefrom or have any interest or participation therein, directly or indirectly: (a) Apply for, obtain, transfer, or use any license, Shipper's Export Declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any exportation, reexportation, transshipment, or diversion of any commodity or technical data exported or to be exported from the United States, by, to, or for the respondent; or (b) order, buy, receive, use, sell, deliver, store, dispose of, forward, transport, finance, or otherwise service or participate in any exportation, reexportation, transshipment, or diversion of any commodity or technical data exported or to be exported from the United States.

VI. A copy of this order shall be served upon the respondent.

VII. In accordance with the provisions of § 382.11(c) of the Export Regulations, the respondent may move at any time to vacate or modify this temporary denial order by filing an appropriate motion therefor, supported by evidence, with the Compliance Commissioner and may request an oral hearing thereon which, if requested, shall be held before the Compliance Commissioner in Washington, D.C., at the earliest convenient date.

This order shall become effective forthwith.

Dated: August 18, 1967.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Articles

The following is a decision on an application for duty free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651; 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder (32 F.R. 2433 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Department of Commerce, Room 5123, Washington, D.C. 20230.

Docket No. 67-00019-25-34006. Applicant: Youngstown University, 410 Wick Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio 44503. Article: Three-phase electrical generalized machine set consisting of generalized machine, a D.C. machine and torque measuring unit with a built-in tachometer-generator. Manufacturer: Mawdsley's Ltd., England. Intended use of article: Instructional experimentation in electromechanical principles. Comments: No comments were received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: The foreign article is a device which is specially designed for teaching students in the principles of electricity. The only comparable instrument known to be manufactured in the United States is the generalized machine laboratory set described in Bulletin 191 of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. The domestic instrument is limited to two-phase operation, whereas the foreign article is capable of three-phase operation. This difference is considered to be significant because it extends the range of electrical phenomena which can be demonstrated to students and, therefore is a pertinent characteristic.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured and offered for sale in the United States.

Bay Video, Inc., subsequently requested and was granted extensions to the comment period of the review in order to continue its negotiations with the Florida State University for joint use of the proposed structure (32 F.R. 2480; 32 F.R. 3413; 32 F.R. 5299; 32 F.R. 6375; and 32 F.R. 7298).

On August 8, 1967, Bay Video, Inc., advised the Federal Aviation Administration that a new site has been selected for the structure. Accordingly, it was requested that the Petition for Review be dismissed and that the review be terminated.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, notice is hereby given that the discretionary review of the case is canceled.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 18, 1967.

ARCHIE W. LEAGUE,
Director, Air Traffic Service.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket 18951; Order No. E-25665]

BUKER AIRWAYS, INC.

Order To Show Cause

AUGUST 21, 1967.

By petition, filed on July 31, 1967, Buker Airways, Inc., requests the Board to establish a final service mail rate of 55 cents per mile for the transportation of mail by aircraft between Portland, Maine, and Albany, N.Y.

Petitioner is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New Hampshire and is currently engaged in business as an air taxi under Part 298 of the Board's Economic Regulations. Its usual place of business is Hartness Airport, North Springfield, Vt. Petitioner provides service with several types of aircraft including the Twin Beech aircraft which will be used for the proposed service. It believes the rate proposed constitutes a fair and reasonable final service mail rate for the services to be performed. Buker attached to its petition a letter from the Post Office Department. In it, the Department stated that the rate proposed by Buker is acceptable to the Post Office.

Under the circumstances, the Board finds it in the public interest to fix and determine the fair and reasonable rates of compensation to be paid to Buker Airways, Inc., by the Postmaster General for the transportation of mail by aircraft, the facilities used and useful therefor, and the services connected therewith, between the aforesaid points. Upon consideration of the petition and other matters officially noticed, the Board proposes to issue an order[1] to include the following findings and conclusions:

1. That the fair and reasonable final service mail rate to be paid to Buker Airways, Inc., pursuant to section 406 of the Act for the transportation of mail by aircraft, the facilities used and useful therefor, and the services connected therewith between Portland, Maine, and Albany, N.Y., shall be 55 cents per great circle mile;

2. The final service mail rate here fixed and determined is to be paid in its entirety by the Postmaster General.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a) and 406 thereof, and regulations promulgated in 14 CFR Part 302 and 14 CFR Part 385(f),

It is ordered, That:

1. All interested persons and particularly Buker Airways, Inc., and the Postmaster General are directed to show cause why the Board should not adopt the foregoing proposed findings and conclusions and fix, determine, and publish the final rate specified above as the fair and reasonable rate of compensation to be paid to Buker Airways, Inc., for the transportation of mail by aircraft, the facilities used and useful therefor, and the services connected therewith as specified above;

2. Further procedures herein shall be in accordance with 14 CFR Part 302, and if there is any objection to the rate or to the other findings and conclusions proposed herein, notice thereof shall be filed within 10 days, and if notice is filed, written answer and supporting documents shall be filed within 30 days after the date of service of this order;

3. If notice of objection is not filed within 10 days, or if notice is filed and answer is not filed within 30 days after service of this order, all persons shall be deemed to have waived the right to a hearing and all other procedural steps short of a final decision by the Board, and the Board may enter an order incorporating the findings and conclusions proposed herein and fix and determine the final rate specified herein;

4. If answer is filed presenting issues for hearing, the issues involved in determining the fair and reasonable final rate shall be limited to those specifically raised by the answer, except insofar as other issues are raised in accordance with Rule 307 of the rules of practice (14 CFR 302.307); and

5. This order shall be served upon Buker Airways, Inc., and the Postmaster General.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] MABEL MCCART,
Acting Secretary.

[F.R. Doc. 67-10079; Filed, Aug. 24, 1967; 10:06 a.m.]

[1] As this order to show cause does not constitute a final action and merely affords interested persons an opportunity to be heard on the matters herein proposed, it is not regarded as subject to the review provisions of Part 385 (14 CFR, Part 385). The provisions of that part dealing with petitions for Board review will be applicable to any final action which may be taken by the staff in this matter under authority delegated in § 385.14(g).

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. 17670-17672; FCC 67-972]

DURHAM-RALEIGH TELECASTERS, INC., ET AL.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., Durham, N.C., Docket No. 17670, File No. BPCT-3882; Triangle Telecasters, Inc., Durham, N.C., Docket No. 17671, File No. BPCT-3883; WTVY, Inc., Durham, N.C., Docket No. 17672, File No. BPCT-3885; for construction permit for new television broadcast station.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned applications, each requesting a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 28, Durham, N.C.

2. With respect to the issues set forth below the following considerations are pertinent:

1. Based on the information contained in the application of Triangle Telecasters, Inc., cash in the amount of $643,566 will be needed for the construction and first-year operation of the proposed station, consisting of down payment on equipment—$138,600; first-year payments on equipment including interest $77,616; building—$25,000; miscellaneous expenses—$46,000; first-year payments on bank loan including interest—$76,360; first-year cost of operation—$280,000.

2. To meet the cash requirements, the applicant relies upon the availability of $13,856 in existing capital, $140,348 in stock subscription agreements, $243,856 in loans from three stockholders, Robinson O. Everett, Katherine R. Everett, and R. O. Everett and a $300,000 bank loan. The applicant has established the availability of $4,500 in existing capital, $92,144 in stock subscriptions and $243,856 in loans, for a total of $340,500. However, the applicant has failed to demonstrate that John D. Johnston, Jr., John H. Wheeler, Roland McClamrock, Emanuel J. Evans, and Dr. Wirt W. Smith have available liquid and current assets (as defined in sec. III, par. 4(d), FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amount for each stock subscriber to meet his respective commitment to the applicant. These stock subscribers have either failed to furnish balance sheets or they have submitted balance sheets which do not reflect their ability to meet their commitments. In addition, the proposed bank loan of $300,000 from Branch Banking and Trust Co. does not comply with the requirements of section III, paragraph 4(h), in that the loan provides that certain conditions and requirements are to be drawn in the future "to our mutual satisfaction". Accordingly, financial issues have been specified.

3. There appears to be a significant disparity in the proposed Grade B contours of the applications. In accordance with the Commission's policy, evidence with respect to which of the proposals would represent a more efficient use of the frequency may be adduced under the comparative issue.[1]

4. The transmitters proposed by Triangle Telecasters, Inc., and Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., have not been type accepted by the Commission. Accordingly, in the event of a grant of the application of Triangle Telecasters, Inc., or Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., the grant shall be made subject to the condition that, prior to licensing, the permittee shall submit acceptable data for type acceptance of the proposed transmitter in accordance with § 73.640 of the Commission's rules.

[1] Harriscope, Inc., FCC 65-1165, 2 FCC 2d 223.

5. Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., WTVY, Inc., are qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed new television broadcast station and, except as indicated by the issues set forth below, Triangle Telecasters, Inc., is qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed new television broadcast station. The applications are, however, mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference. The Commission is, therefore, unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, and is of the opinion that they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned applications of Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., Triangle Telecasters, Inc., and WTVY, Inc., are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine with respect to the application of Triangle Telecasters, Inc.:

(a) Whether John D. Johnston, Jr., John H. Wheeler, Roland McClamrock, Emanuel J. Evans, and Dr. Wirt W. Smith have liquid and current assets (as defined in sec. III, par. 4(d), FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amounts to meet their respective commitments to the applicant.

(b) The terms, condition and security, if any, required in connection with the proposed loan of $300,000 from the Branch Banking and Trust Co., Raleigh, N.C.

(c) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing, Triangle Telecasters, Inc., is financially qualified.

2. To determine which of the proposals would best serve the public interest.

3. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of the applications of Durham-Raleigh Telecasters, Inc., or Triangle Telecasters, Inc., the application shall be granted subject to the condition that, prior to licensing, the permittee shall submit acceptable data for type-acceptance of its proposed transmitter in accordance with the requirements of § 73.640 of the Commission's rules.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this Order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: August 16, 1967.

Released: August 22, 1967.

[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Secretary.

POTOMAC VALLEY TELEVISION CORP. ET AL.

Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., Irons Mountain, Md., for modification of license of Station KGO 30 to provide for carriage of FM signals, Docket No. 17510, File No. 5908-C1-ML-65; Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., Mt. Cacapon, W. Va., for modification of license of Station KQX 32 to provide for carriage of FM signals, Docket No. 17511, File No. 5909-C1-ML-65; Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., Mt. Cacapon, W. Va., for renewal of License of Station KQX 32, Docket No. 17512, File No. 1068-C1-R-66; Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., Irons Mountain, Md., for renewal of License of Station of KGO 30, Docket No. 17513, File No. 2633-C1-R-66; and Potomac Valley TV Co., Inc., Cumberland and LaVale, Md.; Ridgeley, Wiley Ford and Fort Ashby, W. Va., Docket No. 17514; Upper Potomac Television Co., Inc., Piedmont, W. Va.; Westernport, Md., Docket No. 17515; Frostburg Cable Television, Inc., Frostburg, Md., Docket No. 17516; Keyser Television Co., Inc., Keyser, W. Va., Docket No. 17531; Jackson Television Co., Inc., Lonaconing and Midland, Md., Docket No. 17532; requests for waiver of § 21.712 of the Commission's rules; and notifications given pursuant to § 74.1105 of the Commission's rules.

1. We here consider several requests, applications, petitions and notifications filed by (a) Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp. (hereafter Potomac Valley), a common carrier operating at the northern border between Maryland and West Virginia; and by (b) the five captioned CATV systems in Maryland and West Virginia which receive television signals from Potomac Valley's microwave relay stations. The basic question is whether the CATV operators will be required to provide carriage and program exclusivity for four television broadcast stations (WSVA-TV, WJAC-TV, WTAE-TV, and WFBG-TV), which claim rights under § 21.712 of the Commission's rules. The petitioners raise, in the main, one defense: that the television stations do not place signals of Grade B field strength over their communities.[1]

2. In a letter filed October 26, 1965, Potomac Valley first alleged lack of service from the television stations, while admitting they place predicted Grade B contours over the communities. Potomac Valley requested a waiver of § 21.712 of the rules, and asked that authorizations for Stations KGO 30 and KQX 32 be reissued without a condition requiring compliance with that provision. Potomac Valley's renewal applications (1066 and 2633-C1-R-66) were amended to request that the Commission determine § 21.712 inapplicable to Potomac Valley's affiliated CATV system in Cumberland, Md. Also, three of the carrier's other CATV customers (Upper Potomac Television Co., Inc., Frostburg Cable Television, Inc. and Keyser Television Co., Inc.) filed requests for waiver of § 21.712, as amendments to the renewal applications. Signal measurements were included with these petitions, and more detailed engineering studies were later submitted. After the Commission issued the Second Report and Order, the five CATV customers petitioned for waiver of amended Section 21.712, on the ground that the engineering data demonstrated that their areas are not within the measured (as opposed to predicted) Grade B contours of any of the requesting stations.[2]

3. The CATV systems involved are:

(a) Potomac Valley TV Co., Inc. (hereafter Potomac Valley TV), with 16,963 subscribers in Cumberland and La Vale, Md., and Ridgeley, Wiley Ford, and Fort Ashby, W. Va., who are provided the following television signals: (off the air) WFBG-TV (ABC, CBS), Altoona, Pa.; WSVA-TV (CBS, ABC), Harrisonburg, Va.; WJAC-TV (NBC), Johnstown, Pa.; (via microwave) WRC-TV (NBC), WTTG-TV (Ind.), WMAL-TV (ABC), WTOP-TV (CBS), WETA-TV (Educ.), and WDCA-TV (Ind.) all from Washington, D.C.; WBAL-TV (NBC), WJZ-TV (ABC), and WMAR-TV (CBS) all from Baltimore, Md.; and WGAL-TV (NBC) Lancaster, Pa. The systems lie within the predicted Grade B contours of WSVA-TV, WJAC-TV, WTAE-TV, Pittsburgh, Pa. (not carried), and WFBG-TV.[3]

(b) Upper Potomac Television Co., Inc., with 1,967 subscribers in Piedmont, W. Va., and Westernport, Md., receives via microwave all of Potomac Valley's signals. The systems lie within the predicted Grade B contours of WSVA-TV, WJAC-TV and WTAE-TV.

(c) Frostburg Cable Television, Inc., with 1,574 subscribers in Frostburg, Md., receives via microwave all of Potomac Valley's signals. The CATV system lies within the predicted Grade B contours of WJAC-TV and WTAE-TV.

(d) Keyser Television Co., Inc., with 3,001 subscribers in Keyser, W. Va., provides off-the-air and microwave service identical to Potomac Valley. The CATV system lies within the predicted Grade B contours of WSVA-TV and WJAC-TV.

(e) Jackson Television Co., Inc., with 1,037 subscribers in Lonaconing and Midland, Md., provides off-the-air and microwave service identical to Potomac Valley. The CATV systems lie within the predicted Grade B contours of WJAC-TV and WTAE-TV.

All of the above systems carry full time the signals of WRC-TV, WTTG-TV, WMAL-TV, WTOP-TV, and WETA-TV. When WETA-TV is not broadcasting, the signals of the remaining stations, including all those requesting § 21.712 rights except WTAE-TV, are carried on an alternating basis. Responsive pleadings have been filed to the CATV operators' various petitions by WJAC, Inc., licensee of WJAC-TV; The Hearst Corp., licensee of WTAE-TV; Gilmore Broadcasting Corp. of Virginia, licensee of WSVA-TV; and Triangle Publications, Inc., licensee of WFBG-TV, opposing the request of each system within the licensees' stations' predicted Grade B contours.

4. Petitioners have advanced the following arguments: That full carriage and program exclusivity protection for the requesting stations will force CATV operators, to their economic detriment, to remove a high percentage of currently carried stations; that viewers' habits will be disrupted; that subscribers' interests are more closely identified with Washington than the areas where requesting stations broadcast; that the absence of Grade B service to communities obviates any competitive threat from CATV importation of distant signals; that the Commission should stay the effect of its rules until a final determination of United Artists Television, Inc., v. Fortnightly Corp., 255 F. Supp. 177, appeal pending before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit (Docket No. 30767); that a broadcaster may not demand carriage while simultaneously reserving any rights it may have to programs; and that any material issue of fact arising in the mircowave renewal matter should be set for evidentiary hearing with all petitioners made a party.

5. Briefly, the engineering data submitted by petitioners follows four approaches: (a) The shadowing effect of mountainous terrain indicates that if measurements were taken along radials between station sites and CATV communities, measured Grade B contours would "fall short" of predicted contours; (b) profile graphs of terrain along the radials demonstrates line-of-sight signals are impossible to receive; (c) calculation of contours under propagation curves proposed in Docket No. 16004 would "shrink" predicted Grade B contours. WTAE-TV, WSVA-TV, and WFBC-TV would encompass none of the communities involved; WJAC-TV would no longer place a predicted Grade B contour over Frostburg; and (d) field intensity readings of all stations reveal but two Grade B strength signal measurements—both from WJAC-TV at two sites in Frostburg—out of a total of 95 measurement locations.

6. As to the arguments in paragraph 4 above, no factual showing has been made to support the alleged potential economic injury or community of interest. Nor is either argument pertinent to the issue of carriage and program exclusivity rights under § 21.712. The petitioners have elected to carry distant signals and, under our rules and their underlying rationale, they therefore have the responsibility for providing the required program exclusivity, absent a showing of unusual or extraordinary circumstances justifying some other course—no such showing has been made here. When it adopted the Second Report and Order, the Commission considered the problem of disruption of viewing habits, but concluded that carriage of local stations and same-day program exclusivity constituted an adequate compromise between the competing interests. Petitioners have not persuaded us of any reason to depart from this policy. We held in reconsideration of the Second Report and Order, FCC 67-34, that it would be manifestly unfair to require a CATV operator to carry the signals of a station demanding such rights while simultaneously threatening copyright liability. Thus, except for the question of whether the communities are within measured Grade B contours, there is no reason to grant the requested relief.

7. The engineering showing referred to in paragraph 5 (a), (b), and (c) above is inconclusive, but we believe that the field strength measurements, 5(d), raise a substantial and material question of fact. We stated in the Second Report and Order, "* * * carriage will not be required where a sufficient showing is made that a predicted signal is not in fact present in the community * * *."[4] None of the broadcasters here has supplied rebuttal engineering data, except WFBG-TV. Its May 18, 1966, opposition to the Potomac Valley TV waiver request contains an engineer's affidavit that cluster measurements made at the Cumberland head-end site revealed above-Grade B signals.[5] WTAE-TV and WJAC-TV have submitted engineers' statements criticizing Potomac Valley TV's exhibits, but neither has conducted its own studies. We are, however, unable to reach a conclusion based on the materials submitted by the parties and a hearing will be required. Therefore, we will deny Potomac Valley's request for unconditioned reissuance of its present authorization, but, pending the outcome of the hearing, the petitioners are authorized to continue their present mode of operation.

8. One further matter remains: On May 3, 1966, Potomac Valley TV sent notifications to WTAE-TV, WJAC-TV, and WFBG-TV of its intention to commence carriage of WDCA-TV, Washington, D.C., on June 3, 1966, via microwave on the Cumberland CATV system. By letters dated March 1, 1967, similar notifications were sent by Frostburg, Upper Potomac, Keyser, and Jackson to WTAE-TV, WJAC-TV, WFBG-TV, and WSVA-TV. Allegedly, due to oversight, Potomac Valley TV did not send a notification to WSVA-TV in May 1966, and this matter was also covered by the March 1967 notification. WJAC-TV contends that Jackson, Frostburg, Upper Potomac, and Keyser failed properly to comply with § 74.1105 of the Commission's rules and that the addition of WDCA-TV's signal to the CATV systems violated § 74.1105. We agree, and will order hearing on the issue of compliance with § 74.1105, contingent upon a determination of actual service by the requesting stations in the areas involved. We do not believe, however, that the situation will be improved by forcing cessation of WDCA-TV carriage at this time. We will, therefore, permit the CATV systems to continue carriage pending resolution of the factual issue of actual service.

9. In view of the foregoing, except as indicated by the issues specified below, Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp. is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate as proposed. However, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that grant of these applications and waiver petitions would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity, and is of the opinion that the applications must be designated for hearing on the issues set forth below.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the October 26, 1965, request of Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., for reissuance of modified licenses (File Nos. 5908/5909-C1-ML-65) for Stations KQX 32 and KGO 30, without imposition of a condition subjecting them to the provisions of § 21.712 of the Commission's rules is denied.

It is further ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 21.712 of the rules, the above-captioned renewal applications and applications for modification of licenses and petitions of Potomac Valley Telecasting Corp., Potomac Valley TV Co., Inc., Upper Potomac Television Co., Inc., Frostburg Cable Television, Inc., Keyser Television Co., Inc., and Jackson Television Co., Inc., WJAC, Inc., The Hearst Corp., Gilmore Broadcasting Corp. of Virginia, and Triangle Publications, Inc., are made parties to this proceeding, and, to participate, must comply with the applicable provisions of § 1.221 of the Commission's rules. The burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof with respect to all issues is upon the petitioning common carrier and CATV system operators.

MOTOR CARRIER, BROKER, WATER CARRIER, AND FREIGHT FORWARDER APPLICATIONS

AUGUST 18, 1967.

The following applications are governed by Special Rule 1.247[1] of the Commission's general rules of practice (49 CFR, as amended), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966. These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with § 1.247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of § 1.247(d)(4) of the special rule, and shall include the certification required therein.

Section 1.247(f) of the Commission's rules of practice further provides that each applicant shall, if protests to its application have been filed, and within 60 days of the date of this publication, notify the Commission in writing (1) that it is ready to proceed and prosecute the application, or (2) that it wishes to withdraw the application, failure in which the application will be dismissed by the Commission.

Further processing steps (whether modified procedure, oral hearing, or other procedures) will be determined generally in accordance with the Commission's General Policy Statement Concerning Motor Carrier Licensing Procedures, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 3, 1966. This assignment will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicants, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.

PAYMENT OF RATES AND CHARGES OF MOTOR CARRIERS

Credit Regulations—Household Goods

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., the 10th day of August 1967.

It appearing, that the Interstate Commerce Commission has prescribed rules and regulations pertaining to the extension of credit to shippers by motor common carriers of property operating in interstate or foreign commerce. See Payment of Rates and Charges of Motor Carriers, 2 M.C.C. 365;

It further appearing, that those to whom credit is extended, referred to for convenience as the shippers, are experiencing difficulty in complying with § 238.1 of the Code of Federal Regulations, 49 CFR 238, Carrier May Extend Credit to Shipper; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted under the authority of part II of the Interstate Commerce Act (section 223) and section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act for the purpose of determining whether and to what extent the currently effective rules and regulations pertaining to the period of credit following delivery of freight accorded to shippers by motor common carriers of property operating in interstate or foreign commerce should be modified or changed insofar as the household goods motor common carriers are concerned.

It is further ordered, That all motor common carriers of household goods operating in interstate or foreign commerce subject to the Interstate Commerce Act be, and they are hereby, made respondents in this proceeding.

It is further ordered, That all persons including respondents who wish actively to participate in this proceeding, and file and receive copies of pleadings shall make known that fact by notifying the Commission in writing on or before September 18, 1967. To conserve time and avoid expense it is strongly urged that persons having common interests endeavor to consolidate their presentation to the greatest extent possible. Individual participation is not precluded; mere casual interest, however, does not justify participation, and will make the service of verified statements burdensome and impracticable. The Commission desires participation only of those who intend to take an active part in the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That:

(a) As soon as practicable after September 18, 1967, the Commission will serve a list of the names and addresses of all persons upon whom service of all verified statements,[1] replies, or other pleadings must be made;

(b) All parties shall file an original and two copies of their verified statements and exhibits thereto with the Commission on or before October 23, 1967, and at the same time serve a copy of such statements upon each person named in the service list;

(c) Parties desiring to file reply statement shall file such statements with the Commission on or before November 20, 1967, and upon all parties named in the service list;

(d) Any party may request a hearing for the purpose of crossexamining any witness submitting a verified statement by notifying all parties and the Commission on or before December 4, 1967.

And it is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served on the Public Utility Commission or Boards, or similar regulatory bodies of each State having jurisdiction over the transportation here involved; that a copy be posted in the Office of the Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission for public inspection; and that a copy be delivered to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a notice to all interested persons.

By the Commission.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Agriculture

[Import Reg. 1, Revision 3; Amdt. 2]

PART 6—IMPORT QUOTAS AND FEES

Subpart—Section 22 Import Quotas

LICENSES FOR IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN-TYPE CHEESE, OTHER THAN CHEDDAR

Import Regulation 1, Revision 3, was amended (32 F.R. 10633, July 25, 1967) to implement Presidential Proclamation 3780, dated June 30, 1967, by adding § 6.32 to provide for the issuance of licenses for the importation of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, and the increased quantity of Cheddar cheese during the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967. In order to clarify the provisions thereof with respect to the issuance of licenses for the importation of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, to persons who are successors in interest to persons who imported American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, during the base period but who are no longer actively operating such business. § 6.32(a) (1) (i) is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.32 Licenses for the importation of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, and increased quantity of Cheddar cheese during the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967.

* * * * *

(c) (1) * * *

(i) American-type cheese, other than Cheddar: Any person who imported American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, during the base period January 1, 1961, through December 31, 1965, and was on June 30, 1967, actively operating an independent business of importing dairy products is eligible to receive a license to import a share of the quota quantity for American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967 (less that set aside for new business). Such share shall be determined by prorating the quota quantity among the eligible applicants on the basis of the quantities of such cheese imported by such persons from the country of origin during the base period. The quantity of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, imported during the base period by a person who was not on June 30, 1967, actively operating an independent business of importing dairy products shall, for the purpose of determining the quota shares of eligible applicants, be deemed to have been imported by his successor in interest, if any, to whom such business has been sold, assigned or otherwise transferred, who was actively operating such business on June 30, 1967. The specified "other countries" shall be treated as one for the purposes of this provision.

* * * * *

It is hereby determined that the foregoing amendment 2 of Import Regulation 1, Revision 3, is necessary in order to effect an equitable distribution among importers of the quotas established by Presidential Proclamation 3790 and must be made immediately since such quotas have become effective. Therefore, under section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code it is found upon good cause that notice and other public rule making procedure concerning the amendment are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest and that good cause exists for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Proposals for amendment or modification of this amendment are invited. They may be addressed to the Chief, Import Branch, Foreign Agricultural Service, Washington, D.C. 20250. All proposals should be accompanied by a written statement in explanation and support of such proposal.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 22d day of August 1967.

ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Acting Administrator,
Foreign Agricultural Service.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. (2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. [Plum Reg. 5, Amdt. 1]

PART 917—FRESH PEARS, PLUMS, AND PEACHES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Shipments

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 917, as amended (7 CFR Part 917), regulating the handling of fresh pears, plums, and peaches grown in California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Plum Commodity Committee, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of specified varieties of plums, in the manner herein provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof; and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of Late Duarte variety of plums.

It is, therefore, ordered that the provisions of paragraph (a) (2) of § 917.393 (Plum Reg. 5, 32 F.R. 9063) are hereby amended to increase the percentage of Late Duarte plums smaller than the 3 x 4 x 5 size, but not smaller than 4 x 5 size, permitted to be shipped from a proportion equal to 100 percent of the 3 x 4 x 5 size to a proportion equal to 150 percent of such size. As amended § 917.393(a) (2) reads as follows (for purposes of clarity subparagraph (1) is included):

§ 917.393 Plum Regulation 5.

(a) Order. (1) During the period June 8, 1967, through October 31, 1967, no handler shall ship from any shipping point during any day any package or container of Santa Rosa, Duarte, President, or Late Duarte plums, except to the extent otherwise permitted under this paragraph, unless such plums are of a size that, when packed in a standard basket, they will pack at least a 3 x 4 x 5 standard pack.

(2) During each day of such period any handler may ship from any shipping point a quantity of each such variety of plums which are smaller than the size prescribed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph: Provided, That, the quantity of such smaller size plums of the Santa Rosa, Duarte, Late Duarte, or President varieties, respectively, shall not exceed one hundred (100) percent, and the quantity of Late Duarte may, beginning on August 23, 1967, exceed one hundred (100) percent but not exceed one hundred fifty (150) percent, of the number of the same type of packages or containers of the respective variety shipped by such handler which meet the size requirements of said subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and all such smaller plums shall be of a size that when packed in a standard basket, they will pack at least a 4 x 5 standard pack.

* * * * *

The provisions of this amendment shall become effective August 23, 1967.

Chapter X—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Milk), Department of Agriculture

[Milk Order 76]

PART 1076—MILK IN EASTERN SOUTH DAKOTA MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 1076.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of the said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Eastern South Dakota marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than September 1, 1967. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, was issued July 13, 1967, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order was issued August 14, 1967. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective September 1, 1967, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 553(d), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 551–559.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as hereby amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Eastern South Dakota marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, as follows:

§ 1076.12 [Amended]

1. In the introductory text preceding paragraph (a) of § 1076.12, the phrase "in paragraph (a) or (b)" is changed to read "in paragraph (a), (b), or (c)".

2. Section 1076.12 is revised by adding thereto a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) A plant, other than a distributing plant, operated by a cooperative association if more than 50 percent of the total milk supply of producer members of such cooperative association is shipped to pool distributing plants of other handlers during the month, either directly from the farm or by transfer from the plant of the cooperative association: Provided, That if a portion of such association's plant is physically apart from the Grade A portion of such plant, is operated separately and is not approved by any health authority for the receiving, processing or packaging of any fluid milk product for Grade A disposition, it shall not be considered as part of a pool plant pursuant to this section.

3. In § 1076.14, paragraph (c) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1076.14 Producer milk.

(c) With respect to diversions to nonpool plants pursuant to paragraphs (a) (2) and (b) (1) of this section:

(1) A cooperative handler may divert for its account the milk of any member producer, whose milk is delivered to a distributing pool plant on at least 3 days during the month during the other days of such month. The total quantity of milk so diverted may be without limit during the months of March, April, May, and June, but shall not exceed 35 percent of its member producer milk received at all pool plants during any other month of the year. Diversions in excess of such percentage shall not be considered producer milk, and the diverting cooperative shall specify the dairy farmers whose milk is ineligible as producer milk. If the cooperative association fails to designate such dairy farmers whose milk is ineligible, producer milk status shall be forfeited with respect to all milk diverted to a nonpool plant by such cooperative association; and

(2) A handler in his capacity as the operator of a distributing pool plant may divert for his account the milk of any producer, other than a member of a cooperative association which has diverted milk pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, whose milk is received at a pool plant on at least 3 days during the month, without limit during the other days of such month. The total quantity of milk so diverted may be without limit during the months of March, April, May, and June, but during any other month of the year shall not exceed 35 percent of the milk received from producers who are not members of a cooperative association which has diverted milk pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. Diversions in excess of such percentage shall not be considered producer milk, and the diverting handler shall specify the dairy farmers whose milk is ineligible as producer milk. If the handler fails to designate such dairy farmers whose milk is ineligible, producer milk status shall be forfeited with respect to all milk diverted to a nonpool plant by such handler; and

(3) For the purpose of location adjustments pursuant to §§ 1076.53 and 1076.75, milk so diverted shall be priced at the location of the plant from which diverted.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2200), the 700-foot portion of the Houston, Tex., transition area is revised to read as follows:

HOUSTON, TEX.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface bounded by a line beginning at Lat. 29°25'00" N., Long. 95°20'00" W., to Lat. 29°20'00" N., Long. 95°22'00" W., to Lat. 29°46'00" N., Long. 95°27'00" W., to Lat. 29°52'00" N., Long. 95°08'00" W., to Lat. 29°40'00" N., Long. 94°57'00" W., to Lat. 29°23'00" N., Long. 95°00'00" W., to point of beginning; within a 6-mile radius of Spaceland Airport (Lat. 29°30'30" N., Long. 95°03'01" W.); within 2 miles each side of the 304° bearing from the Spaceland RBN (Lat. 29°28'00" N., Long. 94°59'08" W.), extending from the 6-mile radius area to the RBN; within 2 miles each side of the Houston VORTAC 038° radial, extending from the VORTAC to 26 miles east of the VORTAC; within 2 miles each side of the Galveston VORTAC 345° radial, extending from the 6-mile radius area to 6 miles north of the VORTAC.

ALMONDS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Expenses of Control Board and Rate of Assessment for 1967–68 Crop Year

Notice is hereby given of a proposal regarding expenses of the Almond Control Board for the 1967–68 crop year and rate of assessment for that crop year, pursuant to §§ 981.80 and 981.81 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 981, as amended (7 CFR Part 981), regulating the handling of almonds grown in California. The amended marketing agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The Control Board has unanimously recommended for the 1967–68 crop year beginning July 1, 1967, a budget of expenses in the total amount of $67,500 and an assessment rate of 0.09 cent per pound of almonds (kernel weight basis). Expenses in that amount and the assessment rate are specified in the proposal hereinafter set forth. The quantity of assessable almonds for the 1967–68 crop year is estimated at 89 million pounds (kernel weight). In order to protect against unanticipated crop losses, an assessment rate of 0.09 cent per pound should be established to assure the availability of sufficient funds to meet the expenses of the Control Board for the 1967–68 crop year.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposal should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the eighth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposal is as follows:

§ 981.317 Expenses of the Control Board and rate of assessment for the 1967–68 crop year.

(a) Expenses. Expenses in the amount of $67,500 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Control Board during the crop year beginning July 1, 1967, for its maintenance and functioning and for such purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of this part, determine to be appropriate.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for said crop year, payable by each handler in accordance with § 981.81, is fixed at 0.09 cent per pound of almonds (kernel weight basis).

Dated: August 22, 1967.

Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service.

MILK IN DELAWARE VALLEY MARKETING AREA

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and to Order

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Philadelphia, Pa., on June 12–13, 1967, pursuant to notice thereof issued on May 30, 1967 (32 F.R. 7976), and a supplemental notice thereto issued June 2, 1967 (32 F.R. 8176).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on July 25, 1967 (32 F.R. 11039; F.R. Doc. 67-8817) filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The preliminary statement, material issues, findings, and general findings of the recommended decision (32 F.R. 11039; F.R. Doc. 67-8817) are hereby approved and adopted and are set forth in full herein subject to the following modifications:

1. Under the subheading "Preliminary statement.", the first paragraph is deleted and the last paragraph is changed.

2. Under the subheading "Issue No. 1.", the last sentence in paragraph 6 is deleted and the last sentence in the final paragraph is changed.

3. Under the subheading "Issue No. 4.", the first sentence in the second paragraph is changed and a new sentence is added at the end of the paragraph. Five new paragraphs are added following the final paragraph.

Preliminary statement. The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Providing a base and excess plan for payment of producers and need for emergency action with respect to this plan.

2. Diversions of milk to other Federal order plants for Class II use.

3. Modification of the point of pricing of diverted milk.

4. Shipping requirements for supply plants to attain pool plant status.

Issue No. 1 was dealt with in a decision issued July 18, 1967 (32 F.R. 10592) and an order amending the order issued on July 28, 1967 (32 F.R. 11204). This decision deals with each of the remaining issues.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

Issue No. 2. Diversion of milk to other Federal order plants for Class II use. The order should be amended to permit producer milk to be diverted to an other Federal order plant for Class II use by agreement if such milk would not acquire producer status under the other order in view of its status under this order.

Under the individual-handler pooling arrangement which was effective prior to June 1 diversions were not restricted since each handler was in a position to add or release producers to accommodate his particular operation. If the handler's blend price became unfavorable compared to that of other handlers with whom he competed in procurement, he would likely lose his better producers to other handlers. Therefore, there was little likelihood that any handler would increase his producer receipts solely for the purpose of obtaining a supply of milk for manufacturing uses.

With the recent change to marketwide pooling certain diversion privileges were provided to permit the efficient handling of the market's necessary reserve. It was concluded, however, that milk moved directly from the farm to an other Federal order plant appropriately should not acquire producer milk status under this order, since under Federal orders generally milk received directly from the farm at a pool plant is accorded producer milk status in the receiving market. Therefore, no provision was made in the Delaware Valley order for diversions to plants regulated under other Federal orders.

Prior to the June 1 effective date of the amended order Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc., requested a hearing to consider modification of the diversion provisions in light of changes in the market structure and also requested that suspension action be taken to permit diversions to other order plants pending consideration of their proposals to modify the provisions. The requested suspension was taken effective June 1, 1967 (33 F.R. 8063).

A primary outlet for reserve milk normally received at city bottling plants and not needed for fluid use is the Laurel, Md., plant of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, a Washington, D.C., order pool plant. Under that order, milk delivered to the Laurel plant for the account of a cooperative with no producer-members delivering to other Washington order pool plants is designated as "dairy farmer for other markets" (other source) milk. Such milk may not acquire producer milk status under the Washington order. Thus, unless the Delaware Valley order permits diversion of producer milk to such a plant, milk so moved would be denied pooling status under either order. However, the more likely result would be that Delaware Valley cooperatives would find it impractical to use the Laurel plant as an outlet for reserve milk supplies.

To better accommodate the handling of reserve milk, Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc., proposed that the order be amended to permit the diversion of producer milk to an other Federal order plant for manufacturing uses under an agreed Class II classification.

The suspension previously referred to permits milk diverted to other order plants to be pooled under the Delaware Valley order. However, it leaves unresolved the status of milk diverted from Delaware Valley pool plants to other Federal order pool plants when both orders would treat the diverted milk as producer milk. The orderly and efficient handling of the reserve milk in the market may at times require the direct movement of milk of individual producers to nonpool plants. The direct movement from the farm to the plant of ultimate disposition avoids the expense and handling which would otherwise result if the milk were first delivered to the pool plant where normally received and then transferred to the nonpool plant. When such movements are to unregulated plants or for manufacturing uses to other Federal order plants, they should be treated as diversions if so requested by the responsible handler.

When milk is diverted to unregulated plants or for Class II use to an other Federal order plant and is not mandatorily producer milk under the terms of the other order it can reasonably be presumed to be a part of the diverting market's reserve milk supply. Such diverted milk from Delaware Valley pool plants should appropriately be pooled as producer milk under the Delaware Valley order.

By requiring a Class II agreement between the diverting and receiving handlers when milk is diverted to other order plants the possibility of any portion of the milk being assigned to Class I will be minimized. However, in the event that the receiving handler does not have sufficient Class II utilization to cover the requested Class II assignment, a portion of the milk so moved would necessarily be assigned to Class I. In such a situation, it can no longer be reasonably presumed that the diverted milk is in fact a part of the Delaware Valley reserve supply. When part or all of the milk so moved is used for fluid purposes in the receiving plant, the milk obviously is needed for fluid use in the receiving market and appropriately should be considered a part of that market's fluid supply.

In addition to the above conclusions it is appropriate in this decision to remove the obvious misunderstanding evidenced in the first month of operation under the amended order with respect to the Assistant Secretary's conclusion relative to the application of the producer definition when milk is received from Order 2 pool bulk tank units.

In his decision of April 7, 1967, the Assistant Secretary stated: "Under the New York-New Jersey Order a dairy farmer may have status as a producer by virtue of being included as a part of a designated pool bulk tank unit. In such event the fact that the milk of such dairy farmer was moved directly from the farm to a Delaware Valley pool plant would not change its status as producer milk under the New York-New Jersey order." He concluded: "It is necessary therefore to exclude from the producer definition a dairy farmer whose milk is received directly at a pool plant and who notwithstanding his status under this order would nevertheless be a producer under another Federal order with respect to such milk."

After the initial month of operation under the amended order it is apparent that some handlers have misinterpreted these conclusions as intended to permit continuing pool milk status under Order 2 of pool bulk tank unit milk which is received directly at a Delaware Valley pool plant. In this regard official notice is taken of §§ 1002.17(d), 1002.26(c)(2), and 1002.25(d) of the New York-New Jersey order which clearly provide that pool unit milk which is received at an other order plant and which meets the producer milk definition under such other order will not be included as pool milk under the New York-New Jersey order. Accordingly, such milk clearly does not come within the exception noted by the Assistant Secretary in his decision since its producer status under this order would be recognized by the New York-New Jersey market administrator in administration of his order.

Issue No. 3. Modification of the point of pricing of diverted milk. Milk diverted from a Delaware Valley pool plant located within 45 miles of any one of the basing points specified in § 1004.52 to a nonpool plant or an other order plant located within 125 miles from the nearest of the basing points should be priced at the location of the diverting plant. Milk diverted from a plant within 45 miles of a basing point to a plant in excess of 125 miles distance from such point or from a pool plant located in excess of 45 miles of the nearest basing point to a plant at which a greater location adjustment credit is applicable should be priced at the latter location.

In his decision of April 7, 1967 (32 F.R. 5876) the Assistant Secretary concluded that diverted milk should be priced at the plant of physical receipt if a greater location adjustment credit was applicable at such plant location than at the location of the diverting plant. He found that "Unless this procedure is followed there is a strong incentive for any handler operating an unregulated manufacturing plant in the country to associate an excessive quantity of milk with city distributing plants and then regularly receive the milk at his manufacturing plant as diverted milk up to the limits allowed. Without appropriate safeguards distant producers then could receive the city blended price when, in fact, their milk was moving on an almost regular basis to a nearby manufacturing plant. Pricing diverted milk at the plant of physical receipt will tend to deter the association of milk intended solely for manufacturing uses and will insure that the pool will not subsidize transportation costs which, in fact, are not incurred."

Prior to the June 1 effective date of the amended order the principal cooperative representing producers on the market, also requested a hearing to consider a proposed modification of this provision which they contended was necessary to accommodate particular circumstances in the market. At the same time they requested suspension action to permit continued pricing of diverted milk at the location of the diverting plant pending full consideration of the matter at a hearing. This suspension was taken effective June 1, 1967 (32 F.R. 8063).

At the hearing the spokesman for the cooperative requested modification of the pricing provisions with regard to diverted milk in the manner herein adopted. In support of his position he pointed out that much of the producer milk on the market is directly associated with city bottling plants and regularly moves directly from the farm to city plants. By and large, milk associated with city plants has historically been closely correlated to the fluid needs of the market. For this reason the facilities for handling reserve milk at the city are very limited with the result that little if any transportation savings can be realized when producer milk must be diverted to available manufacturing facilities. In recognition of this fact suspension action was taken on June 1, 1967, with the result that diverted milk is currently being priced at the location of the diverting plant in all circumstances.

The Laurel, Md., plant previously referred to, as well as several other nonpool manufacturing plants in eastern and central Pennsylvania, all within 125 miles of Philadelphia, are the most potential outlets for the market's reserve milk supply associated with city bottling plant. The location of these manufacturing plants is such that no significant transportation savings result when milk is moved directly to such plants rather than to the city. Each of these plants is located beyond the 45-mile zone and a location differential would be applicable on any milk priced at their locations. Handlers' costs for Class II milk would be reduced 6 cents a hundredweight in most instances, whereas producers, whose milk was diverted, would receive from 25 to as much as 35 cents less per hundredweight for such milk than would otherwise be the case if the milk were priced at the location of the diverting plant.

The manufacturing facilities referred to above are not operated by fully regulated handlers. There is little likelihood that additional milk supplies would be associated with city plants for the purpose of providing additional supplies for manufacture at such plants. Since no significant transportation savings accrue when producer milk is diverted to such plants, there is no apparent reason why individual producers should be required to take a lesser price for their milk so diverted than they would otherwise receive when their milk is received at city plants.

In order to avoid this burden individual producers would be impelled to seek outlets where their milk would not be diverted. The resulting changes in outlets would bring about uneconomical movements of this reserve milk and could create an unstable supply situation. Such a situation would interfere with maintaining the reserves necessary to assure that the Class I market will be adequately supplied at all times. Therefore, pricing such diverted milk at the location of the diverting plant is essential to assure continued orderly marketing of the Class I and necessary reserve milk which must be associated with plants located within the 45-mile area (the major Class I consumption area).

By pricing milk diverted from within 45 miles of a basing point to a plant beyond 125 miles, or from a pool plant beyond 45 miles to a more distant plant, at the plant of physical receipt, operators of distant manufacturing plants, several of whom are pool handlers, will be deterred from associating milk of distant producers with their city distributing plants and then regularly diverting it up to allowable limits, to such manufacturing plants. In such situations substantial transportation savings are probable and such saving which would accrue to handlers, individual producers, or haulers dependent on the marketing arrangement, should not be permitted at the expense of producers generally.

The operator of a nonpool manufacturing plant located at York, Pa., which is within 125 miles of Philadelphia contended that the pricing of milk herein adopted would result in his having to pay 6 cents per hundredweight more for such diverted milk that he might acquire from Delaware Valley pool than would have been the case under the order adopted by the Assistant Secretary in his decision of April 7, 1967. He further contended that the surplus pricing under the Delaware Valley order was not in appropriate alignment with the Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington, D.C., orders.

The modifications herein adopted, in fact, reflect no change in the order prices from those which would have been applicable under Order 4 on milk which such plant operator might have acquired prior to June 1, 1967, or under the order, as suspended, since June 1. The basic level of Class II price was not an issue noticed for this hearing and if there is any problem with respect to interorder price alignment it appropriately should be considered at a hearing called for such purpose. In this regard official notice is taken of the fact that supplemental notice issued June 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 8720) makes this matter an issue for consideration at the joint hearing which opened in New York City on June 19, 1967, and which was recessed on June 23, 1967 and reconvened on July 31, 1967.

Issue No. 4. Shipping requirements for supply plants. The pool supply plant definition should be amended to count as qualifying shipments, shipments to other order plants which meet prescribed performance standards (including route disposition in the marketing area) and to provide pool status for any plant meeting the prescribed shipping requirements if the qualifying shipments made to pool plants under this order exceed those made to pool plants under any other order. In addition provision should be made to insure pool plant status through October 1967 for any supply plant which has continuously been a fully regulated plant under the Delaware Valley order in the months of January 1967 to the effective date of this order, but which failed to meet the prescribed shipping requirements solely because greater qualifying shipments are made to other order plants.

On request of a cooperative association which has operated a fully regulated supply plant in the Delaware Valley market over an extended period of time, which plant could not meet applicable shipping requirements, the restrictions on shipments to other order plants were initially suspended for the months of June and July 1967 (32 F.R. 9086). A proposal to modify the supply plant pooling requirements to accommodate the current operations of this supply plant was considered at the hearing. Following issuance of the July 20, 1967 recommended decision these restrictions were again suspended through the month of August (32 F.R. 11414) to allow time for action to be completed on the recommended modifications.

Proponent contended that in view of the previous association of its plant with the Delaware Valley market it should not be denied pooling status under the amended order as long as the qualifying shipments of the plant were made to plants which had sufficient Class I distribution in the market to substantially offset such shipments even though the preponderance of such shipments were to Order 2 pool plants. Both at the hearing and in its brief the cooperative suggested various modifications of the pool plant provisions which would insure the pooling of its plant under this order.

In support of its position the cooperative pointed out that the plant in question had historically shipped the preponderance of its receipts to an Order 4 distributing plant. However, in the month of May 1967, the route business of that handler was sold to an Order 2 handler who now operates these routes out of his Order 2 plant. The supply plant in question continues to supply the milk for such sales but the milk is now shipped to the Order 2 plant. In addition the cooperative has an account with at least one Order 4 handler and a significant, but minor, volume of the plant's output regularly moves to that handler's plant.

The problem at hand is complicated by differences in pooling requirements between adjacent orders. Under specified circumstances, permanent pool plants under the New York-New Jersey order hold status without specific performance. Plants which are not permanent pool plants even though shipping their entire supply to fully regulated plants under that order can avoid pooling at the option of the handler if the shipments are not assigned to Class I sales in the marketing area. These differences in pooling requirements are basic to the present problem.

It is not appropriate to pool milk under the Delaware Valley order simply because a handler elects options under the New York-New Jersey order which avoid pooling of his plant under that order even though the preponderance of the plant's milk is delivered to regulated plants under that order. Nevertheless, a plant should not be denied pooling status under the Delaware Valley order simply because some of its qualifying shipments are made to an Order 2 plant.

The problem under the Delaware Valley order can best be resolved by permitting as qualifying shipments for pooling status, shipments to other order plants but denying pooling status in the event that such shipments to any other single order exceed shipments to qualified plants regulated under this order.

While this procedure could result in a plant shipping to both New York-New Jersey and Delaware Valley pool plants not being pooled under either order, it is clear that such a result would be at the choice of the handler. Some operational changes might be necessary to accommodate pooling under Order 2 but this cannot be controlling in any determination of the milk to be pooled under the Delaware Valley order.

It is recognized further that the particular circumstances prompting the suspension action and the proposals here under consideration roughly coincided with the change in pooling arrangement effective June 1. Because of the historical association of the plant in question with the Delaware Valley market under the individual-handler pooling arrangement reasonable time should be allowed to permit the plant operator to adjust his business to permit pooling under this order, if he so desires.

The forthcoming months through October are the shortest months of production and hence the period when milk is most needed in the market. It is concluded therefore that continuing pooling status through October 1967 should be provided for any plant which has been a fully regulated plant under this order in each of the months from January 1967 to the effective date of this order but which fails to meet the prescribed shipping requirements solely because greater qualifying shipments are made to other order plants. This should present reasonable time for orderly adjustment of the plant's operations to comport with the regular pooling standards for supply plants. If sufficient sales cannot be developed in this market by that time the plant appropriately should not continue to have pooling privileges under the Delaware Valley order.

Exceptions were filed to the Deputy Administrator's recommended decision in the matter both by the proponent cooperative and on behalf of another cooperative which also is potentially confronted with loss of pooling status for its plant by virtue of the extent of its shipments to Order 2 pool plants. Exceptors' primary objective is to find a means for continued pooling of plants under the Delaware Valley order notwithstanding greater shipments by such plants to other order plants. To this end they contend that distribution by such other order plants in the Delaware Valley market appropriately should be assigned to shipments from their supply plants and such shipments then considered to be of the same nature as shipments to Order 4 plants for purposes of qualifying the supply plants for pooling.

A pooling scheme such as suggested by exceptors is not appropriate for this market. A distributing plant appropriately should be pooled under the order regulating the market in which it makes the greatest proportion of its distribution. A supply plant similarly should be pooled under the order regulating the distributing plant(s) to which it makes the greatest proportion of its shipments. This pooling procedure is prescribed in Federal orders generally. The adoption of exceptors' proposals would be incompatible with the pooling provisions of surrounding Federal orders and would require an administrative determination with respect to the appropriate order of regulation in each situation of a supply plant meeting the pooling requirements of more than one order.

The regulatory scheme prescribed by the Delaware Valley order in no way inhibits the free flow of milk between regulated markets in response to price differences. A procedure such as exceptors advance in which a supply plant shipment would be arbitrarily assigned against Class I sales in a specified market would have the effect of permitting a handler to choose his order of regulation and would unduly interfere with the application of the pricing standards of the Act.

Exceptors further excepted to the Deputy Administrator's conclusion that the period through October 1967 should be allowed to permit the operator of any supply plant presently pooled through suspension action to adjust his business to permit pooling under this order or the New York-New Jersey order if he so desired. One exceptor contended that additional time through March 1968 should be provided in recognition of the fact that contract business is commonly awarded starting April 1. Another exceptor requested that additional time through June 1968 be provided to allow the supply plant opportunity to qualify under the New York-New Jersey order.

As pointed out in the recommended decision the period through October is the shortest period of production and hence the period when milk is most needed in the market. If sufficient business cannot be obtained during this period to meet the prescribed pooling standards, such plants cannot be concluded to have sufficient association with the market to justify their continued pooling.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Delaware Valley Marketing Area" and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Delaware Valley Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Determination of representative period. The month of June 1967 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the attached order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Delaware Valley marketing area, is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 23, 1967.

Deputy Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Delaware Valley Marketing Area

§ 1004.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Delaware Valley marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Delaware Valley marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on July 26, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 28, 1967 (32 F.R. 11039; F.R. Doc. 67-8317), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order, and are set forth in full herein.

1. In § 1004.8 paragraph (b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1004.8 Pool plant.

* * * * *

(b) Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, a supply plant from which during any of the months of September through February not less than 50 percent, and during any of the months of March through August not less than 40 percent, of the milk received from dairy farmers (including milk diverted as producer milk pursuant to § 1004.15 by either the plant operator or by a cooperative association), or from a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler pursuant to § 1004.10(c) is moved during the month to a distributing plant from which a volume of fluid milk products which is not less than 50 percent during any month of September through February, or 45 percent during any month of March through August, of its receipts of milk from dairy farmers, cooperative associations, and from other plants is disposed of as route disposition during the month, and the volume disposed of as route disposition in the marketing area during the month is not less than 10 percent of such receipts. However, a supply plant shall not be qualified pursuant to this paragraph in any month in which a greater proportion of its qualifying shipments are made to a plant(s) regulated under another Federal order than to plants regulated under this order: Provided, That for the months through October 1967, this condition shall not be applicable to any plant which has continuously been a fully regulated plant under the Delaware Valley order for the months of January 1967 to the effective date of this amending order.

2. In § 1004.15 the preamble and paragraph (d) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1004.15 Producer.

"Producer" means any person, except a producer-handler as defined in any order (including this part) issued pursuant to the Act, a "dairy farmer for other markets", or any other person with respect to milk produced by him which is subject to the pricing and payment provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act, who produces milk which is received at a pool plant or by a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler pursuant to § 1004.10(c), or is diverted to an other order plant under an agreed upon Class II disposition by both the diverting and receiving handlers and for which equivalent Class II use is available in the receiving plant to permit such assignment under the terms of the other order, or which is otherwise diverted to any other nonpool plant other than a producer-handler plant during any month(s) of March through August, or in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this section, during any month of September through February. If a handler diverting milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section diverts milk of any dairy farmer in excess of the limits prescribed, such dairy farmer shall be a producer only with respect to that milk physically received at a pool plant. If a handler diverting milk pursuant to paragraphs (b) or (c) of this section diverts in excess of the limits prescribed, all diversions by such handler during the month shall be pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

* * * * *

(d) Milk which is diverted pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this section shall be deemed to have been received by the handler, for whose account it is diverted, at a pool plant at the location of the plant from which it was diverted, except that, for the purpose of applying location adjustments pursuant to §§ 1004.52 and 1004.53, milk which is diverted from a pool plant within 45 miles of the nearest of the basing points in § 1004.52 to a plant in excess of 125 miles from the nearest of such basing points or from a pool plant located in excess of 45 miles of the nearest of the basing points to a plant at which a greater location adjustment credit is applicable shall be priced at the latter location.

RADIATION STANDARDS FOR MINING

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Though the text of the present radiation standard for underground mining is not restricted to any particular type of underground mine (32 F.R. 8412), the restrictive section title of the former regulation, which referred only to uranium mines (33 F.R. 7023), was not changed with the text. In order to eliminate this ambiguity, and extend the current radiation standard to all mines, it is proposed to amend the title to 41 CFR 50-204.321 and its paragraph (b) to read as set out below.

Any person interested in this proposal is invited to submit data, views, or argument in writing by mail within 30 days after this notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER to the Secretary of Labor, United States Department of Labor, Fourteenth Street and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20210. The title to 41 CFR 50-204.321 and the text of its paragraph (b), as they are proposed to be amended, will read as follows:

§ 50-204.321 Radiation standards for mining.

(b) Occupational exposure to radon daughters in mines shall be controlled so that no individual will receive an exposure of more than 1.2 working level months in any consecutive 3-month period and no more than 3.6 working level months in any consecutive 12-month period. Actual exposures shall be kept as far below these values as practicable: Provided, however, That mines with conditions that would result in an exposure of more than 3.6 working level months but not more than 12 working level months in any 12 consecutive months will be considered in compliance up to January 1, 1969, if an effective program is established and carried out to (1) protect the health and safety of employees exposed to these conditions, and (2) reduce the concentration to the 3.6 working level months standard by January 1, 1969.

No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: Scanning electron microscopy provides a newly developed technique for investigating both the surface and internal characteristics of metallurgical specimens. This technique permits stereoscopic images to be obtained. The National Bureau of Standards advises (memorandum dated July 17, 1967) that the research objectives of the applicant, as stated in reply to Question 7 of the application, can be attained only with a scanning electron microscope. The Bureau also advises that no scanning electron microscope is known to be manufactured in the United States.

The Department of Commerce knows of no instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for the purpose for which such article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

National Bureau of Standards

PHASE OF TIME SIGNALS

Notice of Adjustments

In compliance with the National Bureau of Standards policy of giving notice regarding changes in broadcasts by NBS radio stations, notice is hereby given that there will be an adjustment in the phases of time pulses emitted from NBS radio stations WWV and WWVL, Fort Collins, Colo., and WWVH, Maui, Hawaii. On September 20, 1967, the clock controlling the times of signals broadcast from these stations will be advanced 200 microseconds at 0000 UT.

This adjustment is made to bring into closer agreement the time signals controlled by these clocks of the National Bureau of Standards and the U.S. Naval Observatory which follow the coordinated universal time (UTC) system.

There will be no adjustment in time signals emitted by U.S. Navy stations.

There will be no change in the epoch of seconds pulses emitted from NBS radio station WWVB, Fort Collins, Colo., broadcasts of which are made in accordance with the coordinated stepped atomic time (SAT) system.

Pursuant to an agreement between the U.S. Naval Observatory and the National Bureau of Standards this announcement has been reviewed by and has the concurrence of the U.S. Naval Observatory.

NBS RADIO STATIONS

Notice of No Change in Standard Frequency and Time Broadcasts

In accordance with National Bureau of Standards policy of giving monthly notices regarding changes of phases in seconds pulses, notice is hereby given that there will be no change in the phase of seconds pulses emitted from radio station WWVB, Fort Collins, Colo., on October 1, 1967. The carrier frequency of WWVB is 60 kHz and is broadcast without offset. These emissions are made following the stepped atomic time (SAT) system as coordinated by the Bureau International de l'Heure (BIH).

Notice is also hereby given that there will be no change in the phase of time pulses emitted from radio stations WWV, Fort Collins, Colo., and WWVH, Maui, Hawaii, on October 1, 1967. These pulses at present occur at intervals which are longer than one second by 300 parts in 10^{10}. This is due to the offset maintained in the carrier frequencies of these stations following the universal time (UTC) system as coordinated by the BIH.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 18936, etc.; Order No. E-26581]

AMERICAN AIRLINES, INC., ET AL.

Order Instituting Investigation

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 23d day of August 1967; Standby youth fares proposed by American Airlines, Inc., Dockets 16805, 16806, 16807, 16808, 16811, 16823, and 16861; "young adult" fares proposed by Allegheny Airlines, Inc., Docket 16826; investigation of currently effective standby youth fares and "young adult" fares, Docket 18936.

By orders adopted January 20, 1966, the Board dismissed complaints against standby youth fares proposed by American Airlines, Inc.,[1] and against "young adult" fares proposed by Allegheny Airlines, Inc.[2] The Board found in each instance that the complaints did not set forth facts sufficient to warrant investigation and that the requests therefor, and consequently the requests for suspension, should be denied and the complaints dismissed. The Board's orders were reviewed by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit at the instance of Transcontinental Bus System, Inc., and other bus companies. On July 24, the court concluded its consideration of the case by the issuance of a judgment holding that the foregoing orders of the Board "refusing to investigate or suspend the youth and young adult fare tariffs, be, and they are hereby set aside and reversed and the cases are remanded to the Civil Aeronautics Board for such further proceedings as are appropriate under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and not inconsistent with the opinion of this Court."[3]

To reflect the court's judgment, we shall formally vacate Orders E-23137 and E-23138, dismissing complaints against the standby youth fares proposed by American Airlines, Inc., and the "young adult" fares proposed by Allegheny Airlines, Inc., except insofar as they establish reporting requirements. This action will serve to reinstate the complaints before us. In order to deal with the issues raised by the complaints in the light of the determinations of the court, we shall now order the institution of an investigation with respect to the lawfulness of these tariffs. Our investigation, however, will be expanded to encompass all other currently effective standby youth fares or young adult fares filed by carriers other than those named above. In this way, whatever conclusions we reach in this matter can be made effective with respect to all like tariffs at the same time.

Before proceeding further, however, we believe that it would be advisable to afford the parties and any other interested persons an opportunity to express their views with respect to the nature of this investigation and the course that it may follow. Specifically, we shall afford the airlines an opportunity to indicate their plans with respect to the curtailment, continuance or expansion of their youth fare programs. All parties will be afforded an opportunity to set forth any arguments that they may have in support of or in opposition to the justification for the various youth fare programs. Finally, all parties will be asked to comment on the need for or efficacy of an evidentiary hearing and to accompany their comments with a showing as to the evidence to be adduced by them at such a hearing and the factual conclusions such evidence will tend to establish. Once these comments and showing are filed, we shall be in a position to proceed promptly in delineating the course to be followed in the investigation we are now ordering.

Accordingly, pursuant to the mandate of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit,[4] and pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a), 404, and 1002 thereof: It is ordered, That:

1. Orders E-23137 and E-23138, both adopted January 20, 1966, be, and the same hereby are, vacated, except insofar as they establish reporting requirements.

2. An investigation be instituted under Docket 18936 to determine whether the fares and provisions described in Appendix A[5] hereto, including subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, and rules, regulations, and practices affecting such fares and provisions are or will be unjust or unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and if found to be unlawful, to determine and prescribe the lawful fares and provisions, and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions.

3. Any party to this proceeding or other interested person may, within a period of 30 days after publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file a statement with the Board setting forth its views as to the nature of this investigation and the course that it should follow. Such statements may include but are not limited to:

a. Plans of the air carriers with respect to the curtailment, continuance, or expansion, of their youth fare programs;

b. Arguments in support of or in opposition to the justification for various youth fare programs; and

c. The need for or efficacy of an evidentiary hearing, accompanied by showings as to the evidence to be adduced at such a hearing and the factual conclusions such evidence would tend to establish.

4. Copies of this order be served upon American Society of Travel Agents, National Trailways Bus System, Alaska Airlines, Inc., Allegheny Airlines, Inc., Aloha Airlines, Inc., American Airlines, Inc., Bonanza Air Lines, Inc., Braniff Airways, Inc., Central Airlines, Inc., Continental Air Lines, Inc., Delta Air Lines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, Inc., Frontier Airlines, Inc., Hawaiian Airlines, Inc., Lake Central Airlines, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., New York Airways, Inc., North Central Airlines, Inc., Northeast Airlines, Inc., Northwest Airlines, Inc., Ozark Air Lines, Inc., Pacific Air Lines, Inc., Pan American World Airways, Inc., San Francisco & Oakland Helicopter Airlines, Inc., Southern Airways, Inc., Trans-Texas Airways, Inc., Trans World Airlines, Inc., United Air Lines, Inc., West Coast Airlines, Inc., Western Air Lines, Inc., and they are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

NATIONAL AIRLINES, INC.

Proposed Approval of Application

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the statutory requirements of section 408(b) that the undersigned intends to issue the order set forth below under delegated authority. Interested parties are hereby afforded a period of 15 days within which to file comments or request a hearing with respect to the action proposed in the order.

Dated at Washington, D.C., August 22, 1967.

[SEAL] A. M. ANDREWS,
Director, Bureau of Operating Rights.

ORDER GRANTING APPROVAL

Issued under delegated authority.

Application of National Airlines, Inc., for an exemption from section 408 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Docket 18888.

By application filed August 4, 1967, as amended on August 16, 1967, National Airlines, Inc. (National), requested that the Board grant an exemption from the requirements of section 408 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (the Act), insofar as that provision would prohibit the lease of two B-727QC aircraft (the aircraft) from Airlift International, Inc. (Airlift).

In support of its application, National stated that on July 18, 1967, it entered into an agreement with Airlift whereby Airlift, upon its expected acquisition of the aircraft in the fall of 1967 would lease such aircraft to National so as to provide National with a daily daytime utilization of each aircraft with a monthly minimum of 248 block hours of time. The lease provides that National will daily redeliver each aircraft, effecting the change in configuration to enable Airlift to utilize the aircraft in its scheduled nighttime cargo operations for a minimum of 158 hours per month. The rental payable by National under the lease is $55,000 per month per aircraft. The term of the lease is for 1 year, with an option in National to renew the lease of one or both aircraft for an additional 1-year period. The parties will each month coordinate their respective schedules to their mutual satisfaction.

The application made the further contentions that Airlift's cargo operations were essentially night-time operations. Therefore, the historic daylight loading of the aircraft would provide high hourly utilization with an opportunity for increased income to Airlift.

It is further contended that the agreement presents no question of undesirable combination, restraint of competition, jeopardy to another person or potential conflict of interest. National requested an exemption on the ground that the time required to obtain the requisite approval under section 408 might delay implementation of the agreement. However, the aircraft will not be available until the fall of the year and under the circumstances we believe it is more appropriate to handle the matter under the third proviso of section 408(b).

No adverse comments or requests for a hearing have been received by the Board.

Notice of intent to dispose of the application without a hearing has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and a copy of such notice has been furnished by the Board to the Attorney General not later than the day following the date of such publication, both in accordance with the requirements of section 408(b) of the Act.

Upon consideration of the foregoing, it is concluded that jurisdiction over the transaction exists under section 408. However, it is further concluded that the transaction does not affect the control of an air carrier directly engaged in the operation of aircraft in air transportation, does not result in creating a monopoly and does not restrain competition or jeopardize any other air carrier not a party thereto. Furthermore, no person disclosing a substantial interest in this proceeding is currently requesting a hearing, and it is found that the public interest does not require a hearing. The lease should be benefited to both carriers. Airlift will receive revenue from the aircraft for a period when the equipment might otherwise not be utilized. National will be able to offer increased capacity to the traveling public as a result of the lease.

Pursuant to authority duly delegated by the Board in the Board's Regulations, 14 CFR 385.18, it is found that the foregoing lease transaction between National and Airlift should be approved under section 408(b) of the Act, without a hearing.

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That the lease transaction herein described, between National and Airlift, be and it hereby is approved;

2. That this action shall not be deemed an approval for rate-making purposes of the financial provisions of the transaction; and

3. That, to the extent not granted herein, the application in Docket 18888 be and it hereby is denied.

Persons entitled to petition the Board for review of this order pursuant to the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.30, may file such petitions within 5 days after the date of service of this order.

This order shall be effective and become the action of the Civil Aeronautics Board upon the expiration of the above period unless within such period a petition for review is filed, or the Board gives notice that it will review this order on its own motion.

By: A. M. Andrews,
Director, Bureau of Operating Rights.

Secretary.

AUGUST 17, 1967.

On June 9, 1967, the Connecticut State Board of Fisheries and Game has asked to become an active intervener in the proceedings relating to the proposed pumped storage project of Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., on the Hudson River at Cornwall, N.Y. The Connecticut Board has also asked that this Commission delay approval of plant construction and operation pending completion of certain studies on the effect of the project on fish life, hold further hearings at some point in Connecticut, advise the Connecticut Board as to the current status of the project including any schedule of future action and consider the comments of the Connecticut Board as part of the official records. Answers were filed by Consolidated Edison and the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference.

In these proceedings petitions to intervene were to be filed by March 15, 1966; hearings commenced on November 14, 1966, and were completed on May 31, 1967, and initial briefs were exchanged on August 14, 1967, with reply briefs due September 5, 1967. There has been extensive evidence with respect to the impact of the proposed project on the fishery resources of the area, and these matters presumably will be dealt with at length in the briefs to be submitted to the Examiner. Obviously it would not be appropriate for us to determine at this stage of the proceeding whether evaluation of the record will indicate extensive additional studies of the fish problem, and testimony thereon, will be necessary to permit a proper determination of the question. However, in spite of the proceedings having reached an advanced stage, it is our opinion that it is in the public interest to permit the Connecticut Board to intervene in the case. Moreover, we believe that if the Board is presently in possession of any information not fully canvassed on the record, they should be given an opportunity to present such additional evidence on the effect of the proposed project on the Connecticut fisheries and fishing industry. We are obviously not in a position to determine whether the Board is in possession of or prepared to submit any such evidence, not purely cumulative of existing testimony. Accordingly, we are providing that the Presiding Examiner convene a hearing conference on September 7, 1967, to determine whether the Board has relevant and material additional evidence to submit at this time, and, in the event he decides in the affirmative, to establish reasonable periods for the submission and cross-examination of such evidence and for supplemental briefs thereon. If he does not, the Board should be given a reasonable time to submit by way of brief (to which, of course, other parties should have an opportunity to respond) any further comments on the fishery resource problem in the light of the existing record thereon, as it might wish in supplement to its letter of June 12, 1967 (which, of course, is a part of the official records of the Commission, but not evidence).

The Commission further finds:

(1) Although the petition to intervene filed by the Connecticut Board was not filed within the time required by § 1.8(d) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8(d)), good cause exists to permit the late filing.

(2) It is desirable and in the public interest to allow the Connecticut Board to intervene in this proceeding for the purpose specified below.

The Commission orders:

(A) The Connecticut State Board of Fisheries and Game is permitted to intervene in this proceeding: Provided, That its participation shall be limited to the effect of Consolidated Edison's proposed project on the Connecticut fisheries and fishing industry: And provided further, That the admission of such intervener shall not be construed as recognition by the Commission that it might be aggrieved by any order or orders entered in this proceeding.

(B) The Presiding Examiner shall convene a hearing conference on September 7, 1967. If he decides on the basis of the conference that the Board has relevant and material evidence to submit on the effect of the proposed project on the Connecticut fisheries and fishing industry, he shall establish reasonable periods for the submission and cross-examination of such evidence and for supplemental briefs thereon. If he decides the Board does not have such evidence, he shall give the Board opportunity to submit further comments on the fishery resource problem and other parties opportunity to respond.

By the Commission.

INVESTOR ROYALTY CO., INC., ET AL.

Order Providing for Hearing on and Suspension of Proposed Changes in Rates, and Allowing Rate Changes To Become Effective Subject to Refund [1]

AUGUST 18, 1967.

The Respondents named herein have filed proposed changes in rates and charges of currently effective rate schedules for sales of natural gas under Commission jurisdiction, as set forth in Appendix A hereof.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is in the public interest and consistent with the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings regarding the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the supplements herein be suspended and their use be deferred as ordered below.

The Commission orders:

(A) Under the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15, the regulations pertaining thereto (18 CFR Ch. I), and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, public hearings shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes.

(B) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the rate supplements herein are suspended and their use deferred until date shown in the "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until made effective as prescribed by the Natural Gas Act: Provided, however, That the supplements to the rate schedules filed by Respondents, as set forth herein, shall become effective subject to refund on the date and in the manner herein prescribed if within 20 days from the date of the issuance of this order Respondents shall each execute and file under its above-designated docket number with the Secretary of the Commission its agreement and undertaking to comply with the refunding and reporting procedure required by the Natural Gas Act and § 154.102 of the regulations thereunder, accompanied by a certificate showing service of copies thereof upon all purchasers under the rate schedule involved. Unless Respondents are advised to the contrary within 15 days after the filing of their respective agreements and undertakings, such agreements and undertakings shall be deemed to have been accepted.

(C) Until otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the suspended supplements, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of these proceedings or expiration of the suspension period.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before October 4, 1967.

[9] Subject to 0.4488 cent deduction for sour gas. (Gas is delivered sour in some instances.)
[10] Tax reimbursement increase.
[11] Includes 0.615 cent tax reimbursement.
[8] Phillips Petroleum Co. gathers and processes the gas in its Sherman Plant and resells it to Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. under its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 at a base rate of 15.22 cents per Mcf, effective subject to refund in Docket No. R165-[illegible].

Texaco, Inc. (Texaco), request that its proposed tax reimbursement increase be permitted to become effective as of July 1, 1967. Good cause has not been shown for waiving the 30-day notice requirement provided in section 4(d) of the Natural Gas Act to permit an earlier effective date for Texaco's rate filing and such request is denied.

The contract related to the rate filing by Investor Royalty Co., Inc. (Operator), et al., (Investor) was executed subsequent to September 28, 1960, the date of issuance of the Commission's statement of general policy No. 61-1, as amended, and the proposed rate of 13.0 cents per Mcf exceeds the area increased rate ceiling of 11.0 cents per Mcf for the Kansas area but is below the initial service ceiling of 16.0 cents per Mcf for the area involved. We believe, in this situation, Investor's rate filing should be suspended for 1 day from August 19, 1967, the proposed effective date.

Texaco proposes an increase from 6.75 cents, which is effective subject to refund, to 6.795 cents at 14.65 p.s.i.a. reflecting tax reimbursement only. The sale is to Phillips Petroleum Co. (Phillips) from the Hugoton Field, Texas County, Okla. (Panhandle Area). Phillips gathers and processes the gas and resells the residue gas to El Paso Natural Gas Co. at a base rate of 15.22 cents per Mcf, which rate is in effect subject to refund in Docket No. R165-526. Although Texaco's proposed rate does not exceed the area increased rate ceiling of 11.0 cents per Mcf (applicable at the tailgate of Phillips' plant) for the Panhandle Area as announced in the Commission's statement of general policy No. 61-1, as amended, it should be suspended because such ceiling is applicable to Phillips' resale rate, not to Texaco's. In view of the fact that the resale rate of Phillips is suspended in Docket No. R165-526, we conclude that a 1 day suspension from August 24, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice, is appropriate with respect to Texaco's rate filing.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON POSTAL ORGANIZATION

NOTICE OF INQUIRY

The President's Commission on Postal Organization, established by Executive Order No. 11341, dated April 6, 1967 (32 F.R. 5765), is charged with the responsibility "to determine and report upon the feasibility and desirability of a transfer of the postal service from the Post Office Department to a Government corporation or such other form of organization as the Commission might consider desirable." In considering this objective, the Commission is to examine all factors which it deems relevant to postal organization, including but not limited to, management and efficiency of the postal service, postal rates, compensation of employees and personnel policy, and postal facilities and technology.

In order to be sure that the Commission considers all relevant matters, it is inviting interested parties to submit to it, in writing, their views on the critical issues confronting the Commission. The questions set forth below represent some of the issues which the Commission believes might be relevant to its work and are to be considered as guidelines for such a written statement of views. Interested parties are entirely free, however, to present their own list of issues and their views on how these issues should be resolved. The value of any submission to the Commission would be enhanced, of course, by detailed documentation of the party's answers.

To be assured consideration, written responses must be received at the Commission's offices, 1016 16th Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20036, not later than 5 p.m. on October 16, 1967. It would help the Commission if those addressing themselves to issues concerning rates, services, and classes of mail provided an estimate of their annual volume of mail and roughly the percentage of that volume represented by first, second, third, and fourth class mail. Those responding for an association should answer, if possible, on behalf of its membership.

By order of the Commission Chairman.

MURRAY COMAROW,
Executive Director.

ISSUES LIST

I. RATES, SERVICES AND CHARGES

A. Is there general satisfaction with the quality of mail service? What are the weakest aspects of the service? What are the strongest? Are there any particular classes of mail service that especially need improvement? If there are, which classes of service particularly need improvement and what should be improved?

B. Postal costs might be cut by standardization of mail and mailing procedures. How willing are mail users to accept standardization of: Letter sizes? Parcel sizes and weights? Presorting and sacking of mail? Zip codes on all pieces of mail? Deposit of mail at the post office to accommodate workloads on different days of the week and at different times of the day?

C. What changes, if any, should be made in the current scheduling and methods of mail delivery?

D. Should there be a service objective of 1-day delivery of first-class mail within metropolitan areas? Between any two points? Should there be an extra charge for this service? Is there a need for a priority class of mail that would replace airmail and call for delivery by the quickest possible transport?

E. The Postal Policy Act of 1958 (39 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.) provides that first-class mail constitutes a preferred service and that the postage for first-class mail should be sufficient to cover its allocated cost and an additional amount representing the value of its preferential service. Should this policy be modified in some way? If so, how? The Postal Policy Act (39 U.S.C. 2803(a)) identifies certain types of services as "public services." Though the mechanics vary by type of service, the result of "public service" treatment under the Act is a total or partial support of such services from public funds. Should this policy be modified in some way? If so, how? Should the "public service" treatment for the following be modified in some way: Second-class mail? Mailings of nonprofit organizations? Mailings of educational matter? Mail service for the blind? If so, how? Should the "public service" treatment for each of the following special services be modified in some way: C.O.D.? Insured mail? Special delivery? Money orders? If so, how? Should the "public service" treatment of the following be modified in some way: Third-class post offices? Fourth-class post offices? Rural routes? Star routes? If so, how?

F. Is the present level and interrelationship of postal rates the best from the point of view of the overall national interest? If not, how should it be modified?

G. Should second-class rates be determined by: Distance sent? Delivery outside of county of publication? Proportion of advertising in the publication? Controlled circulation publications (nonsubscription) have a special postal rate higher than second-class and lower than third-class. Should this policy be modified in any way? Should there be a special rate for newspapers and certain magazines in exchange for preferred ("red tag") service? If so, what kind of rate?

H. What is the social and economic value of commercial third-class mail?

I. Should a limit be placed on the size and weight of parcels that are handled by the postal service? Should the Post Office get out of the parcel post business entirely and leave it to its competitors in private express service?

J. What is the social and economic value of the following services: Registered mail? Certified mail? Return receipts? Insured mail? Money orders? Collect on delivery? Business reply envelopes? Should these services be modified in any way?

II. LABOR RELATIONS

A. What changes in the area of personnel management or labor relations should be made to improve the efficiency of the postal service either within the existing structure or under any alternative form of postal organization? What changes should be made to improve the morale or working conditions of the postal service, either within the existing structure or under any alternative form of postal organization?

B. What changes, if any, should be made in the present method of selecting postmasters and other postal management officials?

C. Should postal management have the right to transfer employees to other locations in the interests of the postal service? If so, should this right extend to all employees or just certain groups (e.g., executive and managerial-levels, supervisory levels)?

D. What changes, if any, should be made in the types of issues over which postal employees have the right to bargain collectively?

E. Should postal personnel policies and wages be set on a nationwide basis or should there be local variations?

F. Should postal employees have the right to strike? If not, what mechanism should there be for resolving impasses? Should there be fact-finding? Mediation? Voluntary or compulsory arbitration?

G. To what extent should the Post Office enter the labor market to employ people for reasons not directly related to mail operations?

III. GENERAL

A. What are the principal constraints upon the Post Office management today? Consider, among others, both legal and organizational constraints, both within and without the Post Office; consider, among others, the areas of labor management relations and personnel, postal rates and services, postal facilities and technology, and financing of postal activities. Would the public interest be served if some or all of these constraints were removed?

B. If the Commission were to recommend that the Post Office should be transferred to some form of organization outside of the Cabinet, what procedures should be established to ensure that the organization be sensitive to the interest of the general public in such matters as quality of service and rates? Consider the possibility of a broadly representative advisory council, a board of directors with public membership, a public regulatory body, etc.

C. How much should the postal service rely on private enterprise, as distinguished from its own resources, for transportation and other services? Should the postal service continue to lease buildings and space from private parties?

D. What should the postal policy be with respect to the rural carriers? The Star routes? Third-class post offices? Fourth-class post offices? Does the Post Office continue to serve a valuable function in rural areas apart from the delivery of mail? Should it?

E. Should the Post Office monopoly on letter mail be continued? If the Post Office lost its monopoly on first-class mail, would the public generally continue to use the mails for its first-class mailings? What types of private express service would become available and at what cost? What would the effect be on postal revenues? Would such competition stimulate better service by the Post Office?

F. Should the Post Office continue to rely on the same mix of transportation modes which it currently uses? If not, on what types of transportation should it rely more heavily, and why? Should the employees of the transportation systems perform more or less of the mail handling functions than they do now? What technological innovations in the transportation field are likely to affect the postal system and how? How can the Post Office take advantage of modern advances in transportation technology?

G. The Commission is required to determine and report on the feasibility and desirability of transfer of the postal service from its present form to a Government corporation or another form of organization. Possible forms of organization run the gamut from the present Cabinet department to restructured Cabinet department to a non-cabinet Government department, to a Government corporation, to a mixed public-private corporation, to a regulated private corporation, to the use of a series of licensed operators. Should the Post Office be transferred from its present form of organization? If so, to what form? The Commission would appreciate a detailed discussion of this issue.

Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

Proclamation 3801

"STAY IN SCHOOL"

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Education through high school is now within the reach of every American boy and girl. It is essential to our nation's welfare—and to theirs—that they grasp it.

This Nation could neither prosper nor endure without trained, productive men and women. For this reason, we have begun a massive campaign —to extend the blessings of education to the children of the poor,

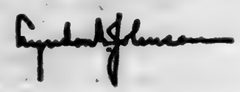
—to increase opportunities for vocational training,

—to help the physically handicapped,

—and to bring higher education within the grasp of more and more of our young people.

A high school diploma is not a sure pass to a successful life, but it vastly increases a young adult's chances for employment and economic independence.

Those who seek employment without training or preparation will knock upon many closed doors. This year, more than 900,000 of our youth will not return to their high school classrooms to complete their secondary education.



For their sake and for ours, it is urgent that they, and others who are tempted to leave school, be persuaded to continue their education.

Citizens in communities across the Nation can help to combat the high school dropout problem—and they are. We have succeeded in reducing the percentage of dropouts among high school age youngsters from 25 percent in 1960 to 18 percent last year. But we must do more.

To emphasize the importance of this task, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, do proclaim a national "Stay in School" campaign.

I call upon the American people to make this campaign successful. I ask the citizens of every community to take an active part in furthering the improvement of American education. I urge that the total resources of all communities be brought to bear upon the educational needs of every young person. I propose that we translate into reality our fond hope that, in this Nation, no young man or woman shall reject, or be rejected by, our most essential institution.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fifth day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-second.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter III—Agricultural Research Service, Department of Agriculture

PART 319—FOREIGN QUARANTINE NOTICES

Subpart—Fruits and Vegetables

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS PRESCRIBING METHOD OF TREATMENT OF ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, AND TANGERINES FOR MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT FLY

Pursuant to the authority conferred by § 319.56–2 of the regulations (7 CFR 319.56–2) supplemental to the Fruit and Vegetable Quarantine (Notice of Quarantine No. 56, 7 CFR 319.56), under sections 5 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912 (7 U.S.C. 159, 162), administrative instructions designated as 7 CFR 319.56–2p are hereby revised to read as follows:

§ 319.56–2p Administrative instructions prescribing method of fumigation of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines for the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Fumigation with ethylene dibromide upon arrival, in accordance with the procedures described in this section, is hereby authorized as an alternate condition-of-entry treatment for oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines offered for entry under permit under § 319.56–2 from countries where the Mediterranean fruit fly is known to occur. This treatment is specific for the Mediterranean fruit fly and will not qualify for entry shipments of fruit from countries where other dangerous citrus pests occur for which the treatment is not effective.

(a) Ports of entry. Oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines to be offered for entry must be shipped from the country of origin directly to New York or such other North Atlantic port as may be named in the permit. Furthermore, shipments moving by air must be so routed as to avoid landing at ports south of Baltimore.

(b) Approved fumigation. (1) The approved treatment shall consist of fumigation with ethylene dibromide for 2 hours at normal atmospheric pressure, in a fumigation chamber which has been approved for the purpose by the Plant Quarantine Division. The dosage shall be applied at the following rates:

Fruit load in percent of chamber volume	Dosage in ounces per 1,000 cubic feet
	60°–69° F.	70° F. or above
Percent
25 or less	16	8
26–40	12	10

Fumigation with a fruit load of more than 60 percent of the chamber volume is not authorized. Post-treatment aeration in the fumigation chambers for 30 minutes is required. Both fruit and air temperatures in the chamber shall be within the prescribed temperature range. Cubic feet of space shall be that of the unloaded chamber. The ethylene dibromide must be applied as a liquid and volatized within the sealed fumigation chamber in an electrically heated vaporizing pan. The electrically heated vaporizing pan shall be controlled by a switch outside the chamber and shall be equipped with a signal light to indicate when the current is on or off. Fifteen minutes after all liquid ethylene dibromide has been injected into the vaporizing pan inside the fumigation chamber, the electric current for the vaporizing pan must be turned off, and the 2-hour period of exposure shall begin. The gas shall be circulated within the chamber continuously for the 2-hour period by electric fans or blowers. The fans or blowers must be of a capacity to circulate the entire air mass within the chamber in 3 minutes.

(2) Oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines to be fumigated may be packed in slatted crates or well perforated unwaxed cardboard cartons with wood excelsior packing material. The fruit may be waxed and individually wrapped with conventional citrus tissue which is gas-permeable. When loaded in the fumigation chamber the crates or containers must be stacked evenly over the floor surface and the crates or containers in a stack shall be separated at least 2 inches on all sides by wooden strips or other means, to insure adequate gas circulation. Fruit in mesh bags or well perforated polyethylene bags (twenty ¼-inch perforations for 5-pound bags, equally spaced on the two sides; proportionately more openings on larger bags) must be placed in crates or similar containers for fumigation.

(c) Other conditions. The unloading of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines from the means of conveyance, their delivery to an approved fumigation plant, and the fumigation procedure will be under the supervision of an inspector of the Plant Quarantine Division. The unloading and delivery and any other handling prior to fumigation shall be conducted in accordance with such safeguards as the inspector may require to prevent the dissemination of injurious insects. Furthermore, the fruit shall be inspected and the finding of plant pests other than the Mediterranean fruit fly may be cause for additional treatment, or denial of entry if no satisfactory treatment is known. Final release of the fruit for entry into the United States will be conditioned upon compliance with such safeguard requirements and the prescribed regulations. Also, restrictions imposed by special quarantines shall remain in full force and effect.[1]

(d) Costs. All costs of treatment and required safeguards and supervision, other than the services of the supervising inspector during regularly assigned hours of duty and at the usual place of duty shall be borne by the owner of the fruit, or his representative.

(e) Department not responsible for damage. The treatment prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section is judged from experimental tests to be safe for use with oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines. However, the Department assumes no responsibility for any damage sustained through or in the course of treatment. There has not been an opportunity to test the treatment on all varieties of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines that may be offered for entry from various countries. It is recommended that shippers check the phytotoxicity of the treatment to the variety to be shipped, either through tests at origin or by means of test shipments sent to this country.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318, 7 U.S.C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 37 Stat. 316, 7 U.S.C. 159. 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 7 CFR 319.56–2)

These revised administrative instructions shall become effective August 29, 1967, when they shall supersede 7 CFR 319.56–2p, effective January 24, 1963.

The principal purpose of these amendments is to include grapefruit and tangerines as fruits that may be imported under permit from countries infested with the Mediterranean fruit fly (but no other dangerous citrus pests) after such fruits have been given the prescribed treatment. Also, dosages of the fumigant have been lowered, the range of temperatures increased, and a further subdivision in the schedule provided based on the fruit load as a percentage of the chamber volume.

The previous regulations prescribed a dosage of 24 ounces of ethylene dibromide per 1,000 cubic feet at temperatures from 50° to 69° F. Further experimental work by U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists has disclosed that this large dosage at these temperatures might, under certain conditions, present undue hazards.

Insofar as this revision relieves certain restrictions, it should be made effective promptly to be of maximum benefit to importers. The amendments also impose certain additional restrictions by eliminating dosages for treatments at lower temperatures. In this respect, the amendments should be made effective promptly in order to inaugurate the newly prescribed safeguards. Therefore, pursuant to the administrative procedure provisions of 5 U.S.C., § 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to these amendments are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the amendments effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Hyattsville, Md., this 23d day of August 1967.

PART 924—FRESH PRUNES GROWN IN DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN WASHINGTON AND IN UMATILLA COUNTY, OREGON

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

On August 9, 1967, notice of rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 11475) regarding proposed expenses and the related rate of assessment for the period April 1, 1967, through March 31, 1968, and approval of the carryover of unexpended funds from the period April 1, 1966, through March 31, 1967, pursuant to the marketing agreement, and Order No. 924 (7 CFR Part 924), regulating the handling of fresh prunes grown in designated counties in Washington and in Umatilla County, Oreg. This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in such notices which were submitted by the Washington-Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee (established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order), it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 924.207 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) Expenses. Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Washington-Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee during the period April 1, 1967, through March 31, 1968, will amount to $15,574.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for said period, payable by each handler in accordance with § 924.41, is fixed at $1 per ton of fresh prunes.

(c) Reserve. Unexpended assessment funds, in excess of expenses incurred during the fiscal period ended March 31, 1967, shall be carried over as a reserve in accordance with the applicable provisions of § 924.42 of said marketing agreement and order.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) shipments of the current crop of fresh prunes grown in the designated production area are now being made; (2) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rate of assessment herein fixed shall be applicable to all assessable prunes handled during the aforesaid period; and (3) such period began on April 1, 1967, and said rate of assessment will automatically apply to all such prunes beginning with such date.

PART 993—DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

Expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee and Rate of Assessment for the 1967–68 Crop Year

Notice was published in the August 9, 1967, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 11478) regarding proposed expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee for the 1967–68 crop year and rate of assessment for that crop year, pursuant to §§ 993.80 and 993.81 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 993, as amended (7 CFR Part 993), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California. The amended marketing agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments with respect to the proposal. None were submitted within the prescribed time.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including that in the notice, the information and recommendations submitted by the Prune Administrative Committee, and other available information, it is found that the expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee and the rate of assessment for the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, shall be as follows:

§ 993.318 Expenses of the Prune Administrative Committee and rate of assessment for the 1967–68 crop year.

(a) Expenses. Expenses in the amount of $97,500 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Prune Administrative Committee during the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, for its maintenance and functioning and for such other purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and this part, determine to be appropriate.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for such crop year which each handler is required, pursuant to § 993.81, to pay to the Prune Administrative Committee as his pro rata share of the said expenses is fixed at 75 cents per ton of salable prunes handled by him as the first handler thereof.

It is found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) The relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rate of assessment fixed for a particular crop year shall be applicable to all salable prunes handled by handlers as the first handlers thereof; and (2) the current crop year began on August 1, 1967, and the rate of assessment herein fixed will automatically apply to all such prunes beginning with that date.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: August 24, 1967.

Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division.

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

2,4-D

An order was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 11, 1967 (32 F.R. 5772), amending § 120.142 by establishing tolerances for residues of 2,4-D (2,4-dichlorophenoxyacetic acid) in or on the grain and forage of barley, oats, rye, and wheat, from the application of the herbicide 2,4-D in acid form or in the form of some of its salts, amines, or esters. Inadvertently, the compound heptylamine was omitted from the list of amine salts of 2,4-D and the names linoleylamine and oleylamine were used instead of the correct names N,N-dimethyllinoleylamine and N,N-dimethyloleylamine.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that the aforementioned chemicals are registered with the Department of Agriculture. Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), § 120.142(b)(2) is revised to read as follows:

§ 120.142 2,4-D; tolerances for residues.

(2) The amine salts: Alkanolamines (of the ethanol and isopropanol series), alkyl (C–12), alkyl (C–13), alkyl (C–14), alkylamines derived from tall oil, amylamine, diethanolamine, diethylamine, diisopropanolamine, dimethylamine, diisopropanolamine, dimethylamine, N,N-dimethyllinoleylamine, N,N-dimethyloleylamine, ethanolamine, ethylamine, heptylamine, isopropanolamine, isopropylamine, methylamine, morpholine, octylamine, N-oleyl-1,3-propylenediamine, propylamine, triethanolamine, triethylamine, triisopropanolamine, and trimethylamine.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Paraquat

A petition (PP 7F0678) was filed with the Food and Drug Administration by Chevron Chemical Co., Ortho Division, 940 Hensley Street, Richmond, Calif. 94801, proposing that § 120.205 be amended to provide for tolerances for paraquat (1,1'-dimethyl-4,4'-bipyridinium) residues derived from the application of the dichloride salt (calculated as the cation) in or on cottonseed and potatoes at 0.5 part per million.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which the tolerances are being established.

Based on consideration given the data submitted in the petition, and other relevant material, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that the tolerances established by this order will protect the public health. Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), § 120.205 is revised to read as follows:

§ 120.205 Paraquat; tolerances for residues.

Tolerances are established for residues of the desiccant and defoliant paraquat (1,1'-dimethyl-4,4'-bipyridinium) derived from application of either the bis-(methyl sulfate) or dichloride salt, calculated in both instances as the cation, in or on the raw agricultural commodities cottonseed and potatoes at 0.5 part per million.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto, preferably in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

2,3,5-Triiodobenzoic Acid

A petition (PP 7F0554) was filed with the Food and Drug Administration by Amchem Products, Inc., Ambler, Pa. 19002, proposing the establishment of a tolerance of 0.016 part per million for residues of the plant regulator 2,3,5-triiodobenzoic acid and its dimethylamine salt in or on the raw agricultural commodity apples. Subsequently the petition was amended to increase the proposed tolerance from 0.015 to 0.05 part per million.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purpose for which the tolerance is being established.

Based on consideration given the data submitted in the petition, and other relevant material, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that the tolerance established by this order will protect the public health. Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), Part 120 is amended by adding to Subpart C the following new section:

§ 120.219 2,3,5-Triiodobenzoic acid; tolerances for residues.

A tolerance of 0.05 part per million is established for negligible residues of the plant regulator 2,3,5-triiodobenzoic acid and for its dimethylamine salt (calculated as 2,3,5-triiodobenzoic acid) in or on the raw agricultural commodity apples.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto, preferably in quintuplicate. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SUBCHAPTER D—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES

PART 191—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES: DEFINITIONS AND PROCEDURAL AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

Fuel for Miniature Engines; Exemption From Classification as Banned Hazardous Substance

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has received a request, submitted pursuant to section 2(q)(1)(B)(i) of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act and § 191.62(c) of the regulations thereunder, to exempt the article described below from classification as a "banned hazardous substance," as defined by section 2(q)(1)(A) of the act, because the article's functional purpose requires inclusion of a hazardous substance, it bears labeling giving adequate directions and warnings for safe use, and it is intended for use by children who have attained sufficient maturity, and may reasonably be expected, to read and heed such directions and warnings.

The Commissioner has determined on the basis of the facts submitted, and other relevant information, that the requested exemption is consistent with the purpose of the act. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the act (sec. 2(q)(1)(B)(i), 74 Stat. 374, 80 Stat. 1304; 15 U.S.C. 1261) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), § 191.65(a) (22 F.R. 11322) is amended by adding thereto a new subparagraph, as follows:

§ 191.65 Exemptions from classification as a banned hazardous substance.

(a) * * *

(5) Liquid fuels containing more than 4 percent by weight of methyl alcohol that are intended and used for operation of miniature engines for model airplanes, boats, cars, etc.

Notice and public procedure and delayed effective date are unnecessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since the Federal Hazardous Substances Act contemplates such exemptions under certain conditions.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 2(q)(1)(B)(i), 74 Stat. 374, 80 Stat. 1304; 15 U.S.C. 1261)

PART 148i—NEOMYCIN SULFATE

Antibiotic Otic Suspension

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357), and delegated by him to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), § 148i.18 Neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate-hydrocortisone otic suspension; neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate-hydrocortisone-sodium heparin otic suspension is amended as follows to raise the upper limit of antibiotic content acceptable:

1. In paragraph (b)(1)(i), the portion of the last sentence reading "than 125 percent" is changed to read "than 130 percent".

2. In paragraph (b)(1)(ii), the portion of the last sentence reading "than 125 percent" is changed to read "than 130 percent".

This order merely changes the range of antibiotic content acceptable for the subject drug without affecting its safety or efficacy and raises no points of controversy; therefore, notice and public procedure and delayed effective date are not prerequisites to this promulgation.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) If the director of procurement (or DCS/Procurement and Production) determines, on the basis of such recommendation, that a refund based on extra-contractual consideration is to be sought, he will:

(1) If the refund action being initiated results from in-house investigation forward to the Secretary of the Air Force through Hq USAF (AFSPPDA) for review and approval a detailed statement which will include the following information:

(i) The facts and factors of the case.

(ii) Reason for seeking a price adjustment.

(iii) The proposed action to be taken.

(2) Upon receipt of approval from the Secretary of the Air Force to proceed with proposed action, prepare a letter to the president or principal officer of the contractor which:

(i) Advises the contractor that he is acting in behalf of the Secretary of the Air Force to whom the results of his actions will be forwarded.

(ii) States the results of his review of the matter.

(iii) Advises that the Air Force considers it important that an equitable adjustment be made promptly.

(iv) Requests the contractor to refund the determined amount or make the necessary adjustment voluntarily.

(v) If desired, invites the contractor's president or appropriate principal officer to discuss personally the payment of the refund to the Government.

(3) If the refund action has been recommended by the GAO, forward to the Secretary of the Air Force through Hq USAF (AFSPPCB) for review and approval a proposed response to the GAO which will contain the information required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(4) Upon notification of approval of the proposed response to the GAO by the Secretary of the Air Force, prepare a letter to the president or principal officer of the contractor which will contain the information required by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(c) The director of procurement (or DCS/Procurement and Production) will exhaust every available means to obtain the refund or adjustment. If unable to secure the adjustment, he will report his actions to the commander of the major command and recommend what further action should be taken. The commander will then exhaust every available means and, if necessary, forward the matter to Hq USAF (AFSPPDA) or (AFSPPCB) as appropriate, with recommendations for further action.

(d) Regarding refunds involving responses to GAO reports, a determination may be made to seek or accept a refund less than that recommended by GAO. If so, such a decision must be fully documented by the director of procurement (or DCS/Procurement and Production) and have the concurrence of the commander of the major command. If the Command concurs in the recommendation but fails to obtain a refund because of the contractor's refusal, the response should state the basis for the refusal and whether or not the Command agrees with it.

(e) Attention is directed to the need for thorough analysis and justification of our position in any case in which a GAO recommendation to seek an adjustment is not complied with since our position will be contained in a final report addressed to the Congress. If a GAO recommendation to seek a refund is rejected, the response to GAO will adequately state the facts and arguments supporting the Command's position and the response should also indicate that legal recourse was considered and the results of such consideration.

PART 1002—PROCUREMENT BY FORMAL ADVERTISING

Subpart D—Opening of Bids and Award of Contract

2. Section 1002.408–1 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 1002.408–1 Unclassified awards.

* * * * *

(b) In case, when an inquiry is made, the letter is addressed to an unsuccessful bidder who is lower in price than the successful bidder due to rejection of the lower bid on the basis of a negative pre-award survey (facility capability report), the last paragraph will read as follows:

The interest shown by your firm in submitting a bid is appreciated; however, we were unable to make the required determination that your company is "responsible" within the meaning of that term as defined in paragraph 1–903 of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation. The information upon which our decision was based was contained in a Preaward Survey which was issued by _____ (here insert name and address of the activity which issued the PAS). We have asked that organization to provide you with further details as to their findings if you call upon them for such details.

The PCO should submit a copy of the above letter to the appropriate PAS activity and request that details of the PAS be disclosed to the unsuccessful bidder upon request.

* * * * *

PART 1004—SPECIAL TYPES AND METHODS OF PROCUREMENT

3. In § 1004.302–50, paragraph (b) is corrected; and in § 1004.5002–3, paragraph (a) is corrected to read as follows:

Subpart C—Contracts for Preparation of Household Goods for Shipment, Government Storage and Related Services

§ 1004.302–50 BDO procedure.

* * * * *

(b) Calls against the BDOs may be issued by:

(1) An individual located in the base procurement office; or

(2) An individual designated in the BDO by title located outside the base procurement office: Provided, That if there is a contracting officer in the transportation office, he will be the individual so designated.

(f) Individuals authorized to place calls, when in receipt of Special Orders authorizing movement of household goods and citing funds, will assume that funds have been committed for the packing and crating requirement incident to the movement of the individual named in the Special Orders.

(ii) The person placing oral calls will establish a control record at the beginning of each month indicating the call number, name of individual for whom services are to be performed, date of placement of call, Special Order Number, voucher number, date payment was made, amount and accumulated expenditures. In no event will the sequence of call numbers be interrupted. The accumulated expenditure will be brought forward to the control record for the next month. At the end of each month the amount column should be totaled for reporting purposes.

(iii) [Reserved]

(iv) Prior to contacting the contractor to place a call, the individual authorized to place calls will be furnished a copy of the Special Order indicating the individual for whom services are to be ordered and a form letter in duplicate indicating date and place of pickup, estimated weight of household goods, special markings, destination, and any other information required incident to the services to be performed. On receipt of the above information, he will contact the contractor, establish a firm pickup date, and issue a call number from control records. This information will then be placed on a duplicate copy of the form letter and returned to the transportation officer who will use this information when preparing the Standard Form 1034. In addition, the transportation officer will keep the contracting officer informed of contractor performance on a daily basis to assure contractor compliance.

(v) Wherever possible, calls should be placed in the month in which services are to be performed. Services should be scheduled no more than 48 hours in advance if call is placed during the last 2 days of a month.

* * * * *

Subpart XX—Nonappropriated Fund Contracts

§ 1004.5002–3 Construction or architect engineering contracts funded completely with nonappropriated funds.

(a) General. Two important policies have been considered in establishing this portion of this subchapter:

(1) Generally keeping the normal procurement system intact, and

(2) Still giving nonappropriated fund instrumentalities maximum flexibility.

(i) The policies and procedures in Subchapter A, Chapter I of this title and this subchapter should be followed unless cogent reasons justify noncompliance. Justification will be reduced to writing, signed by the chief of the appropriate functional activity, approved by the base commander, and at least one copy furnished to the contracting officer prior to beginning any procurement action.

(ii) Notwithstanding subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, except for work financed entirely by voluntary contributions or donations made to nonappropriated funds specifically to accomplish such work, all construction contracts in excess of $2,000 financed in whole or in part by nonappropriated funds, will contain construction labor standards clauses consistent with the requirements of Subpart G, Part 18 of this title. Deviations from this requirement will be obtained and furnished by the requesting activity according to AFR 176–1.

But in no instance will the person making this determination be the same individual who signs the contract for the supplies or services involved. § 1005.102–3 Applicability of listed Federal Supply Schedules.

Purchasing offices will secure requirements from Federal Supply Schedule (FSS) Contractors as prescribed in the schedule except activities in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. possessions may secure their requirements from local FSS sources when such sources are available.

(3) Requests will contain complete item identification (nomenclature), including FSN if available, item use, and full justification for the action recommended.

(4) After coordination with Hq AFLC and if deemed necessary with the item management AMA, the request if concurred in will be forwarded by MCPAC to the Defense Supply Agency, Executive Director, Procurement and Production. Otherwise, the request will be returned to its submitter.

§ 1005.103 Federal Supply Schedules not mandatory upon the Department of Defense.

In Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or in the U.S. possessions when local Federal Supply Schedule sources are not available, items on nonmandatory schedules may be procured locally provided it is not in conflict with the requirements of Subchapter A, Chapter I of this title. Handling, packing, and transportation cost should be considered in determining whether to buy from local sources or whether to submit the order to the Federal Supply Schedule Contractor.

The justification statement will be attached to the purchase request and will be included in the contract file as documentation to justify the order. No formal determination or finding need be filed with either GSA or the AFAFC (SAA).

(b) Where the price of comparable items of two or more contractors is identical, orders will be rotated to the extent practicable to avoid charges of preferential treatment.

§ 1005.108 Administration of orders under Federal Supply Schedule contracts.

Subpart B—Procurement of Supplies From General Services Administration Stores Depots and of Services for Repair and Refinishing From General Services Administration Sources

§ 1005.204 Order for supplies.

Base procurement offices will not issue orders to GSA stores depots. Since requisitioning from GSA stores depots is the responsibility of the base supply activity or service store activity, the base procurement office will not consider the GSA stores depots as a source for procurement of items cited on purchase requests. When a purchase request is received from base supply, it must be assumed that the items listed are either:

(a) Not listed in GSA stores stock catalogs.

(b) Listed but not currently available.

(c) Listed but the GSA stores depots cannot meet delivery requirements.

(d) Listed in GSA stores stock catalog but the quantity is large and is more economical to order from Federal Supply Schedule.

§ 1005.207 Additional services.

Air Force utilization of the optional contracts for maintenance, repair, and rehabilitation entered into by General Services Administration regional offices normally will be limited to household, quarters, office, and similar type items of equipment. GSA regional contracts should not be utilized by AF activities for services involving safety of flight, mission support, items which might involve personal safety, or items of equipment that will be reverted to AF stocks except when the Air Force is assured that the contractor is responsible, that work requirements included in the contract are specific and adequate, and that quality of product is insured.

§ 1005.208 Order for services.

(a) GSA repair facility. Maintenance will forward the request for purchase of repair or refinishing services to procurement, and the appropriate base procurement office will issue the DD Form 1155 or AFPI Form 93 series, as appropriate.

(a) Although the procurement responsibility for household washers and dryers (FSC 3510), refrigerators (FSC 4110) and ranges (FSC 7310) is assigned to the Defense Supply Agency (see § 5.1201–6 of this title) an agreement exists between this Agency and the GSA that GSA will procure selected items for the military departments.

(b) The procedures in paragraph (a) of this section also apply to procurement of hand tools (FSG 51 and FSC 5210), paints (FSG 80), and other DSA managed items which by agreement are reassigned for management and procurement by the GSA.

(c) Procedures for purchase of furniture, office machines, and supplies subject to the provisions of the Federal Supply Services Consolidated Purchase Program are in § 5.103 of this title and § 1005.102–3(d). Also see § 1005.150 concerning overseas requirements.

§ 1005.303 Order for supplies or service.

(2) Requisitions received in the purchasing office for Federal Supply Schedule items which exceed the maximum order limitations of the schedule will be processed to the appropriate GSA regional office for purchase action. When the requisition is not in MILSTRIP format, it will be returned to the supply activity for conversion to such a form. Where the DD Form 1348–1 is used, it will be prominently stamped "Requisition" on all copies before processing to GSA and the supply activity notified of the action taken.

(b) Service. Purchasing offices will submit a DD Form 1155, AFPI Form 93 series, or letter as appropriate to the GSA regional office of the region in which the office is located when requesting purchase action according to this part, except when GSA contracts are available then the DD Form 1155 or AFPI Form 93 series, as appropriate, will be submitted to the contractor.

Subpart F—Procurement of Printing and Related Supplies (July 7, 1961)

5. In § 1005.650–1, paragraph (c) is amended by revising subparagraphs (1) and (3) to read as follows:

Title 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER H—PASSENGER VESSELS

[CGFR 67–51]

PART 80—DISCLOSURE OF SAFETY STANDARDS

Interpretive Rulings Regarding Advertising

1. The disclosure regulations were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 25, 1967, and effective on and after May 6, 1967, and implemented Public

Law 89–777 which amended in part, Title 46, United States Code, section 362. Many inquiries have been received from the advertising industry relative to the proper method of incorporating safety information in advertising material. Because of the number of these inquiries and since many of the questions were identical, an informal meeting was held in Washington on June 15, 1967, to discuss these problems and to describe the proper application of the regulations. This meeting resulted in a better appreciation, on the part of all concerned, with these mutual problems, both technical and regulatory, which face both industry and Coast Guard. It is desired by all concerned to comply with the intent of Congress as set forth in this new law that the advertising information will "* * * notify each prospective passenger of the safety standards with which the vessel complies or does not comply."

2. The purpose of this document is to describe in general terms the interpretive rulings given with respect to the rules and regulations in this part as they apply to advertising information.

3. By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, by section 632 of Title 14, United States Code, and Department of Transportation Order 1100.1 delegating authority to prescribe rules and regulations under laws transferred by subsection 6(b)(1) of the Department of Transportation Act, the following interpretive rulings designated § 80.15–1 are prescribed and effective on and after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

4. Part 80 is amended by inserting after § 80.10–20 a new Subpart 80.15, consisting of § 80.15–1, reading as follows:

Subpart 80.15—Interpretive Rulings

§ 80.15–1 Advertising information.

(a) Because of the number of inquiries and since many of the questions were identical, the interpretive rulings in this section are published for the guidance of all concerned.

(b) From the point of view of contents, when is it necessary to incorporate into an advertisement the safety information required by this part? (Ruling) The safety information statement is required in an advertisement when either one of two conditions are described; i.e., (1) a vessel is named, or (2) a voyage is described.

(c) What is meant by the word "voyage" as used in this part? (Ruling) As used in this part, "voyage" (route) consists of three conditions which must be stated and are (1) port or area of departure; (2) port or area of destination; and (3) a schedule.

(d) What is meant by the word "schedule" as used in § 80.10–20(c)? (Ruling) A "schedule" is the posted and published day(s) of departure and/or arrival. A description of a limited time interval during which a voyage will commence, i.e., such as "departing 10:30 a.m., September 7," "departing every Monday," "departing first Tuesday of every month," etc., are deemed to come within the meaning of term "schedule." The phrases "weekly sailings," "sailing twice weekly," "September Sailing," "Summer Cruise", etc., are not deemed to come within the meaning of the term "schedule."

(e) Are there any exceptions to the description in § 80.10–5(a) which states that "All promotional literature or advertising in or over any medium of communication * * * shall include * * *" safety information? (Ruling) Because of the nature of the display, the exception allowed concerns advertising signs towed or displayed by aircraft (including skywriting by aircraft). This ruling is based on the premise of practicability, and it is believed that Congress did not intend to prohibit this type of advertising.

(f) Does § 80.10–20(c)(1) relate to billboard type advertisements, especially since it specifies a minimum type size of printing of 4 points? (Ruling) This regulation does relate to billboard type advertising and shall be followed. Attention is directed to the wording which states "* * * the safety information statement shall be at least the same size type as the body of the text * * *."

(g) Because of the precise language in § 80.10–20(c), how much latitude is given with respect to the placement and cross references about safety information statements in brochures, pamphlets, schedules, etc.? (Ruling) The first two sentences of § 80.10–20(c) contain the basic requirements of this regulation, and strict compliance is necessary in order to effectively advise prospective passengers of the safety standards of the named vessels. The balance of § 80.10–20(c) is explanatory and suggestive in nature. By using an example the last sentence of this regulation suggests how these basic requirements may be met. It must be kept in mind that this regulation must be read and complied with in the context of the regulation as a whole.

(h) Are advertisements in trade publications required to comply with the disclosure requirements in this part? (Ruling) Trade publications are deemed to be those directed to a specific group of people or organizations and are not intended or used for general distribution to the public. In those instances where advertisements are not used or intended to be distributed to the general public for solicitation of passage on vessels, the advertisements are not deemed to be subject to the requirements in this part.

(i) Does the descriptive phrase "* * * all promotion literature or advertising in or over any medium of communication within the United States * * *" in subsection 362(b) of Title 46, United States Code, include literature (such as magazines, newspapers, periodicals, etc.) and advertising produced in a foreign country and introduced into the United States, and would such materials be subject to the regulations in this part? (Ruling) Any literature (such as magazines, newspapers, periodicals, etc.) and advertising introduced into the United States of America for the purpose of offering passage or soliciting passengers for ocean voyages must comply with the requirements in this part. Advertisements in foreign magazines, newspapers, periodicals, etc., produced outside the United States and having a limited distribution in the United States need not comply with the requirements in this part: Provided, however, That American editions of such media and travel advertisements extracted from such media for distribution in the United States must comply with the requirements in this part.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Bureau of Customs

[19 CFR Part 8]

ENTRY OF IMPORTED MERCHANDISE

Powers of Attorney

An individual who is not a regular importer may at present execute a power of attorney authorizing a relative to act as his agent in filing a customs entry covering a single noncommercial shipment.

The Bureau proposes an extension of the practice to allow an individual by power of attorney to appoint an unrelated individual as his unpaid agent in order to enter the merchandise constituting a single noncommercial shipment. Many individuals at inland ports have reported annoyance and incommensurate expense in having to arrange the customs clearance of effects landed at a customs port distant from their homes when a friend or associate is available to effect expeditious action.

Therefore, the Bureau of Customs, under the authority of section 485, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1485), and section 251 of the Revised Statutes (19 U.S.C. 66), proposes to amend § 8.19 (j) of the Customs Regulations by substituting the words "another individual" for the words "a relative" and by inserting the word "unpaid" before the word "agent" where it appears. The amended section, in tentative form, is as follows:

Section 8.19(j) is amended to read as follows:

§ 8.19 Powers of attorney.

* * * * *

(j) An individual (but not a partnership, association, or corporation) who is not a regular importer may appoint another individual as his unpaid agent for customs purposes by executing a power of attorney applicable to a single noncommercial shipment by writing, printing, or stamping, and subscribing on the invoice, or on a separate paper attached thereto, the following statement:

is hereby authorized to execute, as an unpaid agent who has knowledge of the facts, pursuant to the provisions of section 485(f), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, the consignee's and owner's declarations provided for in section 485 (a) and (d), Tariff Act of 1930, and to enter on my behalf or for my account the goods described in the attached invoice which contains a true and complete statement of the facts concerning this shipment.

Date _____ 19____

Signature of Importer _____

Prior to the issuance of the proposed amendments, consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Customs, Bureau of Customs, Washington, D.C. 20226, and received not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearings will be held.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

[50 CFR Part 80]

GAME BIRDS, FISH, AND MAMMALS

Restoration

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by section 10 of the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act, as amended (50 Stat. 917; 16 U.S.C. 669i) and by section 10 of the Federal Aid in Fish Restoration Act, as amended (64 Stat. 430; 16 U.S.C. 777i), it is proposed to revise Part 80, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, as set forth below. The proposed changes will improve administrative procedures and revise the policy relative to use of Federal funds for unapproved activities.

1. Section 80.1 will be altered to revise the definition of "Project" so that it may encompass any or all of the activities approvable under the Federal Aid Acts. Also, the definition of "Research" will be changed to include two levels of Research: "Research" and "Surveys and inventories." A definition of "Project substantiality" is added.

2. Section 80.4 will be revised by substituting "project agreement" for "program agreement," as the document signed by the Secretary to obligate funds.

3. Section 80.5 will be revised to describe, set the penalty for, and establish means of correcting diversions of Federal Aid funds as well as license revenues. The penalty for misuse of Federal Aid funds or real property acquired with Federal Aid funds will be ineligibility for further projects. Real properties disposed of by the State without concurrence by the Secretary that they are no longer of value to fish and wildlife will need to be replaced in kind before the State can become eligible again for participation in the Federal Aid program.

4. Section 80.7 is revised by removing the word "fiscal" from between "preceding" and "year."

5. Section 80.12 will be revised to describe the content and purpose of a financial plan. "Plans, specifications and estimates" will be recoded § 80.13.

6. Section 80.13 will be revised to cover plans, specifications and estimates. Coverage is expanded to specify when these documents are to be submitted. Schedules of supervisory and technical personnel and major items of equipment are added.

7. Section 80.14 will be retitled "Project agreement." The section will be changed to remove the choice between writing an agreement for one segment of a project or for an annual financial plan. An agreement will be written for each financial plan because a financial plan is now written for each project segment.

8. Section 80.27, "Credits for sale or nonproject use of property," will be removed from the regulations and replaced by a section entitled "Production of income." This new section will provide that Federal Aid funds shall not be spent for the purpose of producing income, and will list the types of income to be avoided.

9. Section 80.30 will be revised under paragraph (a) to remove the words "program or" so that it will read: "Federal Aid payments shall not exceed 75 percent of the cost of a project * * *".

10. Section 80.32 will be revised to provide that cost records shall be maintained separately for each project, and that in projects containing multiple activities, costs for research, acquisition, development, and coordination, shall be segregated.

11. Section 80.33 will be revised to provide that the retention of documents shall be only for 3 years after final payment for reimbursement on the project.

12. Section 80.35, "Water pollution control," is added to require that pollution of water be avoided in the operation of Federal Aid projects.

13. Section 80.36, "Purchase of equipment," is added to provide that advance approval by the Secretary is required for purchase of items of equipment costing in excess of $500. This is not a new policy, but has not previously been carried in the regulations.

14. Section 80.37, "Patents," has been added to protect the Federal Government's interest in discoveries and inventions which are developed through the expenditure of Federal Aid funds.

15. Section 80.38, "Fish and wildlife planning," has been added. It urges long-range planning with Federal Aid funds as a guide to further program expenditures.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule-making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days of the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

JOHN S. GOTTSCHALK,
Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 80 issued under sec. 10, 50 Stat. 917, as amended, sec. 10, 64 Stat. 430, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 669i, 777i.

§ 80.1 Definitions.

As used in this part, terms shall have the meanings ascribed in this section.

(a) Federal Aid Act(s). (1) The Act of Congress, approved September 2, 1937, entitled "An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in wildlife restoration projects, and for other purposes" (50 Stat. 917, as amended; 16 U.S.C., sec. 669–669i), commonly referred to as the Pittman-Robertson Act; and (2) the Act of Congress, approved August 8, 1950, entitled "An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in fish restoration and management projects, and for other purposes" (64 Stat. 430, as amended; 16 U.S.C., sec. 777–777k), commonly referred to as the Dingell–Johnson Act.

(b) State. Any State of the United States, the territorial areas of Guam and the Virgin Islands, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(c) State Fish and Game Department. Any department or division, or commission, or official of a State empowered under its laws to exercise the functions ordinarily exercised by a State Fish and Game Department, the Secretary of Agriculture of Puerto Rico, or the Governor of Guam or the Virgin Islands.

(d) Fish and wildlife. (1) The term "fish" is limited to aquatic, gill breathing, vertebrate animals bearing paired fins; and (2) the term "wildlife" is limited to wild birds and wild mammals.

(e) Project. A sound and substantial undertaking with the general objective of restoring or managing fish and wildlife populations now and for the future and for the preservation and improvement of sport fishing, hunting, and related uses of these resources.

(f) Project substantiality. A substantial project is one which will provide benefits to hunters and fishermen commensurate with cost, and which is designed in accordance with accepted fish and wildlife conservation and management practices and sound engineering principles.

(g) Project segment. An essential part or division of a project, usually separated as a period of time, occasionally as a unit of work.

(h) Land acquisition. The acquisition of lands, waters, or interests therein, by purchase, condemnation, lease or gift.

(i) Development. Improving areas of land or water through the construction of works and facilities, improvement of soil and water conditions, establishing or controlling vegetation and animal populations and including operation and protection of the areas.

(j) Research and surveys. Investigations into problems of fish and wildlife management necessary for the efficient administration of these resources, including:

(1) Research. Studies designed to supply new information about fish and wildlife, their environment, or the development of new methods for management of these resources.

(2) Surveys and inventories. Routine collection of data on the abundance and utilization of fish and wildlife, or the condition of their environment, through the application of established methodology.

(k) Management. For purposes of the limitation on management of wildlife areas and resources, the term includes measures and facilities for the harvest and control of wild birds and mammals.

(l) Maintenance. Repair and upkeep of capital improvements acquired or constructed under the Federal Aid Acts. A capital improvement is any successfully established improvement having an expected useful life in excess of 5 years. For the purpose of qualifying for maintenance, a project is completed when the lands have been acquired, or capital improvements have been finished.

(m) Coordination. The selection, planning, direction, supervision, and coordination of projects within a State's Federal Aid program, including the coordination of this program with other related activities of the fish and game department.

§ 80.2 Apportionment and certification.

The Secretary shall apportion funds in the manner prescribed in the Acts, as soon as possible after receiving notification of the amounts which have become available for the purposes of the Acts. He shall promptly certify to the Secretary of the Treasury and to each State Fish and Game Department, the respective sums which he has deducted for administering and executing the Acts and the respective sums which he has apportioned to each State for the ensuing fiscal year.

§ 80.3 Notice of desire to participate.

Any State Fish and Game Department desiring to avail itself of the benefits of the Acts, shall notify the Secretary within 60 days after it has received from him a certificate of apportionment of funds available to the State.

§ 80.4 Period of availability of funds.

Funds are available to a State for expenditure or obligation during the fiscal year for which they are apportioned and until the close of the succeeding fiscal year. For the purpose of this section, obligation of apportioned funds occurs when a project agreement or amendment thereto is signed by the Secretary or his authorized representative.

§ 80.5 Diversion of funds.

(a) Conditions to participation in the benefits of these Acts are that a State's hunting and fishing license revenues must be used only for administration of its Fish and Game Department and Federal Aid funds granted under the Acts must be used for the purposes of approved projects. A diversion of license fees occurs when a State Fish and Game Department, through legislative action, or otherwise, loses control of the expenditure of any portion of its hunting license or sport fishing license revenues, or expends such revenues for any purpose other than the administration of the State Fish and Game Department. A diversion of Federal Aid funds occurs whenever they are applied by a State to activities or purposes which are not a part of an approved project, or when real property acquired or constructed with Federal Aid funds under these Acts passes from the control of the State Fish and Game Department or is used for unapproved purposes in a manner or to an extent which interferes with the accomplishment of project purposes as they were approved by the Secretary, or as they may be amended with the approval of the Secretary.

(b) When a diversion of funds occurs, a State thereby becomes ineligible to receive Federal Aid funds under the pertinent Act from the date the diversion occurs until (1) action is taken to return the administration of hunting and sport fishing license fees to the State Fish and Game Department; (2) hunting and sport fishing license fees used for purposes other than the programs of the State Fish and Game Department are replaced; (3) Federal Aid funds used for purposes or activities which are not a part of an approved project are replaced; (4) Federal-Aid financed real property which has passed from the control of the State Fish and Game Department is restored to that control, or a property of equal value at current market prices and with commensurate benefits to fish and wildlife is acquired with non-Federal funds to replace it; or (5) use of Federal-Aid financed real property, which interfere with the accomplishment of approved project objectives are ceased: Provided, however, That, where any projects were approved in compliance with the terms of the pertinent Act prior to diversion, and Federal Aid funds were obligated to carry out such projects, such funds shall remain available therefore until expended, without regard for the intervening period of the State's ineligibility under the Federal Aid Acts: Provided, further, That, when the State shall find, and the Secretary agree, that a property is no longer useful for the purposes for which it was acquired or constructed, and that it is not practical to convert the property to other fish or wildlife restoration, development, or management purposes, the State may sell the property and apply the proceeds of sale as the State Fish and Game Department and the Secretary may them agree: Provided, further, That, when required by this section to acquire a property with non-Federal funds, a State shall be given a reasonable time, up to 3 years, to accomplish this, before becoming ineligible to receive Federal Aid funds.

§ 80.6 General information for the Secretary.

Before any Federal funds may be obligated for any project to be undertaken in a State, there shall be furnished to the Secretary upon his request, information regarding the laws affecting fish or wildlife conservation and the authority of the State Fish and Game Department and of local officials with respect to the establishment and maintenance of projects; and the existing provisions of the State constitution or laws relating to revenues for the protection, restoration and management of fish or wildlife.

(a) Document signature. The Secretary of State of each State or any authorized official of the State shall certify as to the duly appointed official(s) authorized in accordance with State law to commit the State to participation under the provisions of the Acts and to sign Federal Aid project documents. The Secretary shall be advised promptly of any change made in such authorizations to sign Federal Aid documents.

(b) Program information. The Secretary may, from time to time, request and the State Fish and Game Department shall furnish information relating to the administration and maintenance of any project established under the Acts.

(c) Planning-Programing-Budgeting System. To promote the most efficient use of the financial resources of the Federal Government, Federal funds are budgeted according to a Planning-Programing-Budgeting System. In order that Federal funds for financing projects under the Federal Aid Acts may be budgeted under this system, States must furnish such plans and programs as the Secretary may require for this purpose.

§ 80.7 Hunting and fishing license information.

(a) Information concerning the number of paid hunting-license holders and the number of persons holding paid licenses to fish for sport or recreation in the State in the preceding year shall be furnished the Secretary by the Fish and Game Department of each State on or before December 15 of each year in form specified by the Secretary.

(b) This information shall be certified as accurate by the Director of the State Fish and Game Department. He shall furnish, when requested by the Secretary, evidence used in determining accuracy of the certification.

§ 80.8 Activities prohibited.

Neither law enforcement nor public relation activities which are not incidental to custodial functions on an approved Federal Aid project may be financed under the programs.

§ 80.9 Uses other than for fish and wildlife.

With respect to projects which are designed to include uses other than for fish or wildlife, reimbursement of costs from funds under the Federal Aid Acts shall be limited to the extent of the benefits to fish and wildlife resulting from such projects. Participation in maintenance of completed projects shall be similarly limited. Also, the costs of maintenance shall be appropriately shared according to the use of the area and facilities; Federal Aid funds shall not be applied to maintenance required by use other than for approved project purposes.

§ 80.10 Minimum Federal participation.

A minimum Federal Aid participation of 10 percent in the cost of each project is required as a condition of approval.

§ 80.11 Project statement.

A project statement shall be submitted for each proposed project which shall contain such fundamental information as the Secretary may require, in order that he may determine if a project meets the requirement of being substantial in character and design in accordance with standards set forth in the Federal Aid in Fish and Wildlife Restoration Manual.

§ 80.12 Financial plan.

A budget or spending plan listing estimated expenditures by activities (land acquisition, development, research, management, maintenance, and coordination) as related to the elements of Planning, Programing, and Budgeting shall be submitted for each project in a State covering the work to be performed over a specified period.

§ 80.13 Plans, specifications and estimates.

The annual financial plan shall be accompanied by supporting documents listing and describing the work to be performed with the funds listed therein. These shall be as follows: (a) Engineering plans, specifications, and estimates shall be submitted for major construction activities. (b) Plans in job description form shall be submitted for each logical and effective unit of research activity. (c) Work plans, listing the development activities to be carried out under the financial plan shall be submitted. (d) Schedules of supervisory and technical personnel to be employed and major items of equipment to be purchased shall be provided.

§ 80.14 Project agreement.

After the Secretary shall have approved project statements and the required plans, specifications and estimates, the mutual obligations to be undertaken by the cooperating agencies shall be evidenced by an agreement to be executed between the State Fish and Game Department and the Secretary. An agreement shall cover the financing proposed in one financial plan and the work items described in the documents supporting it.

§ 80.15 Officials not to benefit.

No member of or delegate to Congress, or resident commissioner, shall be admitted to any share or any part of any agreement, made under the Federal Aid Acts, or to any benefit that may arise therefrom.

§ 80.16 Equal employment opportunity.

Each project agreement shall contain the equal employment opportunity provisions of Part III of Executive Order 11246 (30 F.R. 12319) and as it may be amended.

§ 80.17 Submission of documents.

Papers and documents required by the Acts or by the regulations in this part shall be deemed submitted to the Secretary from the date of receipt by the Director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, or by the appropriate Regional Director of the Bureau.

§ 80.18 Divergent opinions over project merits.

Any difference of opinion about the substantiality of a proposed project, nature of development required, or appraised value of land to be acquired, are considered by qualified representatives of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and the State. Final determination in the event of continued disagreement rests with the Secretary.

§ 80.19 Land control.

The State Fish and Game Department must control lands or waters on which improvements are made. Control may be exercised through fee title, lease, easement, or agreement. Control must be adequate for protection, maintenance, and use of the improvement throughout its useful life.

§ 80.20 Samples of materials to be submitted.

Whenever requested, suitable samples of materials to be used in construction work shall be submitted to the Secretary by or on behalf of the State Fish and Game Department to be tested for suitability and conformity with standard specifications.

§ 80.31 Contracts.

Contracts shall be solicited and awarded according to the laws and regulations of the State except when contradictory to Federal law or regulation in which case the Federal law or regulation shall prevail.

§ 80.32 Safety and accident prevention.

In the performance of each project, the State shall comply with all applicable Federal, State and local laws governing safety, health and sanitation. The State shall be responsible that all safeguards, safety devices, and protective equipment are provided and will take any other needed actions reasonably necessary to protect the life and health of employees on the job and the safety of the public and to protect property in connection with the performance of the work.

§ 80.33 Statements and payrolls.

The regulations of the Secretary of Labor applicable to contractors and subcontractors (29 CFR Part 3), made pursuant to the Copeland Act, as amended, (40 U.S.C. 276c), and to aid in the enforcement of the Anti-Kickback Act (18 U.S.C. 874) are made a part of this regulation by reference. The State Fish and Game Department will comply with these regulations and any amendments or modifications thereof and the State Prime Contractor will be responsible for the submission of statements required of subcontractors thereunder. The foregoing shall apply except as the Secretary of Labor may specifically provide for reasonable limitation, variations, tolerances, and exemptions.

§ 80.34 Prosecution of work.

(a) The State Fish and Game Department shall carry all approved projects through to satisfactory completion with reasonable promptness. Projects with activities extending over a period of years may be financed from a number of succeeding apportionments as appropriate to the schedule.

(b) Research work shall be continuously coordinated with other studies conducted by the State and other agencies in order to avoid unnecessary duplication.

(c) All work shall be performed in accordance with applicable State laws.

(d) Appropriate and adequate means shall be employed to insure economy and efficiency in the completion of the project.

§ 80.35 Personnel.

The State Fish and Game Department shall employ adequate and competent personnel to initiate and carry Federal Aid projects through to satisfactory completion.

§ 80.36 Maintenance of completed projects.

The State Fish and Game Department shall exercise all reasonable means to insure permanent and proper management and maintenance of each completed acquisition or development of lands or waters.

§ 80.37 Production of income.

Federal Aid funds shall not be spent for the purpose of producing income; e.g.,

(a) Producing agricultural crops in excess of those required for attracting, conserving, and enhancing wildlife populations.

(b) In connection with the acquisition of lands, paying for readily marketable timber or the salvage value of structures which are excess to project purposes when the State can secure immediate reimbursement through removal and sale.

(c) Purchasing transportation, construction, or farming equipment not needed for its full life on activities which are approvable for Federal Aid assistance.

(d) Conducting public hunting and fishing activities where user fees substantially pay for these costs.

Federal Aid funds used for such purposes shall be replaced as required under § 80.5, "Diversion of funds."

§ 80.38 Inspection.

Supervision of each project by the State Fish and Game Department shall include adequate and continuous inspection. The project will be subject at all times to Federal inspection.

§ 80.39 Civil rights.

Approval of each agreement shall be conditioned upon the acceptance by the United States of an Assurance executed in writing by the properly authorized representative of the contracting State agency, or political division of the contracting State, supported by proper certification, guaranteeing that the program will be conducted in accordance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and with the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder by the Secretary and published as 43 CFR Part 17 (filed Dec. 3, 1964) to that end.

§ 80.40 Federal Aid payments.

Payments under the Federal Aid Acts, including such preliminary costs and expenses as may be incurred in and about such projects, shall not be made unless the project statement, such plans, specifications and estimates as are required by the Secretary, and all other documents that may be necessary or required in the administration of these acts, shall have first been submitted to and approved by the Secretary. Payments shall be made only by way of reimbursement for expenditures by the State Fish and Game Departments. Payments shall be made only to the State office or official designated by the State Fish and Game Department and authorized under the laws of the State to receive public funds of the State.

(a) Federal Aid payments shall not exceed 75 percent of the cost of a project or the amount specified in the agreement, whichever is less: Provided, That Federal Aid payments to the territorial areas of Guam, the Virgin Islands and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall not exceed the amount specified in the agreement and in no event shall they be required to pay an amount which will exceed 25 percent of the cost of any project.

(b) Federal Aid payments on projects terminated prior to completion shall be limited to the cost of benefits produced, provided the work accomplished is substantial in character and design.

(c) Payments for acquired real property shall not exceed 75 percent of the fair and reasonable value of the property as approved by the Secretary.

(d) Overhead and preliminary costs which are clearly tied to an approved project may be reimbursed provided the claims are supported by accurate records.

§ 80.41 Form of vouchers.

Vouchers on forms provided by the Secretary and certified as therein prescribed, showing amounts expended and the amount of Federal Aid funds claimed to be due on account thereof, shall be submitted to the Secretary by the State Fish and Game Department.

§ 80.42 Records and reporting.

Reports shall be furnished as requested by the Secretary. Cost records shall be maintained separately for each project. In projects containing multiple activities, costs for research, acquisition, development, and coordination shall be segregated. The accounts and records maintained by the State, together with all supporting documents, shall be open at all times to the inspection of authorized representatives of the United States, and copies thereof shall be furnished when requested.

§ 80.43 Records retention period.

The records, accounts and supporting documents required to be maintained under the regulations in this part for each project shall be retained by the State Fish and Game Department until the expiration of 3 years after final payment of reimbursement to the State on the project.

§ 80.44 Convict labor.

The State shall not employ any persons undergoing sentence of imprisonment at hard labor to perform work on projects approved under the Federal Aid Acts.

§ 80.45 Water pollution control.

In the performance of each project, the State shall take necessary action to avoid pollution of water as a direct or indirect result of project activity. Water quality must be maintained at a level consistent with State water quality standards approved by the Secretary.

§ 80.36 Purchase of equipment.

Advance approval by the Secretary is required for the purchase with Federal Aid participation of items of equipment costing in excess of $500.

§ 80.37 Patents.

Every project agreement and subcontract, having as a purpose the conduct of experimental or research work, shall contain a patent article conforming to the President's Statement of Government Patent Policy, issued October 10, 1963, 28 F.R. 10943.

§ 80.38 Fish and wildlife planning.

It is desirable that the expenditure of funds made available under the Federal Aid Acts be guided by long-range fish and wildlife plans. Therefore, undertakings of statewide planning for fish and wildlife are of the highest priority for Federal Aid Financing.

[7 CFR Part 31]

WOOL STANDARDS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given, in accordance with the administrative procedure provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553, that pursuant to authority conferred by the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1621, et seq.), it is proposed to amend the wool top standards and other provisions in 7 CFR Part 31, to revise the fiber diameter dispersion requirements of grade 62s wool top, to add provisions for designating grades for wool top which do not meet established grade requirements, to include the methods for determining the grade of wool top, and to redefine certain terms used in the standards for wool and wool top.

Statement of considerations. The official standards for grades of wool top provide for 14 grades—80s through 36s—based on average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion. These standards became effective January 1, 1955. For the most part they have been satisfactory for commercial trading.

However, a study by industry and the Department revealed that many of the tops traded as 62s exceed the coarse fiber percentage allowed for this grade. To bring the standards more in line with current combing and trading practices, it is proposed that the fiber diameter dispersion requirements for grade 62s be revised to permit 1.50 percent of the fibers to be 40.1 microns and over in diameter rather than the 1 percent as allowed in the present standards.

In the application of the present standards some wool tops cannot be graded. This results from the fact that the specifications for each of the present grades include requirements for both average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion but do not provide grades for wool top which does not meet both requirements. Thus, for example, wool top with an average fiber diameter meeting the requirements for the 64s grade cannot be graded by the present standards if it has a fiber diameter dispersion which does not meet the dispersion requirements specified in the standards for a 64s grade. Under the proposed revision, such wool top would be assigned a dual grade designation, 64s–62s—the 64s designating the average fiber diameter of the wool top and the 62s (the next coarser grade) indicating that the fiber diameter dispersion of the wool top does not meet the requirements of the 64s grade. This procedure for designating grade has been used in the trade for some time.

Also, under the present standards, wool top with an average fiber diameter finer than that specified for the finest grade (80s), or coarser than that specified for the coarsest grade (36s) cannot be assigned a grade. The proposed revision would provide two additional grades to be designated as Finer than grade 80s and Coarser than grade 36s. These additional grades will permit all wool top to be assigned a grade irrespective of its average fiber diameter. Two corresponding grades also were added to the standards for grades of wool when these were revised on January 1, 1966.

It is also proposed to incorporate the methods for determining the grade of wool top into the Code of Federal Regulations, and to make incidental changes in definitions of certain terms used in the wool and wool top standards. In the past, the determination of grade of wool top was made in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Administrator of the Consumer and Marketing Service in a separate publication, "Methods of Test for Grade of Wool Top." Some minor changes have been made in these methods in order to coordinate them with the methods prescribed for determining grade of wool.

C. It is proposed to delete the provisions relating to the determination of grade of wool top (7 CFR 31.300) and to issue Methods for Determining Grade of Wool Top to appear in §§ 31.300, 31.301, and 31.302 as follows:

METHODS FOR DETERMINING GRADE OF WOOL TOP

§ 31.300 General.

The official standards of the United States for grades of wool top as defined in §§ 31.100–31.116 shall be the basis for determining the grade of wool top. The provisions in §§ 31.301–31.302 prescribe two methods for making such determinations—by measurement and by inspection. Both methods for determining grade shall be official; however, if the grade as determined by inspection differs from that determined by measurement, the grade determined by measurement shall prevail.

§ 31.301 Measurement method.

The determination of the grade of wool top by measurement shall be by comparison of the measured average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion with the specifications of the U.S. standards. This determination shall be made in accordance with the procedure for determining average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion provided in paragraph (a) of this section and the procedure for designating grade provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(a) Procedure for determining average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion—(1) Principle of procedure. The average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion are determined by sectioning the fibers in a sample to a designated short length, mounting the sections of fibers on a slide, projecting the magnified image onto a scale, and measuring the diameter of a minimum number of fibers, as specified in this section.

(2) Apparatus and material. The following apparatus and material are needed and shall comply with the following provisions:

(i) Microprojector. The microscope shall be equipped with a fixed body tube, a focusable stage responsive to a coarse and fine adjustment, and a focusable substage with condenser and iris diaphragm. It shall be vertically installed with adequate light source, eyepiece, and objective to give a precise magnification of 500 × as determined by use of a stage micrometer. A magnification of 500 × can be obtained when the microscope is adjusted at a proper projection distance and equipped with a searchlight microprojector bulb, a 10–15 × eyepiece, and a 20–21 × objective of good quality with an aperture of approximately 0.50 centimeter.

(ii) Stage micrometer. Calibrated glass slide used for accurate setting and control of the magnification.

(iii) Cross-sectioning device, heavy duty. An instrument approximately 5 cm. (2 inches) in height, consisting essentially of a metal plate with slot for holding a quantity of fibers, a key for compressing the fibers, and a tongue-propelling arrangement by which the fiber bundle may be extruded for sectioning.

(iv) Microscope slides. 25 × 75 mm. (1″ × 3″).

(v) Cover glasses. No. 1 thickness, 22 x 50 mm. (⅞″ x 2″).

(vi) Mounting medium. Colorless mineral oil with a refractive index between 1.53 and 1.43 and of suitable viscosity.

(vii) Wedge scales. Strips of heavy paper or Bristol board imprinted with a wedge for use at a magnification of 500 × 0. The wedge is usually divided into 2.5 micron intervals.

(3) Calibration. The microscope shall be adjusted to give a magnification of 500 × in the plane of the projected image. This may be accomplished by placing a stage micrometer on the stage of the microprojector and bringing the microscope into such adjustment that an interval of 0.20 mm. on the stage micrometer will measure 100 mm. when sharply focused in the center of the image plane.

(4) Sampling. Sample the lot of top by drawing from each 20,000 pounds (9,072 kilograms), or fraction thereof, four sections of sliver (test specimen) each of which shall be at least 1 yard (0.91 meter) in length and taken from different balls of top selected at random. Take one ball only from any one bale or carton. For broken top take an equivalent aggregate length of sliver at random. The four test specimens shall constitute a sample.

(5) Test condition. Precondition all samples to approximate equilibrium in an atmosphere of 5–25 percent relative humidity at a temperature less than 50° C. (122° F.). Then condition them for at least 4 hours in the standard atmosphere for testing—65±2 percent relative humidity at 21°±1.1° C. (70°±2° F.).

(6) Preparation of slides—(i) Filling cross-section device. Each sliver (test specimen) of top making up the sample shall be placed individually in the slot of the cross-section device far enough from either end of the sliver to assure sectioning at an undisturbed area. The sliver shall be compacted firmly with the compression key and the latter secured with the set screw.

(ii) Preliminary section. The gripped fibers shall be cut off at the upper and lower surfaces of the plate. The fiber bundle shall be extruded to the extent of approximately 0.50 mm. in order to take up slack in the fibers and the propulsion mechanism. The projecting fibers shall be moistened with a few drops of mineral oil. This projecting fiber bundle shall be cut off with a razor blade flush with the upper surface of the fiber holder plate and the section discarded.

(iii) Final section. The fiber bundle shall again be extruded, approximately 0.25 mm., the equivalent of 250 microns. The fiber bundle shall be moistened with a few drops of mineral oil and the excess blotted off. The projecting fibers shall be cut off with a sharp razor blade flush with the holder plate. The fiber pieces should adhere to the razor blade.

(iv) Mounting the fibers. A few drops of mineral oil shall be placed on a clean glass slide. With a dissecting needle the fiber pieces shall be scraped from the razor blade onto the slide. The fibers shall be thoroughly dispersed in the oil with the dissecting needle and the slide completed with a cover glass. Sufficient oil should be used in the preparation of the slide to insure thorough distribution of the fibers, but an excess must be avoided, as practically no oil should be permitted to flow out or be squeezed out beyond the borders of the cover glass. If the number of fibers is too great to permit proper distribution on the slide, or if an excess of oil has been used, a portion of the mixture, after thorough dispersion of the fibers, may be wiped away with a piece of tissue or cloth.

(v) Finished slide. The slide shall be placed on the stage of the microprojector, cover glass toward the objective. The measurement courses shall be planned across the slide so that the far, near, and intermediate areas will be reached. Slides shall be measured the day they are prepared.

(7) Measurement of fibers. The mid-length portion of the fiber to be measured shall be brought into sharp focus on the wedge scale. Fiber edges appear as fine lines without borders when they are uniformly in focus. It is unusual, however, for both edges of the fiber to be in focus at the same time. If both edges of the fiber are not uniformly in focus, adjustment shall be made so that one edge of the fiber is in focus and the other shows as a bright line. The measurements of 100 fibers are recorded on one wedge by marking on the wedge scale the point where the wedge corresponds with the fiber image as determined by (i) the fine lines of both edges when they are uniformly in focus or (ii) the fine line of one edge and the inner side of the bright line at the other edge when they are not uniformly in focus. The slide shall be traversed and successive fibers measured in the planned courses, with only those fibers being measured whose midpoints come within the field—a circle 4 inches in diameter, centrally located in the projected area. Fibers shorter than 200 microns or longer than 300 microns and those having distorted images shall be excluded from measurement. The marks on the wedge indicating the diameter of fibers measured are counted and combined into class intervals for calculation as indicated in subparagraph (10) of this paragraph. Occasionally a fiber diameter will be less or greater than the extreme limits of the wedge scale. When this occurs, the image of the fiber is projected onto the border of the wedge scale and lines are drawn on the scale at the edges of the fiber image. The distance between the lines is later measured with a metric ruler to obtain the correct average diameter of the fiber. In using the metric scale in this manner, 1 mm. is equal to 2 microns at a magnification of 500 ×.

(8) Nature of test. One test shall consist of the measurement by two operators of the same four slivers (test specimens) of top. The measurement of both operators shall be combined for calculation of average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion.

(9) Number of slides and fibers. Each operator shall make a slide from each test specimen for a total of four slides per operator. The number of fibers to be measured per slide shall be determined by dividing the total number of fibers to be measured per test by 8 (the total number of slides prepared per test). The minimum number of fiber measurements required for each test shall be the number for the respective grade as prescribed in the measurement schedule for designating grades of wool top set forth in paragraph (c) of this section. Each operator shall measure approximately one-half the required number of fibers. In lots that are assigned a dual grade designation, the minimum number of fibers measured shall be that specified for the coarser of the two grades.

(10) Calculations. From the observations recorded on the wedge scales, compute the total number of measurements (n), the distribution of fiber diameter frequencies, and the average diameter of fiber ($\bar{X}$).

(i) The average diameter of fiber ($\bar{X}$) shall be determined by the following formula: $\bar{X}=A+mE_1$. In this formula—

A = Class interval midpoint
m = Class interval
$E_1=\frac{\Sigma fz}{n}$, where Σ = Summation
f = Observed frequency z = Deviation in class intervals from A n = Total number of measurements

An example of the calculations is set forth below, based on an arbitrary selection of a class interval midpoint of 6.25 microns:

(b) Procedure for designating grade. A grade shall be assigned to a lot of wool top which corresponds to the average fiber diameter and fiber diameter dispersion requirements specified in §§ 31.100–31.116 and paragraph (c) of this section.

(1) Single grade designation. If the measured average diameter and fiber diameter dispersion correspond to a single grade, that shall be the grade assigned to the sample.

Example: Average fiber diameter—23.5 microns.

Fiber diameter dispersion:
30 microns and under—94 percent.
30.1 microns and over—96 percent.
30.1 microns and over—1 percent.
Grade designation—56s.

(2) Dual grade designation. If the fiber diameter dispersion does not meet the requirements for the grade to which the average fiber diameter corresponds, the wool top shall be assigned a dual grade designation, the second designation being one grade coarser than the grade to which the average fiber diameter corresponds.

Example: Average fiber diameter—23.5 microns.

Fiber diameter dispersion:
30 microns and under—81 percent.
30.1 microns and over—20 percent.
30.1 microns and over—3 percent.
Grade designation—56s-54s.

[2] Research has shown that when waste of average uniformity in fiber diameter is measured, the prescribed number of fibers to measure per test will result in confidence limits of the mean ranging from approximately ±0.5 to ±0.8 micron at a probability of 95 percent.

§ 31.302 Inspection method.

The grade of wool top also may be determined by inspection. This usually will be facilitated by comparing the fibers in the sample of wool top to be graded with fibers in the wool top samples certified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as representative of the official grades. When using the certified samples to determine the grade of wool top, the grade assigned shall be that of the certified sample which most nearly matches the wool top being graded.

Any person who desires to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposals set forth above may do so by filing them with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 60 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).
